Cumberland man charged with invasion of privacy

Randy L. Schamberger, 42, of Cumberland, has been charged with invasion of privacy-surveillance device, seven counts of capturing an intimate representation without consent and two counts of attempt to capture an intimate representation without consent.

Randy L. Schamberger

According to the criminal complaint, on April 10, 2018, Cumberland Police Officer Smith, made contact with a female subject, and her husband, after she contacted the Barron County Sheriff's Department to report a suspicious device that she located at a tanning salon in Cumberland.

She indicated to Officer Smith that on Thursday, April 5, she was tanning at the salon when she noticed, what she thought to be, a USB phone charger plugged into one of the wall electrical outlets in the tanning room. She reported to Officer Smith that she removed the device and took it home since she assumed it had been left behind by another patron. She further reported to Officer Smith that she noticed a similar device in the tanning room approximately one month earlier. After taking the device home, she and her husband then discovered the device was actually a covert digital video camera with an internal mini SD memory inside.

On Friday, April 13, officer Smith inspected the device and removed the internal mini SD 32 GB memory card and reviewed images on his department issued computer. Officer Smith noted there were 67 video files contained on the mini SD card, which showed numerous persons undressing and in stages of full or partial nudity inside the tanning room. Most of the video files were approximately three minutes in length. Officer Smith also noted the recording and the video recording device appeared to be motion activated since the device stopped recording when the person was tanning versus in the active movement stages of dressing or undressing.

Officer Smith conducted further investigation into this device by conducting a computer search of similar devices and noted that there is no internal battery or power source for this device. He noticed that for the device to be operational and to record any images, it has to be directly plugged into a 110 electrical power source to record. There are no ways for this device to be remotely activated to turn on and off. The device was approximately 2 1/8" long by 1 1/8" in length and could be easily concealed on one's person for either installation or removal.

On Friday, April 13, Officer Smith met with the owner/operator of the business. She reviewed the internal business video camera and sign-in records of the salon and was able to identify the various persons who used the tanning room during the course of the dates and times prior to the device being discovered. Officer Smith was able to determine that on April 4, 2018, at 8:51 p.m. a male, later identified as Randy L. Schamberger, entered the building via a tanning package key fob and used the tanning salon.

The first video image captured on the SD card occurred on April 4, 2018 at 9:50 p.m. and is of an adult female and occurs right after Schamberger exits the tanning room.

The next video image also occurred on April 4 at 10:07 p.m. and is of another adult female who tans in the tanning room.

On April 5, 2018, images were captured of adult females at 7:11 a.m., 8:17 a.m., 9:32 a.m., 10:07 a.m., 11:53 a.m. and 12:25 p.m. All of the females were nude or partially nude.

The final video is of the female subject who found the recording device and Officer Smith observed her put her jacket down before she is seen grabbing the device with her hand.

Officer Smith was informed that a member of the salon is given a key fob that allows the member to gain entry at any time to access the building and to use the workout equipment or the tanning booth. It was also determined that a person with an added tanning package to their membership is given a unique key fob pass which grants the person entrance to the tanning room versus regular members who can only access the fitness facility. Officer Smith determined that Schamberger utilized his wife's membership account key fob to use the facility and that she had the added tanning package to her membership giving him access to the tanning room.

Barron County Detective Nelson prepared a search warrant on May 17th to search Schamberger's residence in the Township of Cumberland. On Wednesday, May 23, 2018, law enforcement officers from the Cumberland Police Department, Barron County Sheriff's Department and agents from the Department of Justice executed the search warrant. Something You Should Know About

By Hope L. Vicich

Summer is finally here! With summer, comes the return of our seasonal visitors - both two and four legged.

It is that time of year when you need to be aware of more than pedestrians and cyclists crossing our roadways.

This is the season when the turtles are crossing the roads to get to their nesting places. Just like their larger cousins the sea turtles, our local varieties return to the general area where they hatched to lay their eggs. Since it takes at least six years for a turtle to reach breeding age, the landscape may have changed and they are forced to cross roads to fulfill their instinctive mission.

As always, I am prompted to ask a personal favor of everyone. PLEASE do not run over turtles. As humans encroach more and more on their habitats, turtles (both painted and snapping) are endangered. They are a beautiful addition to our lakes and ponds and a vital part of the ecosystem. Please let them continue on their life's journey in peace, instead of ending it in pieces.

In addition to turtles, we will be coming into closer contact with some of the other "wilder" neighbors in our community. Nature has truly blessed us here in the northwoods. We enjoy the close proximity of the water, forest and wildlife. However, sometimes the proximity of the wildlife is a little too close.

While we love the beauty

Northwoods Notebook: The Uncle Larry Werner I never knew

by Larry Werner

Another Memorial Day has passed, and at cemeteries in Cumberland and around the country, we gathered to honor family members who died in service to our nation. This year, as in past years, my sister posted on Facebook a photo of the man whose name I carry, but whom I never knew.

Uncle Larry, my father's little brother, was killed in the Pacific Theater on Jan. 31, 1945. His name was actually Clarence Lawrence Werner, but he was known as Larry, and my parents decided to name their first son Lawrence after a Marine corporal who died four months short of his 21st birthday. All of you have someone who didn't make it home from that war or another one, but this was the only member of my family killed in action, and it always seemed strange that my father told me little about his kid brother.

I assumed it was too painful for Dad to talk about the fact that after losing his father and the family farm during the Great Depression, losing a brother to war hurt too much to even discuss. But a few years ago, I saw a letter that shed light on my father's pain. It was a letter in which Larry, training in California after his mother signed papers allowing her underage son to join the Marines, asked family members, including my father, to send him money so he could come home on furlough.

While I was visiting Jackie, the eldest of my siblings, she pulled out a box of letters we found after Dad died. The letters were from Larry to his mother, my grandmother. Many were about mundane matters - friends he made, the heat in California, the noises of the night while camping in the mountains, inquiries about his siblings back home in Michigan.

But in one letter, Uncle Larry asked that my father, his brother, send him money to buy a plane ticket home before he'd be shipped off. The money never came, because, I assume, my parents didn't have it. They were young newlyweds with the first of the six babies they would have, and Dad made little as a laborer. Mom, who stayed home with kids, made nothing. Dad also took in his mother, another brother and a sister.

