Paul Bucher

Washburn County Dispatcher jailed

On Friday, March 6, 2020 the Barron County Sheriff's Department was contacted by the Washburn County Sheriff's Department regarding a possible theft case occurring at the Sheriff's Department.

The Barron County Sheriff's Department assigned a detective to this case and over the course of that investigation took Brian Wyberg, 35, into custody and he is being held in the Barron County Jail on charges of Theft, Illegally Possesses Prescription Drugs and Misconduct in Public Office.

Washburn County Sheriff Dennis Stuart stated that

Wyberg has been employed at the Sheriff's Office for six years and was serving as a dispatch/jailer. Sheriff Stuart advised that he has placed Wyberg on administrative leave pending the outcome of this investigation. At this point in the investigation it appears Wyberg is the only Sheriff's Office employee connected to this investigation.

This is all the information we are releasing at this time as this case remains active. While Wyberg is being held in the Barron County Jail-charges will be referred to the Washburn County District Attorney's Office.

Quinn announces he is not seeking Re-election

On Sunday, March 15th, Representative Romaine Robert Quinn announced that he will not be seeking re-election to the 75th assembly district.

"Serving in the state assembly has been the honor of a lifetime. Words cannot describe how privileged I feel to have been able to be the voice for our area down in Madison. I will be forever grateful to those that put their trust in me."

When asked why he's not running, Quinn stated that he wants to spend more time back in the district with his family.

"Some of my colleagues spend extra time in Madison because they enjoy the time away from home - I'm the exact opposite. As my wife and I plan to start our own family, I want to know that I will be home when I'm needed the most. Although my work in Madison is incredibly important, family comes first."

Quinn will serve out his term through January, at which time his replacement will be sworn in. The filing deadline to run for state assembly is June 1st, with the election being held this November.

"From serving on the city council in Rice Lake to being in the state assembly for the past 6 years, I have always done my best to put people before politics. My desire to see our area families and communities succeed will certainly not go away, and I will be working hard this year to make sure that whoever follows me into office will bring the same common sense, conservative message to Madison."

Representative Romaine Robert Quinn

Could have been worse!

On Wednesday night, March 11th, a vehicle driven by Luca Bolton of Cumberland ran the stop sign on 8th St and Hwy. 63 hitting the vehicle driven by Gerald Schmidt of Turtle Lake. Thankfully, there were no serious injuries.

Gov. Evers issues Executive Orders to combat COVID-19

Statewide Closure of All K-12 Wisconsin Schools; Suspends Spring Sports Seasons; and Restricts Gatherings to less than 10 People

Governor Tony Evers has issued a number of executive orders as part of the state's efforts to respond to and contain the spread of COVID-19 in Wisconsin.

He has directed Department of Health Services (DHS) Secretary-designee Andrea Palm to issue an agency order mandating the statewide closure of all K-12 schools, public and private.

The mandated closure will begin on Wednesday, March 18th, in order to give school districts ample time to make plans for kids, families, educators, and staff. School districts, particularly those in counties with reported cases of COVID-19, may choose to close earlier than Wednesday. The anticipated reopening date is April 6, 2020; however, the reopening date is subject to change pending further information.

"Closing our schools is not a decision I made lightly, but keeping our kids, our educators, our families, and our communities safe is a top priority as we continue our work to respond to and prevent further spread of COVID-19 in Wisconsin," said Gov. Evers.

In addition, all school spring sports activities have also been suspended until Monday, April 6, 2020.

The WIAA has updated its athletic participation limitations to adhere to the executive order as stated on the WIAA's Infectious Disease option on the Health webpage.

Consistent with Gov. Evers' announcement Friday, all school training, practices, scrimmages and contests are suspended. In addition, schools and coaches may not bring students together or be involved with students during this time period for any extracurricular or athletic purposes, which includes practices and other instructional/organizational purposes.

Coaches may provide individual workouts virtually, but shall not encourage or organize their team assembling to practice.

