Another busy week for Barron County law enforcement

Per Barron County Sheriff Chris Fitzgerald, on Monday, January 20, 2020, at 9:55 p.m., on trail 33, a snowmobile operating by Jesse Andrews of Rice Lake struck a tree. Andrews was flown to an area hospital with what appeared to be a broken leg. Excessive speed was a contributing factor on this case.

On Wednesday, January 22, 2020 at 8:30 p.m., on 26th Ave near Hwy M, a snowmobile operating by Jerad Bellefeuille of Rice Lake failed to stop for a trail stop sign and struck a tree. He was extricated by the Rice Lake Fire Department from the tree and transported to MMC hospital with non-life threatening injuries. Excessive speed was a contributing factor in this crash.

On Friday, January 24, have a safe weekend on the trails and on our roads.

Northwoods Notebook: CASTA now has the right tool for the job of grooming trails

By Larry Werner

Jim Catone, the retired barber who is president of the Cumberland Area Ski Touring Association (CASTA), has stopped me after three or four Kiwanis meetings and said he wants me to come out and take a picture of his new toy. It's called a Pisten Bully and is used to groom the cross-country trails at the Timberland Hills complex north of Cumberland.

The old machine, Catone says, was good in snow of two or three inches, but the Pisten Bully can cut deeper than the old Gator, and Catone figures the complex has a groomer that is worthy of what he says is the finest cross-country ski complex in this part of the country. On the wall of the warming house is an autographed photo of Jesse Diggins, the Minnesota girl who won a gold medal in the 2018 Winter Olympics. Her comment calls Timberland Hills "awesome."

And Catone showed me the names of her parents in the guest book. They ski here regularly, as do many thousand others, more now that the trails are groomed by a Pisten Bully.

"When she was in high school she skied here a lot," Catone said of the gold-medal winner. "The locals have not learned we have a gem here. We have the finest cross-country ski trail in the area."

And skiing has been great

Barron County law enforcement had a busy week. They responded to two different snowmobile accidents and a four vehicle crash on Hwy. 53. A reminder to keep your speed appropriate for road and trail conditions and stay on the marked trails.

this year.

"It started out great and it only got better," Catone said. "We got early snow and lots of it."

In addition to the main complex off Highway H, there's a smaller, easier set of trails called "the lighted trail." And CASTA has added a flat trail at Timberland on an old logging road for beginners and snow-shoers.

In addition, Burnett County has built a camping cabin you can rent right in the middle of the ski trails.

Timberland Hills was started on public land in 1986, and John Ritchie was the trail groomer then. He took a 20-year break and returned four years ago after retiring. He grew up in town, on Fourth Avenue, but prefers living in the woods a half mile from Timberland.

"We were started by a bunch of volunteers, and it's still run by volunteers" like Ritchie, Catone said.

Sickness causes cancellation of CHS Basketball game

The new year has seen a surge in reported flu-like symptoms throughout Barron County, and the Cumberland High School Boys' Basketball team was amongst them. Last Thursday, January 23, the boys' basketball game scheduled against Cameron had to be postponed.

Teachers were also given an extension to file semester grades because many students still needed to take finals due to illness.

According to the District, it is not just one type of flu or sickness causing the outages but a number of different health related issues are taking their toll on the kids.

District Nurse, Kristin Olson, stated if your child is not feeling well and has a fever they should not attend school until 24 hours after symptoms have passed.

Olson also has been communicating with Barron County Public Health regarding health updates and absenteeism. Health related absenteeism has slowly been improving over the last week.

Remember! Taxes are due this week!

Real Estate and Personal Property Taxes are due to your Town, Village or City Treasurer, says Yvonne Ritchie, Barron County Treasurer. Barron County collects 2019 taxes for the Town of Almena only. You must send payments to the municipality shown on the tax bill to insure your payment is received timely (by January 31, 2020), to avoid interest and penalty charges.

Not all municipalities accept electronic payments (credit cards & e-checks) so your payment may not go through if paid to the wrong municipality or to the county. You can check on the Barron County website to confirm your payment was received.

