Chetek man found dead in car

On Sunday, August 6, 2017, at 8:00 a.m., the Barron County Sheriff's Department received a 911 call of a male passed out behind the wheel of a car on 25th Street at 9 3/4 Avenue north of Chetek.

Deputies from the Barron County Sheriff's Department, along with the Chetek Ambulance Service and First Responders responded to the scene.

When deputies arrived, they located a male subject, Mark E. Johnson, 56, of Chetek, deceased in the vehicle. Johnson appeared to have been placed on the floor of the passenger side of the vehicle.

Sheriff's Department Detectives were called to the scene and two subjects were questioned regarding this suspicious death. This is an isolated incident and there is no threat to the public.

At this time, the death is being ruled suspicious and the Sheriff's Department is awaiting autopsy results.

Lyzander concludes Island City Music series Aug. 15

If you're someone who frequents the Five O'Clock Club on summer Thursdays, you've probably heard the guitar-playing and singing of a Minneapolis guy who uses his first name only as an entertainer.

Lyzander – full name, Lyzander Page – has appeared frequently on the deck at The Five in recent years and will appear on the Library Lake stage Tuesday, Aug. 15.

Lyzander will be playing in the 10th and last Island City Music concert of the summer. The concert is from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the east shore of Library Lake in downtown Cumberland. He sings pop, rock and country, with a good dose of oldies.

The Island City Music series is sponsored by the Cumberland Area Business Alliance and individual businesses and organizations, including The Advocate. Title sponsors for the Lyzander concert are Lakeside Restaurant and Idlewild Outfitters.

There is no charge for attending. But you should bring your own lawn chairs. If it rains, the concert will be

GOLDEN 'BAGA HUNT
Clue #2
It looks like we got off to a rocky start.
Separate me from the others,
we're hard to tell apart.

The speed limit will help,
there's only two in town.
I enter with the sun, and I'm on the ground.

I am in plain sight and my shelter is alone.
Nothing shrouds you from me and my clones.

REMEMBER!
The 'Baga medallion will only be found on PUBLIC land. It is NOT in or around the Library! Again, we ask each of the 'Baga hunters to respect private property and confine your hunt to public areas. Good Luck.

2017 National Night Out

The Life Flight helicopter comes in for a landing as part of the Cumberland Fire & Rescue squad's demonstration of how first responders handle an accident scene at this year's National Night Out event held last Tuesday, August 1st, at Endeavor Stadium in Cumberland.

Property issues top agenda at August City Council meeting

The City Council met on Tuesday, August 1st for the regular monthly meeting. Property issues were the main event for the evening.

First, they reviewed the pre-sale report for the TID #7 project (8th Ave.) financing and then approved a resolution to proceed with said financing not to exceed $1,060,000.

Next the council discussed and approved an ordinance detailing the annexation of some woodland that the Utility had purchased along Highway 48, adjacent to the current City limits. The Utility is currently working with the DNR to establish the proper wetland boundaries for the property. Once the wetland conservation area is established, the Utility will offer parcels to businesses who have expressed interest in the land. Names mentioned at the meeting were Cumberland Healthcare and Don Johnson Motors. A detailed legal description may be found in the Ordinance published on page 10 of this week's Advocate.

The third property issues facing the council involved the sale of a small portion of City owned land to Martin Schramski. The land abuts the Schramski property, and due to over crowding in the parking area of the Schramski property, Schramski had been parking a truck and trailer along what he thought was the edge of his property. Unfortunately, he was, in fact, parking it on the City owned land. The City and Schramski have been going back and forth on the issue for some time and finally, Schramski asked to purchase the disputed land from the City. The Council approved the sale of the land to Schramski, the exact boundaries to be determined by a survey. The amount sold will be enough to make sure that proper setback requirements are met. Councilman Todd Bents strongly expressed his opposition to the sale and his opinion that this move set a dangerous precedent. "Do we really want to send the message that you can get away with ignoring our laws and regulations by becoming a big enough inconvenience that we give in just to make it all go away?"

After a number of traffic incidents at the intersection of Second Ave. and Donatelle St. due to poor visibility caused by the parallel parking and angle of the hill, the council voted to approve making Donatelle St. a one way street, downhill, between Second Ave. and First Avenue.

Lastly, the council denied an individual request for long term placement of a camper on a residential property, not an approved campground. The current ordinance requires a permit if a camper is going to be in use on a residential property over a certain length of time. The council felt that this particular request did not warrant an exception to the ordinance.

In other matters, the council tabled the approval of an agreement with Wisconsin Technology Networking for Cell Tower placement when some issues with the contract language were discovered during the discussion of the motion.

Also approved were the funding for the fuel tank purchase at the Airport that the Council approved last month, and the appointment of Chris Tornio as an Alternate to the Board of Appeals.

The council awarded two bids that evening. The first to DeSantis Excavation for the 8th Avenue project and the second for the purchase of a portable generator for the Waste Water Treatment Project. The funds for the generator were already included in the project budget.

The council also took time that evening to approve a resolution recognizing Jim Heldstab for his years of service as a Building Inspector for the City.

In the committee reports, Alderwomen Carol Wallin, on behalf of the Senior Center, thanked Ace Hardware and Police Chief Rick Rieper for their help with the repairs on the roof of the Center's garage. Ace supplied materials at a very reduced rate and Rieper helped coordinate and complete the repairs.

Having no further business, the meeting adjourned at 7:28 p.m. The next regularly scheduled council meeting will be held on September 5th at 7:00 p.m.

New Emergency First responder Team created in Barron County

by Mike Judy, Director, Emergency Services of Barron County*

Each year, the Barron County 911 Center receives approximately 4,300 calls from members in our community experiencing emergencies such as car accidents, chest pain, traumatic injuries, respiratory illnesses, allergic reactions, seizures, diabetic problems, stroke symptoms, cardiac arrests, and other time-critical incidents.

In addition to an ambulance, "first responders" are also dispatched which arrive onscene quickly to provide medical intervention in areas such as airway management, bleeding control, respiratory support, shock treatment, cardiac resuscitation, and much more. First responder teams are typically separate from fire departments and ambulances, however they frequently respond together for support and additional manpower. These men and women of our community have dedicated their lives continually training to manage life-threatening emergencies in a rapid response setting and respond to neighbors in need; regardless of weather conditions, time of day/night, or family plans.

Barron County bird tests positive for West Nile Virus

Protect Yourself Against Mosquito Bites

Barron County Public Health reports a dead crow found in Barron County has tested positive for West Nile virus. This is the first bird that tested positive for West Nile virus in Barron County since surveillance for the mosquito-transmitted virus began May 1.

"The positive bird means that residents of Barron County need to be more vigilant in their personal protective measures to prevent mosquito bites," Laura Sauve, Health Officer/ Public Health Manager said.

West Nile virus is spread to humans through the bite of an infected mosquito. Mosquitoes acquire the virus by feeding on infected birds.

"Barron County residents should be aware of West Nile virus and take some simple steps to protect themselves against mosquito bites," Sauve said. "The West Nile virus seems to be here to stay, so the best way to avoid the disease is to reduce exposure to and eliminate breeding grounds for mosquitoes."

