Patterson sentenced in Closs case

On Friday, May 24, 2019 Barron County Judge James Babler, ordered Jake Patterson to serve two life prison terms with no possibility of parole, for the murder of James and Denise Closs. He also ordered Patterson to serve 40 years (25 years confinement plus 15 years of extended supervision) for the kidnapping of Jayme Closs.

Jake Patterson

Patterson killed James and Denise Closs on October 15, 2018, at their home near Barron. Jayme was kidnapped at that same time. Jayme was missing for 88 days before being found alive near Gordon, WI. on January 10th, bringing a joyful ending to a horrible crime.

Barron County Circuit Court Judge James Babler stated he believed Patterson to be one of the most dangerous men to ever walk the planet.

The emotional hearing lasted approximately two hours.

Barron County District Attorney Brian Wright thanked Judge Babler and Barron County Sheriff Chris Fitzgerald thanked all law enforcement officers in Wisconsin and beyond.

Celebration Planned on the Geological Origin of Beaver Dam Lake and Cumberland

A dedication of interpretive historical exhibits depicting the geological origin of Beaver Dam Lake and the Island City of Cumberland is planned for Friday, May 31. The two exhibits tell the story of a raging river in the glacier sculpting the lakebed of one of Wisconsin's deepest lakes and the island on which Cumberland was founded.

The intention of the historical markers, sponsored by the 3M Company- Cumberland, is to acquaint the public with the local area's rich Ice Age heritage. The Superior Lobe Chapter of the Ice Age Trail Alliance (IATA) undertook preparation of the exhibits with guidance and research assistance of Professor Emeritus Mickelson. The public is invited to the event where Bob Held, Coordinator of the Superior Lobe Chapter of the IATA will serve as master of ceremonies.

The celebration begins at 1:00 p.m. when David

M. Mickelson, Professor Emeritus and Senior Scientist, University of Wisconsin-Madison, outlines the impact of the Great Wisconsin Glacier on the local area lakes and landscape. He will speak at the Cumberland Thomas St. Angelo Public Library located at 1305 2nd Avenue. Mickelson has taught a gamut of geology courses and is engaged in extensive research including existing glaciers and glacial deposit in Sweden, Norway, Argentina, China, Alaska, New England and the Rocky Mountains in addition to the Midwest. He has published numerous papers and is first author of the book, "Geology of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail."

At 2:15 pm the festivity will pick up near the boat landing at City Park where Mayor Bert Skinner will extend his welcome at an artistic rendition of a woolly mammoth on an erratic. An

Potential drowning sours Memorial Day Weekend

On Saturday, May 25, 2019, at approximately 2:38 p.m., Barron County Dispatch received a 911 call advising of a possible drowning at the Cumberland beach.

The Cumberland Police Department, along with the Cumberland Ambulance, the Cumberland Fire Department, the Barron County Sheriff's Department and the Wisconsin DNR responded to the scene.

A boat monitor working at the boat landing, had witnessed the subject swimming and saw the individual go down and not return to the surface, he immediately called 911.

Kevin McClain, who lives in the area, swam out to where the subject was last seen and was able to recover him and bring him to shore.

The subject, a 15-year-old male, was transported to Cumberland Healthcare and then flown to Regions Hospital. His identity and condition had not been released at press time.

Scene of the tragic swimming accident on Monday, May 27th. A sad reminder to wear flotation devices and be vigilant when kids are in the water.

Something You Should Know About... Tourists aren't our only summer visitors

by Hope Lee Vicich

My middle child, Kela, is working for the Alaska Park Service this summer at Lake Clark National Park. This remote park is only accessible by bush plane, and is known for its amazing scenery and abundance of wildlife...including bears. In fact, Kela sent me a photo of a bear track she found walking to her lodgings from work. It was as big as her outstretched hand! I'm trying not to overreact here. After all, what else do you expect in Alaska, right? Then what should appear on Facebook but a picture by Cumberland resident Phil DeNucci, taken last Saturday night outside his house on Norwegian Bay behind 3M. The picture was of a large, black and shaggy visitor to his back yard. It is harder to not overreact when it is practically in your back yard!

What all these sightings (and numerous others that have been reported recently) remind me is that we are entering that time of year when the warm weather brings us into closer contact with some of the "wilder" neighbors. Nature has truly blessed us here in the northwoods. We enjoy the close proximity of the water, forest and wildlife. However, sometimes the proximity of the wildlife does get a little too close. Just ask Phil!

Bears may seem majestic at a distance, but not so much when they are on your deck patio, or digging through your garbage. Probably due to the strange weather patterns this spring, there is a lot of bear activity this year, so a few precautions might be worth your while.

The fact is bears, like most of us, are just looking for a free lunch. The quickest way to get rid of them is to remove the food sources.

While we love the beauty

ers up again in the late Fall after the bears are sleeping and the birds need the food.

You must also clean up unof wild deer (and some enjoy hunting them in the fall), it is not so enjoyable when they help themselves to our carefully tended vegetable or flower gardens.

In the past, my family has been guilty of providing a ready feast for the local deer. My daughters love birds and we used to hang a number of feeders in our yard. One afternoon, I received a text message from my girls with a photo of a "funny brown bird with a white tail" eating at our feeder. The photo showed a doe nose up to the feeder, tipping it so the seeds ran straight into her mouth!

Our family friends didn't get off so easy. A couple of years back, their daughter placed her feeders on the second floor balcony outside her bedroom. She received a visit from a bear who climbed up the log walls of their home, destroyed the feeders, and then climbed back down, leaving huge claw marks on the walls and posts of the home.

The moral of these stories is - take down your feeders during the summer. While it is great to have the birds visit our yards all year, the other visitors are not as welcome. The birds do not need the extra sustenance during the summer. Even hummingbird feeders can cause a risk (think "juice boxes" for bears!). Hang the feedder where the feeders were, removing all fallen seeds or suet.

