Washington D.C. and New York City Trip in 2020

Anyone in the Cumberland area interested in visiting Washington, D.C. and New York City for an educational, and for many a once in a lifetime experience, are invited to attend an informational and organizational meeting on Wednesday, March 6, 2019, at 5:30 p.m. in the Cumberland High School Library. The trip begins in Washington D.C. where two days are spent touring memorials such as the Lincoln, Jefferson, Martin Luther King, FDR and the Holocaust. The trip includes a visit to Arlington National Cemetery and the opportunity to observe the Changing of the Guards.

After the second day, the group will take a bus to New York City where they will stay in Manhattan at the Hilton Hotel. While in New York, the group will experience Times Square, Central Park, The Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center, Ellis Island, Ground Zero/ Twin Towers, Chinatown, and Greenwich Village. A Broadway play and a subway ride to Grand Central Station will wrap up three jam packed days.

The departure date is a year away so it gives those going time to save up and make payments each month. Parents can also organize fundraising opportunities to help defray the cost. The price includes all meals, lodging and transportation. The group will consist of students, parents and community members. Your group leaders are Tom Warnberg, sixth grade instructor at Cumberland Middle School who has been taking students to D.C. since 1994, and Ritchie Narges, High School Principal.

If you are interested in learning more, you can attend the meeting where we will go over flight information, the trip itinerary and answer any questions you may have. If you cannot attend the meeting but are still interested, please contact Tom Warnberg at 715-418-3347 or Ritchie Narges at 715-822-5121.

Slippery roads lead to drug bust

Anthony J. Inscore, 36, of Circle Pines, MN., has been charged with possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, and obstructing an officer.

The criminal complaint states that on February 17, 2019, at approximately 8:18 a.m. Barron County Sheriff Sgt. Graf responded to a one vehicle slide-in on Highway 63 near 1 3/4 Street in Almena Township, near Echo Lake. Sgt. Graf was in that vicinity and responded to the call.

Sgt Graf arrived on scene at approximately 8:19 a.m. and observed a white Ford Focus with Minnesota registration in the snow on the east ditch of Highway 63 north of 1 3/4 Street. He observed a male walking southbound on the west shoulder of Highway 63, wearing a back-bag and stocking cap. As Sgt. Graf activated his overhead lights and pulled over to the west shoulder, he observed the male turn around and begin walking back toward him.

Sgt. Graf made contact with the man, who was later identified as Anthony J. Inscore. Sgt. Graf asked him if everything was okay. Inscore said his girlfriend was driving and had left to get a wrecker or find some help and he was with his uncle who was following them. While speaking with Inscore, Sgt. Graf observed that he had two cell phones, appeared nervous, and would not make eye contact. Dispatch advised Sgt. Graf that Inscore had a revoked Minnesota driver's license, a suspended Wisconsin file and a warrant out of St. Croix County.

Sgt. Graf placed Inscore under arrest after receiving information about the suspended Wisconsin file and St. Croix County warrant. He directed Inscore to place the items he was holding in his hand, including the back-bag, two cell phones, and a bottle of pop on the hood of the squad car. He then searched Inscore's person incident to arrest, and located in his right front sweatshirt or hoodie pocket, a very large wad of cash that was several inches thick and wrapped in a rubber band. Sgt. Graf later determined the money totaled $1,687.00 and consisted of 75 $20 bills that were separated into $100 folds of five $20 bills. There was one $100 bill included with those $20 bills and had been

Red Cross warns severe shortage of type O blood

HBO, Red Cross partner to offer sweepstakes, T-shirts to donors and Game of Thrones fans

The American Red Cross has a severe shortage of type O blood and urges type O donors – as well as eligible blood and platelet donors of all blood types – to give now to ensure lifesaving patient care isn't impacted this winter.

Type O blood is the most in-demand blood type, helping patients facing life-threatening conditions and emergencies every day. Type O negative blood can be transfused to patients with any blood type and is what emergency room personnel reach for when there's no time to determine a patient's blood type. Type O positive blood is also especially needed because it is the most transfused blood type and can be given to Rh-positive patients of any blood type.

Having a readily available blood supply is critical for patients like Luna Giles, who at the age of 1 1/2 has already underwent two heart surgeries and required over a dozen transfusions.

"Each time, the nurse would bring in a bag of blood for her transfusion, I noticed a small label on each one that said 'Donation Type: Volunteer,'" said Luna's mom, Jessie Giles. "It made me think about each individual who donated blood for my daughter. I would never know who those individuals were, and they would never see the effect their donation had. But each of those individuals, strangers to us, absolutely saved my daughter's life. They may never know it, but to me, they are heroes."

Right now, the Red Cross has less than a three-day supply of most blood types, and blood products are being distributed to hospitals faster than donations are coming in. Recent snowstorms and severe weather in many parts of the country have forced hundreds of blood drive cancellations, causing more than 20,000 blood and platelet donations to go uncollected.

Individuals of all blood types – especially type O – are asked to make an appointment to donate blood or platelets by downloading the free American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

HBO and Red Cross invite Game of Thrones fans to Bleed #ForTheThrone

To celebrate the final season of Game of Thrones, HBO and the Red Cross have partnered to ask fans and blood donors to Bleed #ForTheThrone this March. This is the largest blood donation promotional effort by an entertainment company in Red Cross history – with six days of coordinated giving March 7-12 from fans and blood donors at blood drives in 43 states across the U.S., including an immersive blood drive experience at South by Southwest in Austin, Texas.