Barron County Public Health recommends the following:

- Limit time spent outside at dawn and dusk, when mosquitoes are most active.
- Apply insect repellent to clothing as well as exposed skin since mosquitoes may bite through clothing.
- Make sure window and door screens are in good repair to prevent mosquito entry.
- Properly dispose of items around your property that hold water, such as tin cans, plastic containers, ceramic pots, or discarded tires.
- Clean roof gutters and downspouts for proper drainage.
- Turn over wheelbarrows, wading pools, boats, and canoes when not in use.
- Change the water in bird baths and pet dishes at least every three days.
- Clean and chlorinate swimming pools, outdoor saunas, and hot tubs; drain water from pool covers.
- Trim tall grass, weeds, and vines since mosquitoes use these areas to rest during hot daylight hours.
- Landscape to prevent water from pooling in low-lying areas.

The majority of people (80%) who are infected with West Nile virus do not get sick. Those who do become ill usually experience mild symptoms such as fever, headache, muscle ache, rash, and fatigue. Less than 1% of people infected with the virus get seriously ill with symptoms that include high fever, muscle weakness, stiff neck, disorientation, mental confusion, tremors, confusion, paralysis, and coma. Older adults and those with compromised immune systems are at greater risk of developing central nervous system illness that can be fatal.

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services has monitored the spread of West Nile virus since 2001 among wild birds, horses, mosquitoes, and people. During 2002, the state documented its first human infections and 52 cases were reported that year. During 2016, 13 cases of West Nile virus infection were reported among Wisconsin residents. West Nile virus infections in humans have been reported from June through October; however, most reported becoming ill with West Nile virus in August and September.

The Wisconsin Division of Public Health will continue surveillance for West Nile virus until the end of the mosquito season. To report a sick or dead crow, blue jay, or raven, please call the Dead Bird Reporting Hotline at 1-800-433-1610.

Class of 1967 Reunion

The Cumberland High School Class of 1967 recently got together at the American Legion in Cumberland to celebrate their 50th class reunion.

'Baga Fest play is about women sipping in Savannah

Cumberland's Rutabaga Festival is about having fun, and it's a tradition that the play done during 'Baga Fest is a laugh-a-minute production. So Enrichment Through Culture (ETC) is presenting The Savannah Sipping Society this year at the Fine Arts Center.

Performances are at 7 p.m. Aug. 23, 24, 25 and 26. Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at Peter & Annie's World Market in downtown Cumberland or reserved by calling 715-822-2787.

The Arts Center is at 1595 2nd Ave. in Cumberland, across from the elementary school.

Savannah Sipping Society is about four Southern women sitting around at a happy hour talking about their lives, all of which have taken turns for the worse. They are determined to escape boredom and rediscover the enthusiasm they've lost through the years.

The four sipping women are Randa, a workaholic, played by Carol Haugdahl; Dot, a recent widow played by Christine Johansen; Marlafaye, a Texas gal whose husband took off with a dental hygienist, played by Sharai Hefty, and Jinx, a spunky life coach played by Susan Rafferty.

Through their beverage-fueled conversations, the four women learn they should live in the moment and realize it's never too late to make new, old friends.

The director is Diane Thorp. Assistant director is Dan Hoffmann.

Questions? Call Larry Werner at 612-743-5117.

Cumberland High School Grand Reunion

Grand Reunion of the Classes of 1965-1980
Sponsored by the Class of 1969
The Gathering of the Tribes
Sat., Aug. 18th • 10am-3pm
Cumberland Beach Park• BYO

The Class of '69 is proud to sponsor an informal class reunion for all these classes at the park next to the Cumberland Beach. The organization is very informal. Someone from each class needs to bring a sign with their class year, and arrange food, perhaps sun-shade tents. The main pavilion area is reserved for the classes of 1966, 1969, 1970 and 1978 . Our current estimate of attendees is from 150-500, excluding guests. Our planning number is 300 total people We are planning to organize some other events for the weekend, and following week, before Baga Fest. We are all members of a tribe from Cumberland, which usually includes people from other classes, so this is a way to mix and mingle.

We will have pontoon boats available for tours around the lake or transport to near library lake for activities centered near or in the Baga Fest Stage.

We will need to pay for portable toilets, driving me, security and possibly equipment rentals. In addition, there may be some musicians traveling from out of state, and I have promised modest driving or flying expenses. Schedule for visiting the Baga Fest, as well as other functions, are being planned now.

We will welcome walk-ins, but there is a discount for people paying early. Each graduate will be allowed to bring one guest.