Deadline to File for the Lottery and Gaming Credit

The lottery credit is reflected on your 2019 real estate tax statement. In order to qualify for the lottery credit, you must be the owner of a home in Wisconsin that was your primary residence on January 1, 2019. Only one primary residence may be claimed. Renters do not qualify. If you did not receive the credit, but feel you may be eligible for it, you can apply for the credit with your town, city or village treasurer. THE APPLICATION FORM MUST BE SIGNED AND RETURNED TO YOUR LOCAL TREASURER BY JANUARY 31, 2020.

Augustana Church Welcomes New Minister

Pastor Shane Anderson

Augustana Lutheran Church is proud to announce the arrival of a new Minister. Reverend Shane Anderson is here, and has begun the journey with the church and its members as they grow their faith in the path of Jesus Christ.

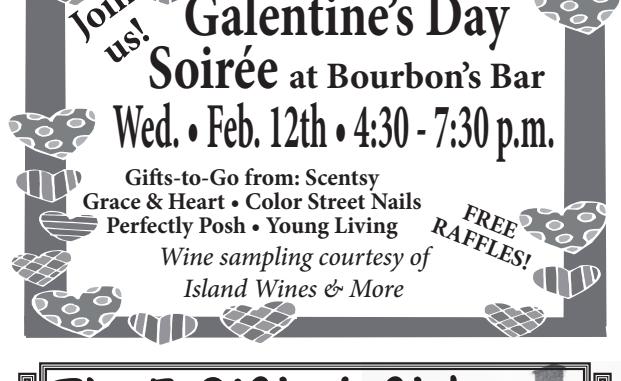

Pastor Shane and his wife Lori, came to Augustana Church from Guttenberg, Iowa, where he served the Church of St. John's for over 10 years. Prior to his service at St. John's, Pastor Shane had served two other Churches in Minnesota. Pastor Shane and his wife Lori have two sons that live in the area. This in part was his draw to the Cumberland area. He and Lori both grew up in the Twin Cities.

Pastor Shane brings to the Church a diverse work history and experience. His calling to the profession of Ministry was "My sense of call to serve not only the congregation but the community of which it is part. One does not minister in a vacuum on Sunday mornings, but also through one's interactions in daily life..." These past experiences will bring beneficial ideas to both the church, and also the community.

The members of Augustana Church are excited to share this journey with Pastor Shane and welcome him as they work together in the mission of God's faith.

in the new machine and pointed with pride at the grooves he was cutting up and down the hills of this north-woods forest. He was a craftsman, showing off his art to a newspaper guy who was suddenly taken back to a fall day in 2014 when he and a friend decided to take a hike through Timberland Hills.

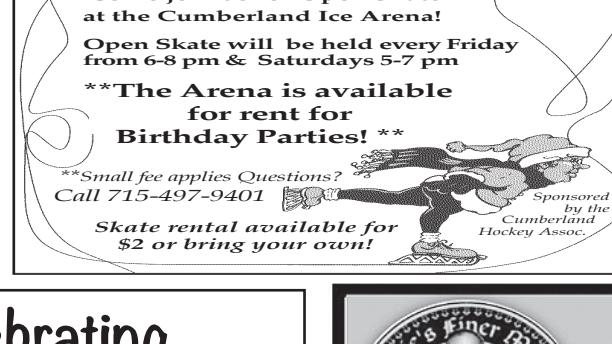

There was no snow on the ground that day, and my friend and I realized we had no idea where we were and how to get out. After two-and-a-half hours, as darkness fell, and with the help of the Burnett County Sheriff using GPS to communicate with my cell phone, we emerged from the woods.

There were no signs telling us how to get back to the parking lot, I told Ritchie.

"The bears like to tear the signs down," Ritchie said. "We have lots of bears. But they're hibernating now."

Would you like to be one of the "100 Women Who Care?" by Meg Lepak

At the January meeting of 100 Women Who Care - Barron County, we were able to raise $6,000 for Community Connections to Prosperity in Rice Lake who plan to build transitional housing units while helping those individuals look for permanent affordable housing. I was surprised to hear just how many homeless people there are in Barron County living in their cars.