Cumberland Educational Foundation

Inspiring excellance, one grant at a time

2018 Annual Report

The 15th annual Cumberland Educational Foundation “Light a Legacy” banquet was held on April 14, 2018, at the Das Lach Haus. The Light a Legacy Committee offered a night of live and silent auction fun followed up with entertainment by illusionist and comic magician Jared Sherlock. Despite the April snowstorm, we were thankful for the great turnout of 250 guests in attendance. As always, Carl Bents and his staff served a delicious meal. We had overwhelming support to the foundation, which we are truly grateful! A big thank you extended to Dan Hopkins, who emceed our event and Lee and Amy Thomas who handled the auctioneering for the evening.

It has been a great pleasure to be a part of the Cumberland Educational Foundation. In May, we held our annual meeting and elected trustees and officers for 2018-2019. We welcome back Vice President, Casey Morrison; Secretary, Jeanette Olsen; Treasurer, Shay Horton; and trustees, Erica Donatelle, Jon Hile, and Barry Rose. The newest members to our Board are Kellsey Ruppel and Travis Erickson. Please join me in thanking Chad Olson and Jordan Erickson for their dedicated service and enthusiasm to the Foundation. One of the many reasons for the success of the Cumberland Educational Foundation is the spirit of service exemplified by the leadership of the Board of Directors. We have a loyal group of volunteers - from our trustees to those who work on the Light a Legacy banquet - who continue to give their time and talents to the Foundation. The creativity of the staff who continue to propose brilliant ideas for enriching the education of Cumberland’s students is incredible.

The Board of Trustees is excited to announce the 2019 grant recipient. 3-Dimensional Coaching, a proposal submitted by athletic director and high school teacher Mr. Lorne Majewski has been granted $10,000 to implement a certification program that will allow all coaches in the district, youth through high school, the opportunity to implement practices that will develop student athletes in 3 dimensions: The Body, The Mind, and The Heart. The coaches will gain valuable information and tools that will help transform the way they teach through sport. The 3-Dimensional Coaching framework is made possible by over $50,000 raised this year from alumni and friends of Cumberland Schools. To date, alumni and friends have raised over $500,000 for the Foundation with $227,000 being awarded in grants. This could only be made possible by your generous support, and what a great opportunity for the youth of our community. You all play a vital role in the success of the Cumberland School District. In closing, it is a true honor to be a part of the Cumberland Educational Foundation and furthermore a member of this community. I believe we have given our children outstanding educational opportunities and hopefully inspired them to become exceptional people!

Respectfully submitted,

Ashley Knutson, President

The 2018-2019 Board of Directors for the Cumberland Educational Foundation are: President, Ashley Knutson; Vice President, Casey Morrison; Secretary, Jeanette Olsen; Treasurer, Shay Horton; Trustees: Erica Donatelle, Travis Erickson, Jon Hile, Barry Rose, and Kellsey Ruppel

Something You Should Know About Mick Ritchie- Ford Tough

By Hope Lee Vicich

Normally, we don't make much mention in the Advocate of a business in another town closing its doors. It's hard enough when it happens in our town. However, news crossed my desk last week that could not go unremarked upon. It was announced that, after over 40 years in business, Fiedler Ford in Grantsburg will be closing its doors.

Why was this announcement so noteworthy? Well loyal readers of our paper cannot have failed to see the weekly "Mick's Picks" ads from Fiedler for the last 13 years. The "Mick" in question is Cumberland's own Mick Ritchie.

Mick has been a life-long resident of Cumberland. He has also been a lifelong Ford man. His father owned the Cumberland Ford dealership for many years and Mick started working for him in the early 1960s and has been selling Fords ever since. Mick joined Fiedler in Grantsburg 13 years ago. According to Mick, "I've been selling Fords for 56 1/2 years! I have really enjoyed my time at Fiedler."

Not only a fan of the modern day Ford line-up, Mick has a collection of vintage Fords as well. You can usually find Mick every Rutabaga Parade chauffeuring either the Grand Marshall, Mayor or Citizen of the Year in one of his classic Ford convertibles. Mick loans some of his other cars for use in the parade, as well. In 1962, Mick even arranged a Ford Motor Company corporate float for the Rutabaga Parade. The float, I am told by Mick, was a half a block long!

The building on Madison Ave. in Grantsburg has been a Ford dealership since it opened in 1921. At one time, it was the only new car dealership in Burnett County. The Fiedlers took over the business in June of 1977. When asked about the closing, owner Jerry Fiedler simply said "I'm 81 years old. I think it's time to try and relax. We sure will miss all our customers. They have been really great to us over the years."

Though they will no longer be handling new car sales, Fiedler will still be selling their used car inventory as they finalize the closing of the dealership. Mick said he expects it will take a couple of months to wrap things up. He will still be there, doing his share. In fact, I think it is safe to say that you can expect to see Mick selling Fords for the foreseeable future. Even though he is not much younger than Jerry Fiedler, Mick told me point blank: "I'm not ready to watch soap operas yet!" So keep your eyes open, Mick promises to advertise his next sales position in the Advocate. You can bet it will be somewhere they sell Fords!

Hats off to the Fiedlers for their years of service to the community. We wish them well. You can see Mick in 'Baga Parade, if not before!