It was tough back home. So Larry didn't get to fly home on furlough. He died, a telegram said, "of accidental gunshot wound while serving in Pacific Area." They call it "friendly fire," apparently an accident on the firing range.

Subsequent telegrams sent to my parents' home, where my grandmother was living, said Uncle Larry

Rep. Quinn recognized for internet, infrastructure accomplishments

Representative Romaine Quinn (R-Barron) was recognized on Thursday by the Wisconsin State Telecommunications Association for what WSTA Executive Director Bill Esbeck called “an MVP caliber list” of accomplishments in the 2017-19 legislative session.

“Representative Quinn’s leadership on rural broadband initiatives is an indication of his commitment to rural Wisconsin,” Esbeck said. “Rural communities with robust broadband can remain competitive in a 21st century economy, and Representative Quinn supports policy that results in partnerships, investment, and increased broadband deployment.”

Rep. Quinn authored several bills that promoted broadband expansion: Assembly Bill 123, which was eventually rolled into the state budget, expanded funding for Broadband the state budget, expanded funding for Broadband Exp eventually rolled into the state budget, expanded funding for Broadband Expansion Grants and TEACH grants that help school libraries improve students’ internet access. His Telecommuter Forward! Communities bill, AB that help school libraries improve students’ internet access. His Telecommuter Forward! Communities bill, AB 917, creates a state standard for municipalities to attract telecommuters to their communities.

“Expanding access to broadband and the economic development opportunities that come with it has been a velopment opportunities that come with it has been a priority for me since I took office,” said Rep. Quinn. “Many rural communities struggle with just getting high-speed access, and we can’t let these folks fall behind their neighboring cities. Access to high-speed internet means increased opportunities for businesses, students, and families. I was proud to work with my colleagues, especially members of the Rural Wisconsin Initiative, to keep making progress on this issue.”

Rep. Quinn also sponsored legislation that ended a double tax on emergency cleanup after natural disasters. Small telecommunications companies and electrical cooperatives were taxed twice on the labor and time provided by emergency work crews when cleaning provided by emergency work crews when cleaning and restoring power after a natural disaster. Assembly Bill 583 ended this double tax, helping keep disaster cleanup costs low.

“Seeing how this affected costs for ratepayers in the wake of storms that rolled through our district last year, it was clear something had to be done to make sure people’s power bills didn’t increase after a disaster,” said Rep. Quinn.

“Representative Quinn is a true partner with rural broadband providers, our customers and the communities we serve,” continued Esbeck. “He also understands how to facilitate partnerships between broadband providers, state government, local governments, and other stakeholders to create a win-win for rural Wisconsin.”

Something you should know about...

of the deer (and some enjoy hunting them in the fall), but it is not so enjoyable when they help themselves to our carefully tended vegetable or flower gardens.

Bears are majestic at a distance, but not so much when they are on your deck patio, or digging through your garbage. Due to the long winter, both deer and bear alike might be taking more chances when looking for food right now.

The fact is bears, like most of us, are just looking for a free lunch. The quickest way to get rid of them is to remove the food sources.

My family has been guilty of providing a ready feast for the local deer. My daughters love birds and we have hung a number of feeders in our yard. One afternoon, I received a text message from my girls with a photo of a “funny brown bird with a white tail” eating at our feeder. The photo showed a doe nose up to the feeder, tipping it so the seeds ran straight into her mouth!

Our family friends didn’t get off so easy. A couple of years back, their daughter placed her feeders on the second floor balcony outside her bedroom. She received a visit from a bear who climbed up the log walls of their home, destroyed the feeders, and then climbed back down, leaving huge claw marks on the walls and posts of the home.

The moral of these stories is - take down your feeders during the summer. While it is great to have the birds visit our yards all year, the other visitors are not as welcome. The birds do not need the extra sustenance during the summer. Hang the feeders up again in the late Fall after the bears are sleeping and the birds need the food. You must also clean up under where the feeders were, removing all fallen seeds or suet.

Even hummingbird feeders can cause a risk (think “juice boxes” for bears!). If you really want to attract hummingbirds (and butterflies, too), there are plenty of flowers and plants that you can plant to help feed and attract them. Beautify your garden and feed the hummingbirds at the same time. Sunflowers are nature’s own birdfeeders, too. Plant a row and they will help the birds get a leg-up on winter when the sunflowers produce seeds at the end of the season.

If you have had bears in your area you must take extra precautions. Simply putting lids on your garbage cans is not good enough. Bears have a terrific sense of smell. If you have to leave your trash outside until pick-up, you must routinely clean your cans with an ammonia or bleach solution to remove any food odors. Do not leave pet food outside for your outdoor pets. Feed them at regular times and then remove the food bowls. The leftover food will not only attract bears but raccoons, foxes and coyotes. Even your backyard grill is a possible source of attraction. If left outside, the grill must be cleaned thoroughly to remove any left over grease or meat smell.

If you do get a visit from a bear, stay inside or on the deck, bang pots and pans, use air horns, and at night shine bright lights. This should spook them and get them to leave. Once the food is gone, they will have no reason to return.

As for the deer, there are chemical sprays available, but here are some ideas for a more “natural” approach to keeping them out of the garden. Spreading items such as mothballs, clumps of hair, and fabric softener sheets around the outside of the garden have been known to help. Placing thorny branches in the fencing and hanging aluminum pie plates along the fence so they blow in the wind also deter the approach of deer.

A few simple, common sense ideas will help all of us enjoy nature without it getting too up close and personal. Have a great summer.

Cory Schultz, the band leader, said his group plays everything from classics to some of their own compositions. He promises music that will appeal to folks of all ages.

"We are a revivalist folk rock trio," he said. "We play a mix of original material and classic songs that we strive to put our signature sound to."

would be buried in a national cemetery in California since the family couldn't afford to ship his remains home, and the telegram said there were no funds to pay for a family member to attend the funeral.