If you have had bears in your area you must take extra precautions. Simply putting lids on your garbage cans is not good enough. Bears have a terrific sense of smell. If you have to leave your trash outside until pick-up, you must routinely clean your cans with an ammonia or bleach solution to remove any food odors. Do not leave pet food outside for your outdoor pets. Feed them at regular times and then remove the food bowls. The leftover food will not only attract bears but raccoons, foxes and coyotes. Even your backyard grill is a possible source of attraction. If left outside, the grill must be cleaned thoroughly to remove any left over grease or meat smell.

If you do get a visit from a bear, stay inside or on the deck, bang pots and pans, use air horns, and at night shine bright lights. This should spook them and get them to leave. Once the food is gone, they will have no reason to return.

As for the deer, there are chemical sprays available, but here are some ideas for a more "natural" approach to keeping them out of the garden. Spreading items such as mothballs, clumps

Northwoods Notebook:

Phil the sausage-maker

By Larry Werner

You've no doubt heard the old joke that making laws is like making sausage — a messy process that somehow produces a decent product. You wouldn't want to watch either of these activities, they say.

My parents used to make sausage, and I've covered legislatures in several states during my time as a reporter. Frankly, I'd say sausage-making is prettier than legislating. But something that beats both in its chaos and confusion is the making of a children's play.

One day last week, I stopped by a rehearsal for Peter Pan, which opens June 7 at the Cumberland Arts Center. In the Ruppel Family Theater, young people were everywhere — on the stage, backstage, in the arts center basement. Parent volunteers were running about trying to find kids who were due on the stage for the next scene.

Paula Clay, a retired teacher who helps out on these productions, reads along from the script, giving the young actors their lines when they get that blank look on their faces. Presiding over the chaos is one of the nicest guys I've met in Cumberland — Phil Warner, the elementary-school music teacher who directs the annual children's play presented by ETC, Cumberland's arts council.

I've had the pleasure of working with Phil in one of ETC's adult plays, Death by Design. He was masterful as an aging playwright in the British murder-mystery farce. He is a brilliant actor. And he was hilarious as a Packer Fan from Outer Space last fall. He did one of the most beautiful versions I've ever heard of "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" in the musical revue Lifesong a few winters ago at the arts center.

But none of those performances measures up to his work as director of our annual kids' play.

I sit on the board of Enrichment Through Culture. A few years back, we decided to do a children's play. No one at the table would consider directing such a production.

Mike Clay, the theater chair on the board, said he'd ask Phil, and now this poor fellow who spends his days teaching music to kids is herding kid actors several evenings each week at rehearsals for what has become an annual children's production.

The other night, after shouting instructions to the kids onstage, he sat his cast down and said he knows they don't like to hear him holler. He made them a deal: If they'd learn their lines, he wouldn't holler.

The play will be presented June 7 and 8 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, June 9, at 2 p.m., then again at 7 p.m. on June 13, 14 and 15. Tickets are available at Peter & Annie's or can be reserved by calling 715-822-2787. The price is $10 for adults and $5 for students.

I promise you the kids will do a great job, as they always do. While the rehearsals are chaotic, the six performances will be polished. The process of making a children's play, like the process of making sausage, isn't pretty. But the end result is worth your money.

Cumberland is blessed with a sausage master named Louie and a master at directing children's plays. His name is Phil. When you see him, thank him for what he does for our kids and the arts in The Island City.

of hair, and fabric softener sheets around the outside of the garden have been known to help. Placing thorny branches in the fencing and hanging aluminum pie plates along the fence so they blow in the wind also deter the approach of deer.

It should also be noted that there is a Cumberland City Ordinance which makes it an offense to purposefully feed the deer, the cost of that fine can be up to $200.

It is most important that everyone be aware that this is the time of year when the turtles are crossing the roads to get to their nesting places. Just like their larger cousins the sea turtles, our local varieties return to the general area where they hatched to lay their eggs. Since it takes at least six years for a turtle to reach breeding age, the landscape may have changed and they are forced to cross roads to fulfill their instinctive mission.

I am once again asking a personal favor of everyone. PLEASE do not run over turtles. As humans encroach more and more on their habitats, turtles (both painted and snapping) are endangered. They are a beautiful addition to our lakes and ponds and a vital part of the ecosystem. Please let them continue on their life's journey in peace, instead of ending it in pieces.

A few simple, common sense ideas will help all of us enjoy nature without it getting too up close and personal. Have a great summer.

Celebration Planned...

erratic is a large rock transported by the glacier. Britt Nordquist, 3M Cumberland Human Resources Manager will unveil the exhibit. Tim Malzhan, Director of Trail Operations, IATA, will describe how volunteer trail makers are helping to preserve Wisconsin's Ice Age legacy.

Moving on to the Eagle

Point Campground and Park at about 3 p.m. participants will gather for the unveiling of a National Park Service-type, low-profile interpretive marker telling how the local waterways and island landscape was formed.

Following unveiling by Autumn Schwarz, 3M Cumberland Product Manager, Professor Mickelson will read and expand upon the exhibit text. State Senator Janet Bewley and State Assembly Representative Romaine Quinn will give their commentary on the momentous natural phenomena that influences our environment and the way we live.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

We had a quiet Memorial Day weekend. The weather was warm and wonderful on Sunday while Saturday wasn't bad either. Monday was a total reversal as the rain and cold returned, limiting just about all outdoor activity. We got some of the outdoor planting done. The flowers are colorful and remind us that summer will eventually come - we hope. We watched the Memorial Day celebration held on the Capital Grounds. It was the 30th annual program and as usual, it was wonderful. It reminds me to be grateful for all of those men and women who gave so much.

I saw the annual U.S. News & World Report's ranking of the best states to live. Minnesota was ranked third while Wisconsin finished in 11th place. Minnesota has finished in the top three for three straight years. All of the midwestern states did well while, as usual, the deep south states came in near or at the bottom of the rankings. I can't imagine living and raising a family in an area where the health care, education and economic opportunity are, for the most part substandard. I agree that there some weather advantages gained by living in a warmer area but I will take the colder climate for all of the other advantages we have up here in the Northland. It costs less to live in the South, but when all is said and done, you get what you pay for - there is just no free lunch.