Nelson Hutchinson suffered a stroke in January and has been hospitalized for almost a month. He will hopefully be coming home soon but has a long road to recovery. Unsure on when he will be able to return to work. We would like to help him to be able to pay his everyday bills and hopefully some of his medical expenses. Look forward to seeing everyone!

Snow, wind, more snow, more wind. That seems to be the calling card of February 2019. I can’t remember a more disagreeable February. I guess that is why we live in where we do. We live here so that we can complain about the weather and be martyrs. It is so we can boast to our kids and grandkids about the terrible weather we went through when we were kids. I told my kids about how we used to walk to school two miles every day. It was uphill both ways. I also remember my neighbor telling my oldest son about the “one winged pheasant that flew over the fence backwards and the snowbirds that were so big they hunted foxes. Those tales were fun but seriously, I am getting tired of this weather. I suggest that we tell “Mother Nature” that “enough is enough.” We are ready for Spring. The plow just went up the road and the piles of snow grow some more. I hope it gets warm and the snow is gone by the Fourth of July. We have friends who winter in Arizona and they call and complain about how cold it has been this year. We don’t have much sympathy for their plight.

The President is off to Vietnam for a second effort at personal nuclear diplomacy with North Korea’s dictator. I hope this summit is more than just boasting about the two men’s friendship. American’s want some visible action, not just more blathering from the White House.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

For hospital price shopping, Wisconsin solution better than new federal fix

MADISON, Wis. — Little-noticed by the public but a source of pain for most health systems was a Trump administration order in January that hospitals must post list prices for their services, in theory offering consumers more transparency and competitive choice.

The problem with the well-intended administration order is that “ChargeMaster,” the name for the federal price-listing system, is almost impossible for the average patient to navigate.

It contains data for thousands of medical procedures, but a consumer must be part physician and part electronic health records expert to understand it. No two hospitals seem to classify services the same way, the medical jargon varies and there’s no way for consumers to know if the “list price” for a specific service — a blood test, a pain pill, a bag of intravenous salt water — is standard for a certain procedure.

“It’s like trying to buy a car, piece by piece, from the ignition system to the exhaust pipes to the tires,” said Eric Borgerding, president of the Wisconsin Hospital Association. “You would need to know the cost of each piece to know the sticker price.”

A far more user-friendly system exists in Wisconsin through the Hospital Association, which has hosted its “PricePoint” website for years and refined it over time while expanding to 10 other states.

Searchable at www.wipricepoint.org, the site is updated quarterly with data from all Wisconsin hospitals. That data comes largely from discharge claims, which are required by law for all hospitals and ambulatory centers. Medicare and Medicaid patient data are included.

The system allows users to compare prices for similar operations statewide or within a certain geographic area, which is often how patients consider how to access care if their insurance coverage allows — or simply to compare what different health systems might charge for the same procedure.

“People should know how much their healthcare costs,” said Jennifer Mueller, WHA’s vice president and privacy officer. “We’re really trying to do what is easy and best for patients, who are more cost-conscious now.”

The PricePoint site is linked to a second online source, “CheckPoint,” which WHA established to display healthcare quality ratings for Wisconsin hospitals. It is updated periodically using eight data sources, including the federal Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality. CheckPoint is relatively new but used by three other states.

Here is how PricePoint works: Users first select whether their visit will be inpatient or outpatient. They are asked if they have health insurance and prompted to select a primary carrier. They are asked if their policy has an out-of-pocket limit (“I don’t know” is a possible answer) and then select a “body system,” meaning, essentially, tell us what needs care.

From there, a series of site “drop-downs” progressively become more specific about the type of procedure, the general geographic region desired by the patient and even the hospitals. At the end of the search, median charges and average length of stay is detailed. Up to three hospitals can be compared.

In January, 1,161 people used PricePoint with 18,606 page-views, according to WHA data.

The service can only take patients so far, of course, because they eventually need to pair what they learn on median prices for a medical procedure with what insurers will cover.

“At the end of the day, patients really need to call their insurance company and figure out what their deductible might be,” Mueller said.

The federal ChargeMaster system is viewed by some advocates as holding hospitals and health systems accountable for list prices that likely won’t resemble what is charged once insurance negotiations and deductibles are calculated. While ChargeMaster may help insurers and others with the time to parse mounds of complex data, it won’t likely help the average 60-year-old patient shopping for a knee replacement.

At least, not until smart, young coders at health information software firms figure out how to reduce it all to usable apps.

For the time being, however, Wisconsin-born PricePoint appears to have a dramatic head start on a national dilemma: How to help health consumers compare prices.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He is also a founder of the Wisconsin Healthcare Business Forum.

wrapped in the rubber band. He also observed there were three $20 bills loose, two $10 bills loose and one $5 bill loose and two $1.00 bills loose.

Sgt. Graf also located from the right front sweatshirt pocket, a keychain that he later checked and determined controlled the Ford Focus that was in the ditch. Also located in his right front pants pocket was a 4x2" zip lock baggie which contained a white crystal like substance in chunks that, based on his training and experience, Sgt. Graf suspected was methamphetamine, which was later tested and tested positive for the presence of methamphetamine. The total weight was two grams.

During this time Sgt. Graf secured Inscore in the back seat of the squad car. After advising him of his rights Inscore advised him there was paraphernalia in his back bag.