On Tuesday, March 17th, Gov. Tony Evers directed Department of Health Services (DHS) Secretary-designee Andrea Palm to issue an agency order prohibiting mass gatherings of 10 people or more to slow the spread of COVID-19. The order makes exceptions for transportation, educational institutions, child care, hotels, military, law enforcement, food pantries, hospitals, long-term care facilities, restaurants and bars can only offer take-out or delivery, grocery stores and convenience stores, utility facilities, job centers, and courts. Additionally, schools will be closed for the duration of the public health emergency.

"Our top priority at this time is to keep Wisconsinites safe and healthy by reducing the spread of COVID-19, especially for those who are considered high-risk. With limited tests available nationwide and continued community spread, we have to take every precaution to protect ourselves, our families, and our neighbors," said Gov. Evers. "I know what this means for our small business owners and the struggles they and their workers will face in the coming weeks, but we are committed to working with our federal partners, state officials, and stakeholders to ensure we are doing everything we can to assist during these uncertain times."

Community Spread

We are seeing community spread of COVID-19 in Wisconsin. This means that there are people who have tested positive who have no exposures to a known case nor did they travel to a location where there is known community spread. We have cases in Milwaukee, Dane and Kenosha counties indicating that there is community spread happening in Wisconsin. Social distancing will help keep you, your family, and our community from increased risk of exposure.

DHS and Wisconsin State Laboratory of Hygiene to move to tiered COVID-19 testing to manage capacity

Despite The Wisconsin State Laboratory of Hygiene (WSLH) significantly increasing their capacity for COVID-19 testing, the number of testing specimens being received far exceeds their daily capacity. In order to conserve supplies for testing, WSLH and DHS are now prioritizing two tiers of cases for testing:

Tier One (Individuals who):

- are critically ill and receiving ICU level care with unexplained viral pneumonia or respiratory failure
- are hospitalized (non-ICU) with fever or signs and symptoms of lower respiratory tract illness (cough, shortness of breath) and either known exposure to a laboratory-confirmed COVID-19 patient or travel to an area with sustained community transmission

Tier Two (Individuals who):

- are hospitalized (non-ICU) with unexplained fever and signs/symptoms of lower respiratory tract illness
- are health care workers with unexplained fever and signs/symptoms of a lower-respiratory illness, regardless of hospitalization

Test requests that do not meet these criteria will be sent to other labs in the state and country for testing, resulting in longer wait times.

Information for health-care providers on the testing tiers is available at dhs.wisconsin.gov/covid-19/index.htm. Patients without symptoms and patients with mild upper respiratory symptoms who are not health care workers should not be tested in order to ensure that there is capacity to test ill people.

People should follow simple steps to prevent illness and avoid exposure to this virus including:

- Avoid social gatherings with people of all ages (including playdates and sleepovers, parties, large family dinners, visitors in your home, non-essential workers in your house);
- Frequent and thorough hand washing with soap and water;
- Covering coughs and sneezes;
- Avoiding touching your face;

CUMBERLAND SCHOOL DISTRICT

March 16, 2020

Dear CSD Families and Staff,

The events over the past week have been unprecedented, to say the least. This certainly is uncharted waters for all of us, but we will navigate our way through this together. The situation surrounding COVID-19 is changing rapidly and thus, the state, local and District response changes just as quickly. Therefore, the Cumberland School District has revised its school closure plan and the last day for students will be Tuesday, March 17. The health of our students, staff, and community are our highest priority.

We take the mission of educating every student every day in the classroom very seriously and we believe that a virtual classroom will not replicate the experience of learning within the classroom and cannot replace the interaction of our trained professional staff. We are committed to providing educational opportunities that all students will have equal access to, are meaningful, and will fit within the current curriculum.

During this extended school closure, the teachers will work to create meaningful, grade appropriate activities/work to be sent home during this time off to support learning. Teachers have received directions on what is expected in order to provide supplemental resources for our students. This instruction may look different depending on your child's grade level. We have asked teachers to provide students with both digital and paper options. Our goal is to send home some learning opportunities that will help students maintain a sense of normalcy and connection to school.

For any students who are supposed to complete required state assessments, we will be reevaluating all required assessments once school is back in session and we know more from state and federal officials on how to proceed.