We also heard from the first recipient Rice Lake Area Free Clinic who received $5800 in October from our meeting then. The Rice Lake Area Free Clinic was savvy to apply for matching funds from their donation and received over $11,000 which they used to expand services along with the ability to provide insulin for diabetics in need.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

Super Bowl week. The culmination of the year, for football fans everywhere. You can bet that the prices for tickets will be sky high and the stands for certain, will be full of Kansas City and San Francisco supporters. It will be great to see two different teams playing in the game and two young quarterbacks directing the offense of each team. I have no idea who will win the game, but if I had to wager a "bob" or two, I would put it on Kansas City. I think the Kansas City offense is just so dangerous from anywhere on the field. It is a tick better than the San Francisco offense and I just can't see the San Francisco defense keeping the Chiefs from scoring less than 28 points. Make it 28-17 Chiefs.

It has been an interesting week with three disasters to follow. Fires in Australia, a deadly virus in China, and the impeachment trial in Washington. I am not sure just which is the biggest disaster. All three will wreck havoc on all of us. All three have the potential to destroy much of our society and at the least, all will cost tons of money and a long time to repair the damage caused. I watched much of the impeachment trial and it is fascinating to watch history unfold before our eyes. It is interesting to see the pull between "country and party." Some of the decisions made will have impact for generations to come. Needless to say, the virus will have a tremendous impact on China and maybe on other countries all over the world. It will also take some time to see just how great of an impact the fire will have on wildlife and on humans, not only in Australia but throughout the rest of the world. As I watch my television set and read my daily newspaper, I can only muse about how we humans continually get ourselves into trouble. I just hope Thornton Wilder's contention that man continually escapes disaster by "The Skin of Our Teeth" keeps on coming true.

Inside Wisconsin
by Tom Still"Wisconsin at center of looming federal battle over health records"

MADISON, Wis. — On one side are regulators hoping to foster easier exchange of health data, some patient advocates and some researchers and healthcare app developers.

On the other side are major health records firms such as Verona-based Epic, the American Medical Association, some healthcare systems, people worried about patient privacy and others concerned about intellectual property theft and cyberattacks.

The faceoff coming to a head in Washington, D.C., is over proposed federal rules, set to be finalized in early February, that would change how medical records are shared by creating an app-based marketplace around patient data.

In an age when two-thirds of American adults are worried about their personal information being sold, stolen or otherwise abused, caution is advised.

The debate has a distinct Wisconsin flavor, with people such as Epic chief executive officer Judy Faulkner and former Health and Human Services Secretary Tommy Thompson speaking out against the proposed "interoperability" rules and others insisting those rules will speed innovation in medical diagnostics and therapies through better access to patient health data.

The change is being pushed by the little-known Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology, which is part of the larger federal Health and Human Services agency. The process started several years ago, with ONC urging the healthcare industry to "adopt standardized application programming interfaces" so that individuals could access electronic health records through third-party smartphone applications.

That would be a major change in how integrated health records systems have been built, managed and secured over time. Epic, the national leader in electronic health records, does not sell patient health data. Its executives worry the ONC rules would create a data mining "gold rush" without making it easier for patients to move from one health provider to another while taking their health records with them.

Unless privacy regulations are in place before the ONC rules take hold, Epic leaders have argued, patient data will be exposed for all to see.

"We are concerned that healthcare costs will rise, that care will suffer, and that patients and their family members will lose control of their confidential health information," Faulkner said in a Jan. 22 letter to Epic's largest hospital clients.

Many healthcare executives are concerned that implementing ONC rules will cost millions of dollars and still leave those systems open to fines and penalties if they fail to turn over all patient data, identifiable or otherwise, including admission and discharge information.

Some members of Congress are worried the rules will make it easier for copycats overseas to rip off intellectual property, thus compromising American leadership in electronic health records. Concerns have also been raised about cyber-attacks engineered around specific health protocols, such as altering blood types or IV settings in patient records, that could put people in danger.

Epic executives say their electronic health records are routinely improving lives and even saving them. For example, the lead poisoning crisis in Flint, Mich., was uncovered by a pediatrician who used Epic records to spot trends in young patients. Public health crises such as flu epidemics can also be fought through digital health data. With the debate now centered in the nation's capital, Epic has put up billboards in Washington metro stations and at Reagan National Airport to help make its case.

For its part, the ONC doesn't dispute that electronic health records hold enormous potential to improve human health over time. In fact, agency leaders argue innovation is precisely what its rules aim to enhance, along with greater patient access to such records.

"The seamless, interoperable exchange of health information is a key piece of building a health system that empowers patients and providers and delivers better care at a lower cost," Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar said, referring to the ONC rules.