Sgt. Graf searched the back bag and located a 4x2 inch zip lock baggie that contained 21 4x2 inch baggies that were similar to the baggie which contained the crystal-like substance. These baggies were rolled up and placed inside of the 4x2 inch zip lock baggie. There was also a loose 4x2 inch baggie inside the back bag. Sgt. Graf then located a black AWS-600 digital scale which appeared to have some white residue on it in the back bag. Additional items located inside the back bag include a 210 milliliter butane can, a black and orange butane torch lighter, a black and silver butane torch lighter, a black and blue butane torch lighter, a silver and clear colored lighter and a blue Bic lighter. He also located a white cloth/rag with orange stains on it in the back bag and a Mio orange flavored drink mix container, which Inscore said was to flavor the meth.

Also located in the backbag were two small one ounce Dixie cups with some powdery substance on them, a glass bong, and a blue tube glued to it which contained an orange-colored substance in the bottom of the glass bong. There were also various glass smoking devices, one bulbous glass tube that was broken with charred residue, one with black tape wrapped around it, one L-shaped cylindrical glass tube with burnt residue, one cylindrical glass tube with a glued green plastic cap on its end, one plastic tube, believed to be from a ballpoint pen, with a pink tube on its end and a clear plastic tube approximately four inches long with some white residue in it. He also located an Acatel Tracfone in the back bag.

Sgt. Graf secured all of the items that he located in the back bag, along with the two cell phones, cash and methamphetamine that were recovered from Inscore's person in evidence. While processing the evidence, he received a phone call from a female who was inquiring about the location of her vehicle. She said Inscore had permission to drive her vehicle and had been driving it, but she was uncertain of where he was going. She said he was supposed to take the vehicle to a mechanic to get it fixed. She said she was not with him that morning when her vehicle was in the ditch.

If convicted Inscore may be fined not more than $35,500 or imprisoned for not more than 13 years, and four months. His preliminary hearing will be held March 1, 2019.

Holna C. Storin, 41, of Rice Lake, has been charged with possession of methamphetamine, two counts of identity theft-financial gain, and conspiracy to commit identity theft-financial gain.

The criminal complaint states that on November 6, 2018, former Rice Lake Investigator Thompson had contact with a female at the Rice Lake Police Department concerning a complaint she wished to file regarding identify theft.

She advised Investigator Thompson that she had previously lived at an address on Philips Avenue in the city of Rice Lake. She said she moved out of this residence on or around September 27th and that the residence was then occupied by two individuals one of whom was Holna Storin. She said she had the post office forward her mail to her new address in Cameron. She advised that she had been receiving credit denials from a cell phone company and other banking or credit institutions. She advised around November 5, 2018, she received an approved credit card. The card was in her name and was not activated. She believed that she may have received some mail at her former address on Phipps Avenue or may have forgotten some type of documentation at the residence and now someone was attempting to open credit in her name. She further advised that she had sent Ms. Storin a text message that was not responded to concerning the credit card.

On November 15, 2018, Investigator Thompson again spoke with the former resident, who advised she had spoken with Storin and had been advised by her that no documents were left at the residence, but that she had observed the upstairs neighbors getting multiple deliveries frequently. She also indicated that she remembered a time when the upstairs neighbors had her new checks that came in the mail. Investigator Thompson identified the neighbors and interviewed them. Both of them indicated that they had never received any mail of the previous tenants and if they did they would have given it back to her. The male subject also denied applying for any credit in her name.

On or around January 4, 2019, Investigator Thompson again had contact with the victim, who said she had received a phone call from an individual who is the neighbor that resided at her previous address. She advised that on or around January 2nd, she had heard Storin yelling at a male subject, stating that she was going to turn him in for opening an account in the previous tenant's name. She advised that she tried to record some of the conversation. She also advised that she learned the credit card account had now been used and there was a balance of $315 on it. She showed Investigator Thompson a credit report indicating that the account was opened on or around October 7, 2018, and was closed on November 15, 2018. She also indicated that an account she has with another business had a balance of $1,414. She indicated the account had been opened in March 2, 2018, and the last report was December 17, 2018.

Investigator Thompson's report indicated that on January 7, 2019, he received an email from the previous tenant who advised that purchases had been made on her Fingerhut account since September 2018, which included an HP wireless computer, a Canon printer and an LG 32 inch TV, they were purchased in her name and shipped to her previous address.

In early February, 2019 Rice Lake Police Officer Wolfe took over and conducted additional follow-up on the complaint. About February 11, 2019, she received an email from a fraud investigator from the credit card company. He provided Officer Wolfe with a spreadsheet with information related to the account that had been opened in the previous tenant's name. He said that the address provided to them connected to a second account that was improved as well as 21 additional accounts that were denied. He indicated the loss from the two approved accounts was $554.36.

One of the accounts was opened in the name of a male subject using a specific date of birth and social security number, as well as an address in Chetek. Officer Wolfe made contact with the subject and learned that he had never lived in Wisconsin. When she made contact with him she advised that she believed someone had stolen his identity and opened an account with the credit card company in January 2017. He confirmed that around that time he was notified by the bank that somebody attempted to use his bank information on line. He further indicated he had never owned a credit card or taken out any kind of loan. He also indicated he received a call from the Social Security Administration stating that someone attempted to use his information to start collecting social Security, but the account had been denied.