We are committed to keeping you informed and supporting the educational needs of our students to the best of our ability. We anticipate that state officials will continue to provide further direction and we will communicate with you as we learn more. We appreciate the understanding, flexibility, and patience of our school community as we continue to all work together. We are facing a significant challenge but we are confident we will all pull together and make the best of the situation for all of our students, families, and community.

Respectfully,

Barry Rose, Ed.D.
Superintendent

Voters Encouraged to Vote Absentee for April 7 Election

City of Cumberland - Because of the COVID-19, voters in the City of Cumberland are strongly urged to act now to vote absentee for the April 7 Spring Election and Presidential Preference Primary.

"Polls will be open in The City of Cumberland for those who need them on Election Day, but most voters should vote absentee for this election," said Julie Kessler, Clerk-Treasurer. "For that to happen, you should request an absentee ballot as soon as possible."

Acting by Wednesday, March 18, is especially important for anyone who needs to register to vote by mail, Kessler said. If your name or address has changed since the last election, you need to register with your current information. You can check your registration status at <https://myvote.wi.gov>, click on "My Voter Info."

If you know you are registered but cannot find yourself on the website, you should contact your clerk or Wisconsin Elections Commission. There is possibly a typo in the spelling of your name or your date of birth. Voters who cannot find themselves on MyVote should call their municipal clerk's office at 715-822-2752 or call the Wisconsin Elections Commission at 866-VOTE-WIS (866-868-3947) or 608-261-8005.

How to Register to Vote by the Deadline

Wednesday, March 18 is the deadline for electors to register to vote by mail or online for the Presidential Preference Primary and Spring Election. After this date, electors must register in person in the municipal clerk's office or at the polling place.

According to state law, mailed voter registration forms must be postmarked no later than the third Wednesday before the election. Online registration closes at 11:59 p.m. the same day.

Online voter registration is available at <https://myvote.wi.gov>. There are two ways you can register using the website:

- People with a Wisconsin driver license or state ID card whose address is current with the Wisconsin Department of Transportation can complete their online registration immediately. People who need to update their address with DOT can accomplish that online and complete their online registration.

- People without a Wisconsin driver license or state ID card can fill out the voter registration form online, then print it, sign it and mail it to their municipal clerk's office along with a proof-of residence document. The website has detailed instructions. If you do not have a printer where you are, you can save the completed form as a PDF and make arrangements to have a family member or a friend with a printer, or a copy center, to print it for you.

Voter registration forms that can be printed and filled out by hand are also available in English: at <https://elections.wi.gov/forms/el-131-fillable>

Voter registration forms that can be printed and filled out by hand are also available there in Spanish at <https://elections.wi.gov/forms/el-131-spanish>

Blank voter registration forms are also available at the clerk's office, at City Hall, 950 1st Avenue, Cumberland, during regular business hours.

Remember, the deadline to register online or by mail is Wednesday, March 18.

Voters who miss the deadline may also register in their municipal clerk's office until the Friday before the election, April 3 or at the polls on election day.

How to Request an Absentee Ballot

There are several ways registered voters can request absentee ballots. If they have internet access, the easiest way is to sign up at MyVote Wisconsin, <https://myvote.wi.gov>.

Just look for the "Vote Absentee" button near the top of the page. On a mobile phone, use the menu button in the upper right corner of the website. There is a three-step process that starts with putting in your name and date of birth, followed by requesting your ballot. If you don't already have a photo ID on file with your clerk's office, you can upload a copy. Mobile phone users can take a picture and upload it to MyVote. Absentee ballot requests submitted this way go directly to your clerk's office, and you can track your ballot by returning to the website.

Voters can also request absentee ballots by mailing, emailing or faxing their municipal clerk's office. You can find your clerk's contact information on MyVote Wisconsin. These requests must be accompanied by a copy of your photo ID. If you already have a photo ID on file from previous absentee requests under your current registration, you will not need to provide it again.

Voters who are indefinitely confined, meaning they may have difficulty getting to the polls for reason of age, illness, infirmity, or disability are not required to provide a photo ID. Voters in care facilities can have a representative of the facility confirm the resident's identity instead of providing a photo ID. More information on photo ID and exemptions can be found at bringit.wi.gov.