Cost (pre-registered): $8 per person • Onsite: $10 per person

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

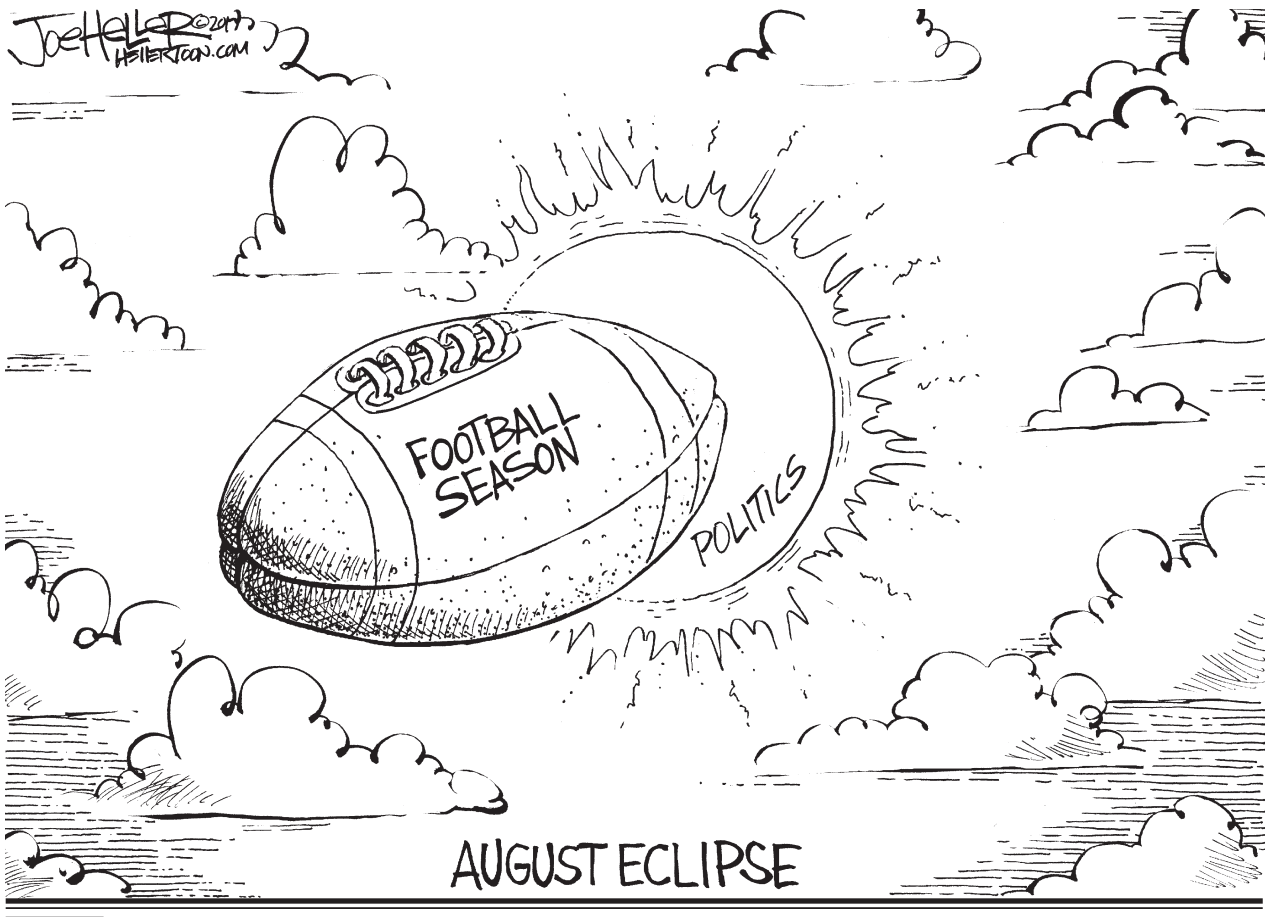

If you watch much television, you just have to have seen all of the lawyer advertising. If you have lung cancer, colon cancer, or just about any other form of cancer, chances are that there is a group of lawyers hustling a class action lawsuit against either doctors or against the pharmaceutical industry. Or if you have diabetics, or have had hernia surgery, you can be certain that there are a bunch of lawyers seeking your case for a class action lawsuit. It won't be long before you will have to take a lawyer with you when you visit the doctor. No wonder our medical care costs so much. You have to factor in the "cut" the legal system gets. I wonder how much the lawyers spend on advertising, just trolling for class action clients. You can bet somewhere down the line, we all pay for it.

I have watched the horror story that played out in Congress last week as the Senate led by that so-called master legislator Mitch McConnell failed to get rid of Obamacare. It seems to me the Republicans should fire him for incompetence. He couldn't round up majorities on any of three different votes to either repeal and replace or repeal only bills designed to get rid of Obamacare. It amazes me that the Republicans campaigned for seven years on the platform of getting rid of the Affordable Care Act and yet when the time came, they had nothing to replace it with. Talk about not being ready to lead. Or maybe they have discovered that there is a difference between campaigning and governing.

Foxconn hearing reveals team effort – and provides a few ideas

MADISON, Wis. – After lawmakers finished grilling members of the Walker administration over the details of a proposed incentive package to bring Foxconn Technology Group to Wisconsin, the mood in Thursday's public hearing audibly changed.

While their questions were still tough, members of the Assembly Committee on Jobs and the Economy took on a decidedly different tone as they listened to leaders of local government and higher education describe why they thought the deal would be good for Wisconsin and its taxpayers.

Those few hours may represent a turning point in the debate over whether Foxconn, the world's largest contract electronics manufacturer, should get $3 billion in public incentives over 15 years in exchange for a $10-billion investment, 13,000 direct jobs and a supply chain likely to employ twice as many workers.

An inherent skepticism is baked into the mix when the executive branch of state government offers ideas that are subject to legislative scrutiny. That tension has been present with every administration in recent memory, Republican or Democrat, and it's no different under Republican Gov. Scott Walker.

Lawmakers are often more willing to listen to others whom they trust, even if the message is identical, or nearly so, to what they hear from a governor's team.

That was the case during Thursday's hearing in the State Capitol, where the mood changed when lawmakers heard testimony from leaders of the University of Wisconsin System, Marquette University, the state's Technical College System and bipartisan local leaders from Kenosha and Racine counties. Sites in those two counties are where Foxconn will build its 20-million-square-foot plant.

UW System President Ray Cross said he believes the Foxconn project would be "transformative" for the state and would "catapult" the state university system into a "position of global prominence" through partnerships, internships and research opportunities that would build on what is already a strong research base.

His views were supported by UW-Parkside Chancellor Deb Ford and UW-Milwaukee Chancellor Mark Mone, whose campuses are close to Foxconn's proposed sites and would be likely sources of talent and industry partnerships.

UW-Madison Engineering Dean Ian Robertson talked about the need for engineering graduates to fill Foxconn-related jobs, either directly or indirectly, and noted the college must add faculty to meet those demands over time.

Marquette President Mike Lovell described his time in Pittsburgh as that city's economy recovered from the loss of its historic steel industry. That recovery was spurred dramatically with a decision by Google to locate a major facility there, which in turn attracted more tech economy jobs. The same thing will happen in Wisconsin, Lovell predicted, if Foxconn lands here.

State Technical College President Morna Foy was joined by campus presidents from Appleton, Wausau and Kenosha who described the system's ability to produce graduates who are ready to work – and who usually stay in Wisconsin to do so. In fact, the retention rate for tech college graduates and certificate holders is 97 percent, the committee was told.

Local government leaders from Racine and Kenosha voiced their excitement over Foxconn's arrival, and described Foxconn leaders as being "tough negotiators" but fair and legitimately concerned about Wisconsin and their region.

Lawmakers also heard the general manager of Kenosha's water utility, Edward St. Peter, detail how that city's facilities are ready to handle Foxconn's enormous water demands and to return clean water to the environment.

Local leaders that included former Democratic legislators Jim Kreuser and John Antaramian suggested some changes in the legislation pertaining to Tax Incremental Financing, but otherwise supported the incentive package.

Other suggested changes that may find their way into the bill before it passes involved a "Wisconsin First" approach to giving state contractors and suppliers a shot at doing business with Foxconn and more targeted wetlands mitigation rules.

There will still be skeptics, but lawmakers on hand Thursday heard how Wisconsin assembled a team approach to bring the Foxconn opportunity to this point. It's a team that appears poised to finish the job.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He is the former associate editor of the Wisconsin State Journal.

"I think they just ate it up and I couldn't be happier," said Cumberland Chamber of Commerce President Paul Nelson, during a phone call from Governor Tommy Thompson's northern office in Superior. Nelson had gone to Superior to testify on Cumberland's behalf, before a senate sub-committee, to request consideration for a pilot Main Street Program. If Senate Bills 259 and 254 pass, it will mean a boost for tourism, economic development and historic preservation in communities such as Cumberland. "I told them what we're doing on our own and showed pictures of The Plumbery, The Opera House and The Back Alley Project. They said my testimony was exactly what they were looking for," Nelson said.

VFW Post 6769 Commander Chuck Pierson said the VFW won't be building soon, but the post has purchased 12 acres of land just south of Lundmark Campers along Highway 63, for their new headquarters.

The band will put on two marching shows on the track in front of the grandstand and will probably have two concert appearances during the day. J. P. Anderson, band director, said he hoped to field a 90-piece band and out-do anything else they have done in the past. Also going will be the Beaveretts and Drum Majorettes.

Ernie Ranallo of Ranallo Chevrolet has announced the start of construction of a new body shop building on Highway 48 and 63 west of the city and across the road from Dick's Outlet. Travis J. Ricci, 27, of Almena, has been charged with misdemeanor theft.

The criminal complaint states that on July 19, 2017, at 6:51 p.m. Officer Hibbard of the Barron Police Department was dispatched to Gordy's Market in Barron, for a report of theft by an employee. Upon arrival Officer Hibbard made contact with Brian Marks, the director of loss prevention.

Marks advised that he came to the Barron location that day to investigate frequent cash shortage issues. As part of his investigation he watched surveillance videos of cashiers counting down their tills. He observed a male subject, who was identified by the Barron store director as Travis Ricci. Ricci was the produce manager at the Barron location and would close the store and act as manager on duty.