Officer Wolfe's report also indicated she received a list of the 21 other names, social security numbers and date of birth that had been used for purposes of attempting to open a credit card account. The consistent email address was used for each one of these. Eleven of the 21 accounts that were attempted to be opened listed the previous address of the former tenant. Two of the accounts listed an address of 123 Messenger Street in Rice Lake, which Officer Wolfe knew to be the address as the TLP House and was advised that the former tenant had resided there. She also learned the former tenant had resided at the Chetek address that had been used, and the phone numbers connected to the attempted accounts were also in her name. Officer Wolfe confirmed the phone number belonged to the victim when she conducted an interview of her. She also observed from the information received for the credit card company, that the card in the victim's name had been used ten times between October 23,2018, and approximately 2:00 p.m on October 24, 2018. The card had been used at several businesses in Rice Lake, as well as to make Securus phone calls, which are inmate phone calls. Officer Wolfe was able to obtain footage from a convenience store in Rice Lake and spoke with the store manager, who is familiar with the former tenant. She indicated there was one female that was making a purchase at the time in question and when asked if she recognized her, she indicated she did and knew her as Holna. Officer Wolfe subsequently obtained a copy of the footage and observed the same female who she believed to be Ms. Storin, who she was able to identify off of Facebook photos as well as a Department of Corrections photography.

Officer Wolfe interviewed Storin concerning the credit card accounts that had been opened up in the former tenant's name, as well as all of the other accounts that had attempted to be opened up with the credit card company. She advised Storin of the email address that came back to a male subject. When Storin was asked if she recognized the name she indicated that was an ex-boyfriend. She further denied attempting to open the credit card account. When she was advised by Officer Wolfe that each of the accounts that attempted to be open had an address associated with it and what the addresses were and the fact that Office Wolfe knew that she had resided in each of these three addresses. Storin indicated lots of people probably lived at that residence and attempted to open credit card accounts. Officer Wolfe advised her that during the time each account was attempted to be opened Storin had resided at the address associated with the accounts.

Officer Wolfe observed Storin begin crying and indicated she didn't want to get in trouble. She admitted attempting to open the credit card accounts except for the one that belonged to the victim. When asked about the one involving the male subject, she admitted opening the account and charging money to the account. She indicated she had purchased gas and food totaling around $200. When asked how she obtained the information on the different identities, she indicated she had been purchasing identity information from an individual named Luke since 2016. She said he had given her the other male subject's information free of charge, but then ended up buying the account information from her once she was able to get the credit card opened in his name. She said the other 21 accounts she had attempted to open by using identifying information provided to her by Luke. She admitted she had resided at all three of the addresses when the accounts we attempted to be opened up with the credit card. When asked where Luke would get the information, she said it came from a male named "nightmare," who is deceased and another male named "Sweeney."

When asked about opening the victim's account, she denied opening that account. When Officer Wolfe showed her the surveillance footage of her using the card, she admitted that it was in fact her using it. When Officer Wolfe confronted her about the other multiple occasions in the Rice Lake area where the card was used, Storin then claimed that she had bought the card from the neighbor upstairs. When confronted about the Fingerhut account Storin claimed to know nothing about the usage of that account. When confronted about the email address she claimed to not know how that was possible. She then claimed that the upstairs neighbor asked her for an email address that couldn't get traced back to them. She claimed that the email address and phone number must have been left on the note pad with the neighbor. When confronted as to why the items purchased at Fingerhut were shipped to her address, she didn't know why they were shipped to her address.

When Officer Wolfe confronted Storin regarding the phone number, she indicated that was one of her old phone numbers. Officer Wolfe's reports indicate that the number called the credit card service 14 times regarding the victim's credit card. It was also the phone number that was used to call the male subject when he was in jail and incarcerated in October 2018. It is also the card that was used to put money on his books when he was incarcerated. Officer Wolfe's investigation indicated that she learned this number was registered to the victim through AT&T. Storin admitted that her current number was the same. When Officer Wolfe confronted her that this number was registered to the victim, Storin denied that it was.

If convicted Storin may be fined not more than $40,000 or imprisoned for not more than 21 years and six months or both. Her driver's license may also be suspended for not more than five years. Her preliminary hearing was held February 25, 2019.

Welcome to the WIFA

Hello friends,
Sometimes I realize that I live a bit of a sheltered life. I do not watch much tv and I hardly ever go to websites. I actually learned that there was competitive high school ice fishing tournaments when I saw some pictures in The Ladysmith News about the Bruce ice fishing team

Two weeks ago I heard that the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Fishing Association was holding their state ice fishing tournament on pools 7-8 on the Mississippi River which is from Trempealeau to Genoa.

That is when I started doing some research on the WIFA and I have to tell you this is going to be one of those columns where I have way more to write about than space to write it.

Friday, February 15th
High 14, low minus 8

My plan was to arrive on Lake Onalaska with my atv in the back of my enclosed trailer, unload the atv, make a camp in the trailer and spend the day on the ice introducing myself to coaches and teams that were pre-fishing for the following days tournament.

At 5:00 there was a jamboree and awards banquet that was being held at the LaCrosse Center for the 72 high schools that would make up 93 teams of up to 10 fishermen/women per team. All told 820 kids would take part in this tournament.

Here is how it works, each team can enter up to 5 northern pike, 5 bass of which each must be 14-inches, 10 bluegill, 10 perch and 10 crappie. Each fish is measured on an official bump board with a coach which generally has to be an employee of their school, and a picture must be taken of each fish on the bump board.