The deadline for registered voters to request an absentee ballot be mailed to you is the Thursday before the election, April 2. However, Cumberland Clerk-Treasurer Julie Kessler urges voters not to wait, due to possible delays in mail delivery. If you get an absentee ballot mailed to you, you can still decide to vote at the polls on Election Day if you haven't returned it.

Your absentee ballot must be received in your clerk's office or at your polling place by 8 p.m. on Election Day. Again, Kessler urges voters to request and return ballots as soon as possible.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

I am almost 83 years young and the Carona vi-rus is the most deadly virus to attack us here in the United States that I have experienced. There, to be sure, have been other diseases that we have had to deal with. Some of these diseases have been even more deadly than the one that we now face, but none have spread as quickly as this one. We have all been advised to stay at home and take every precaution that we can. Wash our hands frequently, keep our hands away from our faces, avoid crowds, and stay home if possible. That is hard for Americans as we are people used to doing our own thing that is, we go where we want to when we want to. As an old timer, I am in the most vulnerable target population so it applies to me and let me tell you, it hurts to be confined to my home. Sharon just chimed in with - “at least we have a warm home to stay in, while the home-less have no place warm, no steady food supply, and most likely, no place available for medical care.” Now is the time to be truly an American and stretch out our hands to those in need. I suggest we all check our food pantries and generously share with our local food shelves. If your local congregation has any sort of a “reach out” program how about an extra donation this week for the program. Remember what Christ said - in the Gospel of Matthew - (25: 35-40) “Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters, you have done for me.” I have to stay at home and it is inconvenient but I have it so much better than many of my fellow Americans. Think about that this week as we watch the television and pray that this “scourge” will soon pass away. God willing - I’ll see you next week!!

Governor’s Orders...

• Staying home when sick.
On Thurs., March 12, 2020, the governor signed an executive order that directs DHS to take all necessary and appropriate measures to prevent and respond to incidences of COVID-19. It allows DHS to purchase, store, or distribute appropriate medications, regardless of insurance or other health coverage, as needed to respond to the emergency. It also authorizes state funds to support local health departments with costs related to isolation and quarantine, as well as the use of the Wisconsin National Guard.

“Kids and families across Wisconsin often depend on our schools to access food and care,” Gov. Evers continued. “We are going to continue working to do everything we can to ensure kids and families have the resources and support they need while schools are closed.”

This is a rapidly evolving situation and we encourage you and the public to frequently monitor the DHS website for updates, and to follow @DHSWI on Facebook and Twitter, or dhs.wi on Instagram. Additional information can be found on the CDC website.

“For business dealing with coronavirus effects, it’s mostly new territory”

MADISON, Wis. – A few weeks or even days ago, the type of virus that worried businesses most was of the digital strain.

Ah, for a return to the good old days of cyber-threats versus those of the viral variety.

The rapid escalation of the COVID-19 virus emergency in the United States has compelled businesses to embrace new and largely unprecedented protocols for employees and customers alike.

Because much is still unknown about how the virus spreads and how virulent it may be, most businesses and organizations appear to be following the guidance of public health authorities such as the federal Centers for Disease Control and comparable state agencies.

The preparedness doesn’t stop at office hand-washing advisories, however. It extends to updating or implementing remote working policies, making better use of technology and remaining vigilant against scams that can catch a frantic organization off guard.

Workforce policies can vary a great deal. Walmart, for example, announced it will institute an emergency leave process for its employees who are quarantined or diagnosed with the latest coronavirus. It has about 1.4 million workers in the United States.

While having employees work remotely or providing paid sick leave may be feasible for larger firms, smaller businesses that rely on in-person sale and interactions may not be able to follow such suggestions so easily. Still, many are considering a mix of options.

Some have cancelled or postponed business events expected to draw 250 people or more, not only because some participants worked with larger companies that instituted travel bans, but they didn’t want the responsibility of being a corporate “Typhoid Mary.” (The Wisconsin Technology Council has cancelled the live portion of its March 16 Tech Summit, for instance, in favor of teleconference meetings matching major companies and emerging firms.)