Something else jumps out from the telegram saying he was killed. His name is spelled "Warner," not Werner. We learned from an aunt he spelled his name with an "a" because he didn't want to use the German spelling. He and his family felt the discrimination toward Germans in this country after two world wars against Germany.

My grandmother had a nervous breakdown after Larry was killed, and she spent nine years in and out of a mental hospital before dying in my parents' home. She had lost a husband, the family farm and then a son she never saw again after signing papers giving permission for her son to join the Marines at age 17.

We always wondered why Dad talked so little about Larry. A few years ago, while visiting my sister, who was a baby when Larry died, I saw a letter from Uncle Larry asking his older brother for money so he could come home, which he never did.

I finally understood why Dad talked little about the man for whom he named his first son.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

It is Sunday night of Memorial Day weekend and Sharon and I just finished watching the annual National Memorial Day concert, live from the capitol in Washington. It was the 29th annual concert and it has become a tradition in our household. As usual, it was an exceptional concert that remembers all those who have sacrificed so that we may all remain free. I especially liked the section of the concert dedicated to the women who so bravely serve and have always served our nation. The service by these women in all of our nation’s conflicts from the Revolutionary War to the present is impressive. The first Silver Star awarded to a woman, the first combat pilot and the first four-star general. The stories of these women should be inspiring to all of us. There are now more than two million female veterans. This Memorial Day celebration is the 150th anniversary of the first day we first paused to remember those who have given the ultimate sacrifice. There are many things that divide us. As a nation we have strongly held, divergent views on a wide ranging series of topics. I hope, however, that we can all put aside our differences, whatever they may be, to be united as Americans to pledge “we will never forget” those who gave so much so that we may express our differences. I hope all of you had a wonderful and peaceful Memorial Day.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

Life’s celebrations often involve alcohol and can end in tragedy when mixed with driving.
More than 25,000 people each year are killed by drunk drivers.
You can enjoy special celebrations by designating a driver, wearing your seat belt and NEVER letting a friend drive while intoxicated.
Don’t let alcohol put the brakes on life’s special moments.

In building a workforce at Foxconn, ‘Wisconsin First’ is watchword

STURTEVANT, Wis.- During a presentation comparing South Carolina’s experience with BMW to what’s about to happen in Racine County with Foxconn, I asked listeners if they knew anyone – family, friend or neighbor – who lived in southeast Wisconsin and trekked to northern Illinois daily for work. Almost every hand in the crowd of nearly 100 people shot up. The reply underscored why educators and other experts believe it’s possible to fill most of the projected 13,000 Foxconn jobs over time with people who already live in Wisconsin. For many who already call southeast Wisconsin home, commuting to northern Illinois for work is routine. So why not work closer to home if a comparable or better job is available? That’s just one of the workforce strategies discussed Thursday during a session at Gateway Technical College’s Sturtevant campus, which has been a hub of activity related to the nearby Foxconn manufacturing site. If a theme for workforce development stood out, it was “Wisconsin First.” “Let’s take care of our own first,” said UW-Milwaukee Chancellor Mark Mone, one of three panelists who spoke after a University of South Carolina economist charted the effect of BMW’s move to that state in the mid-1990s. “We can really put a lot of people in Wisconsin to work... This is a long game.” Mone is leading a partnership of nearly two-dozen colleges, universities and tech colleges in southeast Wisconsin in an unprecedented effort to respond to the Foxconn project – as well as the workforce challenges facing other Wisconsin employers. He and others agreed those challenges are forcing a lot of businesses and institutions to raise their game. “It’s causing higher education to do things we’ve never done before,” Mone said. “Foxconn is the starting point. Everybody will benefit.” Trade expert Roxanne Baumann of the Wisconsin Manufacturing Extension Partnership cited a “revolution of cooperation” in Wisconsin with leaders, saying: “Now is the moment to level up and meet the challenge.” David Vasko, head of applied technology for Rockwell Automation, said the Foxconn development is driving innovation and workforce development. “These are things we should probably be doing anyway. We are going to have to make the workers we have more productive,” he said. With more than 200,000 students enrolled in southeast Wisconsin’s colleges and universities, Mone said an obvious goal is to keep as many as possible in the state. Other strategies include training recently returned veterans and people who may have dropped out of the workforce. About a third of Wisconsin’s eligible workforce doesn’t work, usually by choice. The discussion came after economist Joey Von Nessen described what happened to the Greenville-Spartanburg area of South Carolina after BMW, the German automaker, decided to open an American assembly plant. The targeted investment of $600 million and 2,000 jobs grew to 10,000 jobs and a “multiplier effect” that spread to a statewide supply chain that has now attracted Volvo. “They (BMW) definitely under-promised and over-delivered,” Von Nessen said. The creation of “hidden clusters” in South Carolina in the wake of the BMW move helped attract Boeing to Charleston, expand the port infrastructure in Charleston to increase trade, and develop a more responsive education system, Von Nessen added. Attracting BMW was controversial, at first, because of state tax incentives. Not today. “I don’t think you can find any policy maker or business leader that would” regret the decision, Von Nessen said, even if some amount of patience was required. That doesn’t mean there won’t be bumps in the Foxconn road or that people can expect secondary development to all happen organically, he added, but for Wisconsin, “there are all sorts of additional opportunities out there.” If those opportunities truly put “Wisconsin First,” the South Carolina success story can be duplicated here in time. Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council, which jointly produced the Sturtevant forum with WisPolitics/WisBusiness.com. He is the former associate editor of the Wisconsin State Journal.

The Cumberland Area Community Center project got the “go ahead” last Friday after two years of intensive planning. One wing of the proposed facility would serve as an indoor ice rink in the winter, for hockey and other youth-adult skating activities. Another wing, a fieldhouse, would contain three courts which could be used for basketball, volleyball, and tennis. A jogging track with three to four lanes would be located on the outside edge of the courts. “We’re talking about locating on a 17-acre parcel of land near the water tower, said Cumberland Community Center Board member Roger Wistrill. “Plenty of parking space would be available and there is a potential for three softball fields up there.”

Cory T. Peasley, 31, of Balsam Lake, has been charged with burglary to a building or dwelling.

The criminal complaint states that on November 17, 2014, Barron County Deputy Wolf responded to a cabin located in the City of Cumberland for a report of a possible break-in.