After all of the many bad years, the Twin fans have to be cheering for the wonderful start the ball club has made this year. It is a long season and there is no guarantee the team will continue to play well but I will continue to enjoy it, as long as it lasts. Go Twins!

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

Our Readers Respond

The Call of the North

To the Editor:

The haunting call of the Common Loon is one of the best loved sounds of the lakes of northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. Of the five species of loons, the Common Loon is the one we have nest here. Loons return early from wintering areas along the costal US, as soon as the ice is out on traditionally used lakes. Loons can live 20 years, and it was always thought that a pair mated for life, however if one of the pair does not return, or is displaced by another loon, life goes on. Loons can breed and nest on the same lake, for many years. However, competition for a good nesting site can be intense, and even deadly, so change does occur.

The familiar nighttime call of the Loon is the wail, a long mournful cry. This is heard mostly early in the season and is used to communicate with the mate, keeping in touch so to speak. The mate sometimes responds with the tremolo call, the 'crazy laugh.' It is not uncommon to hear loons from different lakes or different parts of a large lake respond with wails building to a chorus of tremolos, filling the nighttime sky with a wildlife concert. Loons nest very close to the water's edge, since they can't walk well on land. Their legs are placed farther back on the body, great for swimming and diving, not for walking.

There are many challenges in life for loons. Lead fishing tackle like jigs and sinkers are responsible for 50% of dead loons turned into the WDNR. Potential nesting sites are being lost to shoreline development. A nesting pair is very sensi-

Midwest emerging as venture hot spot: Will Wisconsin step up?

MADISON, Wis. — Dan Malven isn't a wide-eyed optimist by nature. He's a sober, even cautious, venture capitalist who is diligent about investments made by the fund he helps manage, Wisconsin-based 4490 Ventures.

When it comes to how he views the investment climate in the Midwest, however, Malven is bullish.

"Over the next 20 years, the Midwest should be a great market" for angel and venture capital investments in young, often tech-enabled companies, Malven told a May 21 meeting of the Tech Council Innovation Network in Madison.

He's not alone in his assessment. The only question is whether Wisconsin policy-makers will be late to the party.

For reasons that range from the region's share of U.S. economic clout to the talent produced by the region's colleges and universities, and from Silicon Valley fatigue to lower business and living costs, more investors are discovering the Midwest.

Funds such Drive Capital, 50 South Capital, Lewis and Clark, Allos Ventures, Lightbank Fund and Revolution Ventures have planted a flag in the Midwest, often exclusively as a region, because they see the potential for deals that make money for them while producing jobs and economic activity.

It is a phenomenon reflected in data collected by the Wisconsin Technology Council, as well. Total angel and venture investments in Wisconsin for 2016, 2017 and 2018 will approach $800 million, based on preliminary data, with investors from outside the state's borders making up a larger share of those dollars than ever before.

The rise of the Midwest as a destination for early stage investments will be a topic at the Wisconsin Entrepreneurs' Conference (witreps.com), June 4-5 in Milwaukee, with many regionally-focused investors on hand to talk about what they're seeing in the market.

Malven said most coastal investors he meets are surprised when he tells them nine percent of all billion-dollar-plus venture capital "exits," such as acquisitions or initial public offerings, during a recent 13-year span were Midwest based. He thinks that share could rise to 20 percent over time as the region attracts more capital.

Most early stage capital is still clustered in California, Massachusetts and New York, but observers expect the Midwest share to rise due to these and other factors: 20 percent share of U.S. gross domestic product, 21 percent of Inc. 5000 headquarters, 27 percent of Fortune 500 headquarters. 31 percent of university research and development spending on engineering, 27 percent of graduating engineers and 90 percent of the 10 most attractive cities for new college graduates.

Silicon Valley is also over-heating, with people, companies and investors looking for better and less expensive places to live and work. The next wave of the internet and information technology also favors the Midwest, which remains a hub for manufacturing.

How are Midwestern states positioning themselves for this renewed interest in the region?

Some have been aggressive about underwriting state funds, matched by private dollars, that co-invest in young companies and other funds. Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and, most recently, Indiana's Next Level Fund, have followed that approach in the belief a rising investment tide will lift all states in the region.

Wisconsin has a toehold called the Badger Fund of Funds, which has invested in at least a dozen young companies statewide through its "recipient funds" in a handful of locations. The State of Wisconsin is a limited partner in the fund through a $25-million investment.

However, investments in funds established in other Midwest states average hundreds of millions of dollars per state and those dollars are magnets for much more in private investment. For states that have engaged in larger funds, the paybacks are significant in tax dollars, economic growth and good-paying tech jobs.

Is Wisconsin primed to step up? Yes, but it will require political will to build upon a tech economy infrastructure that is already growing. It's an opportunity worthy of bipartisan support.

tive to human disturbance in the spring, especially during two major holidays. Memorial Day weekend, while they are on the nest and the Fourth of July weekend, when chicks can be seen riding on the backs of adults. The tremolo call can be given when disturbed by boaters. According to Wisconsin's Loon Watch 'when approached too close, loons will stand on the water and do the 'penguin dance,' combined with frantic calls, this is an extreme sign of agitation, at the time the chicks are in real danger. Lastly, the reproductive success of common loons is sensitive to the timing and magnitude of water-level changes during the breeding season, which can drown the nest.

This challenge of sudden high water levels has occurred in our area twice in the last five years, the floods of 2016 and 2018, and is occurring already this year. According to NASA's research, climate change has already had observable effects on the environment, including more frequent wildfires, longer periods of drought, and an increase in the number, duration and intense storms. More winter and spring precipitation is predicted for the northern US, and the recent trend toward heavy precipitation events will continue. In the Midwest extreme heat, heavy downpours and flooding will continue to affect infrastructure, health, agriculture, forestry, transportation, air and water quality, and more. Climate change will also exacerbate a range of risks to the Great Lakes.