Here is an example, the winning school had 402-inches and I would say the average team had about 160.

After a very unique day on the ice everyone headed over to the LaCrosse Center and this is where I became amazed. I met Wendy Dallman who is the President of the WIFA and a phy-ed teacher at Prairie Farm High School, Ted Bonde who is the Vice President and a tech ed teacher at Kiel High School and Scott Lafler who is in charge of public relations.

There was a spaghetti dinner and Wendy Dallman was on stage running the show in a very impressive way.

Tonight was the Master Angler Awards Ceremony, and the pride and self discipline was incredible with many of the teams wearing matching hooded sweat shirts representing their high school.

There are 22 categories of fish that an angler can enter to be a Master Angler in the WIFA with the winner for the year being the kid that catches the most species but only one fish for each category. An example would be a largemouth bass, it has to be 20-inches.

Logan Spice a senior at DC Everest took first place this year in a contest that runs from February 1st each year until January 31st with 16, separate Master Angler Fish.

Saturday, February 16th
High 11, low minus 8

The heater in my trailer died last night and it was not easy to sleep. Today I witnessed one of the coolest experiences of my life involving kids, the outdoors, and coaches/volunteers. I was all over on the ice and welcomed by every group that I visited.

Folks this organization/sport called the WIFA is on fire and in a very good way. These kids are in tournaments for two months and they had two more after this weekend if they chose to enter.

The WIFA pushes honor on the ice, working on a budget on a challenging schedule, and how to enjoy the ice no matter what the conditions of how good or bad the fishing is..

Pulaski High School won this years WIFA State Tournament and what was really cool was all 93 teams went up on the stage one at a time and a representative from each team was interviewed.

It will not be long and the WIFA will be a household name and I urge you to check out there website

A group of WIFA Kids and their coaches traveling on Lake Onalaska.

Logan Spice, a senior at DC Everest High School won this years WIFA Master Angler Award.

(studentfishing.com) which had 304,000 hits in the month of January. The WIFA is one of the best ways that I have ever witnessed to get our kids outside in mass, teach them personal responsibility and harden them to the great outdoors and everything that it can throw their way.

High School ice fishing is now my favorite sport with cross country taking a very close second!

Hayward Hockey Co-Op Season Ends at Eau Claire

The Hayward Girls Hockey Co-op saw their season come to an end with a 3-0 loss to Eau Claire last Tuesday night. The loss ends the teams season with a final record of 11-9-4.

The team was outshot 41-15 in the contest as Eau Claire took control over the last two periods after the two team played a scoreless period one. Eau Claire advanced to the Sectional Championship game where they were defeated by Hudson, 3-1, sending Hudson to the State Tournament.

Barronett News
By Judy Pieper

I am writing this on Monday, February 24, stuck in a hotel in Marshalltown, Iowa. We left Surprise, Arizona on Friday in a snowstorm. I'm not sure how much snow fell that day, but there was enough that the ground was completely covered. We drove in snow from Phoenix until we got to Benson. At Benson we decided to head south so we could see how much Sierra Vista might have changed in the past 40 years. I'm so glad we did the little detour. Sierra Vista has changed a lot, but a lot of things are still there that I remember too. Then we went east to Tombstone and came back up through St. David.

We didn't hit any more bad roads all the way through New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. But when we got just about to Des Moines, the wind started blowing snow around and it was getting a little difficult to see. Then we saw a big sign saying that I-35 was closed at Ames. Well, we tried going on the state and county highways, but they were so bad that we finally decided to wait it out here in Marshalltown. Hopefully the roads will open today and we will be able to get home.

We did have a wonderful vacation with Duane's family. It was cold and rainy, but the guys were able to go 4-wheeling one day and we did a lot of visiting, sight-seeing and we went to museums. Matt, Chad, Ben and I went to the Musical Instrument Museum one day while the others went to a casino, and it was fantastic. I can't even tell you about it because it is one of those things a person has to see to believe, but I can tell you that they had things from just about every country in the world and lots and lots of stuff about American musicians. If you do vacation in the Phoenix area, I would highly recommend stopping by there. Matt, who collects musical instruments, was the one who suggested the museum, and while we were there, I remembered that Duane has his grandpa's trombone. I mentioned that to Matt, who was very interested in it, and we are going to give it to him next time we see him.

One day Duane and I decided to drive to Bellflower, California to visit with Delores Ytreus and her son, John. Delores and I had visited over the phone a few times, but we had never met in person until that day. When we went into her home, we were surprised to learn that Delores is an extremely talented artist. We saw, and admired, several of her paintings. John, who had been a school teacher for years and is now a pastor, told us some of the history of Bellflower, who had settled there, etc. Delores and John asked if we could spend the night, but we had to get back to Surprise because the nephews had plans for the next day. Before we left, Delores, John, Duane and I went to lunch at Norm's restaurant, which was about two miles from their home. We drove in separate cars because Duane and I were leaving for Arizona from the restaurant, and when Delores and John came in, she handed me a bag with one of her paintings in it. It is a picture of an adorable fluffy white kitten and, if you happen to stop by our house, I will be glad to show it to you.

Norm's is a restaurant that was opened many years ago (I forget exactly when) and they were very busy, with good reason. The food was excellent and the waitress was very friendly and efficient. Our coffee cups were never empty. Before we left, we took pictures with Delores. To say we had a wonderful visit is probably the understatement of the year.