Adoption of some version of interoperability rules is likely. However, more attention should be paid in advance to guarding patient privacy and avoiding unintended consequences that could harm health care more than it helps.

Officer Olson reports he took photographs of the female's injuries. The injuries that Officer Olson observed included multiple bruises and abrasions on each side of her neck.

Officer Olson observed dark bruising behind her left ear. She had bruising and fingernail scratch marks on her upper arms which were consistent with having been grabbed and held down.

Officer Olson advised Fedie, who is currently on probation, that he would be completing an Act 79 search of the residence.

Officer Olson asked Fedie if there was anything in the room and Fedie informed Officer Olson there was a white box on the table that had CBD in it that belonged to him.

Officer Olson reports he located the container with a green plant material inside, a red metal grinder, and a blue/green glass smoking device.

Officer Olson reports he later field tested the green plant material using a Nark II field test kit and obtained a positive result for the presence of THC.

Officer Olson reports he also field tested the glass smoking device that had burnt residue on it, which also tested positive for the presence of THC.

If convicted for strangulation and suffocation, Fedie may be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned not more than six years or both.

If convicted for false imprisonment, he may be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned not more than six

Northwest Icemen Split Pair; Record Stands at 9 and 9

The Northwest Icemen were back on the ice last week, defeating Ashland 3-2 and losing to Lakeland 6-2. With an overall record at 9 and 9, the Icemen next hit the ice this Thursday, with a 7:00 pm contest in Menomonie.

Cumberland's Connor Morrison took the win in net against Ashland, stopping 20 of 22 shots on net. The Icemen built a 3-0 lead in the contest, before the Oredockers scored the games last two goals. Ashland had four power play opportunities in the contest, but would only score one goal against some good Icemen defense and goal keeping.

Last Thursday, the Lakeland Thunderbirds proved to be too strong on their home ice. Morrison withstood 38 shots on goal, stopping 32 of them.

Cumberland's Lucas Anderson had one of the two Icemen goals, while Tyler Bohn added an assist in the game.

Wrestling Team Loses to St. Croix Falls; At Ladysmith Friday

St. Croix Falls showed why they are not only the top team in the HON, but might be the best Division III team in the State, with a 67-6 dual victory over the Beavers last Thursday night. Cumberland also participated in the Saints Invitational Tournament last Saturday, be it with a limited roster due to sickness and injury.

The Beavers will be back in action this Friday night, when they travel to the HON's Super Dual competition, beginning at 5:00 pm. They will start preparing for the Conference Tournament at Cameron, on February 8.

The Saints were dominant last Thursday as Blake Siebert would be the Beavers only victor in the nights 14 matches. Siebert would pin his opponent in three minutes in the 195-pound match.

Saturday, Coach Lundquist would only take five wrestlers to St. Croix Falls last Saturday for their annual Invite. Two, Jake Simon and Siebert, were able to place among the top three against good competition.

Girl's Basketball Team Drops Pair of Conference Contests; Beats Spring Valley

The Cumberland Girl's Basketball Team continued HON play last week with a pair of losses to Conference foes. On Tuesday, the team dropped a 45-23 contest to Cameron, while on Friday night, Northwestern ran away with a 63-22 win. Cumberland played two games earlier this week and will be back on their home court next Tuesday, with a 7:15 pm contest against the Spooner Rails.

Scoring points was difficult in the two losses. Against Cameron last Tuesday, Cumberland could only manage 27 shots from the floor against an aggressive and stingy Comet defense.

Cameron would lead 14-5 at halftime as both teams struggled offensively. Things continued in the second half for the Beavers in their lowest scoring output of the season.

Maisen Gores led Cumberland with six points and nine rebounds, while Anna Ranallo added six points and Orion Thompson five. Mecina Garibaldi led the team with three assists.

On Friday, Northwestern jumped to a 23-5 halftime bulge and raced to the victory. The Tigers moved their overall record to 10 and 3 on the season, while Cumberland fell to 2 and 10.

Again, Gores led Cumberland with eight points, while Garibaldi added five. Cumberland would shoot only 23 percent from the floor and hit only four of 15 free throws in a cold shooting night. Gores added 18 rebounds and three blocks to her night of work.

On Monday the Cumberland Girl's Basketball Team picked up their third victory of the season on Monday night, defeating Spring Valley 41-29 in front of a home crowd in Elmer Beran Gymnasium. With the victory, the teams record climbs to 3 and 10 on the season as they traveled to Unity on Tuesday night.