For our loons 'It is estimated that by 2080, the loon is forecast to lose 56% of its current summer range and 75% of its current winter range, according to Audubon's climate model. In both seasons the potential to shift northwards in a warming climate is significant. While the bird may be able to keep pace with the rapidly changing world, it looks all but certain that Wisconsin and Minnesota will lose its loons in summer by the end of the century. Imagine no loon calls at night.

Rehabilitate Meth Users

A Letter to Barron County Citizens:

We have been told by the Sheriff that Barron County has 44,000 residents with 10% (4,400) addicted to Methamphetamine (Meth). The criminality dealt our county is evidenced in the weekly Barron County Court Report. Statistics ending in 2017 revealed 141 children were taken from their parents, either from neglect or abuse due to Meth addiction, and placed in foster care. Excluding county law enforcement, the county's Health and Human Services Department spent, $2,600,000 on issues dealing with Meth Addiction. Ann Hay, PhD, responsible for treatment stated 22 people with Meth Addiction were treated through a "Drug Court." She estimated 25% were successful or 4-5 people of the 4,400 addicted in all of 2017. Of the total of $2,600,000 spent on Meth Addiction for 4,400 Meth addicted people, $285,000 went for treatment. This leaves a total of $2,315,000 spent on the foster care for children who are victims of Meth Addiction totaling $16,418 per child. This number has been on the rise in the last two years.

Taking children from their mother and father is unbelievably damaging. I have experienced being a foster parent for three children from a Meth Addicted family. To become a Meth user is a choice for adults. The children have no part in this choice. Is it time to fight back?

Do we need to spend more money on treatment of Meth addiction than $637/year from each citizen of Barron County? Each child returned to his parents would save the county $16,418 taking a swipe at the already $2,600,000 being spent by the county due to Meth Addiction.

A group of people from my church and public have been working on a program for over 1.5 years of rehabilitate Meth Addicts released from jail. We call it the "Barron County Drug Addiction Attack Plan." It involves getting the , now sober addict, back into society with a job, including job training that allows him to pay for this service, coupled with continued treatment. Church group plans, such as the Red Cedar Church

Hazelton expertise, and any other support group that feels they can help are welcomed in the already drafted plan. The sheriff and his crew feel 45 people per year could possibly be available.

A facility is needed to allow people to acclimate back into normal society away from the still addicted until they are stable and can begin a normal life again. The program would be voluntary. The Barron county Administration and Board chairman totally agree with the concept of acclimating addicts back into society, but they refuse to fund, lease, or own any such facility. Liability reasons continue to resurface from this leadership. No effort by the county to work with the state legislature to relieve some of this liability has been attempted.

The program potentially might have cost the county $250,000 per year or it might make money. Looking at the numbers I have presented, one can see this Jason J. Hunziker, 33, of Chetek, has been charged with possession of methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, and felony bail jumping. His preliminary hearing is scheduled for June 5, 2019.

Danielle A. West, 39, of Rice Lake, has been charged with disorderly conduct, criminal trespass, and felony bail jumping. (Failure to comply with the terms of her bond by committing a new crime).

The criminal complaint states that on May 20, 2019, at approximately 4:42 a.m. Barron County Sheriff's Sgt. Hodek, responded to a call relating to a subject who reported that Danielle West, was at her residence for a second time that evening and threatening to shoot someone with a gun.

Dispatch advised that West was wandering around the residence yelling and screaming and that she had entered a vehicle and was then sitting inside the vehicle yelling and screaming causing a disturbance.

Sgt. Hodek reported that earlier in the evening, sometime around 11:00 p.m. The residents heard crying, yelling and screaming outside of the residence and observed West outside, at which point they contacted the Turtle Lake Police Department. The police arrived and could not find West.

The resident stated that around 4:19 a.m. she again heard yelling and screaming outside the residence, and at first thought it was neighbors having a fight, but when they investigated, they observed West coming in and out of their garage yelling and screaming.

The resident stated that

West began yelling that she would smash all the windows in the house, that West knew who the residents kid was, and would make contact with the kid, and that she would shoot the resident's sister. Sgt. Hodek reported there were multiple residences in the neighborhood, not far apart from each other. The resident stated that after she called 911, she noticed that West had gotten into a black SUV parked in the residence's driveway, which belonged to the homeowner, and that while inside West was yelling and screaming.

Both residents appeared visibly shaken and scared of West.

If convicted West may be fined not more than $21,000 or imprisoned for not more than seven years, or both. Her preliminary hearing will be held May 30, 2019.

Brooke A. Whiterabbit, 29, of Rice Lake, has been charged with possession of methamphetamine, misdemeanor theft, possession of drug paraphernalia, and misdemeanor bail jumping.

The criminal complaint states that on Monday, May 13, 2019, at approximately 10:55 a.m. Officer Reinikainen of the Rice Lake Police Department, received a phone call from a female subject who wanted to report a theft.

Officer Reinikainen met with the subject, who stated she had received complaints from tenants that the internet service had been down and that the router/booster was discovered to have been stolen.

The subject further stated she reviewed video footage, and observed Whiterabbit, leave her apartment on May 11th at approximately 3:43 a.m. carrying a garbage can under her arm; that she went to the location of the router/booster, stood on the garbage can, removed the router/booster from the wall, stepped down from the garbage can and was then observed pulling on wires coming down from the ceiling of the apartment, at which point the camera footage appears to be disabled, as the video image stops.

Officer Reinikainen and fellow officers went to Whiterabbits' apartment, knocked on the door and it was answered by a female voice, which he recognized to be Whiterabbit's. She refused to open the door, stated that this was harassment, and that she had already been served an eviction notice. Officer Reinikainen tried to get her to open the door and speak with him and she told him to go away.

Officer Reinikainen later returned with a search warrant and Whiterabbit gave him and fellow officers, access to the residence. Whiterabbit was arrested for theft, and a search of her person revealed a gem bag in the right pocket of the sweatshirt she was wearing, which contained a crystalline residue which tested positive for the presence of methamphetamine. She stated that there had been marijuana in it.