Marks stated the most recent shortage occurred on July 18, 2017, from cashier number 101. That number was a community cashier that anyone could use when the store was busy. Marks observed Ricci, on surveillance, pull the cash door from the register and go to the cash office with it. He then observed Ricci count the cash. While he was counting, Ricci pulled two bills from the drawer and placed them under his phone. Ricci continued to count the drawer and then stood up, grabbed his phone, crumpled the money that was laying under the phone and placed it in his pocket. Marks said that register 101 was short $30.01 on July 18th, so presumably the two bills Ricci can be seen pulling out were a $20 and a $10 bill.

Marks then observed surveillance video of Ricci counting another register down and observed Ricci take a bill, place it under his phone and later place the bill in his pocket. That register was short $19.98 for the day.

Marks made contact with Ricci and he admitted stealing money from the store. Marks went through the shortages found at the Barron location and Ricci initialed the shortages for which he was responsible. Ricci admitted to taking approximately $1,320 in cash and $50 in merchandise from the store from March, 2017 to July 18, 2017.

Officer Hibbard made contact with Ricci, who admitted that he started taking money from the cash register a few months after he had been hired in July, 2016. He admitted to Officer Hibbard that he took approximately $1,500 from the store over the course of his employment by taking money from the cash registers as well as the cash office. Ricci said he used the money for gas, bills, and ciagrettes. He admitted he did not receive permission to take the money and did not intend on giving the money back after he had stolen it.

If convicted Ricci maybe fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months, or both. His initial appearance is scheduled for August 16, 2017.

Delbert G. Benjamin, 32 of Danbury, has been charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, 4th, and operating a motor vehicle after revocation of his driver's license, 1st.

According to the criminal complaint on August 3, 2017, at 2:32 a.m. Cumberland Police Officer Westberg was dispatched to a convenience store in Cumberland, in response to a call of a highly intoxicated male.

Upon her arrival at the store, Officer Westberg observed a back GMC parked in a parking stall of the entrance to the store. She observed a male sleeping behind the wheel with his seat belt on and the vehicle running. She went into the store and spoke with the clerk, who advised that a male subject had gone into the restroom. Officer Westberg observed the remains of a muffin on the floor next to the checkout counter. The clerk advised that the male had not paid for the muffin, but had paid for other food. Officer Westberg observed a wallet on the counter and was advised that the wallet belonged to the individual in the restroom. This individual was subsequently identified as R. J. When Officer Westberg asked him how he ended up at the convenience store, R. J. advised that his friend was outside in the vehicle. Officer Westberg went outside with R. J. and asked him if his friend was sitting in the black SUV, R. J. indicated he was. Officer Westberg asked if they had been drinking and R. J. indicated that they had been. When asked how many drinks his friend had, R. J. stated quite a few.

Officer Westberg allowed R. J. to get in the passenger seat of the vehicle and subsequently identified the driver as Delbert Benjamin, Jr. While she was speaking with Benjamin, Officer Westberg observed he had glassy/bloodshot eyes. When she asked if he had been drinking, he indicated that he had been at a bar and were on their way to a residence on County Road H. When Officer Westberg requested Benjamin to step out of the vehicle, she could smell what she believed to be an odor of intoxicants coming from his person. When asked if he had been arrested for any OWI's in the past, he advised once in 2009.

Officer Westberg administered a series of field sobriety tests, which he did not complete and he advised Officer Westberg that he couldn't do the one leg stand test. Officer Westberg requested him to submit to a preliminary breath test, which he did, and she received a reading of .224. He was subsequently placed under arrest for operating while intoxicated.

Officer Westberg was advised that Benjamin had three prior OWI's and was subject to an ignition interlock device and had a revoked license.

If convicted Benjamin may be fined not more than $13,700 or imprisoned for not more than seven years and eight months, or both. His driver's license may also be revoked for not more than three years and he shall be ordered to submit to an alcohol and drug abuse assessment and to comply with treatment as a condition of reinstatement. His preliminary hearing will be held August 15, 2017.

Soccer, Volleyball, and Cross Country Start Monday

The high school fall sports programs will all be soon working towards the start of their respective seasons, with volleyball, cross country, and soccer starting practices on Monday. Football and girls golf had started previously.

Football will be holding a scrimmage this Friday at Endeavor Stadium at 5:00 pm against Unity and Amery. This will be their next step in preparation for the August 18th opener at home against Grantsburg.

Volleyball will be trying to take that next step after finishing 4-10 in HON play three of the last four seasons. They return of two Honorable Mention players, Ania Hyatt and Adrianna Johnson, will certainly help the chances of a move into the leagues top three teams. Bloomer is coming off two straight HON titles, but Coach Jessica Olson has a group that may surprise their conference foes this fall. Barron looks to be this years HON favorite.

The Cross Country team, under Tanya Majewski, finished fourth out of six in girls action last fall, while the boys finished in eighth place. Senior Gavin Fountaine had a great individual season, however, finishing second overall in the boys part of the Conference Meet, with a time of 16:48, only 13 seconds behind the winner, Donny Pooler of Northwestern. With more depth, the team will hope to improve last years finish.

The Soccer team, under Head Coach Larry Ruetz, finished 3 and 8 in Middle Border action in 2016 behind Conference Champion New Richmond. The team lost Honorable Mention goalkeeper Isaac Bucher, which creates a team need, but most of the other players return, creating optimism for the fall. Erik Sandman, Max Brenna, and Johnny Richie are a few of those returners hoping to lead the Beavers into the leagues upper half of the standings.

Deer Baiting and Feeding Ban Lifted in Four Area Counties

A bill that provides a "sunset" to the deer baiting and feeding ban in certain counties was signed by Governor Walker on August 2nd as 2017 Wisconsin Act 41. It became effective Friday, August 4, 2017.

This new law will impact the counties where baiting and feeding deer is allowed. This new law provides that, after any positive test for chronic wasting disease (CWD) or bovine tuberculosis (BT) has been confirmed, the rule prohibiting feeding deer may not be in effect for longer than 36 months in the county where the tested animal was located or longer than 24 months in neighboring counties.

With this new legislation there will be 15 counties for which baiting and feeding bans will be listed. They are: Barron, Burnett, Calumet, Clark, Dodge, Jackson, Kenosha, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Polk, Racine, Sheboygan, Washburn, Washington and Waushara.

Twenty-eight counties will continue to have baiting and feeding bans.

The DNR is working to implement the provisions of this new law, including updating the baiting and feeding regulations web page. The baiting and feeding web page will be updated when a county is removed from (or added to) the baiting and feeding ban. Hunters will be able to visit this web page to determine if baiting and feeding is currently legal in a particular county.

Forty Two Hours on the Wisconsin River

Hello friends,

That thing called "life" has a way of happening every minute of every day, sometimes it is good, sometimes not so good. My daughter Selina is 16, she is very scheduled and the days of several simple camping trips whenever we want to do them are past. This week we did a simple camping trip!

Monday, July 31st

High 80, low 60

Here is the plan. Selina has off from her job at the Necedah, Kwik Trip on Monday and Tuesday, so we are going to put our War Eagle into Lake Wisconsin at Whalens Grade in Columbia County, go up the Wisconsin with our trusty golden retrievers, Fire and her crazy pup, Ruby and camp on a sandbar until Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday, we would get up early, break camp and get Selina to work at noon. Here is reality in Waltersville! Last night I thought I would make sure that my 90hsp Etec was running well so I hooked it up to a hose and tried starting it. That was a no go at first, after a bit I did get it started but she was not running good at all. On Monday morning, I took my rig over to my pal, Dave Cox and it was determined that I had a whole bunch of water in my gas.