In some places across the country, coronavirus outbreaks have led to layoffs, especially in industries most sensitive to dramatic swings due to conditions they otherwise cannot control.

Some companies that are hiring have stopped doing face-to-face interviews. Other companies are trying to respond to rumors about specific workers who may have tested positive while maintaining privacy for all concerned. Still others are assembling “rapid response” teams to consider other implications of the health emergency.

Financial institutions are reaching out to clients who are understandably worried about steep declines in stock markets. As Investor’s Business Daily reported Thursday, the average American lost $22,313 from the coronavirus “market correction” in the past two weeks.

The best advice, most of those advisors tell their clients, is not to succumb to panic by selling off assets and stuffing them into a bed pillow. Rather, they counsel hanging on until the crisis passes and markets can begin to regain lost ground. That’s of little comfort to people who were counting on retiring or making other major life changes in the next few months, of course.

Lower interest rates are good for business borrowers, but there’s a limit to how low rates can go before lenders aren’t profitable and can’t make business loans at all. Some banks and institutions are working to institute interest-rate “floors” on floating-rate loans.

On the theory there’s a silver lining somewhere in the cloud, some business consultants are urging people to use time not devoted to travel or other outside meetings to hunker down on projects that might otherwise not get done. It’s all on the belief that once the crisis passes and people go back to work in some semblance of normalcy, the decks are cleared for other productive activity.

And consider this blessing: It wasn’t so many years ago that working online at home or elsewhere wasn’t even a possibility. Today, such technology may keep the lights on for many businesses.

For owners of small businesses and startups, it’s a time to review sales forecasts, expenses and hiring plans, watch for opportunities that may arise from the ever-evolving situation and to keep calm heads on all shoulders. All of that is more easily said than done, but it’s uncharted waters for everyone.

At 11:00 am., the phone rang in the office at the Cumberland High School, and when it was answered by one of the secretaries in the principal’s office, a raspy voice simply stated, “There is a bomb in your school!” Then the anonymous caller immediately hung up. The call was reported to school officials who in turn notified the city and county police officers. Just a few minutes later, after operation by the school and the officials, school was dismissed and classes were cancelled for the day. It was later determined that the call to the school was made from the Almena Telephone Exchange and police began working on a comparison of CHS students with a telephone number in the Almena area, and who were absent that day from school. A student from Barron High School made the call.

Menton II, 36, of Solon Springs, has been charged with possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine, as a party to a crime, possession of methamphetamine, second and subsequent offense, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Erin L. Zurcher, 31, of Bloomer, has been charged with possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine, as a party to a crime, second or subsequent offense, possession of narcotic drugs, and possession of THC.

On March 7, 2020, Barron Police Officer Parr conducted a traffic stop of a vehicle he had observed traveling on Highway 8 with only one headlight. The driver of the vehicle was identified as Menton, and the female passenger was identified as Zurcher. During the course of the stop, Officer Parr learned that Menton had three warrants for his arrest. One of those warrants was from Rusk County for failing to appear on a case involving felony bail jumping charge. The second warrant was from Burnett County for failing to appear on a criminal OAR case. The third warrant was from the State of Minnesota, the Department of Corrections warrant.

Menton was taken into custody, searched and a key chain with some smaller keys was located on him. Menton asked for Zurcher to have the keys. Officer Parr was able to observe the keys and noted that they resembled ones that would work on a lockbox of some type.

Officer Parr's report indicates that he spoke with Zurcher and learned that she did not have a license. He allowed her to make arrangements to call somebody to come and pick up the vehicle.

During the course of the stop, Barron County Deputy Fick arrived on scene, along with Rice Lake Department K-9 and Officer Eckes, was requested to do a K-9 sniff of the vehicle. Officer Eckes report indicates that his K-9 indicated on the vehicle. His report, along with Deputy Fick's report, indicates that they both spoke with Zurcher and that she had used needles that she described as paraphernalia in her purse that she was holding.

The purse was subsequently searched by Officer Parr and in it he located 57 unused small plastic bags known as gem bags. There was also approximately 18 used plastic bags known as gem bags, some of which contained a powdery substance that had a cloudy appearance.