Whiterabbit told Officer Reinikainen that she took the router/booster because a male subject had told her it was his and asked her to get it for him. Officer Reinikainen told Whiterabbit that did not make sense, and she agreed it would not make sense to think that he would have owned the router/booster.

Officer Reinikainen reported the router was recovered from Whiterabbit's residence. Officer Zachmann located a marijuana grinder on a shelf in the night stand in her apartment, as well as a glass marijuana pipe and a plastic container.

On January 2, 2019, Whiterabbit was released on bond in a previous case with the condition, amongst others, that she commit no new crimes; said bond remains in full force and effect.

If convicted Whiterabbit may be fined not more than $30,500 or imprisoned for not more than five years and 30 days or both. Her driver's license may also be suspended for not more than ten years. Her preliminary hearing will be held June 5, 2019.

Youth tractor & machinery training dates set

Wisconsin Law requires that any youth less than 16 years of age be certified to operate a tractor or machinery on public roads—even if working for a parent or guardian. In addition, federal law prohibits hiring or even allowing any youth under the age of 16 to participate in any hazardous work activities, including operating tractors over 20 PTO horsepower, unless the youth has a training certificate or is working on a farm owned and operated by his or her parent or guardian.

A tractor and farm machinery safety certification program which satisfies both Federal and State requirements will be held at the Spooner Agricultural Research Station on June 18, 19 and 21 from 8:30 am until 4:30 pm. Youth participating in this course will receive classroom instruction and supervised tractor driving experience.

Students must be at least 12 years old to enroll and must attend all training sessions and complete written and driving examinations in order to be certified. Pre-registration is required. There will be a $20 fee for the course.

To pre-register for the training, contact Lorraine Toman at the Spooner Area Ag Agents UW-Extension office at 715-635-3506 or 800-528-1914. Please provide the name, address, telephone number, and date of birth of the youth to be certified

She would finish in fourth place, with a 27.03 as the top four runners were separated by six-tenths of a second. Thorp Junior Molly Milliren won the event with a time of 26:35. Johnson has been one of the areas top sprinters over the past two springs.

The 4x200-Meter Relay Team, meanwhile, advanced by breaking the School record with a time of 1:51:35. It was good for fourth place in the Sectional, sending the team to State. Shell Lake had the excellent winning time of 1:48:60.

"We're very excited about our athletes that qualified for State. Our whole team worked very hard and we're happy for the ones that qualified and the others that made it to the Sectional," said Coach Ryan O'Connell.

Just missing going to State was Cumberland Boys Track member Andrew Barnes, whose triple jump of 40'5" left him in fifth place and only 10 inches from moving on. He also was a participant in the 100-meter dash. Sophomore Matt Friess also had a nice day, despite not advancing by high jumping 5'4" and long jumping 19'7". Several boys relay teams also put up good times. "Our boys team had a solid year and we had several individuals who performed well at the Sectional," added O'Connell.

Webster won the Boys Team Title, while Cumberland finished twenty-fourth.

Several girls also saw their season end in Cameron, but had good seasons. Junior Autumn Donatell had a very nice 100-meter hurdle season, but finished eighth in the event, while Junior Ania Hyatt was tenth in her specialty, the 300-meter hurdles. "They will be a force next year in their events and join many of our other girl track performers, who should be proud of their seasons," concluded O'Connell.

Competition in La Crosse will begin Friday and will conclude Saturday afternoon. Cumberland has had many individuals place at the State Meet, including Jessie Greener, who was third in the 100-meter dash and Scott Nelson, who threw 53' 7" to place third in the shot put. Anna Weston placed 6th in the 400-meter run, while more recently, Joe Wistrill was a stalwart in the hurdles. This weekend, these five girls will try to leave their mark in La Crosse.

Softball Season Ends at Northwestern

The Cumberland Softball season came to an end last Thursday, with a 7-2 loss to Northwestern in the second round of the WIAA Regional. This came following an opening round 10-0 victory over St. Croix Falls earlier in the week. The Beavers finish the 2019 softball season with a final record of 15-9.

In the opening round victory, Lauren Green took the five-inning victory on the mound, allowing only one hit, while striking out seven. She did not walk a batter.

Her dominating pitching performance was backed by a nine-hit Cumberland offensive attack. Sophia Schmidt and Ruby Alarcon led the way with two hits each, each driving in a pair of teammates. Both hitters had a double, as did Ellie Rieper, while Green had a Cumberland triple.

This set the stage for a trip northwards to take on the Co-Conference Champion Tigers, who came into the contest with an 18-4 record.

Things started off well for the Red and White, as Lauren Green gave the Beavers a quick 2-0 lead with a two-run home run in the top of the first inning. Unfortunately, the Tigers responded with three runs of their own in the bottom of the frame and would roll to the victory.

Cumberlands inability to score again was largely because of an outstanding performance on the mound by Northwesterns Allison Luoma. She was the complete-game winner for the Tigers, allowing only three hits, while striking out 15 and walking one.

Green finished up her excellent career for the Beavers with the mound loss. She gave up five earned runs in the contest, while scattering seven hits and striking out eight.

"The Coaches are very proud of the girls and what we accomplished this spring. We finished third in the HON behind two very good teams and won 15 games. We'll greatly miss our two seniors, Emma Erickson and Lauren Green, as we thank them for their contributions of the Softball program and look forward to what should be another good season next spring," said Coach Green.

College Seasons Come to an End

Two former Cumberland athletes saw their College athletic careers end last week as Brea Johnson at Wisconsin Lutheran College and Travis Miller at Wayne State saw their seasons come to an end.

Johnson was a reserve outfielder on the Wisconsin Lutheran Softball Team, who finished 23-17 on the year. She was fourth on the team with six stolen bases.

Travis Miller, meanwhile, ended up a fine college career at D2 Wayne

State in Omaha, Nebraska, where the team finished 32-18. Miller hit .263 with four home runs, 21 runs-batted-in, and 10 stolen bases in 10 attempts.

Former Head Baseball Coach Mark Fuller, meanwhile, finished up his sixth year as an Assistant at UW-Whitewater, where the team finished 35-12 and won the WIAC Regular Season and Tournament Championships, before bowing out of the D3 NCAA Regional last weekend.