Long story short, big boats cost lots of money to keep on the water and Selina and I did not launch the War Eagle until 6:00 p.m. but we made it.

So all we care about is building camp at a cool location, hanging out with the pups and hitting the rack "sand" early, and that is what we did.

Tuesday, August 1st

High 78, low 61

We should have dug furrows in the sand for our bodies and a herd of owls hunting nearby, all night long were the two reasons that I did not get much sleep last night. A furrow for your body makes flat ground become a bed.

Since Selina is a teenager, it is official that she can sleep quite late. Since we are camped near Folkies Bluff, I know there are lots of beautiful walleye in the area and I must try to catch them so we do not starve. Doc Folkie was my doctor in Poynette and a neighbor, he had a vacation home in this area and that I believe that is how Folkies Bluff was named.

My plan was to troll with two Flicker Shads and a crawler harness and possibly catch a state record walleye. Reality had me catching a 12-inch walleye and a sauger in the same size before heading into wake up "sleeping beauty".

It was burgers from Walters beef for breakfast and then Goof and I headed out to sea to catch Mrs. Big! We found lots of shallow water, there were a million people on the water for a Tuesday, the walleye were really hungry for the first 30-minutes and about 25-percent of the people in other boats need to read the law about passing fishermen at a close range at a high speed.

We trolled for several hours which in our minds means tending to five lines while going for a long boat ride at a very slow speed and not really caring if a fish is caught.

In the middle of the afternoon we went back to camp, I cooked lunch, Selina swam with the pups and then we tried to take a snooze. This evening we fished until almost dark and did not get a hit and did not care.

We dug furrows under the tent for our bodies "very claustrophobic experience" and after dark, I made spaghetti with venison and Walters beef.

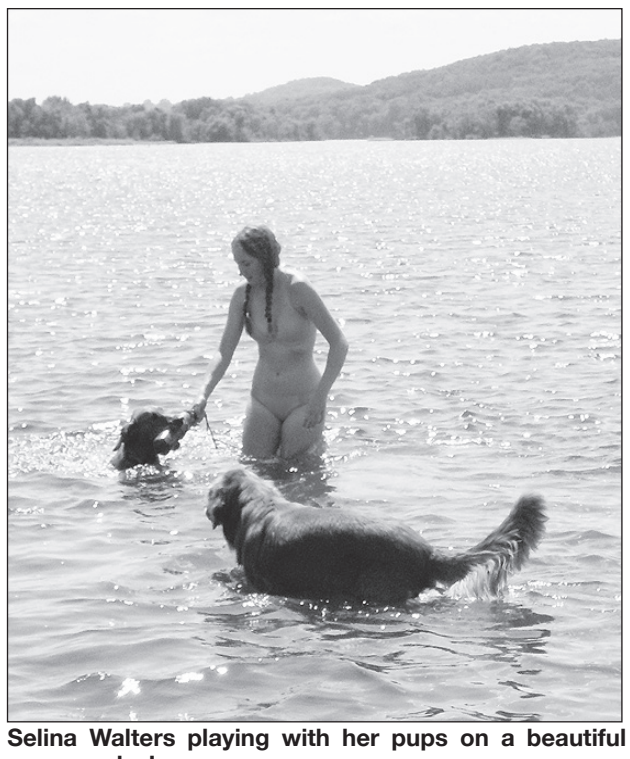

The next morning we were up early, did the five-mile ride back to the truck before it appeared another person was on the water and Selina was at work in plenty of time. That my friends is making the most out of a 48-hour experience with a 16-year-old girl that you know will only become more scheduled as time passes.

I love my job!

Bob Davis-Cumberland Hall of Fame

Graduating from Cumberland High School in 1948, Bob Davis was an outstanding athlete, participating in football and basketball. "Those were the only sports offered at the time," Davis said. World War II caused the Conference to eliminate some sports until 1951.

An excellent football player in high school, Davis served as the Captain of the team as a senior. Davis also started on the basketball team, was a Class President and the Junior Prom King. The Beaver Booster called Bob the "Senior Casanova" in an October 1947 article.

As a senior running back, Davis would score a running touchdown with 45 seconds left in the game to help defeat Hayward 18-12. Unfortunately, he missed a couple games that year with a shoulder injury.

Davis went into the Navy a few months after graduation and served through 1951. He would then go on to school, later returning to his alma mater where he taught Middle School for 25-years prior until his retirement in 1978.

Davis would wear many coaching hats during his teaching career as a football and basketball coach. "It was an honor to watch boys grow into young men," he added. He served as the schools AD for a period of time as well as the Head Basketball Coach, where he led the team to the 1971 State Tournament. During the summer, he spent several years running the City Recreation Department.

Davis will be inducted into the Cumberland Hall of Fame this October. Tickets are on sale in the High School office for $20.00 each. "I hope members of the community will join us for a great night of celebration," said Committee member Nancy Scharhag.

Barronett News
By Judy Pieper

You know, of course, that Barronett Lutheran's Vacation Bible School is going on this week. Peg Thompson, Judy Norton and Laura Maginnes have been working for weeks getting volunteer teachers and kitchen help. They have printed out posters, ordered educational and craft supplies, and had the church basement completely decorated on Sunday so that everything would be ready for the kids when they started arriving on Monday. Peg announced in church Sunday morning that she is planning to have the students sing a couple songs in front of the congregation next Sunday. That will be great-everyone loves to hear the little ones perform, and our church should be filled to capacity with all the parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles who will come to see what their kids have been learning. Whether you are a relative or not, you are certainly welcome to join us to let the kids and teachers know how much we appreciate the work they have been doing.

Next Sunday is also "new member" Sunday. Pastor Todd told us that there will be four more people joining our church at that time. Yea! We will be very happy to welcome them with open arms.

Do you remember how awful the weather was last Thursday? It poured rain just about all day and the temperature never got above the low 50s. Well, guess what-that was the day that Barronett Lutheran as manning Louie's Brat stand. Judy Norton and Tom and Audrey Cusick were there in the morning and Geri, Jess, Erica and Brooke Pittman finished up in the afternoon. Someone at Louie's told Judy Norton that most organizations cancel when the weather is that bad, but our people stuck it out to the very end, and believe it or not, it was a very lucrative day. Judy said that a lot of people came out to enjoy Louie's prize winning brats and hot dogs and support our church, and that she would like to thank everyone who stopped. Hopefully, when we have the brat stand next year, the weather will be much nicer. (It couldn't possibly get much worse, could it?)

The wind has been so bad lately. Duane and I planted a couple rows of sweet corn this year, and the storm we had last week blew most of it over. It was just starting to tassel out, darn it. We probably have 25 or 30 stalks standing, so we might get some corn, but I was planning on having enough of our own corn to freeze. Maybe we'll just grow peppers and tomatoes and stuff and leave the corn growing to experts like Bob Bos from now on.