Cumberland overcame some early turnover and foul trouble and a poor 28-percent shooting night from the free throw line to defeat their non-conference foe. The girls played solid defense throughout and put together a strong second half to outscore the Cardinals 25 to 12 over the games final 18 minutes and secure the win.

Maisen Gores scored 14 points to lead the Cumberland offensive attack as Brian Dutton also received some solid ball handling from point guard Maya Brenna and guard Reyna Bertelsen. Mecina Garibaldi scored six points and hit some big free throws down the stretch, while Sydney Jain hit two big baskets off the bench early in the second half to start the Beavers second half rally.

Boys Basketball Remains Tied For First Place

The Cumberland Beavers remain tied for First Place in the HON following last Thursdays cancellation of their scheduled game at Cameron. The Beavers and Northwestern both have 6 and 2 records as they head into competition this week. It would seem that these two teams are the favorites to battle for the Conference crown throughout the rest of the winter.

The Beavers will host St. Croix Falls in a non-conference tilt on Thursday and then travel to Spooner on Friday for a HON contest, both starting at 7:00 pm. Spooner is 1 and 8 in Conference play and were defeated soundly by the Beavers back in December.

Lots of Laughs on Lake Chetac

Hello friends,

I have several annual, can't miss trips in a year's time. One of them is to Sawyer Counties, Lake Chetac near Birchwood, where our group of 4 to 8 stays at a very comfortable cabin on the lake and do some fairly hardcore ice fishing for crappie, perch and hopefully walleye.

Friday, January 10th

High 17, low 2

Paul Bucher is from Cumberland and owns The Cumberland Advocate. Ryan Ransom went to high school with Bucher at Black River Falls and these guys are both good buddies and I might add die hard Vikings fans.

Joey Dushiek is my stepson and has been traveling in the outdoors with and without me, since he was four. The four of us made up this year's crew as the rest of the gang was headed to Green Bay to watch the Packers play the Seahawks.

This year's dilemma is one that everyone in the northern quarter of Wisconsin has been facing all winter, and that is that too much snow had piled up on too thin of ice. In other words, the weight of the snow has sunk the ice which makes it very difficult for ice to get thicker.

The ice is under water and the snow insulates it from getting thicker and the water on top of the ice creates slush from the snow that is on top of it.

Generally, on this adventure we use Paul's portable, permanent shack which he pulls with his truck. This year we used my atv and Paul's, and a pop up Eskimo 94161 Fatfish which in simple terms is a 13x8 foot insulated ice shack.

What we like to do on this trip is all of us sit in the same shack, we watch our electronics as the crappie might be right at bottom in 16-feet of water or maybe 8-feet off the bottom.

What is really kind of funny is that everyone knows that I am a true Neanderthal when it comes to anything that has a screen and runs electronically. For Christmas this year I was given a Humminbird Helix 7. This would be its maiden adventure and thank God

I had these guys along to help me figure out how to turn it on. My buddies really liked my new toy!

Back to the fishing, on day one there was yet to be a permanent shack on the lake or a truck. We traveled by atv and it was windy and cold. Our goal was crappie because they bite after dark and we like to fish until at least 11:00 but tonight were on the ice until 1:00 a.m.

We put a heater and two propane lamps in the Fatfish and about 9:00 I started cooking supper which in this case was venison steaks sauteed in onions and butter with homegrown, fried potatoes.

The crappie were not real hungry but we caught maybe a dozen in the 9 to 11 inch range.

Saturday, January 11th

High 15, low minus 4

Today it was quite cold out. Very strong north winds combined with a high of 15 made it so that after a move across the lake we all kind of sat in the shack most of the day.

Fishing was tough but we did catch maybe thirty 9-11 inch perch and crappie. There were times when we would catch five in an hour and then nothing for an hour. Paul and I started our atv's about once an hour as the wind really likes to suck the life out of the batteries.

As is always the case, we laughed all night long and tonight it was Joey and I making a series of subtle jokes as we listened to the 49ers beat up on the Vikings. Perhaps even a few one liners about the number of Super Bowls the Packers have won compared to the Vikings, but in all honesty we did not push it too hard.