Deputy Wolfe arrived at the cabin, and made contact with an individual who informed him that he over overlooks the cabin for its property owners, as it is a seasonal lake home, and that the cabin's garage door was open, and its garage lights were on.

The subject said when he arrived at the cabin he noticed that there were a fresh set of footprints in the snow around the property.

The subject told Deputy Wolfe that he had walked up to the cabin and closed the door, and pointed out to Deputy Wolfe which tracks were his, and which tracks were there when he arrived. Deputy Wolfe followed the tracks which led him to locating an open window with the curtains partially hanging outside of the window.

The subject provided Deputy Wolfe with access to the residence and while inside it appeared several items in the bedroom had been gone through with an empty air soft rifle box sitting on the bed and a whiskey bottle in the middle of the floor. Otherwise the residence was very neat.

No one was located inside the residence, at which point the subject contacted the owners who advised they would come up the next day to determine what items had been taken.

While outside the residence, Deputy Wolfe located a fresh cigarette butt near the suspect foot tracks in the snow.

On December 19, 2014, Detective Nelson made contact with the cabin owners. They informed him that missing from the cabin were: a flat screen TV, an antenna converter box, a cordless drill and miscellaneous drill bit case, one Uzi air soft gun, two air soft pistols and M4 air soft gun, a BB gun, two jars of pellets for the air soft guns, the keys for the boat and jet ski, and two stereo receivers. They also told Detective Nelson that approximately $200 worth of damage was done to windows in the residence.

Detective Nelson mailed the cigarette butt to the Wisconsin State Crime Lab for the possible development of a DNA profile. On February 9, 2015 Detective Nelson received reports from the State Crime Lab, indicating that a DNA profile had been detected from the cigarette butt, and entered into CODIS. An initial search to the database found no significant matches.

On August 12, 2016, Detective Nelson received a notice from the Wisconsin State Crime Lab of a CODIS DNA hit from the cigarette butt. The report indicated that the profile from the cigarette butt matched that of Cory Peasley.

Detective Nelson made contact with Peasley, who told him that he knew where Cumberland was, and he said that he believed he had only been there one time, when he ate at a Burger King there. Detective Nelson told Peasley there is a lake in the City of Cumberland and asked him if he was familiar with it. Peasley said he was not. Detective Nelson explained the general location of the lake, and how it runs along County Highway H, which runs from the City of Cumberland into Polk and Burnett counties. Peasley denied being familiar with that area. He also denied knowing any friends or family members that may have cabins on the lake, or in that general area. He also denied having any twin siblings.

Peasley denied participating in the burglary, but could not explain how his DNA ended up at the scene.

If convicted Peasley maybe fined not more than $25,000 or imprisoned for not more than 12 years and six months, or both. His initial appearance is scheduled for June 6, 2018.

Laralee Mitchell, 47, of Turtle Lake, has been charged with perjury before a court, and possession of a firearm by an outstate felon.

The criminal complaint states that on October 24, 2017, Barron County Detective Nelson attended an Order to Show Cause hearing involving Laralee Mitchell at the Branch III courtroom at the Barron County Justice Center, in front of the Honorable Judge Boyle.

The hearing related to the removal of Mitchell as the Personal Representative of her father's estate. Mitchell stated under oath, among other things, that she had taken firearms from her father's estate and sold them at two separate shops in Barron County and Polk County. She testified under oath, that there were no remaining firearms left at her residence in the township of Almena.

At the conclusion of Mitchell's testimony, Judge Boyle addressed questions from family members and from the gallery of the courtroom. Mitchell's son, told Judge Boyle at that time there were several firearms still at her residence and that he agreed to turn them over to law enforcement.

On October 24, 2017, Deputy Winkler received a call from the son, indicating that he had located firearms at Mitchell's residence. Deputy Winkler responded to the residence and made contact with the son, who turned over six rifles and 12 pistols to him.

In copy of the transcript the court expressed concerns that Mitchell lacked the capacity to act as Personal Representative, because that position required the management of a substantial firearms collection and she is a convicted felon, having been convicted of check forgery from Washington County, Minnesota. The court appointed another person to act as Personal Representative of the estate.

If convicted Mitchell may be fined not more than $35,000 or imprisoned for not more than 16 years, or both. Her initial appearance will be held June 13, 2018.

the items taken as evidence from the home were two separate iPads and several SD cards and electronic devices, and a USB charger.

Detective Nelson spoke with Schamberger on May 23 at approximately 10:40 a.m. at the Cumberland Police Department. Schamberger told Detective Nelson that he viewed pornography on his cell phone which he had in his pocket. He indicated the phone was basically a work phone owned by his employer, but he is allowed to use it for personal use. Detective Nelson took custody of the cell phone as that was one of the devices listed on the search warrant.

Detective Nelson then transported Schamberger to his residence, where law enforcement officers were executing the search warrant. The preview team indicated to Deputy Nelson that they located the purchase of a 'spy camera' from his Amazon account in October 2017. Detective Nelson then showed Schamberger the purchase of that camera on his personal cell iPhone, which was the actual device that had been installed in the tanning room. After previously denying even buying or owing a 'spy camera,' he then admitted that he had purchased the spy camera.

Schamberger then admitted that at least two or three different times he installed the spy camera in the tanning room. He told Detective Nelson he removed the camera each time and would bring it back to his residence where, typically at night, when his wife was at work, he would download the images from the device onto either his cell phone or the iPads.

Detective Nelson interviewed Schamberger a second time on May 23rd at approximately 2:28 p.m. Schamberger told Detective Nelson he installed the spy camera for the first time in the tanning room after he returned from a vacation in March 2018. He said he left it there for what he thought to be less than one week and then returned and removed the device from the wall outlet. He said he viewed and then deleted the files from either his cell phone or one of the two iPad devices. He estimated there were approximately 30 actual video files that he viewed and deleted.

Schamberger said he went back a few weeks later and installed the spy camera device again in the tanning room. He said he returned less than one week later, removed the device and used the same process of reviewing and deleting the images captured. He said he viewed and deleted approximately 30 to 40 files of images from the spy camera on that occasion. He admitted knowing there would be images of nudity on the images from the spy camera that he viewed.