Imagine a drum roll here-I heard some pretty exciting news regarding the Washburn County Fair. Local young farmer, 4-H member Lucas Arnes had the champion cross bred pig at the fair and won second place in showmanship. Lucas also sold a different pig in the show and sale auction. Lucas and his brother, Logan, and sister, Lily, all entered the wheelbarrow contest. For those of you who don't know, for that contest kids plant flowers and other pretty plants in a wheelbarrow to see who can come up with the best design in a small space. The Arnes family did very well, Lucas took first place, Logan took second, and Lily took third. Logan, who is not quite old enough for regular 4-H membership, also showed a big house with lots of weapons and cars that he made out of Leggos. He was awarded a participation ribbon for that exhibit. Keep up the good work kids. Local 4-H clubs need enthusiastic members like you.

Suzy Lehmann brought us back a case of pears from California last week, so on Saturday, she, Lynn Thon, Wrigley Marsh and I spent a lot of time canning them. Wrigley was really a big help-he chopped off the top of every pear before Suzy cut them up and Lynn and I peeled them. He's six, you know, and he did get a tad bored before we were finished. (Okay, he got a lot bored, but he hung in there anyway). We made it up to him though. That afternoon we took him to his Aunt Lynns where he played with his little cousin, Kane, and Lynn's little neighbor, Danny. I think he will probably ask what we are planning to do before he comes to visit again, and if I mention canning, he'll probably avoid us like the plague.

Lynn Thon just got back from a wonderful week long vacation visiting a long-time friend, Estella, in Tazewell, Virginia. Tazewell is beautiful, it's located on the west side of Virginia, and is surrounded by mountains. Lynn and Estella did a lot of hiking, sightseeing, and of course, shopping. They had a great time, but Lynn is glad to be back at work again so she can rest up from her vacation.

I haven't had a joke for you for awhile, so I'm going to give you a kind of long one this time. Seems that there was a horrible man who decided to hire a hit man to kill his wife so that he could collect the insurance. He wasn't sure how to contact a hit man, but when he looked, he found them listed in he Yellow Pages. The first one he called was in New York City, and he wanted $50,000 to do the job. That was way too much money, so he kept looking. He called one in Chicago, and he said he would do it for $25,000. Wow! Way too much. So he called a guy named Arty in Cumberland Arty said he would do it for a dollar. The guy asked Arty why he was so cheap, and he said that it was because he loved his job. Then Arty asked where he could find the wife. The guy told him that she led a Girl Scout troop on Tuesday, but Arty said that he wouldn't do it in front of a bunch of little girls. Then the guy told him that she was at choir practice at the Lutheran church on Wednesdays. Arty objected to doing it in front of a bunch of choir members . So the guy told him that she went shopping at the local grocery store every Thursday. According to Arty, that would be the perfect place for the job. So, on Thursday, Arty waited in the parking lot for her to come out. He saw her, walked up to her and choked her. Unfortunately the bagger saw him and so Arty had to choke him too. Then the store manager came out to see what all the commotion was, and because Arty could leave no witnesses, he choked him too. The next week the headlines of the local paper read, "Arty chokes three for a dollar at Cumberland grocery store on Thursday."

I guess that's about all I know from Barronett this week. Hope you're enjoying this cooler weather. See you next time.

Arrangements were completed this week by Art Spoolman for a special television show boosting the Cumberland Rutabaga Festival. Although more residents of the immediate area generally listen to the Cities television outlets, Spoolman pointed out that most residents of Shell Lake and north, get better reception from Duluth. The people of those parts of upper Wisconsin will be exposed to Festival publicity by the program that will air Wednesday, August 14th from 1:00 - 1:30 p.m.

C. H. Kilbourn, secretary of the Cumberland Federal Savings and Loan Association, announced the completion of a transaction in which the association became the owner of the Fuller and Lampson Building on 2nd Street.

Register of Deeds to speak at Genealogy Society Meeting

Barron County Register of Deeds Margo Katterhagen will present a program on how to use the Register of Deeds office for family history research. The Blue Hills Genealogical Society is sponsoring the program Mon., Aug. 14 at the Barron Senior Center (located in the Library Complex), 12 N. 3rd St., Barron. The program is free and open to the public and will start with hospitality at 6:30 and program at 7:00 p.m. She will discuss new rules and regulations that affect genealogists and data that is available in the Barron office.

In 1848 the Wisconsin constitution established the Register of Deeds as a permanent element of the county-level government structure. Each of the 72 Wisconsin counties has a Register of Deeds.

The Register of Deeds files, records and issues instruments and documents of significance to both the community as a whole and to its individual citizens. Vital records document the span of our life from birth to death. Each year many millions of dollars in transactions under the Uniform Commercial Code are represented in documents filed to record the interests and obligation of the parties in such commercial transactions. The Register of Deeds office also maintains real property indexes regarding transactions to a particular piece of property.

The Blue Hills Genealogical Society is also holding a fund raising sale at Culver's in Rice Lake on Tues., Sept. 12 from 4:00-7:00. Funds raised will go towards maintaining their Resource Center which houses genealogical data and materials collected and preserved for research purposes. The Resource Center is located at 410 E. LaSalle, Suite C, enter via the back door. It is open Mondays from 2:00-6:00 p.m. and is free to the public. Hundreds of Barron County records of genealogical value are housed in the Center. If you have materials of genealogical value that you would like to donate to the Society, please call president Gloria Dobberfuhl at 715-637-5579.

To join the Blue Hills Genealogical Society, go to their website www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/~wibhgsbc or come to a meeting. A Pioneer and Century certificate program is sponsored by the Society for those who had ancestors living in Barron County either by 1871 or 100 years ago. Check out the website or call Mrs. Dobberfuhl for details on how to apply for these certificates.

Diggers Hotline reminds Wisconsin residents to call 811 before digging

With plenty of summer left, there's still lots of time for Wisconsin residents to work on outdoor projects. August 11 is almost here, and Diggers Hotline hopes this date on the calendar, 8/11, will serve as an easy reminder for everyone to call 811 prior to any digging project to have underground utility lines marked.

Anyone in Wisconsin digging with a shovel, posthole digger or anything else that disturbs the soil is required to contact Diggers Hotline, either by phone by dialing 811 or at www.DiggersHotline.com. Diggers Hotline is a free service that helps protect Wisconsin residents from injury and repair costs that may occur when striking a buried utility line.

Installing a mailbox, building a deck, planting a tree and laying a patio are all examples of digging projects that need Diggers Hotline before starting.

It doesn't matter how deep the digging project will go. The depth of utility lines can vary for a number of reasons, such as erosion, previous digging projects and uneven surfaces. Utility lines need to be marked because even when digging only a few inches, the risk of striking an underground utility line still exists.

Anyone digging in Wisconsin, homeowners or professional contractors, is required to contact Diggers Hotline three working days before they start their digging project. Diggers Hotline can be reached via phone by dialing 811, or at www.DiggersHotline.com

EYE FACTS

WHY YOU SHOULD AVOID CHEAP GLASSES

Dr. Jennifer

Have you considered buying cheap glasses online, at a mall kiosk or cheap reading glasses at a discount store?

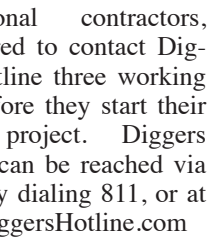

As much as we all want to wisely spend our hard-earned money, deals that sound too good to be true usually are.

We may save money up front (or not!), but the product often doesn't live up to our expectations.

