Northwoods Notebook: An opportunity to feel good about Cumberland

by Larry Werner

They had come from all over the state to hear from other folks about how places like Cumberland are dealing with the challenges facing small towns. At this Small Community Forum in the Isle Event Center last week, people from places I had never heard of, and some places I had, listened to our officials tell the story of a little town that works.

Mayor Bert Skinner, School Superintendent Barry Rose and Tom Schroeder, president of the Beaver Dam Lake Management District, said cooperation among public and private entities has given our town such amenities as Endeavor Stadium, Islander Park, the Isle Event Center and a lake surrounding the town that is kept clean by a tax-supported management district.

In a downtown with virtually no empty storefronts, people from places like Boyceville and Glenwood City asked in roundtable sessions how to fill up empty storefronts. In a town with large employers such as 3M, Ardisam, dca Manufacturing and Seneca Foods, participants looked for advice on how to attract such operations to their places.

During the four-hour workshop sponsored by several state agencies and organizations, including the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, Skinner, Rose and Schroeder got to do a little bragging about The Island City. And the theme of their boasting was "cooperation" in such projects as the Islander athletic complex that is used not just by school kids but community members of all ages – and is being expanded with additional facilities that will be announced soon.

And while folks from other small towns wrung their hands about needing employers, Skinner talked about problems these other places would like to have – acquiring land for the expansion of the companies we have and finding employees for those businesses.

The mayor said Cumberland isn't without its issues. But on this beautiful late-summer day in a former movie theater repurposed into an event center, it was apparent that we're much better off than many small cities.

When I was looking for a place to retire, I visited a number of small towns ranging from Birchwood and Stone Lake in Wisconsin to McGregor in northern Minnesota. I feel very lucky that when it was time to buy a place on water, I found a home on the shores of Beaver Dam.

Turtle Lake hosts Wisconsin Colorfest & BBQ Bash

Turtle Lake wishes to introduce you to Wisconsin Colorfest & BBQ Bash, a new event hosted on October 6 & 7, 2017, held in the Village Park that will draw tourists to the community as well as raise funds for community projects. This event is focused on celebrating fall color, all things Wisconsin, and will host a barbecue competition sanctioned by the Kansas City Barbecue Society (KCBS).

The competition will have 15-20 experienced cooks who will have their meats judged by KCBS judges, earning points toward the national competition. The public will participate in judging via the People's Choice competition. Attendees may sample a chicken wing and two ounces of pork from each of the cooks and cast votes for the top cook. Chicken wings are judged on Friday and pork on Saturday.

In addition to the featured barbecue contest, on both days the event will have live music, a jump house for the kids, as well as games and prizes, food vendors, beer, and wine. On Saturday, the Artisan Expo will feature a wide variety of artists and craftsmen throughout the area, including paintings, furniture from barn boards, glass fishing lures, jewelry, needlework, and more. A performance by Native American singers and dancers will also be on Saturday, between 3:00 and 4:00 p.m.

Weekend admission is just $10, come Friday and return on Saturday without paying again. Kids 12 and under get in for $5, which includes their access to the jump house, games, and prizes.

The event kicks off on Friday evening, 4:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m., with the barbecue chicken wings People's Choice competition, live music by the Blue Drifters Quartet. The gates are open on Saturday at 10:00 a.m. – 6:00 p.m. There will be music throughout the day by New Age Entertainment with the live performance by Those Guys starting at 1:00 p.m. Demonstrations by three different experienced cooks will begin at 2:00 p.m. for thirty minutes each. Awards ceremony starts at 4:00 p.m. with the People's Choice continuing to the close of the event at 6:00 p.m.

Proceeds from this year's event will go toward the Turtle Lake Police Department K-9 Unit. Top sponsors for 2017 include the St. Croix Casino Turtle Lake and Dairy State Bank. For more information and schedule of events, visit WisconsinColorfest.com or call 800-811-0338.

Food for Thought: Fall - a time of change and tradition

by Hope Lee Vicich

Fall is here! Though the colors started changing a little later than usual this year, this wonderful season remains my favorite, partially because it is so full of both change and tradition!

Change in Fall is not limited to the color of the leaves. Our students started new grades this Fall, some moving on to new schools. In many cases, the change meant going off to college, as with my middle daughter, Kela, heading off to Green Mountain College in Vermont. A truly big change! (More on that adventure later.)