Schamberger said he returned a third time and placed the spy camera in the same outlet in the tanning room. He returned a few days later to remove it and noticed it was gone.

If convicted Schamberger may be fined not more than $100,000 or imprisoned for not more than 23 years and three months, or both. His preliminary hearing will be held June 29, 2018.

Baseball Team Finishes Regular Season; Opens Tournaments With Win

The Cumberland Baseball Team completed their regular season last Monday with a 6-3 loss to Webster. With both teams poised for a possible meeting in the Regional Championship, neither team showed much in the season ending finale. The Beavers record went to 12-4 for the regular season. Sophomore Trevor Gustafson took the pitching win for the Tigers, while Riley Bodsberg took the mound loss for Cumberland. Eight base on balls and four Cumberland errors aided Webster in the win.

Cumberland received two hits each from Reid Olson and Jerrad Lindfors. Olson, Jack Martens, and Kobe Berghammer each had Cumberland doubles. Jack Washburn had a Webster home run.

The Beavers then opened WIAA Regional play with a five-inning 12-1 victory over Clayton-Turtle Lake last Thursday night. The victory came with Cumberland knocking out 18 hits in the contest and riding an excellent outing on the mound from Reid Olson.

Max Narges had a big offensive night for Coach John Peterson with a four for four night. First Baseman Trystin Neitzel and shortstop Jack Martens added three-hit nights, while Jerrad Lindfors had a double and triple. Kobe Berghammer joined in with a long three-run home run, while Riley Bodsberg added a Cumberland double.

Olson was in control all night, giving up only two hits, while striking out eight. The only run off the junior hurler, was unearned after two Cumberland errors.

The Beavers were back in action on Tuesday as they hosted Unity, where a win would send them to Webster on Wednesday for a chance at another Regional title.

HON Player Of The Year

Lauren Green was named the HON Player of the Year. The junior had a big year both on the mound and at the plate. Congratulations Lauren

All-Conference Baseball and Softball Teams Named

The HON has named its 2018 All-Conference Baseball and Softball Teams. The Baseball Team finished tied for second with Northwestern in Conference play, while the Softball Team finished third. Both teams are well represented on the honor squads, with each getting seven players recognized on one of the teams.

The Softball Team had two first team performers in pitcher Lauren Green and outfielder Adreanna Johnson. Green, a junior, had a big year at both the plate and on the mound and was doubly recognized as the Conferences Player of the Year. She was joined on the First Team by Johnson, a senior, who was solid defensively and at the plate.

Second Team honors went to pitcher Payton Nyhus and Senior catcher Steph Walters. Nyhus, only a Sophomore, joined Green to form a formidable one-two punch on the pitchers mound. She was also a solid hitter as was Walters, who was also excellent defensively behind the plate.

Three more Cumberland players were named Honorable Mention. Sophomore infielder Ellie Rieper, Senior outfielder Josie Shadick, and Senior shortstop Maykayla Anderson were named to the squad. Conference Champion Bloomer and Cumberland led the Conference recognition with seven players each. The Beavers should join Northwestern as co-conference favorites to win the title next spring.

The Baseball Team placed three First Team players on the honor squad. Catcher Jerrad Lindfors, infielder Reid Olson, and utility player Kobe Berghammer all had solid years and made the First Team. Berghammer and Lindfors were repeat picks.

Each player was part of a big middle of the Beavers line-up, helping make the Beavers a potent offensive attack. Each also saw time on the mound with Olson assuming Cumberlands top pitcher position.

Second team honors went to utility player Riley Bodsberg, outfielder Max Narges, and pitcher Wyatt Tift. Bodsberg and Narges offered speed at the top of the Beavers order, while Tift offered versatility as a pitcher and at second base. A final recognition went to Freshman Jack Martens, who had a fine inaugural season and was named as an outfielder.

Conference Champion Hayward had six players recognized, including HON Player of the Year, Brady Christianson. Cumberland led the honors team with their seven honorees.

Track Season Come To An End

The Cumberland Track Season came to an end last Thursday at the Colby Sectional. No Cumberland performer was able to advance to State, although Junior sprinter Mackenzie Johnson completed her excellent season by falling only a place short of La Crosse.

Qualifying for Sectional out of last Mondays Cameron Regional were Johnson, who won the 200-meter dash, Lexie Simeon, who won the 400-meter dash and took fourth in the 200, Autumn Donatell, who was third in the 100-meter hurdles, and the third place Cumberland 4x200-meter relay team comprised of Emily Schmitz, Emma Stokes, Donatell, and Johnson.

Johnson's excellent season ended at Colby, when she finished fifth in the 200-meter dash with a 27.63. The fourth-place time of 27.59 by freshman Shaylee Feske of Osceola was just inches ahead of Johnson, who was a HON Champion in the event. Her best time of the season was a 27.37. The 4x200 meter relay team, meanwhile, finished fourteenth in the 16-team field.

Cumberlands other Regional Champion, Freshman Lexie Simeon, finished eighth in the 400-meter dash at Colby. Her time of 1:03.36 was just under four seconds from the State Qualifying time, but close to her seasons best.

Cumberlands final Sectional qualifier, Sophomore Autumn Donatell, finished eleventh in the qualifying run of the 100-meter hurdles. She ran a 17.93, just off her seasons best of 17.39. Stephanie Brauner of Black River Falls won the event with a time of 15.80.