Soccer Opens WIAA Play on Thursday

The Barron-Cumberland Girls Soccer Team finished their regular season last week by defeating Spooner-Shell Lake 5-1 and losing to Baldwin-Woodville 1-0. The team opens up WIAA Tournament play this week, when they travel to Hayward on Thursday to take on the Hurricanes in a 4:30 pm start.

In the victory over Spooner-Shell Lake, Barron Sophomore Rylee Stauner scored the opening goal to give the team quick a 1-0 lead. She would score twice more before the game would end. The Bears other two scores came from Barron Junior, Kaitlyn Woldofski and Cumberland Sophomore Maya Brenna, leading to a nice victory over the Rails.

Thursday was Senior-Parents Night vs Baldwin-Woodville. Cumberland Seniors, Kayla Oduor and Kaia Johnson and their parents were among those recognized. Unfortunately, The Bears would drop a 1-0 game.

The JV won 4-1, however, thanks to goals by Julia Cox, Kaylee Johnson, Tiana Dwyer, and Odour.

A win in the opening Tournament game on Thursday will send the team to Rice Lake on Saturday for a second round game.

Sandman at Sectionals

Cumberland Junior Ethan Sandman participated in the WIAA Golf Sectional that was held in Cumberland on Tuesday. He will hope his performance there will qualify him for the State Meet that will be held June 3 and 4 in Madison. He qualified by shooting a 91 at last weeks Regional in Rice Lake.

Grantsburg ran away with the Regional with a team score of 353. Cumberlands 444 was good for ninth place. Brice Klabunde of Cameron was Medalist with a 80, while Sandmans 91 was the tenth best score recorded at the Regional.

Kevin Koser shot a 110 and Nick Walters a 117 to finish as Cumberlands next best finishers. "Ethan has qualified for Sectionals for a second straight year and we're excited to see what he can shoot on our home course," said Coach Tom Hullander.

Izzy West qualified for the State Track Meet in LaCrosse by taking second place in the shot put at Sectionals in Cameron. Good luck Izzy! Photo by Bob Nugent

Not Just Fishing!

Hello friends,

The trout fishing trip that I am about to write has a lot more to do with life than it does fishing but when you think about it that's why we fish.

My plan was to trout fish on some of the dozens of beautiful trout streams in northeast Wisconsin. I was going to use my backpack, wear chest waders and explore while hiding out from the real world.

Most of this adventure would take place on the Pine River which runs across much of northeast Wisconsin, a lot of my time would be spent in Florence and Forest Counties.

Monday, May 13th
High 70, low 45

I called a friend that lives in the area last week and asked him where he would fish trout if he was doing what I planned on doing. Instead of being told where to go, two days later he told me he was going to take me fishing but did not want me to mention his name or where we went.

Today I saw his hunting camp for the first time, learned that he has at least as much garden as I do and then we spent the last three hours of daylight paddling a canoe down a truly wilderness trout stream and fishing for brook trout.

The entire adventure I kept thinking Canada, bear hunting, moose hunting. The brookies were not overly hungry and the theory in the north on that subject is a cold spring has them a bit sluggish.

We ended our day at hunting camp where we had beans, the best venison hot dogs I have ever ate and some very tasty malt beverages.

Tuesday, May 14th
High 73, low 66

I am currently a resident of The Nicolet National Forest, I live in and on a trout stream and life is good. My goal is to catch a brook trout that is 15-inches or over. My second place goal is to catch 6 brook trout (two days limit) over 8-inches for a meal that will feed two people.

This river is flowing fast, I mean so fast that it wants to take my 160-pound body out from underneath of me. If I get in over my knees every step requires thought due to the hard current. This morning I caught three keepers "over 8-inches" and like a ding bat let everyone go. In midday I built a very comfortable camp, took a world class nap and then started wading the last three hours of the day expecting big results.

I was fishing some holes that were prettier than a Montana sunset but the local school of brook trout were not hungry. I tried both spinners and crawlers and the only takers were quite small so I let them go.

I did have a tasty malt beverage that I chilled in the river and then consumed while waiting for Mr Big.

At dark I waded back to camp just in time to get settled into my tent before it started raining and I had zero cares that I had not caught a 15-inch brook trout.

The next morning I could only fish for three hours as that night was Selina's, Academic and Scholarship Banquet for Necedah High School.

I caught a 13 inch brook trout on a pink Panther Martin spinner, it fought like a true champ.

In all of my years of raising kids tonight was the best night I have ever had from a school perspective.

There was not an academic award that Selina did not receive and our local donors really liked what Selina had to say in her scholarship applications.

I wish I had the income to help kids that I do not know, it would be so cool to help them further their education.

In 38-hours Selina will be giving a speech at her graduation. My family is coming from all over North America to see her and spend the weekend at our home. For those of you raising kids about all that I have to say is do your best, before you know your kids will be seniors.

Ready for the next journey in this adventure called life!

Sunset

The Nicolet National Forest is a beautiful place to explore.

Brook Trout are well known for their excellent fighting ability.

1 Hitter!

Cumberland right hander Wyatt Tift threw a gem to lift the Beavers over the Pirates in WIAA Regional action. Coach Olson high fives Tift after a quick inning.

Baseball Team Moves on to Round Two of WIAA Playoffs

The Cumberland Beavers finished up the regular season and moved on to the WIAA Playoffs last week, as they advanced into this weeks Regional contest. They played St. Croix Falls on Tuesday and a win there would likely send them to Spooner on Wednesday for a 5:00 pm Regional Championship game.

The Beavers started last week with two wins over Grantsburg and Luck/Frederic to finish the regular season. This gave the Beavers a record of 14-9 as they entered WIAA Tournament play.

On Monday, they defeated Grantsburg 9-7. With the two teams opening up Tournament play on Thursday against each other, both teams played the contest close to the vest with back-up pitching.

Jacob McWilliams went one inning and picked up the pitching victory. Freshman Maddox Allen also gave Coach Joe Waite some solid innings, giving up only one run over three innings of work.