Everything changes in the Fall, the weather, our schedules, the time ("Fall back" an hour), the clothes we wear, even the sports we watch (baseball is winding down, football is taking off). But amidst all this change are some deep rooted traditions.

One of our communities most deeply ingrained traditions is happening this week - Homecoming! Every High School and College have their own ways to celebrate this Fall tradition. Cumberland is no different.

Our tradition is the annual Tailgate Party at Endeavor Stadium. Cavatils, brats, hot dogs - the party starts at 5:30 p.m.

This year will also see the return of a tradition from the past - The Homecoming Parade. When Endeavor Stadium opened, the parade had been deemed unnecessary and discontinued. This year's student council, however, decided to bring the tradition back. The parade will begin at 5:15 p.m. at the Cumberland Elementary School, proceed through Main Street and finish at Endeavor Field. The public should attend and show their support for the team as they wind their way up to the Tailgate Party.

Also on Friday, another tradition takes place in the High School Gym. The Pep Assembly will include pep band, class competitions, introduction of the 2017 Homecoming Court, fall sports participants and other fun activities for the students. The Pep Assembly will begin at 1:15 p.m. The public is invited.

Game kick off time is 7:00 p.m. for the start of the Homecoming game as the Cumberland Beavers take on the Spooner Rails. Pregame activities include

Drew Skeen Hired as Chief Operating Officer for St. Croix Casinos

Drew Skeen

The St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin have announced the hiring of Drew Skeen as Chief Operating Officer for the St. Croix Casinos.

A 28-year veteran of the casino gaming business, Skeen has served in executive positions for casino resorts in Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona, including the Golden Nugget, Treasure Island and MGM-Mirage properties in Las Vegas. A graduate of the University of Nevada Las Vegas, Skeen has a degree in finance.

Skeen has a proven ability to combine his expertise in finance and property operations and his extensive knowledge about gaming to get things done. During his most recent gaming career he has turned seven Nevada properties that were financially bankrupt and distressed into stable, profitable, revenue-generating operations. He managed all operations and was instrumental in negotiating the sale on a few of those properties. He also consulted on other gaming opportunities and Native American projects including building new casino properties and assisting in negotiating products and services for those projects.

Skeen's results-oriented approach is front and center in his plan for St. Croix Casinos. "My goal at St. Croix is to add to the overall guest experience at all properties and strengthen all departments in their understanding of fiscal responsibility and decisions and how that affects the bottom line of the company," Skeen said.

"I will share my knowledge of all departments and mentor those who want to grow in the company," he added. "Dreams come true when you wake up and go to work to provide services and develop talents and income to meet your lifetime goals."

Airport Happenings

by Richard Brekke, Manager, Cumberland Municipal Airport

For being the fourth year in a row that the Annual Rutabaga Festival Air Show has been rained out, those of us at the airport wanted to express our great appreciation and thanks for the support that the airport receives from the city and citizens. We managed to get a few airplanes (and two helicopters) in, and fed between 300 and 350 people pancakes and Louie's fabulous breakfast sausages.

This year we had two of the six pilots on the U.S. Unlimited Aerobatics Team donate their time and talents to fly for our airshow. Grant Nielsen, a Rice Lake resident and pilot also donated his time and talent to perform for us. Just as with any person with a special talent, it takes practice to perfect those talents. The aerobatic practice raised a few eyebrows this summer and I'd like to explain how and why it came about as it did.

All aerobatics are flown in an Aerobatic Box. It is an imaginary box, generally over an airport, that is sanctioned and monitored by the FAA. All airports hosting an aerobatic performance are required to have a temporary aerobatic box on the day of the performance issued by the FAA after a permit is applied for by the airport. Cumberland Airport, and another by Minneapolis, are the only two permits, applied for and renewed each year.

Aerobatic boxes in this area that offer the performance a sanctioned, and legal place to practice. Craig Gifford and Mark Nowosielski, are the US Team members, who were going to fly this year. Craig lives in Minneapolis, Mark in Florida. For practice they share Craig's plane so this summer Mark would fly up here for a weekend to practice. They love Cumberland and spent two weekends here practicing. They left for South Africa for the world competition the Thursday after Rutabaga.