When it comes to eye wear, some cheap glasses can cause harm to our eyes of which we aren't even aware -- and there aren't second chances when it comes to our eyes.

POINTS TO PONDER ...

Call today for Back-To-School exams!

Dr. Bryce

~ Know what's being cut to offer lower prices
~ Claims of "same top quality"
~ Virtual and home 'try-ons' can't ensure satisfaction
~ Cheap sunglasses can do more harm than good
~ Cheap reading glasses can cause eye strain - or worse
~ Cheap frames can cause skin irritation - or worse
~ Can you be sure sellers of cheap glasses will be around tomorrow?
~ Does the "Buy Two-For-One" argument make sense?

Cheap eyeglasses and sunglasses can rob you of the opportunity to see and look your best -- and the ability to protect your eyes for a lifetime of good vision.

Don't be fooled -- stop and and talk with us.

"Maple trees in the heart...."
By: Pastor Dennis Wright
Northern Lakes Church, Cumberland

It's August. And that means that there's one street in Cumberland that I simply avoid driving down for the next couple of weeks. Why do I avoid it? You see, on that street there's a maple tree and this tree is the very first one to start changing from summer to autumn colors (at the beginning of August...no less). I'm not ready for summer to end. That tree influences my emotional world. I cannot drive past it without turning my head the other way and not wanting to 'look.'

Do you have any such 'maple trees' in your life? You know what I mean. They may not be actual maple trees, but rather things, people or events that make us face needed change or provide opportunity to deal with things that are not in order. These 'maple trees' are reality. They make us choose. Either we can deal with the reality, or we can avoid it..like me taking another route to the church for the next couple of weeks...but, it's not going away.

How is it in your heart and soul? Is your relationship with God in order and as you'd like it to be? Or does it need work? If so, are you ready to begin? You know how it is. We want to do something about this, but we avoid it by putting it off until tomorrow or later. God's Holy Spirit urges us not to put it off...not to wait..for time and life are limited for everyone. 2 Corinthians 6: 2 says.. "for He (God) says, 'At the acceptable time I listened to you, And on the day of salvation I helped you.' Behold, now is "the acceptable time," behold now is "the day of salvation"- How is it with your soul? Has 'today'...the 'day of salvation' come in your heart? "...if you confess with your mouth, Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved..." Romans 10:9.

Has this happened in your heart? If you're not certain, remember the coffee is on! Come by and let's discuss this and pray to God together.

See you in church this weekend!

Everyone is encouraged to attend the Barron County Holstein Association Twilight Meeting set for Friday evening, August 18, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Hosts for the event are Image-Point Dairy, owned by Jeff, Debbie, Katie, and Collin Wille of Rice Lake.

The evening will consist of a meal, a dairy judging contest, a worker auction to benefit the Barron County Junior Holstein Association, and a display of antique toy farm machinery and dairy memorabilia dating back to the 1930s.

August is National Immunization Awareness Month

The Wisconsin Association of School Nurses (WASN), representing nearly 300 members statewide, is once again reminding parents and students to take time in August, National Immunization Awareness Month, to schedule back-to-school vaccinations, sports physicals, and update school immunization records to protect student health for the 2017/2018 school year.

"Summer is almost over and we want to make sure everyone gets in to see their family physician and/or schedules the appropriate physicals and vaccinations before their kids are heading off to school," said Valerie Hon, BS, RN, NCSN, president of the Wisconsin Association of School Nurses and the Portage Community School District school nurse. "Vaccination is the best proven method of preventing disease and allows our school nurses statewide to better protect student populations from illness over the course of the year."

Wisconsin school immunization law requires vaccinations for chicken pox, measles/mumps/rubella, hepatitis B, polio and diphtheria/pertussis (whooping cough)/tetanus. Health experts recommend that children ages 11-12 should be immunized against HPV, Tdap and Meningococcal. The CDC indicates those with certain medical conditions and chronic illnesses should also be vaccinated against pneumococcal pneumonia. Yearly influenza immunizations are recommended for all students. Parents with college-bound students are urged to have them vaccinated against meningitis and its Type B strain, which requires additional shots to provide protection, according to Hon. A Type B meningitis outbreak at UW-Madison last fall involved three students and resulted in more than 21,000 students being immunized.

Vaccination records for Wisconsin students can be checked online via the Wisconsin Immunization Registry at https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/immunization/wir.htm. Additional immunization information is available at https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/publications/p01438.pdf. Vaccination waivers are also accepted for religious, personal or medical reasons.

The mission of WASN is to support and advance the practice of professional school nurses in Wisconsin in order to enhance the health, safety and educational success of students. For more information visit www.wischoolnurses.org.

Northwoods Notebook:

A place for music and community: Library Lake

By Larry Werner

Next Tuesday, Aug. 15, we'll gather with family, friends and neighbors on the east shore of Library Lake for our final concert in the series Tia Duncan and I named "Island City Music." Lyzander Page, a singer and guitar player from Minneapolis, will fill the downtown air with his pop, country and rock songs.

The following week, of course, bands will play on the stages behind the library as part of our summer festival that honors a root vegetable no longer grown here. But the 10 Tuesdays of summer that began June 6 and conclude Aug. 15 showed me there's an appetite in Cumberland for weekly music and fellowship.

Our audiences ranged from about 75 to 200, and many of you thanked us for putting on these events.

As we approach the end of summer, let me remind you why we did the concerts and why we did them on Library Lake. Tia, also a newcomer to The Island City, and I are part of a group with the strange name, "Placemakers," also known as "Cumberland Connect."

It's a local version of a Placemaking movement that calls for creating gathering places in communities, typically in downtowns.

About two years ago, a facilitator held meetings at which Cumberland people brainstormed about ways we could enhance the town with places to gather. One of the recommendations was that the area behind the library become a town square of sorts, where concerts can be held on the lake adjacent to our downtown.

As you probably know, the Beaver Dam Lake Management District is working to restore Library Lake by creating storm-water retention ponds into which the sewers can drain water and silt rather than into the lake itself. And the district, with grants from the Wisconsin DNR, is dredging the lake so boats can come downtown.

In a few years, I hope, our downtown bay will look more like a lake than a swamp, and the east shore of the lake will be a park for listening to music and having picnics. We've made a start on the Library Lake restoration with the dredging done last fall and construction of a retention pond on the northeast corner of the lake.

We created a pop-up town square by barricading off the area in front of the Rutabaga Festival stages and having concerts on Tuesday evenings.

We got seed money from the Cumberland Area Business Alliance to do the concerts, and 10 businesses and organizations stepped up with sponsorship money for the 10 musical groups. Keith Hardie, the public works director, provided us with barricades to block off the area in front of the stage, and School Superintendent Barry Rose approved having the district's kayaks on the lake so folks could kayak on music nights.

Nezzy's gave us use of the Isle Event Center for days when the weather wasn't conducive to outdoor music, and Paul Bucher, publisher of the Advocate, provided free advertising.

As we wind down the summer and our concert series, I want to thank the folks mentioned above and Tia Duncan, my partner in placemaking, for her efforts at recruiting bands, seeking sponsors, emceeing the events and even serving dinner the night her B&B, Lairdchurch, was the sponsor.

Tia, who moved to Wisconsin from Chicago, and I – a transplant from the Twin Cities – got the sense that those of you who have lived here longer enjoy these weekly get-togethers on the lake. I'd like to hear from you on whether you enjoyed it and whether there are other places we should make.