Cumberland only had five hits in the contest, but used nine base-on-balls and four Grantsburg errors to secure the victory. Allen led the offense with a pair of Cumberland doubles.

On Tuesday, the Beavers took to the field again, where they defeated Luck/Frederic 9-1. McWilliams gave Coach Waite another game winning performance on the mound with six good innings, taking his second pitching win in two nights. He went six innings giving up only two hits and striking out eight Cardinal hitters.

Dylan Weber, Wyatt Tift, and Travis Runberg had two hits each for the Beavers, with Runberg hitting a double and knocking in two runs. "Mac gave us a great performance and we played a solid game behind him," said Waite.

This sent Cumberland into the first round of WIAA Tournament play on Thursday, where they defeated Grantsburg once again, by a 5-0 score. Wyatt Tift was masterful on the mound, giving up only one hit and striking out 10 in the route going performance.

Cumberland broke a 0-0 game with one run in the fourth and then padded the lead with a three-run fifth. Both pitchers threw strikes as the game lasted only 1:22 in length.

DeShaun Ames led Cumberland with two hits, while Jack Martens added a two-run single and Runberg another double. Again, we played a solid game, something we must do to continue to advance, while Wyatt pitched a great game," added Coach Waite.

Cumberland played St. Croix Falls on Tuesday, a team that advanced with a 1-0 victory over Turtle Lake/Clayton last week. The winner then heads to Spooner on Wednesday.

Cumberland first baseman Trystin Neitzel applies the tag a hair late on a pick off move during the Beavers win over Grantsburg.

Barronett News

By Judy Pieper

I hope you enjoyed the long Memorial Day weekend. I'm so glad that the weather was finally nice and that we were able to be outside enjoying the sunshine.

There were certainly lots and lots of travelers going through Barronett. Our busy season is upon us. From now until about the first of October we will have rush hour traffic on Friday afternoons and Sunday evenings. Our rush hour usually consists of three cars, one right after the other, once or twice a day. It's good to have the summer people back-it teaches us patience while we're waiting to cross Highway 63.

And, speaking of summer people, our brother, Jim Copus, has finally returned from his snowbird residence in Florida. He and his family and friends were all up here this past weekend at their campsite near the Hilltop. The kids love their time up here-they have made 4-wheeler trails through Jim's land and Pat Olson's land on Lower Waterman Lake. They also spend lots of time out on the lake scaring the fish.

Sue Meier, our cousin from Monroe, WI., also came up to visit for the weekend. She, Jim, Pat Olson and I went over to Our Savior's Cemetery after church on Sunday to put flowers on Grandpa and Grandma, Bud and Helen and Mom and Dad's graves. Bud and Helen are WWII veterans, and Sue found a pot of beautiful red, white and blue petunias for their grave.

After we left the cemetery, we stopped by to see Jerry and Carol Hefty, who live in Campia. They have been snowbirds for lots of years, but this year they sold their place in Webster, Florida, and plan to stay up here for the winter from now on. They do have a back-up plan though. Carol's son, who lives in California, has an extra bedroom and has told them that if the winter gets too long, they are welcome to come and stay with him for a while.

We have new neighbors!! Tanner Rohde and Morgan Neitzel bought Marilyn and Sandy Lang's house, which is just across the alley from us, and moved in last month. They were so happy to find a place in Barronett, and it is nice and close to Morgan's family home. Welcome!! We hope you have many happy years in our little town.

Guess what-school vacation is almost here. That really sneaked up on us, didn't it? Pretty soon we will have to be extra careful, not just in school zones, for little ones on bikes, skateboards, etc. They sometimes get so involved in what they are doing that they forget to watch for cars, so watch for them. We love our kids.

Sue Meier and I went over to Cameron for Kiley Lehman's graduation party this past Saturday. Kiley is planning to attend school in Menomonie this fall to take classes in physical therapy for workplace health. She told me the names of the courses she would be taking, but I'm old and I can't remember exactly what they are called. But, it doesn't matter because I'm sure that Kiley will excel at anything she does.

After we left Kiley's graduation party, we stopped by to visit Anita Lehmann in her new home. We had a nice visit and made plans to go antiquing later this week.

Lynn Thon is getting to be just a tad annoying. Since she has moved out to Dorothy and Leroy Orth's old place, she has decided that she enjoys watching birds. Well, that wouldn't be bad, you know, but now she is calling and letting me know that she has a much wider variety of birds at her place than we do here in town. She called this past week and described indigo buntings and scarlet tanagers and asked me what they were. What!! She has those beautiful birds and doesn't know what they are!! The reasons that is really annoying is that we haven't been able to attract them here. Maybe because we live right on Highway 63 and they probably like the quiet of Lynn's home better than the highway noise of ours. I am tempted to start stretching the truth when she calls and tell her that we have flocks of them at four feeders. Or, maybe I'll just start making up bird names like "purple swallows," and then have her tell all her friends that she has them at her feeders. Nah-that won't work. Knowing Lynn, her friends probably wouldn't know the difference. Dang it.

I'm going to run. I hope we have more of the nice weather this week. See you next time.

is not another non-profit group trying to set up such a program. It will require each and every citizen of Barron County to pitch in. The cost for each citizen could be $12.15/year spent on Meth addiction treatment rather than the present $6.47/year. This is quite a choice to be made, and the response of the citizens of this county could vary greatly. However, there is currently no other solution being presented to solve acclimating the Meth Addict back into society.

This project requires more input than only from the County Administrator, Jeff French, and the County Board chair, Louie Okey. Every Child returned to his family and successful parent recovering from addiction will hack away at the huge amount of money the county is spending basically doing nothing, but keeping kids warm, and fed.

I urge Barron County citizens to encourage the County Board to allocate money to treat Meth Addiction with the assistance of a drug rehabilitation center. This will require a referendum as the board has been clear in their opposition to the idea. If someone reading this feels it is a reasonable approach and will take on the effort to get a referendum project and money allocated for Meth treatment and treatment facility I will provide all the research necessary to back up the above. I am having an advancing physical problem (deafness) that makes it imperative the drive forward on this project be taken by someone else.