Even loving aircraft as I do, I understand that some airplane noise is cool, but a lot can be tiring. Even those of us here didn't realize they needed to practice as much as they did and that Mark was coming all the way from Florida. For that I apologize. I have a couple of local residents that I call when the aerobatic box will be open and they go do something else for the afternoon. I would like to extend the invitation to anyone who might be interested to add their name and number to that list and I will be more than happy to call with a heads up. My cell number is 715-205-4474. I carry it all the time and am always available. Please call if you would like a courtesy call or have any concerns with the airport. I can't fix problems that I don't know about. Our goal is to be a good neighbor and let everyone know that they are always welcome here.

Quick airport history: In 1946, 34 members of the Cumberland Flying Club, President I.N. Toftness, petitioned the City, State, and the CAA (later changed to FAA) to develop 120 acres the city owned into an airport. In 1947 Cumberland Airport was opened with three grass runways, a flight school and maintenance facility managed by Indianapolis Flying Service. In 1978 the first blacktop runway was created.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

Senator John McCain has been struck with the same deadly brain cancer that took Senator Ted Kennedy. I hope that Senator McCain is one of the 10% that beats this type of cancer. I just finished watching an interview with McCain where he did not bemoan his situation but said he will keep fighting the cancer and will keep working to serve the American people. He said whatever happens - "I have had a life well lived" and he will keep on with his duties in the Senate. I am on the opposite side of many public policy issues but I still regard Senator McCain with utmost affection. He is a great man and we are fortunate to have his leadership in an almost rudderless Congress. He serves both Democrats and Republicans with honor and trustworthiness. When I watch and listen to Senator McCain I am struck by the difference between him and the man who sits in the White House. We are all the greater for Senator McCain and we are poorer for the man who sits in residence at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Summer is almost over and the days are getting shorter. The leaves are starting to change and Sharon and I want to see some of the fall color. We are heading north to Itasca State Park to see where the mighty Mississippi begins. There is a 16 mile loop through the park where we should be able to enjoy the fall colors. I will give you a report next week.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

P.S. For five hours Ole chopped wood for the Lutheran minister. He went to the door to get his pay. Pastor Finstad, after answering the door said, "I hope you don't charge too much, I am just a poor preacher." "I know," said Ole, "I heard you preach last Sunday."

Inside Wisconsin

by Tom Still

One of Wisconsin's most effective business growth tools ready for update

MADISON, Wis. – One of Wisconsin's most successful strategies for spurring the growth of young companies for the past decade or so has been its Qualified New Business Venture law, known as the "Act 255" investor tax credits law because of how the law was titled when it passed.

The program provides tax credits to qualified Wisconsin investors who put money into young companies with some sort of technology base, even if the company is aligned with a more traditional sector such as manufacturing or agriculture.

Since it took effect in 2005, the Act 255 program has prompted at least $466 million in private investments in emerging companies that have earned QNBV status through the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. (previously, the Wisconsin Department of Commerce) based on standards set by a law that has changed only incrementally over time.

It's a rigorous vetting process that, once completed, earns the angel and venture capital equivalent of a "Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval" for young companies. Potential investors in Wisconsin often won't consider companies that are not QNBV-certified because they trust in the process enough to know it's worth taking a closer look.

They also like the tax credits, which are worth $1 in state relief for every $4 invested. There are scores of examples of investors who took a chance on a young company knowing the credits would help mitigate the risk or allow them to invest more than they had planned.

About $116.5 million in credits have been granted over time, all retroactive to the actual investment, and nearly 1,200 new jobs have been created in the past six years alone. The law has been a model for investment tax credit laws in other states add a major reason why Wisconsin's early stage investment community has grown from a handful of venture and angel funds or networks in the early 2000s to about 40 such groups today.

In 2016, for example, about $276 million in angel or venture capital was invested in 136 Wisconsin companies – 84 of which were QNBV-certified.

As time passed, however, some parts of the law aged. One update that should be made by the Wisconsin Legislature this fall is lifting the lifetime cap on credit-eligible investments in any single company from $8 million to $12 million.

The $8 million cap has been in place almost since the dawn of the law, and inflation alone suggests it should be raised. The biggest problem is that many tech-based companies, especially those in health care or manufacturing, are so capital-intensive that it takes more money to fuel their growth. The typical venture capital investment of 2005 is not the norm in 2017.