The Greedy Bass

Hello friends,
Though I literally have dozens of “favorite” outdoor activities, one my all time favorites is camping and fishing bluegill out of a canoe. Last year a friend told me about a lake in Barron County that has simple hike in campsites and a good population of 7-9 inch bluegill.
I enjoyed catching sumo gills last year, and really liked the campsites as well as the lake, and to be perfectly honest after 20-years of hard work in this county I am really thinking that I would not mind living here someday.
This week I returned to that lake with my perfect golden retriever Ruby who has promised me that she will never run away again.
Monday, May 14th
Hi, 77, low 51
On the drive from Necedah to Cumberland today I saw two road kill black bear. Last week I saw another one and it would appear that is becoming more common. Though we have become numb to the gazillions of whitetail deer that we see laying in our ditches I do not think that I will ever feel that way about my friend the bear.
The portage into this lake is only about 50-yards from my truck, there is a light rain falling, it is late afternoon and I really want to go fishing, and did I mention that I just had a lot of laughs with my buddies at Indianhead Sport Shop in Cumberland?
Anyways, I built a simple camp, rigged my poles, told the pup to get into the canoe and off we were to the land of giant bluegills. My weapons of choice were either a yellow or black hair jig tipped with a waxie but after a while I learned that the bigger gills were more into red worms, and was really enjoying myself as I was steadily adding 8.5 to 9 inch gills to the piece of wire that I was using for a stringer.
My luck changed when I had to call into a KAMO meeting at about 7:20, and did not get a bite after that but paddled back to camp with 15 dandies.
Tuesday, May 15th
High 83, low 51
I had a really good feeling about catching shallow water gills today, and was on the water about the time the sun came up. My first plan was to try and drift the lake with jigs and maybe catch some crappies. I did that for a couple of hours and only caught one gill. Next I tried shallow water in a secret spot that I was told to fish and all I could catch was 3-6 inch gills.

Today I could only fish until about 3:00 as I had a speaking engagement for Cumberland Healthcare, which in reality was the reason that I came on this trip about two weeks earlier then I did last year.
With about an hour before I had to quit fishing I finally started getting some dandies near a deadfall, but then my pup who was on the shoreline checking out the world, decided to climb out on the deadfall and I did not get another bite. Because I am a sophisticated redneck I knew I had to do some form of cleanup before my talk at the “Mens Night Out,” and so I jumped in the lake and let me tell ya, I did not stay in long, it was chilly. I tripled up on the cologne and got the job done in town.
Wednesday, May 16th
High 85, low 53
My old buddy Paul Bucher sat around the campfire with me last night and we solved every last problem in the world! I was on the water shortly after the sun rose this morning, and did I ever have a cool experience. With my very first cast towards that deadfall, my aimer was off and my bobber ended up in the branches with the jig in the water.
So I tie up another rig and am watching my new setup float around when all the sudden the branch with the bobber in it starts bobbing up and down, then the bobber breaks free and I am watching my rig as an apparently hooked up fish is swimming around the lake.
After about 20-minutes my friend returns and swims by the bobber and jig that I am using. Just like that my bobber on the pole I am using vanishes and before you know it, the fight is on and I landed a 16-inch largemouth bass.
I had not ate a bass in years and made the decision that this fish was hitting the frying pan and let me tell ya, it was yummy.

Mark Walters and his pup Ruby, with a nice catch of bluegill.

Turtles are excellent climbers.

My daughter Selina is a junior and had her Honors Banquet so I had to pack up early and head back to Necedah and I just kept thinking about the days before I was raising kids and how long I would stay on these trips compared to the last 20 years.
Could be this old redneck will be living on lakes like this beauty in Barron County, and then headed right to another one in a year or so!
That bass got greedy! Sunset!

Sandman Qualifies for Golf Sectionals

Ethan Sandman

The Cumberland Golf Team sent a player to the Sectional Golf Tournament in Frederic on Tuesday, when Ethan Sandman participated as an individual competitor. Sandman, a sophomore, had qualified for Sectionals by shooting an 89 at the Webster Regional.
In Webster, Luck-Frederic ran away with the Regional crown by shooting a team score of 343, 28 strokes ahead of runner-up Grantsburg. Brice Klabunde of Cameron was medalist with a 76, while Sandmans score advanced him to the Frederic Sectional. He now hopes to repeat his performance and qualify for the State Tournament in Madison, which begins next Monday.
Senior Cody Paul had the Beavers next best score with a 100. Fellow Senior Logan Steglich shot a 107 for Coach Tom Hullander.

Coach Tom Hullander was proud of the teams stretch run. “We had a lot or personal bests and improvement and will miss a solid group of seniors, but return some excellent talent for next spring,” he said.

Girls Soccer Team Opens Up Tournaments at Somerset

The Barron/Cumberland Girls Soccer Team opens up WIAA Regional play this Thursday with a 4:30 pm contest at Somerset. The Barron/Cumberland Team received a fifth seed in the Regional. Ashland is the number one seed and a win at Somerset will send the team to Ashland for a match up this Saturday afternoon.
The two teams come into the Regional opener evenly matched. That can be seen by a 1-1 tie the two squads played to last Thursday night. Barron/Cumberland had beat the Spartans 2-1 earlier in April. The Bears finished the regular season with a record of 6-6-1.
It was also announced last week that Cumberland senior, Skyler Ruetz, will play soccer at UW-Stout next season.

Barronett News By Judy Pieper

Isn't it great that we finally got some rain? Too bad it had to fall on Friday of Memorial Day weekend, but even though the campers might not be happy about it, the farmers are elated. Suzy, Ryan and Miriah Lehmann had just finished planting all the corn and beans on Wednesday, and that was the first evening of the rain. We haven't got all our garden in yet, but Duane has planted onions and cabbage. And, speaking of cabbage, you know of course, that if you come to visit us in August, you will have to sit outside to drink coffee and eat cookies. That's when I make sauerkraut and the house smells like-well, like something you wouldn't want to smell when you're visiting.

We received a "snail mail" letter from our friend, Bill Evans, yesterday. I was surprised because he usually e-mails me instead of sending out a real letter. He was writing to let me know that he still has a crank type record player, an RCA Victor. And, he and Sally still use it every now and again to play the oldies.

He also mentioned that he and Sally went to Dubuque to attend a concert that will be played at Carnegie Hall later this summer. Their daughter is one of the musicians, and being the modest guy he is, Bill never even told us that he was the father of such an accomplished musician. Boy, I'll tell you what, you would never hear the end of my bragging about that if one of my kids was going to perform at Carnegie Hall.