Oh, by the way, Delores' birthday is on February 28th, in case you know her and want to send her a card. I won't tell you her age, of course, but I think she probably graduated from Cumberland High School with the class of 1949 or 1950. Her name, back then, was Delores Zappa, and she grew up on a farm out on County Highway G.

It seemed that every time someone from home called us while we were on vacation, they told us that it was snowing - again. Unbelievable! We didn't get any snow to speak of until February, and now we are getting almost record amounts. What the heck!?!

The congregation of Barronett Lutheran would like to thank Steve Madison for plowing the snow for us. The church would have been happy to pay him for that service, but he insisted on doing it for nothing. Steve said that he would continue to plow our snow for the rest of this season. It's nice to have such good neighbors - Thank you again, Steve.

And, the women of Barronett Lutheran would like to thank Bonnie Modjeski and Rod Peterson for supplying the entertainment for the Tuesday program at Cumberland Care and Rehab. Geri Pittman and Anita Lehmann served the snacks, and Geri said that the residents loved the guitar and accordion music and singing. Thank you so much, Bonnie.

Pat Olson always knew that she has good neighbors, but she found that to be especially true this past Sunday. Pat was on the schedule to supply snacks for St. Paul's Lutheran that day, but when she got to church, she found that it had been cancelled. When she tried to get back home again, the snow was so deep that she couldn't get all the way. A neighbor stopped and tried to help, but he couldn't get the car much farther than she had, so he gave her a ride home in his vehicle. She called Bill Metnik to let him know that her car was on the side of the road and told him that she would move it after the guys came to plow. Bill didn't want her car to be plowed in, so he came over to help. In the meantime, Aaron Lehmann stopped by to see if she needed help. She was overwhelmed by the kindness of her neighbors.

Sorry this is getting to be too long, so I'm going to go. Stay warm. We hope to be home this afternoon. See you next time.

"Pancake Day" is just around the corner!

Augustana hosts Shrove Tuesday pancake supper

Augustana Lutheran Church in Cumberland will be holding their Second Annual Pancake Day/Shrove Tuesday Supper on Tuesday, March 5th.

Serving will be 4:30-7:00 pm with an all-u-can-eat menu of pancakes, applesauce sausage, beverages and dessert.

In the Christian tradition, Shrove Tuesday marks the day before the beginning of Lent. The custom of making pancakes arose from the need to use up food items which people were not allowed to eat during Lent rather than let it go bad.

Donations from the Pancake Supper will benefit the Summer Music Concert Series featuring Higher Vision, The Stringsmiths and from Kentucky the Kevin Prater Band.

Northwoods Notebook: It's time for some sun and senior fun

By Larry Werner

I was one of those people who would say that hanging out in places like Florida, Texas and Arizona wasn't my cup of tea. Why would anyone want to leave the Midwest for places where there are only old people, even if those places offer temperatures in the 70s and 80s during the winter months?

Then about four winters ago, Ann said we're going to do what so many others do and find a warm place for at least a month of winter. The place we found is called The Villages, Florida's fastest-growing city where you have to be at least 55 to live.

I wasn't excited about leaving the North for the South. But as you read this column, we'll be on our way from Cumberland to The Villages, and I must admit I've come to like our month in the sun. Oh, I'll be ready to head home by the last week in March. With all the snow we've gotten in February, maybe we won't return to the six-foot banks of snow that greeted us last April. Maybe spring will come this April, and I can get my boat out of storage before mid-May.

I find myself wondering why I like my time in an old-folks community when I used to cringe at the thought of such a place. I guess age changes what we like and what we don't. My dearly departed friend Roger Wistrill said on a warm sunny day at The Villages two years ago that he loved Cumberland, where he had been a teacher, coach and principal for more than 40 years. But Florida in the winter months was far better than Wisconsin for a guy with cancer.

"Cancer and cold don't get along," he said over coffee at Dunkin' Donuts near his home in The Villages.

Roger and I had driven to the donut place in a golf cart, which is the way the folks who live there get around, rather than in cars. Roger would usually take a walk for coffee and a donut, and I found myself doing the same: a simple ritual along streets lined with palm trees.

At the coffee shop, there were other seniors enjoying their caffeine and treats. You can tell the snowbirds from the locals. People like me would be wearing tee shirts and shorts, and the blood-thinned who live there year-round are wearing flannel shirts and jeans.

Roger liked to get coffee and donuts at the bakery in Cumberland during the summer months. But he didn't get a summer in The Island City last year. He and his wife, Barb, flew home for Christmas 2017, and he died in January at his home on Beaver Dam Lake.

Last March, I'd think of Roger during my walk for coffee and donut holes. I'd think of him at the pool, where Villages people walk and talk about kids and grandkids up north, laughing about weather reports saying another snowstorm was dumping on those back home.

Most nights at The Villages, we'd enjoy another simple pleasure with other people our age and older: listening and dancing to live music at the town square.

A few years back, I might have found it sad to be at a concert with several hundred old people, many with canes and walkers, listening to a band playing music from when we were young and strong. But now, I enjoy seeing people weakened by arthritis and other age-related infirmities twisting and line-dancing.

Age does change what we enjoy and what we don't. The snow falling outside my window is lovely. But I must admit, it will feel good to soak up sun in a place where there is no snow or cold, where people of a certain age spend their days in pools and on golf courses, and where, at 9 p.m., when the music stops, they climb into their golf carts and go home to bed.