So far, 14 emerging companies in Wisconsin have been "capped out," meaning those companies hit the $8 million investment ceiling that yielded $2 million in credits for their investors. Another 20 are poised to bump against the ceiling soon, based on an analysis by the Legislative Fiscal Bureau.

Companion bills introduced in both houses of the Legislature would raise the ceiling to $12 million, which would produce an additional $1 million in credits for qualified investors. Those bills (Senate Bill 398 and Assembly Bill 489) have attracted bipartisan sponsorship, with Rep. Mike Kuglitsch, R-New Berlin, and Sen. Tom Tiffany, R-Hazlet, taking the lead. Both lawmakers have been champions for Wisconsin's early stage economy over time.

While there are other improvements that could be made in the Act 255 law over time, this change is most timely because most of the companies at or near the $8 million ceiling are poised for rapid growth – if they can land more investment dollars. Those companies are statistically likely to produce large numbers of good-paying jobs, as well.

Sometimes overlooked is how much those emerging companies buy in supplies, goods and services from other companies across Wisconsin. That supply-chain effect means a company based in Madison, Milwaukee or Menomonie may be buying equipment or other services from firms in Rhinelander, Green Bay or Wausau. In that sense, the entire state has a stake in the success of young, tech-based companies.

Many of the companies that earn QNBV status will be among the presenters at the Nov. 15-16 Wisconsin Early Stage Symposium in Madison, which will showcase about 45 such firms. Applications are being accepted now though the Wisconsin Technology Council website at www.wisconsin-technologycouncil.com.

Some have criticized Wisconsin policymakers for doing too much for big companies. Passage of SB 398 and AB 489 would help companies on the other end of the spectrum.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He is the former associate editor of the Wisconsin State Journal.

To the Editor:

In the 9/28/17 edition of the Advocate you ran an article with the headline "Clayton Police Chief accused of sexual harassment." The article went on to say that the Chief has been arrested and charged with an array of charges, including 4th degree sexual assault. The fourth paragraph of the story detailed what was dubbed "the worst offense" the Chief allegedly committed and explains that the Chief "would not leave and allegedly had sexual intercourse with her, in spite of her protests." What is described there is rape - something so immensely different than sexual harassment that I find your headline incredibly inaccurate and irresponsible.

When the facts of a situation are that a Police Chief has been officially charged with sexual assault in court and is allegedly guilty of rape, I find it unacceptable for the headline of your story to say he is "accused of sexual harassment". I believe it is extremely important that you be accurate when reporting on sexual violence against women, and I think your choice of wording for your headline was just plain wrong.

Thanks for your consideration.

Ali Holzman

Editor's note: We apologize for the error in the headline. The story accurately reported the charges levied against Chief Grant Pickard, we are sorry that the headline did not.

The incident turned into an active shooter situation when the subject exited the residence and fired a round from a long rifle. The subject then proceeded in the direction of the officers and ignored repeated requests to surrender his weapon. Officers were in imminent danger, and Barron County Sheriff's Deputy Graf fired two rounds at the subject, striking him both times. Sgt. Beranek spoke with Ed Sonnenberg, who reported the incident reported on Facebook actually occurred on July 3, 2017, when his wife Jami had struck their two-year-old child and left a very large red welt on his right buttocks.

He further said that on September 13 he and Jami were arguing about dressers in the kids' bedroom. He said they were walking down the hallway and the 2-year-old child was in the hallway. He said Jamie was upset the child was not walking fast enough, so she yelled at him to get out of the way. She then took her knee and drove it into the back of the 2-year-old, causing the child to fly approximately five feet, causing the child to fall and land on his face, causing his nose to be cut and bleed. Sgt. Beranek observed the injury.

Sgt. Beranek asked Ed if Jami has been physical with him. He reported she has broken his glasses so he can't see, in another incident she punched him in the mouth causing his lip to be cut and bleeding inside.

He further reported their 2-year-old child is continuously yelled at and she strikes the child and becomes upset with the child at least once or twice a month and does strike the child.

Sgt. Beranek located Jami at the Chetek Police Department. She reported that at approximately 5:30 p.m. the previous evening she and Ed were arguing about the kids' dressers and clothing. She said they were leaving the bedroom and their 2-year-old child was walking in the hallway. She admitted she pushed the back of the child's head to get him to start walking down the hallway and then he fell down.