If you have a comment, and you think you can move this project forward, I will help in any way I can. Please send me your email, name and address. I will send information that makes this a doable plan. One last comment: We are on our own with this as no state or federal money has been made available to assist this Meth Project in contrast to opioids which are not a problem for our county. Every citizen in Barron County has a responsibility to help these kids in foster homes to get a family back. I hope every citizen will take the responsibility to address this huge drain on the finances of our county.

Thank you,

Once in a lifetime!

The bridge player's equivalent of golf's hole-in-one was dealt to Ceil Zappa of Bloomer at the Cameron Community Center's weekly Thursday afternoon bridge game. She spread her hand to find seven spades including the five top cards and six diamonds with the top three. She opted to shut down the opposition by opening with a preemptive grand slam bid for seven spades. Her risky move was rewarded when her bridge partner, Connley Hanson of Dallas, laid down his "dummy" hand showing the ace and king in hearts, and the ace of clubs. The opening lead, a low club, and the next 2 tricks were picked up in dummy, allowing Ms. Zappa to discard her three diamond losers, claim the rest of the tricks and score the grand slam. Later analysis of the deal revealed four diamonds to the jack in the hand of the right-hand opponent, suggesting that the only way to defeat the contract would have been a trump lead, as there was no transportation back to the board from Ms. Zappa's once in a lifetime hand.

"Sharing the Love of God"

By: Pastor Diane House
McKinley Lutheran Church

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He makes me lie down in green pastures; he leads me beside still waters, he restores my soul.

He leads me in right paths for his name's sake. Even though I walk through the darkest valley, I fear no evil; for you are with me; your rod and your staff-they comfort me.

You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies; you anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord my whole life long.

Green pastures, still waters, beautiful valleys, and walking paths all make up the beautiful surroundings, we are blessed to live in here in the Cumberland area. What a joy it is to watch winter give way to spring and summer. I take delight in each returning bird visitor to my feeders. I love to drive through the countryside and watch the hard work of area farmers re-planting the land for planting.

The familiar words of Psalm 23 remind us that God is with us in the change of the seasons, in our work and in our play. May we all say and do as we are "out and about" in God's beautiful world, reflect our belief and reliance on Him. Jesus says in the gospel of John, chapter 13: "Just as I have loved you, you also should love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another." As you go about your daily work, as you enjoy the lakes, valleys, and summer weather, in everything you do, may you share the love of God within the way you love and help your neighbors.

View from my Senate seat: If You've Got Your Health, You've Got Everything

by Senator Janet Bewley

If you're like me, there are certain phrases that bring back strong memories from your childhood. I remember thinking my dad was so wrong when he said, as he often did, that "if you've got your health, you've got everything." I took my health for granted and pined for so many things that I didn't have. Funny how the older you get the wiser your parents seem. And now that I'm in my 60s, I realize just how much truth there is in that old saying. If you are healthy, you are truly blessed.

That was one of the reasons that I was so excited by the framework upon which Governor Evers built his 2019-21 biennial budget. Providing access to quality, affordable health care to thousands of currently un- and under-insured individuals is at the heart of his plan.

And I've seen that same excitement as I travelled throughout the district the last several weeks, meeting with local leaders and holding listening sessions from Phillips to Rice Lake, with multiple stops in between. Our friends and neighbors are excited about many of the proposals in the Governor's budget: ensuring our schools are properly funded for our sons and daughters, that our roads are not wearing out into gravel, and perhaps most importantly, accepting $1.6 billion in federal government funding to expand Medicaid here in Wisconsin.

Cumberland Blood Drive Results

Cumberland hosted a blood drive on Tuesday, May 21st at the Legion Hall. The goal was to collect 112 pints of blood and we collected 110 pints of blood!

Thank you to all of the donors for supporting the local blood drive. Also, thanks to all the volunteers who helped make the day possible. A special "thanks" goes to the following donors who had a milestone: Randall Towes (14 gallon); Leslie Mattson (1st time donor).

The next blood drive in Cumberland is Tuesday, July 16th from 12:00-6:00 at the Legion Hall.

But that one issue stood out – expanding Medicaid. I heard from so many people about all the good that we can do with those funds, like expanding healthcare access to 82,000 additional citizens, all while saving Wisconsin over 324 million dollars to address additional healthcare needs throughout the state.

Unfortunately, my Republican colleagues can't let go of their resentment over the passage of the Affordable Health Care Act. The Joint Finance Committee voted along partisan lines to remove 131 items from the Governor's budget, many of which the Governor campaigned on. Alongside Medicaid expansion, they removed provisions calling for the closing of the dark store loophole, redistricting reform, and increasing county and municipal aid. All these proposals that would benefit the people of Northern Wisconsin were removed from the budget without any meaningful public debate, and more importantly, against the wishes of the majority of the people of the Wisconsin.

If you're as disappointed as I am by these recent changes, I urge you to let people know. Call the Speaker of the State Assembly, or the Majority Leader of the Senate to voice your opinion. Write a Letter to the Editor in your local paper, ask your friends and neighbors to let their elected representatives know where they stand.

This budget has a long way to go before it is passed by the legislature and signed by the Governor. There is still time to reverse the changes made this week by 11 members of the Joint Finance Committee. Working together, we can move our state forward, and restore the promise of a healthier tomorrow for more of our fellow citizens

Author Spoolman to Visit Library

Scott Spoolman, author of Wisconsin State Parks: Extraordinary Stories of Geology and Natural History will be at the Thomas St. Angelo Public Library on Thursday, June 13 at 6:30 PM to discuss his book.

In this book he takes readers to twenty-eight state parks and forests where evidence of the state's striking geologic and natural history are on display. The writer tells stories of events and processes that shaped Wisconsin's landscapes, including volcanic eruptions, invasions by ancient seas, crushing glaciers, and centuries of erosion. The book includes one or more trail guides of each park to help hikers view evidence of Wisconsin's geologic and natural history up close.