The report of Barron Police Chief Vierkandt indicates that he field tested the powder substance in one of the bags and obtained a positive result for the presence of fentanyl.

The report of Deputy Fick indicates that Zurcher was subsequently taken into custody and transported to the Barron County Jail. His reports also indicates that she had advised him that she had shoved narcotics into her underwear. She also advised Deputy Fick that she had amphetamine inside of her underwear. Deputy Fick's report indicates that he had jail staff conduct a search on Zurcher and after they were done doing so, he was handed a large bag of a white crystalline substance that he believed to be methamphetamine. He was also given three small bindles of a green leafy substance that he believed to be marijuana.

The report of Officer Parr indicates that he field tested and weighed the suspected methamphetamine that was found on Zurcher. The weight of the substance was approximately 23.6 g, with the packaging material and it tested positive for the presence of methamphetamine. One of the bags of suspected marijuana weight approximately 1.3 g, another one weighed .6 g, and the third weighed .8 g. Officer Parr's report indicates he conducted a field test of one of the bags and obtained a positive result for the presence of tetrahydrocannabinols.

Deputy Fick's report also indicates that while on scene with Zurcher, she made comments to him concerning the legality of the K-9 search of the vehicle as well as the legality of searching containers and a lockbox within the vehicle.

The report of Officer Parr further indicates that during the course of the search of the vehicle after the K-9 sniff, the backpack was located on the seat behind the driver's seat. Inside the backpack were various items of drug paraphernalia and a black lockbox. Officer Parr noted that the lockbox was in fact locked. His reports also indicates that he recalled Menton having the key chain with smaller keys on it that he requested to be given to Zurcher. His report indicates that he located the keys and utilized on of the keys to unlock the box.

Inside the black box, he located 16 unused plastic bags known as gem bags. Three of the bags contained a substance that he subsequently weighed and field tested. Each of the bags weighed approximately .3 g, with the packaging material and one of the bags was tested, and a positive result for the presence of methamphetamine was obtained. He also located a digital AWS brand scale that had residue on it. It was field tested by him and a positive result for the presence of methamphetamine was obtained. He also observed 32 unused plastic bags known as gem bags as well as ten additional unused gem bags located in a separate baggie.

If convicted, for possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine as a party to a crime, Menton may be fined not more than $100,000, or imprisoned not more than 25 years, or both. For possession of methamphetamine, Menton may be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned not more than three years and six months, or both. For possession of drug paraphernalia, Menton may be fined not more than $500, or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both.

If convicted for possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine as a party to a crime, Zurcher may be fined not more than $100.00, or imprisoned not more than 25 years, or both. For possession of narcotic drugs, Zurcher may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than three years or both. For possession of THC, Zurcher may be fined not more than $1,000, or imprisoned not more than six months or both. Their preliminary hearings are scheduled for March 19, 2020.

DATCP Provides Important Information on Executive Order #72 and Wisconsin's Price Gouging Statute

The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) is providing additional information on Wisconsin's price gouging statute as it relates to Executive Order #72, signed by Governor Tony Evers on Thursday, March 12.

Background

As consumers prepare for the possibility of disruption to their daily lives as a result of COVID-19, Wisconsin retailers are working to meet the increased demands of consumers across the state. Often, when demand for specific products is extremely high, or supplies are limited, prices will rise. This can be frustrating, and consumers may feel like they are being taken advantage of.

In Executive Order #72, Governor Evers declared a public health emergency in the State of Wisconsin. He also declared that Wisconsin is experiencing a period of abnormal economic disruption because of COVID-19. This declaration authorizes DATCP to enforce Wisconsin's price gouging statute until the emergency has ended. This declaration applies to the entire state and applies to any consumer good or service being sold at wholesale or retail.