If convicted she may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than three years and six months, or both. Her preliminary hearing was held September 22, 2017.

Parents are Key to Teens' Safe and Healthy Homecoming

Parents Who Host, Lose The Most: Don't be a party to teenage drinking

During this season of 'Friday Night Lights', a reminder from Barron County Community Coalition and Barron County Sheriff's Department to parents who want to host a post-game party and serve alcohol: Parents Who Host, Lose The Most: Don't be a party to teenage drinking.

Football games and homecoming dances are part of nearly every teen's life this time of year. These are great opportunities for teens to socialize with their peers and get involved at their school. This also means late nights and potential risky situations for teens, including parties where adults are providing alcohol.

"Many adults don't understand that while it is legal to provide alcohol to their own children, it is not legal or ok to provide it to anyone else under the age of 21," said Sarah Turner, Prevention Specialist for the Barron County Community Coalition. "Providing alcohol to anyone else can get them in serious legal trouble."

It is illegal for adults to purchase, pour, or provide alcohol for anyone under age 21 who isn't their child or spouse. Parents can't provide "permission" for another adult to purchase, pour, or provide alcohol to their children.

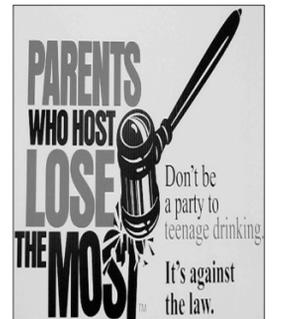

"It is important for parents to know that they can be fined up to $500 per underage drinker," said Sheriff Chris Fitzgerald. "We have a zero tolerance policy when it comes to adults providing alcohol to minors. Please do your part to keep our youth safe this homecoming season and always. Never provide alcohol to anyone under 21."

Here are some tips for adults (especially parents) on how to avoid being a party to teenage drinking:

- Don't be afraid to be the bad guy. Taking a tough stand on alcohol use can help youth say no when they are pressured to drink by their friends.
- Talk with other adults about hosting alcohol-free youth events. Unity creates a tough, enforceable message.
- Set a positive example. If you host a party, always serve alternative non-alcoholic beverages and do not let anyone drink and drive.
- Stay home if a teen is hosting a party in your home. Observe the activities and confiscate any alcohol that may brought by party goers.
- Report underage drinking to the police promptly.

The "Parents Who Host, Lose The Most: Don't be a party to teenage drinking" campaign was developed by the Drug Free Action Alliance. The Wisconsin Department of Health Services has partnered with the Drug Free Action Alliance since 2009 to provide this program annually to over 40 local coalitions statewide.

Beavers roll past Bears; Homecoming Friday night

The Cumberland Beavers raised their overall record to 4-2 on the season with a 54-14 victory over the Barron Bears last Friday at Barron. The Beavers rolled to a 46-6 halftime bulge and used their entire roster during the running clock of the second half. The Beavers now turn their attention towards their Homecoming opponent, the Spooner Rails, who come to Endeavor Stadium for a HON contest this Friday night.

Cumberland used five Barron turnovers and two defensive touchdowns to help run away with Friday's contest. Garrett McClain returned an interception 44 yards for one score, while Reid Olson ran a fumble recovery back 36 yards for a second Cumberland touchdown. Kobe Berghammer added another interception from a swarming Cumberland defense.

"Our defense played well, led by Alex Ricci, Trystin Neitzel, and Reid Olson," said Coach Corey Berghammer.

The offense also was effective on several shortened fields. Kobe Berghammer was 12 for 16 through the air for two touchdowns and 236 yards. He added two touchdown runs for another solid game.

Berghammers two scoring tosses were both long distance throws, to Reid Olson for 66-yards and to Andrew Barnes on a 75-yard catch and run. Barnes ended the night with three receptions for 119 yards. Max Narges had four catches for 57 yards.

Olson also had a nice game on the ground, with 88 yards on only seven carries. He would finish the game at quarterback and complete his only pass of the night for 32 yards.

"It was nice to get a win and come out healthy. I liked the way we played," said Berghammer. Spooner comes into the contest after losing a 35-0 decision to the Northwestern Tigers in Spooner last Friday night.