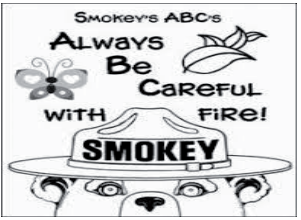

The "snail mail" comment probably wasn't very nice, but it is certainly true now. Do you know that it takes two days after you mail a letter to get to Barron, Shell Lake or Rice Lake? Holy cow! A pony express rider would have it there in less than four hours. It's crazy. Madison, WI. was always a "next day" delivery when I was working as a secretary. What the heck!?

I had a fun/terrible afternoon Thursday. The fun part was that I picked Wrigley Marsh up after school and we rode our bikes down to the Milk Pail in Rice Lake for a delicious treat. When we got back to Wrigley's house we found a kite, took it up to the school playground, and flew it for a while. The wind was perfect and that thing took off and soared up to the clouds. We went back to Wrigley's house so that he could get things ready to go to the cabin. That's when the terrible part started. I noticed that my phone was missing. Well, we went back to the playground and searched diligently, but it was not to be seen. So we jumped in the car, went to Jim's cabin, and Jim came back with us so that he could call my phone while we looked for it. We covered the entire route that Wrigley and I rode bikes, but to no avail. Then Wrigley and I stopped by the Rice Lake Police Station to see if any one had turned it in, but no one had. They took my name and home phone number so that they could call if it was turned in, but I haven't heard from them yet. It's a stupid little flip phone, so it's easily replaced, but the problem is that I have all my contacts in that dang little thing. I guess I'll be spending the next month replacing all that information.

Duane and I went back to Rice Lake at about 8:30 p.m. because I thought maybe I'd see the phone's light when he called it. I thought Wrigley would be in bed by then, so we didn't stop at the Marsh residence. When we got to the school though, Wrigley came running up to see if he could help look again. He said that he and his mom, Summer, had been looking for it too and were hoping to surprise me by finding it. Well, needless to say, we still haven't found it. How annoying is it that we get so dependent on a stupid little commutations device?

Pat Olson and I went to Indian Creek on Wednesday evening to give the family papers back to Bill Schmidt. There is a card party there on Wednesday evening, so you can find him there playing cards almost every week. Those family history papers that Marilyn kept were invaluable to our nephew, Jeremiah Tilly. Pat took them down for him to finish filling out his family tree, and he was overjoyed that the papers went so far back. I think the earliest births that Marilyn had recorded were in the early 1800s. Pat and I enjoyed reading them too, and finding out who our great-great-grandparents were.

Oh, Bill Evans had a joke in with his letter. He said that statistics prove that five out of four people have trouble with math.

That's about it from Barronett this week. Hope you had a wonderful Memorial Day weekend. See you next time.

“Hope”

By: Pastor Mark Bents

Augustana Lutheran Church, Cumberland

“May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.” Romans 15:13

The movie “Shawshank Redemption” chronicles the experiences of a formerly successful banker (Andy Dufresne-Tim Robbins) as a prisoner in the gloomy jailhouse of Shawshank after being found guilty of a crime he did not commit. The film portrays this man’s unique way of dealing with his new, torturous life; along the way he befriends a number of fellow prisoners, most notably a wise long-term inmate named Red, (Morgan Freeman).

In the conclusion of the story, Red has reflective thoughts about his past and his close friendship with Andy. Red ponders the future. “I hope I can pass through the border (into Mexico). I hope to see my friend and shake his hand. I hope the Pacific is as blue as it is in my dreams. I hope.”

Hope is not just some kind of rosy view of the future, that all the things that are wrong, will soon be over, and all will be well. Christian hope is much greater than that.

Hope, in a religious sense, is to wait for salvation with joy and full confidence. Jurgen Moltmann claimed “hope is directed towards what is not yet visible.” And, “Where the bounds that marks the end of all human hopes are broken through in the raising of the crucified one, there faith can and must expand into hope. Without faiths’ knowledge of Christ, hope becomes a utopia and remains hanging in the air.”

Hope does more than offer a bit of solace amid affliction; it plays a potent role in life. Hope is not something we conjure up. It is the Christian life acting in hope that all is in the hands of Christ-past, present, and future. Hope is what grants us the strength and courage to move forward into the future, knowing and believing that Christ is with us and in us. Christ invites us into the future, where He stands waiting to fulfill our hopes in Him.

PUBLIC NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN
Town of Lakeland
Barron County

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Review for the Town of Lakeland, Barron County, Wisconsin, shall hold its first meeting on Friday June 8, 2018, from 1:15 pm to 3:15 pm, at the Lakeland Town Hall, 791 – 29 11/16 Ave. Barronett, WI. The Hall is Handicap accessible

Please be advised of the following requirements to appear before the board of review and procedural requirements if appearing before the board:

1. No person will be allowed to appear before the board of review, to testify to the board by telephone, or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the assessor to view the property.
2. After the first meeting of the board of review and before the board's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the board of review may contact or provide information to a member of the board about the person's objection, except at a session of the board.
3. The board of review may not hear an objection to the amount or valuation of property unless, at least 48 hours before the board's first scheduled meeting, the objector provides to the board's clerk written or oral notice of an intent to file an objection, except that upon a showing of good cause and the submission of a written objection, the board shall waive that requirement during the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, and the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days with proof of extraordinary circumstances for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and failure to appear before the board of review during the first 2 hours of the first scheduled meeting.
4. Objections to the amount or valuation of property shall first be made in writing and filed with the clerk of the board of review within the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, except that, upon evidence of extraordinary circumstances, the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days. The board may require objections to the amount or valuation of property to be submitted on forms approved by the Department of Revenue, and the board shall require that any forms include stated valuations of the property in question. Persons who own land and improvements to that land may object to the aggregate valuation of that land and improvements to that land, but no person who owns land and improvements to that land may object only to the valuation of that land or only to the valuation of improvements to that land. No person may be allowed in any action or proceedings to question the amount or valuation of property unless the written objection has been filed and that person in good faith presented evidence to the board in support of the objections and made full disclosure before the board, under oath, of all of that person's property liable to assessment in the district and the value of that property. The requirement that objections be in writing may be waived by express action of the board.
5. When appearing before the board of review, the objecting person shall specify in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information that the person used to arrive at that estimate.
6. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or object to a valuation if that valuation was made by the assessor or the objector using the income method of valuation, unless the person supplies the assessor with all the information about income and expenses, as specified in the assessor's manual under s. 73.03 (2a), Wis. stats., that the assessor requests. The Town of Lakeland has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the assessor under this paragraph that provides exceptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or the duties of their officer or by order of a court.* The information that is provided under this paragraph, unless a court determined that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under s. 19.35 (1), Wis. stats.
7. The board shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the board a letter from a physician, surgeon, or osteopath that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone unless the Board, in its discretion, has determined to grant a property owner's or their representative's request to testify under oath by telephone or written statement.
8. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or contest the amount of any assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the board, or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed under s.70.47 (3) (a), Wis. stats., that person provides to the clerk of the board of review notice as to whether the person will ask for the removal of a member of the board of review and, if so, which member, and provides a reasonable estimate of the length of time the hearing will take. Notice is hereby given this 30th day of May 2018.