Statutory Authority

Under Section 100.305 of the Wisconsin Statutes and Chapter ATCP 106 of DATCP's Administrative Code, wholesalers and retailers in Wisconsin are generally prohibited from selling consumer goods or services at prices that are more than 15% higher than pre-emergency prices. There are, however, some significant and important exemptions to this general prohibition:

Non Emergency Phone Numbers:

Cumberland Police Dept.
822-2754

Barron County Sheriff
537-3106

Tipster Line
1-800
532-9008

Polk County Sheriff
485-8300

Emergency
911

Price gouging does not occur when a price is set by law, or when the price increase is exempted by emergency declaration.

Sellers may charge higher prices during a period of economic disruption as long as those price increases do not exceed the seller's actual cost plus a reasonable markup.

What Consumers Should Know:

Consumers should be aware that it is not uncommon for prices of consumer products to increase during times of high demand and/or low supply. Most of the time, these increases are legitimate due to an increase in the cost to bring these products to market. However, if consumers have concerns about pricing at a retailer, they can always report those concerns to DATCP.

To report suspected price gouging, please contact DATCP's Consumer Protection Hotline at DATCPHotline@wisconsin.gov or (800) 422-7128, or file an online complaint. Please provide the following information:

- Date the product was offered for sale
- Seller's name
- Seller's location
- Specific product being sold, including:
- Product name, product size, and price.

Barronett News

By Judy Pieper

Hello again -- This has been a very slow week for us, mostly because the kids keep reminding us that we should not be going out in public. We know that's true, and we have been pretty careful for the past couple weeks. Our social life now consists of going to church and going to appointments that we can't postpone. Hopefully this will be over soon, and we can all get back to living our lives in a normal way again.

There was a big birthday party at Barronett Community Center for Sherrill Erickson this past Saturday. The party was very well attended, lots of family and friends to join in the fun, and, of course, there was plenty of great food and delicious cake.

Sharai Hefty was one of the many friends and family who helped Sherrill celebrate her special day. As a gift, Sharai had made a blouse with whistles hanging from it, and a card saying that Sherrill still attracted lots of whistles. You probably remember that on Sonny's birthday she had made a cap with 80 bells attached, so now Sherrill and Sonny have all the bells and whistles. (Oh brother!)

Richard Pieper and his teammates on the Raiders Special Olympics basketball team were supposed to be in Stevens Point this past Sunday to compete in a state competition, but, as you probably know, all Special Olympics events have been cancelled until further notice. Richard had asked Duane and me to come to the game to cheer the team on, and we were planning to go, but we were a little hesitant about it because of the current health events. Anyway, before the games were cancelled, we were debating telling Richard that we really didn't want to go and hang out in a crowded gymnasium, but we didn't want to disappoint him either. We were very thankful that the Special Olympics committee made that decision, so we didn't have to be the "bad guys" in Richard's eyes. He and his teammates are naturally disappointed, but hopefully the games will be rescheduled as soon as possible.

Shirley Overvig traveled up from her home in River

Falls to visit last Monday. She, Geri Pittman and I all went to Ruth Grover's home for tea, coffee and delicious homemade treats. Dick likes to bake, and he had made some great pizzas, and Shirley had brought a loaf of zucchini bread. We had such a nice time visiting and laughing -- we all wish Shirley and Merl would just move back here where they belong.

Duane and I were at the Shell Lake Clinic this past Friday, and, while I waited for him, I worked on my knitting. I am working on a sweater this time. Anyway, when he came out, I picked up the yarn and stuff, put it in my knitting bag, and we went merrily on our way. Well --- after we were home for a couple hours and I decided to knit again, I couldn't find the pattern. I panicked -- looked in the car in case it had fallen out of the bag, searched the house -- nothing. "Aha," I thought -- "I bet I left it at the clinic." I called and a very nice young lady checked the table that was beside the chair I had been sitting in and there it was. I immediately went to Shell Lake to pick it up and thank the ladies for saving it for me. Now my poor hubby can sit and have no one to talk to again because I'm so engrossed in this project.

I know we all have to use common sense right now to do our best to avoid getting the corona virus, but it's really hard, isn't it? I did want to tell you this joke though, to remind you how important common sense is. It goes like this . . .