Volleyball Team has nice week; Home Thursday

The Cumberland Volleyball team had a busy and successful run last week as they defeated HON foes Chetek-Weyerhaeuser and Ladysmith in duals, as well as finishing third in the Heidi Zosel Invitational in Northwestern last Saturday. The only blemish of the week was a loss to Webster last Monday night. The team will now prepare for another HON contest this Thursday against Spooner, which will start at 7:00 pm on John Schell Court.

Things started off on Monday with a loss to Webster. "We played them to three close games, but couldn't pull of the victory," said Coach Jessica Olson. "We struggled all night with our serving," she added.

Izzy West did have 28 assists in the contest, while Hannah Delzer and Adreanna Johnson had five kills each.

Cumberland rebounded nicely with a sweep of the Bulldogs the following night. "We really played well," said Olson. Sophie Bassett, Mykayla Anderson, and Autumn Riewestahl all served at 100 percent, while Ania Hyatt had 12 kills and five blocks in the contest.

Thursday, the Red and White pulled off another big victory against Ladysmith, winning in four sets. Hyatt had another nice night with 11 kills and three blocks, while Hannah Delzer had nine kills and served 12 for 12. "Lauren Green added 11 digs and Izzy West had 38 assists. "We played good volleyball from the first point of the night," said Olson.

The week concluded with a fine performance at Northwestern. Cumberland defeated Drummond, Northwestern, and Amery, while losing to eventual Champion, Hudson, in a close match. On the day, West had a team-leading 58 assists, Hyatt, a team-high 27 kills, and Delzer and Green 14 digs each. Kiya Talbot added six kills and Riewestahl had 10 digs. "We hope to be peaking as we head towards our Conference and WIAA Tournaments," Olson concluded.

Another Big Night!

CC runs at Barron

The Cumberland Cross Country Team traveled to Barron last week, where they participated in the Barron Invitational. Hayward won the Girls competition and Rice Lake took the Boys Championship, while the Cumberland Girls and Boys both finished tenth in the 12-team field.

The Girls Individual Champion was Somersets Anya Swanson, with a time of 23:04. Cumberlands best finish was Teagon Benson, who finished 22nd overall with a run of 26:18. The Red and Whites next best finisher was Naomi Rodriguez, who finished 45th with a time of 28:34.

The Boys Individual Champion was Josh Halverson of Cameron, who ran a 19:49. The Beavers Gavin Fountaine continued his good fall with a 6th place run of 20:13.

Also finishing among the top 30 runners for Cumberland was Zach Hullander, who was 27th overall with a 22:40.

Cumberland hosted their own Invitational on Monday and next run this Thursday in the Ladysmith Invite, starting at 4:30 pm.

Middle School football splits at Spooner

The Cumberland Middle School Football Team played at Spooner last week, with the 7th Grade winning 32-16 and the 8th Grade dropping a 34-6 contest.

Ed Chafer had a big game for the 7th Grade scoring four rushing touchdowns and racking up over 150 yards on the ground. Nick Casper added a 70-yard scoring run for the Beavers. The Coaches credited Dylan Capra, Donovan Ehman, and Garrett Craine with "solid defensive games."

Four first half turnovers hurt the 8th Grade effort. Quarterback Maddox Allen kept the Beavers hopes alive with a 48-yard touchdown pass to Blake Siebert, while Jay Green also had a nice game at wide receiver. The Beavers play at Unity next Tuesday in a game starting at 5:00 pm.

Soccer Team splits pair of games; Sandman records back to back 3 goal games

The Cumberland Beavers split a pair of games last week, defeating the Spooner Rails 4-2 and losing to the Middle Border leading Amery Warriors, 4-0. The Beavers will be back in action this week, having played Baldwin-Woodville on Monday and then hosting the Barron Bears this Thursday in a 4:30 start.

In the Spooner victory, it was another big night for the Beavers Erik Sandman. For the second straight week, Sandman had a three goal game for the Beavers. He now has 13 goals on the season.

The Beavers other score came from Senior Johnny Richie, who also assisted on one of Sandmans scores. "We were fortunate to get the win. We are doing some nice things, but still need to work on our control under high-pressure situations next week in practice," said Coach Larry Ruetz.

On Thursday, the Beavers

hosted the Conference leading Amery Warriors, losing the 4-0 game. "We played well for most of the game, but needed to play a perfect game and a few small mistakes really hurt us," added Ruetz. "Now we need to get ready to play well this week, as Tournament seeding is right around the corner," Ruetz added.