See you in April.

“Feasting and Fasting”

By: Pastor Tim Schmidt
First Lutheran Church, Cumberland

The other day a member of my church brought me a box of Paczkis (pronounced poonchkies). These are jelly or custard or cream filled donuts out of the Polish tradition. I remember them from growing up in Detroit, which has a very strong Polish population. And I remember these delicious treats coming out in the few weeks before Lent. Every year before Ash Wednesday you had to make sure to get your Paczki.

And these donuts are just one of the countless Pre-Lent traditions that have a very long history in the Christian church. Lent is the time before Easter and it is traditionally a time of prayer and fasting. And you often have celebrations and special treats before Lent starts-kind of a last chance at indulgence before you have to give them up during the fasting time of Lent. You could also think of things here like Mardi Gras or Carnival here. They fit into this tradition as well.

Now I think in the world today, you probably get a little more celebrating in the time before Lent than you get fasting in the season of Lent, but I still think this basic rhythm is a good one. We need times of rejoicing and celebration and even a little indulgence. They help us to remember the goodness of life-and the blessings of God that are to be savored and enjoyed. And we also need times of fasting and self-denial. These times help us to focus on our faith-and to recommit to following the ways of Jesus more closely. Lent is a helpful time to “return to the Lord” and to spend more time in prayer and worship, reading God’s word and serving others.

So, as we get ready to come into the season of Lent this year (March 6 is Ash Wednesday), remember this basic pattern. There are times for rejoicing and celebrating and there are times for fasting and self-denial. Both help us to remember what it means to be children of God.

Gage PN Fogarty, 24, of Rice Lake, has been charged with operating a motor vehicle while suspended-causing great bodily harm.

The criminal complaint states that on July 9, 2018, at approximately 11:46 a.m. Barron County Sheriff's Deputy Moin responded to a two-car head-on crash on Highway 8 east of Almena, near 8th Street. Deputy Moin, Sgt. Beranek, Detective Nelson, fire, EMS and air evacuation all responded to the scene of the crash. Upon arrival Deputy Moin observed two badly damaged vehicles, one of which was a Dodge pickup which was determined to have been driven by Gage Fogarty. The second vehicle was a Ford edge that was driven by Alan Martinson.

Martinson was being attended to by fire and EMS and Fogarty was standing on the shoulder of the south side of Highway 8. Deputy Moin spoke with two male subjects, who both stated that the Dodge pickup was passing the vehicle well into the eastbound lane when it hit the Ford Edge head on.

One of the male witnesses said that the Dodge Ram had been driving behind the other vehicle and that he observed the vehicle driving erratically, speeding up, swerving, falling back, and that he was worried that the Ram might hit his vehicle. He said that they both passed a slow-moving truck, and that Fogarty was passing the truck and struck the other vehicle head on.

The other witness said he saw Fogarty pass a semi and crash into another vehicle.

Deputy Moin later questioned Fogarty about the incident, and he admitted that he had been the driver of the Dodge pickup. He said that he reached down to pick up a lighter that fell and that caused the accident.

Deputy Moin asked Fogarty if he was aware that his driving privileges were suspend in Wisconsin and he said that he did and he was aware his license was suspending due to tickets going back to 2015.

On January 30, 2019, Sgt. Beranek met with the victim to discuss the accident. The victim told him that he did not have any broken bones as a result of the accident, but that the accident did result in a ruptured spleen, which caused internal bleeding. He stated that the internal bleeding cause him severe cramping as a result of the blood which pooled up inside of his stomach, and that the cramping lasted approximately three weeks. He stated that he was hospitalized in an intensive care unit for five days, that he is still having troubles from the incident and that he has memory problems.

If convicted Fogarty may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than three years, and six moths, or both. His driver's license may also be revoked for not more than six months. He is scheduled to appear March 20, 2019.

Cumberland man sentenced

Kurtis Dawson, 24, of Cumberland, was sentenced to 18 years in prison on February 25, 2019. He will serve eight years of initial confinement, with 181 days of credit for time served, to be followed by 10 years of extended supervision.

The sentence is the result of charges of Felony Sexual Assault of a Child Under 16 years of age, and Felony Exposing A Child to Harmful Materials, which were filed in August 2018. The charge of Class C felony exposing a child to harmful materials was dismissed, but read in.

The sentence will be served concurrently with Dawson's prison sentence on another Barron County case in which Dawson's probation was revoked following the 2018 charges, and he was sentenced to serve nine months in county jail on three counts of Misdemeanor 4th Degree Sexual Assault from criminal charges that were filed in 2015.

Dawson is also facing another sentencing after revocation of probation in Polk County Circuit Court on charges of Class C Felony Sexual Assault of a Child and 4th Degree Sexual Assault. These charges were filed against Dawson in 2016 and his probation was revoked following the 2018 Barron County charges. He is scheduled to be sentenced on the Polk County case in April 2019.

In another criminal case that was pending in St. Croix County, in October 2018, a deferred sentence agreement was canceled and he was ordered to serve 30 days in jail for conviction of Domestic Abuse Disorderly Conduct.

Dawson has been ordered to register as a sex offender for life; comply with any and all sex offender treatments and complete any and all evaluations, counseling, treatment, and follow-up recommended by the Department of Corrections. He is also prohibited from having any unsupervised contact with any minors, other than his own child.