Softball Team Loses to Northwestern; Fine Season Ends with 15-5 Record

The Cumberland Softball Team saw its season end on Friday with a 4-0 loss to the Northwestern Tigers in a second round WIAA Tournament game. The Beavers finish the season with a 15-5 record and a third place finish in the HON.

Cumberland could not get anything going offensively in the contest. They could not get past Northwestern and Bloomer, the HON's top two teams, who between them gave the Beavers all five of their losses this season.

Cumberland had moved into Friday's Regional contest with a 12-0 shutout over Ladysmith last Tuesday in a WIAA Tournament opener. The Beavers jumped to a 5-0 first inning lead and broke open the five-inning contest with a seven-run third inning.

Lauren Green pitched the shutout, striking out nine hitters while only giving up four hits. Cumberland only had four hits themselves, but benefitted from 11 Ladysmith base-on-balls and four errors. Green led Cumberland with three runs-bat-in.

It was an excellent season for Cumberland. Coaches Colin Green and Randy Bielmeier said the team would, "Miss our seniors, but are looking forward to another good season next spring."

Cumberland will host the WIAA Softball Sectional Final this Thursday at Islander Park, with the winner moving on to the State Tournament. Game time is 5:00 pm. Local softball fans are encouraged to come and watch what should be an excellent contest. There will be a charge for the game.

Cumberland Athletic Hall of Fame to Induct Four

Four people with past ties to the Cumberland Athletic programs have been chosen by a committee for induction into the Cumberland Athletic Hall of Fame next October 6. "We have a very difficult time picking from Cumberland's many past outstanding coaches, players, alumni, and contributors over the last 100 years of history. To be considered, we first need someone to nominate them. We know there are many excellent choices that have not yet been presented to our committee," said member Mark Fuller. He added, "If we're missing someone, please contact us with your nomination and we'll go from there. We do have four great names to honor, however, at this year's Banquet.

They include Shannon Lane (Wiswell), Dave Olson, Bert Skinner, and Bob Wurm.

Shannon Lane (Wiswell) graduated in 1985 with 11 varsity letters, including four each in basketball and track. Her other three came as a member of the volleyball team.

She would be an All-Conference performer in basketball, where she was a two-time team MVP. She also won the MVP award in Volleyball and was team Captain on four different teams. A 5'3 high jumper, she was the American Legion Top Female Athlete Award winner. She teaches in the Burlington School District.

Olson graduated in 1994 with 10 letters and having the distinction of being First Team All-Conference and a Team MVP in all three of his sports; football, basketball, and baseball. As a senior, he caught 39 passes as a tight end on the football team and averaged over 20 points a game in basketball. In Baseball, he was First Team All-Conference twice and played on two HON Conference Championship teams. He also played in the State All-Star game in both baseball and basketball.

He was First Team All-State Academic in both basketball and baseball and would go on to play football at Winona State, where he would become a Third Team NCAA Division II All-American.

Skinner was another three-sport Cumberland athlete, where he was a First Team All-Conference Basketball performer. He was named Honorable Mention All-Northwest in both basketball and as a football quarterback and was a one-time school record holder in the discus in track. He was the captain of both the basketball and football teams.

After a stint in New Richmond, Skinner would return to his hometown and serve as both the Boys and Girls Head Basketball Coach, taking two of his teams into Regional Championship games.

Bob Wurm coached Cumberland athletes for 36 years in numerous sports. He was a Football Assistant for 34 years, a valuable wrestling assistant for 12 years, an assistant in girls basketball for many years, and served two seasons with girls softball. His involvement included helping with numerous youth programs and he was a Baseball Umpire for the District for 25 years. His dedication to Cumberland sports was very obvious during his career as a teacher and coach

WisDOT: Hot weather increases chances for pavement buckling

Drivers are asked to be alert for potential pavement problems, traffic slowdowns, and to move over for roadside workers including highway repair crews

Unusually hot weather in the forecast in some areas of Wisconsin could create conditions for pavement buckling. Motorists are asked to take extra caution.

Pavement buckles are most common when the weather quickly goes from cool to very hot, causing pavement to expand. This can cause concrete slabs of pavement to push against each other, and if the pressure becomes great enough the pavement can buckle. While it's difficult to predict if or where buckling may occur, WisDOT offers the following tips for motorists:

- Slow down, buckle up and eliminate distractions to focus your full attention on the roadway. Along with pavement issues, other concerns can include animals or debris on the roadway.
- Watch for slowing traffic and be ready to move over for all roadside workers including highway crews as they repair damaged pavement.
- Before your trip, check the 511 Travel Information system (www.511wi.gov) for the latest on any incidents or delays.
- If necessary, report serious pavement issues by calling 911. Be ready to provide specific location information.

Academic All State!

Congratulations to Reid Olson and recent graduate Logan Steglich for becoming Academic All State. The award is based on a combination of wins during the season, GPA and state place for the season. According to Wistestling.com, WIAA state runner-up Reid Olson was selected First Team Academic All-State as a Junior. Logan was Honorable Mention for the Senior class. Reid was 41-7 with a 3.885 GPA and placed second in state. Logan Steglich finished his senior season with a 33-8 record, 3.775 GPA and finished fifth in the state tournament this season. Congratulations Reid and Logan!