The JV team also lost to Amery 4-0.

An Outdoorsman's Journal

A KAMO Kind of Story

Hello friends,
KAMO (Kids And Mentors Outdoors) is an organization that was started through this column in 2007 and has since grown to seven chapters throughout Wisconsin. Our goal is to help introduce and continue with follow up experiences with kids into the outdoors. We do this with one on one mentoring and group events.

This week's column is about a recent outing where two freshmen from Auburndale High, Breanna Brandl and Dylan Hart went on their first duck hunt with two members of our newest chapter, which is the Marsh/Point Chapter of KAMO (the region of Marshfield and Stevens Point) and their meetings are held at the visitors center at the Meade Wildlife Area.

Saturday, September 16th
High 85, low 63

Ben Gruber is a paramedic who works in Nekoosa and Marlon Marks is a fire fighter/paramedic for the City of Wausau. Today would be Marlon's first waterfowl hunt just like Dylan and Breanna's, but Marlon would strictly be a helper and observer.

We met at 5:00 a.m. on a marsh in Wood County where I have a bear bait and have been watching lots of ducks for the last two months.

My golden retrievers, Fire and her pup "Ruby" would be fetching the kids ducks if they should be fortunate enough to harvest one.

On Thursday evening, Ben who is the President of the Marsh/Point Chapter of KAMO taught Dylan and Breanna how to operate and shoot a shotgun. These two kids have been classmates for most of their lives and they did not know they would be hunting together until Thursday.

In KAMO we try to make everything fun and educational and this morning would be both as we took two canoes on a short journey in the dark and then set out our decoys. Everyone had chest waders and was an active participant, not just an observer.

After our decoys were set we had about 20-minutes before night became day and we talked about dogs, fishing, ducks and the quiet and peace before daybreak.

I learned that Breanna loves to fish walleye on Lake Nekoosa and that both Dylan and Breanna both have Rottweilers.

Ben Gruber is a very skilled duck hunter and like myself is well aware that first time duck hunters generally are not quick enough to shoot at, much less hit a duck on their first hunt.

Ruby is a year now and is as crazy as she is full of love and seemed to want to sit on Dylan's lap a lot.

There were lots of woodies that would fly by us frequently and in almost every case the kids did not shoot because the experience happened so fast but it was obvious that everyone was having a very good time.

Let me tell you about KAMO! We are trying to make a difference in Wisconsin's outdoor experiences for kids and thankfully we are getting the job done. Everything from insurance, to a board of directors to a 501 C to bylaws and a background check policy has been taken care of. Like so many volunteer organizations what we could really use is more mentors and in some cases more kids and as crazy as this sounds KAMO is eager to start more chapters.

The sky is the limit and by that I mean KAMO is not just about hunting and fishing, so if you want to join or know a kid that could use some outdoor experiences check us out at www.kamokids.org

So we are all sitting and hiding next to two canoes and three woodies buzz us from out of nowhere, Dylan gets his gun up quick enough this time, fires his first shot ever at a duck and low and behold it drops out of the sky.

Ruby explodes like a field trial champion, swims to it and brings it to my hand and Dylan Hart has just bagged a beautiful drake wood duck.

Folks throughout Wisconsin (Ladysmith, Poynette, LaCrosse, Marshfield, New Lisbon, Wisconsin Dells and Florence) we have established chapters. Please checkout our website and become a part of KAMO.

"Forgive One Another"
By: Pastor Todd Ahneman
Barronett Lutheran Church

At the end of September we mark the turn of the seasons from the green days of Summer to the colors of the Autumn leaves. In Bible lands, the season turns from the hot, dry days to the cooler, wet season, a new year, a time of renewal and growth. And it was also a time for a fresh start in other ways.

The people sought out everyone they had wronged, confessing how they harmed them in any way and ask their forgiveness. And the person who was hurt would hear their confession, and forgive them. It was a time for healing and a time to start anew.

Then the people approached the temple to make themselves right with God on the Day of Atonement. The high priests of the temple sacrificed animals for their sins. But those sacrifices were not perfect, and so a scape-goat was selected and prayed over to bear the sins of the people, and it was led into the wilderness to perish. Then the people would rest easy knowing their sins had been cleansed before God.