How about a skating rink in winter? Maybe bike paths around town? Should we build a bandshell?

Send me an email.

Classic Cars at Pioneer Village Museum

The Pioneer Village Museum and the Past Reflections Car Club will join forces once again on Saturday, August 12th, to celebrate classic cars. Everyone who attends will be amazed at the variety of vehicles lovingly restored by antique car enthusiasts. This is one of the most popular car shows in Northwest Wisconsin.

Cars will be pulling in by 8:00 am and will be on display until 3:00 pm. The museum will be open until 5:00 pm.

The Village "Gas Station" has been undergoing some changes over the last year, including a new paint job, restoration of the old pumps, a "storage area" around the back just like old service stations, and the inside has been cleaned up and organized. The old pumps have been restored and a driveway has been added. Drivers may wish to pull through the station and take a photo in this classic setting.

Car show attendees are encouraged to visit the museum's own display of antique and unique vehicles housed in the machinery building at the north end of the museum grounds. Visiting the classic car show provides another opportunity for people to explore the many exhibits at the Museum, from farming to kitchen equipment, and military uniforms to antique dolls and toys. The Pioneer Kitchen will be open, along with the Museum Gift Shop, which has a treasure trove of museum souvenirs, old fashioned toys, and locally made craft items for sale.

The Pioneer Village Museum is 1 ½ miles west of Cameron on Hwy W. Admission is $10 for adults, $5 for children 12 and under, and free for 5 and under. Call 715-458-2080 or go online at barroncountymuseum.com

Foundation Camp wraps up the season

Cumberland Foundation Camp held its final camp of the summer. Explorer Camp started July 17th and ran through August 4th. Eighty-six Cumberland students entering first through fourth grade attended the camp.

Foundation Camp was started in 2013 and has continued to offer students a unique summer experience free of charge. The camp's goal is to keep students academically active during the summer months, so they are ready for school to start in September. More than 100 students have attended camp each year in grades 1-8 over the last five summers.

This year students were able to learn about insects, mammals, spiders, amphibians, map skills, survival skills, compasses and orienteering in the morning and were instructed in reading, writing and math skills in the afternoon. The morning outdoor instruction took place at Scoutland, Cumberland School Forest and Timberland Hills Recreational Ski Trails.

Classes were led by Cumberland teachers Mary Miller, Phil Warner, Jen Eggleston, Jada Hamilton, Becca Odden, Jim Reidy, Bill McCreary, Lori Hopkins, and Evan Strangstalien. The student staff were comprised of current CHS students and alumni who were positive role models and built strong relationships with the younger students. Student staff included Morgan Weaver, Mersada Nosbush, Johnny Richie, Elaina Bruno, Montana Weaver and Kamryn Mott.

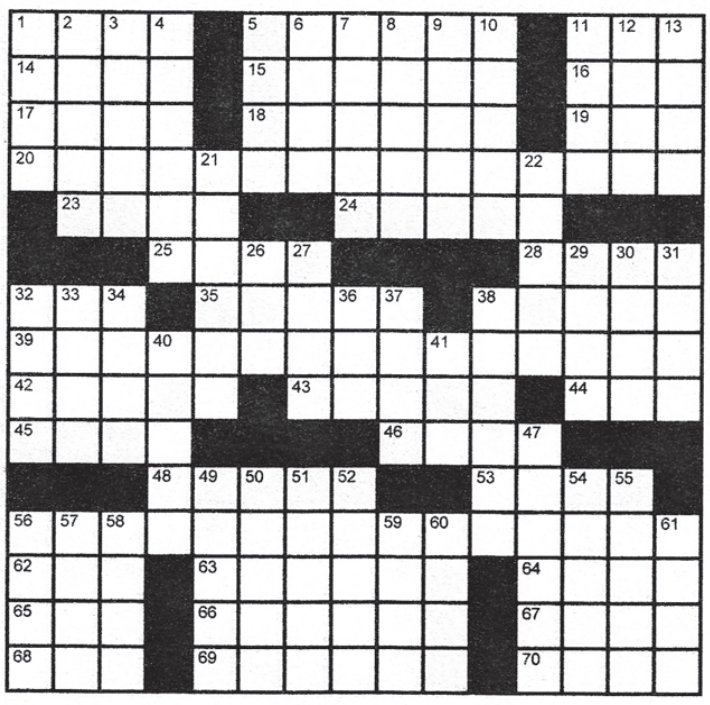

Special thanks to: Sara Strangstalien, Jim Catone and CASTA, Friends of Scoutland, Cumberland School District, Susan Bridger, Cumberland Bus Company; Mark Mauer; Cumberland Education Foundation; Cumberland United Fund; Dwight and Drew Griffith; and the Cumberland Municipal Utility.

BC First Responders...

first responder teams are established to provide life-saving emergency medical treatment, but only in specific communities. Out of the 4,300 emergencies in 2016, only 1,100 occurred in areas that have a community-based first responder team. This leaves 3,000 calls occurring in areas that do not have a first responder program.

In July 2017, a non-profit organization named "Emergency Services of Barron County" was created to combine these current first responder organizations into one larger countywide team. This merger increased the number of volunteers and expanded first responder coverage into all communities within Barron County.

To support this initiative, we are asking our community for sponsorship assistance to provide our team members with state-required Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) training, and to equip our members with the supplies and equipment needed to arrive onscene and make a positive difference in the patient outcome.

To donate to this critical cause, please visit www.ESBC.MyDagSite.com, or visit our Facebook page at www.Facebook.com/ESBarronCounty. We have also partnered with the Barron County Sheriff's Department to accept mail-in and drop-off donations at the Barron County Justice Center at 1420 State Highway 25 North, Barron, WI, 54812. (Please make checks payable to "LEFBC").

For questions, or to apply to be a volunteer with Emergency Services of Barron County, please contact Mike Judy at 715-637-6732.

Traffic fatalities on Wisconsin roads take a deadly turn for the worse

July was the deadliest month on Wisconsin roads this year, prompting transportation safety officials to issue a "call to action" urging all motorists to be safe/responsible

The 66 people who died in Wisconsin traffic crashes in July make it the deadliest month on state roadways so far this year, prompting officials with the Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) to issue a special call to all motorists: buckle-up, slow down, be sober and alert behind the wheel every day – every trip.

"Through law enforcement and public education, we're doing everything we can to urge motorists to travel safely and responsibly," said David Pabst, Director of WisDOT's Bureau of Transportation Safety. "But in the end, it's the responsibility of every driver and passenger to do their part to prevent needless tragedies along our roadways."

Traffic fatalities last month were three more compared to July of last year, and 11 more than the five-year average for July. Wisconsin's safest July was in 2015 with 39 fatalities and the deadliest occurred in 1966 and 1971 with 140 fatalities. Through the first seven months of the year, a preliminary total of 338 people died along Wisconsin roadways, surpassing the 335 people killed over the same period last year. Wisconsin traffic fatalities through July include 192 car and truck drivers, 59 passengers, 45 motorcyclists and 38 pedestrians.

The annual Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over campaign from August 18 through Labor Day will put more officers on the roads for longer hours looking for impaired drivers and other traffic law violators. "While impaired driving remains a serious concern across Wisconsin, other common traffic law violations like speeding and distracted driving are equally dangerous and deadly," Pabst said.