Generally speaking, on a weekend like this there can be some sort of a propane mishap and tonight there was a wee bit of a brief fire when supper was being cooked and some propane was leaking out of a cross threaded propane bottle.

The north wind is generally a fish bite killer and this weekend was no exception but the four of us did not hesitate under adverse conditions and simply put, we had a blast.

This eleven inch perch made two very tasty fillets.

Winter has always been my favorite season!

"Justice or Mercy?"

by Pastor Gary Dorn
Cumberland Baptist Church

I have been wrestling with the hard doctrine of "election" and "reprobation" in the ninth chapter of Romans. I'm sure I could start a great controversy here because many brilliant and godly minds disagree about how to handle God not choosing to save everyone (or why people choose to reject God's offer of salvation made available to all people). Some would even say, "God should save everyone!" But should He? "Should" is a term of obligation which places this statement in the area of justice. "Justice" is "getting what is deserved." Unfortunately, none of us deserve salvation. Romans 6:23 tells us "For the wages (earned and deserved) of sin is death." God should (justice) give us death.

Fortunately, God is a God of mercy! "Mercy" is "not getting what is deserved." Mercy is without obligation. God owes nobody mercy...but He does choose to give people mercy! Romans 9:15 quotes God revealing His nature to Moses -"I will have mercy on whom I have mercy and I will have compassion on whom I have compassion." Mercy is by choice not by obligation.

I don't claim to know what to do with those outside of God's mercy, other than sharing the good news that they too can cry out for God's mercy, but I can tell you that I rejoice that God has chosen to show me mercy! In the end, I would rather seek God's mercy than demand God's justice. By the way, the rest of Romans 6:23 is all mercy! "For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." May you seek...and find...the great mercy of God made available to us in Jesus Christ! Trust me. You don't really want to demand the justice.

Red Cedar Symphony presents 3rd Annual HomeGrown Concert

Music from three centuries will be played by three ensembles at the Third Annual HomeGrown Concert at 4 p.m. on February 16, at Bethany Lutheran Church in Rice Lake. In its first two years, this youngest addition to the RCS annual concert calendar has delivered outstanding performances by some of the symphony's most talented musicians. This year will be no exception, with works by Haydn and Schubert contrasted with modern composers including Jay Unger, Rick Sowash, and John Williams.

One of the ensembles, In To The Woods, features Jim Hurst on marimba and Carol McDowell on violin.

Hurst has arranged three pieces — Precious Lord, Take My Hand; the theme from Schindler's List, and Ashokan Farewell — for this unusual combination of instruments.

The two other groups performing are traditional string quartets, the perfect ensemble for a cozy winter afternoon. The Lakeside Quartet will perform Sowash's Pastoral for Flute and Strings, and Haydn's Quartet in D major. The Red Cedar String Quartet will play Schubert's Quartet No. 14 in D Minor, the famous "Death and the Maiden."

This intimate concert is an excellent opportunity to hear what wonderful things a small group of musicians can do with some great music. Bethany Lutheran is located at 35 West Messenger St in Rice Lake. Concert tickets are $15, with those 21 and under admitted free.

Established in 1983 and housed at Bethany Lutheran Church in Rice Lake, the RCS draws classical musicians from throughout northwestern Wisconsin, including Rice Lake, Osseo, Cumberland, Ladysmith, Spooner, Chetek, Gordon, Trego, Springbrook, Bruce, Hayward, Cable, Winter, Bloomer, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, and Foster.

Heroes among us:
honors local heroes at March event

Our community is filled with every day heroes. This March, the Northwest Wisconsin Chapter of the American Red Cross will once again honor a select group of the heroes among us.

The annual Heroes Breakfast will take place from 7:30-9 a.m., Wednesday, March 11 at the Florian Gardens in Eau Claire. The annual event celebrates local people who were involved in selfless acts of courage and kindness during the past year. The award breakfast also serves as a fundraising event for programs and services provided by the Northwest Wisconsin Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Chosen across a handful of categories, honorees at the Heroes Breakfast represent those among us who reflect what is best in our communities. The Barron County First Responders have been chosen to receive the 2020 Healthcare Heroes Award.

To reserve your seat at this event, <http://www.event.com/d/46qkz4> or call (715) 271-8395. Reservations are $46 and all proceeds go toward the Northwest Wisconsin Chapter of the American Red Cross.