It was an image foretelling Jesus bearing our sins, and by His death we are cleansed from all our sins. Jesus' goal was reconciliation, to bring people together and overcome the sin which drive people apart from each other and from God.

Today, there are people of all sorts who need to approach each other to mend what was broken, and to hear precious words of forgiveness and comfort, and share the message that Christ's love and forgiveness that goes beyond what we might imagine.

Clossians 3:12-15: "As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness, and patience. Bear with one another and, if anyone has a complaint against another, forgive each other; just as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. Above all, clothe yourselves with love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony. And let the peace of Christ rule your hearts, to which indeed you were called in the one body. And be thankful." Amen.

OBITUARIES...

Betty Anne Jordan

Betty Anne Jordan (née Laidlaw), age 94 passed away peacefully on Friday September 22, 2017. Betty was born on August 12th, 1923 to Charles and Elizabeth Laidlaw. She was raised in St. Paul, graduated from Derham Hall, and married Lieutenant James C. Jordan in 1944. Betty worked in Washington DC during WWII, deciphering enemy codes, tracking troop movements and Jim in his P-51 Mustang.

After the war, Betty and Jim settled in Minneapolis, until they moved to Cumberland in 1973. When Jim retired they bought a winter home in Naples Florida, creating an even larger circle of friends. Betty touched so many lives in so many ways and will be greatly missed. Betty is preceded in death by husband Jim, daughter Beth Schoeff, her brother Charles, sister Joanne, and son in law Tim Smalley. Food for thought...

pep band, delivery of the game ball by the CHS Cross Country team, introduction of Homecoming Court, and spirit week class competition results.

Half time will include the CHS Marching Band performing their 2017 Field Show entitled "A New World."

Last Sunday's Homecoming Kick-off saw the Rally Volleyball semi-finals in the gym and Powder Puff Football games between the classes at Endeavor Stadium. Between the events, the Homecoming Court competition and Crowning were held - congrats to Alisyn Stevens and Kobe Berghammer, who were crowned Queen and King for this year.

Again this year, there will be no formal dance for homecoming. Instead following the game, there will be an informal dance in the High School gym. A Fall Formal will be held later in the year.

Though Cumberland's homecoming tailgate traditions revolve around cava-tils and brats, everybody has their own favorite traditional tailgating food, and that brings me back to my story of taking Kela to college in Vermont.

When traveling by car from here to the East coast, you basically have two choices. You can either take the route "below" the Great Lakes, which will take you through all of the major industrial centers of the midwest, or you can go "above" the Lakes - which gives you a wonderful drive across the Upper Peninsula and through the wilds of Canada - this was the route we took. The other feature of this route is that you can come back down into the US through Niagara Falls, which we did. (Author's note: If you are going to visit the Falls, the Canadian side is the only way to go!). After touring the falls, we head back on the road. Kela, noting that we will be travelling through Buffalo, NY asked "Is that where Buffalo Wings came from?" Now, dear readers, she meant it as a joke - but, as I informed her, it actually IS where they originated, at the Anchor Bar in downtown Buffalo. So of course, we had to stop and have some for lunch.

This, in turn, brings me back to the talk of tailgating traditions. You see, one of my favorite football treats happens to be Buffalo Chicken Wings. It also happens that I use the original recipe from the Anchor Bar for my wings. I would like to share that with you today.

The Original Anchor Bar Buffalo Chicken Wings

You can cook the wings however you like. Baked in the oven until crispy or cooked in the deep fryer, doesn't matter because the sauce is the star of the show! My one recommendation is not to batter the wings. Saucing the wings will reduce any batter to a soggy/slimy mess.

Ingredients

2-3 lbs. Chicken wings, cut into segments
1/4 cup Butter
1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
6 TBSPs Frank's Red Hot Pepper Sauce (this is the brand they use at the Anchor Bar).

That is the Anchor's official ingredient list. I also like to add 2 TBSP of brown sugar and 1/2 tsp chili powder for depth of flavor.

Garnish ideas:

MUST be served with blue cheese dressing and celery sticks. (Some people also like ranch dressing for dipping)

Directions:

While wings are cooking...
1. Melt the butter.
2. In a very large bowl combine all the ingredients and whisk until smooth.
3. When wings are nice, crispy and well drained, put them in the bowl with the sauce, toss to coat the wings