A man was in his house by the river, and the water was rising rapidly. There was a flood alert out and everyone was supposed to evacuate. Well, no one was going to tell him what to do! So, anyway, a man comes in a Jeep and tells him to jump in because the river is going to wash his house away. His response is, "I'm okay, God will save me." The river continues to rise and a man in a boat comes and tells him to get in. He tells him the same thing, "I'm okay, God will save me." Now the water is up almost to the top of the roof and he is clinging onto the weathervane. A helicopter flies above him, drops a ladder, and the pilot says over a loudspeaker, "Get in, the house will be swept away." His response is the same -- God is going to save him. Just then there is a roar and the house is swept away and he drowns. He gets to Heaven, walks up to the Pearly Gates, and demands to know why, when he is such a believer, God didn't take care of him. St. Peter looks at him with disgust and says, "He sent a Jeep, He sent a boat, He sent a helicopter."

See what I mean? Anyway, that's about all I know from Barronett this week. I hope everything is okay with you and your family, and if you're one of the parents who will be having children home from school for the next few weeks, I hope everything goes well there too. Be good to yourself.

This week: In Praise of Beer
by Charles Bamforth

c. 2020, Oxford University Press • $24.95 • 165 pages

Here's mud in your eye. Salud! Bottoms up! Here's to the ones we've loved and lost. Cheers, and all those other things you say as you hoist a few with your pals in a pub. Drink up. To friendship. To love. To health. Actually, here's to you, then let's raise a glass to "In Praise of Beer" by Charles Bamforth.

It may not be exactly summer yet. It might not be hot outside, or 5 o'clock somewhere, but imagine a glass in front of you, filled with something "cold, bright, and fizzy..."

Thirsty yet? So what do you order?

Says Bamforth, who has worked with the brewing industry for over 40 years, the answer often "boils down to" a preference between craft beer and the big brands. What many beer drinkers don't understand is that, increasingly, the big brands own many of those so-called craft beers. Still, to be a true "craft" brewery, there are rules...

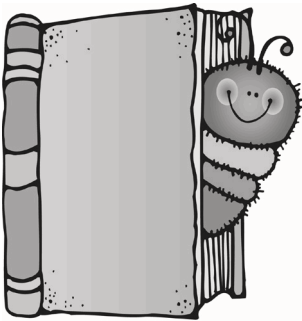

Another thing beer aficionados don't generally know is that making beer is much more complicated than making wine. A brewer must first decide on the grain he'll use ("the main location" for growing barley is Idaho) and how to process it into liquid (Bamforth says dairy cows love "spent grains"). The brewer has to know about local water sources, hops and yeasts, the kind of packaging and caps he'll use (cans are best; brown bottles are a close second), and then he'll have to know how to put all this information together.

And that will determine the kind of beer you'll ultimately get in your frosty glass, whether it's a "top fermentation" or a "bottom fermentation" beer, or something else, like a shandy or dry beer. On that note, Bamforth is not a fan of odd ingredients in the making of his beer.

Know that it's essential for you to "pour with vigor." Please don't stuff garbage into an empty bottle. Foam is important, so pay the right kind of attention to it. Keep in mind that beer can accompany fine dining. And remember: beer is good -- and it's also "good for you."

Much like an icy-cold but thoroughly new-to-you brew on a blistering-hot day, "In Praise of Beer" is a truly refreshing surprise. Reading this book, in fact, is like sitting in an adult classroom, and the instructor's brought a six-pack to share.

Author Charles Bamforth teaches, but his experience also allows him to entertain with facts that only an insider would know; peeks at brews, breweries, and beer-drinking overseas; and sneaky humor of the LOL kind, but not so much that it makes you spit out your beer. This is all packaged in a skinny book that talks the talk plainly in a way that avoids high-brow nonsense by treating average beer drinkers like the connoisseurs they are.

"In Praise of Beer" isn't going to make you an expert on your favorite drink, but you'll learn enough to make you better appreciate what's in your mug. Get this book, pull up a seat, and take a sip.

If you're in search of something great to take in the car, on vacation, on the tractor, or to the lunchroom, Terri can be reached at bookworm-sez@yahoo.com. Happy Reading!

Church Directory

“Freedom”

By: Pastor John Miels
St. Paul Lutheran Church

Kicking a dead horse trying to get more work out of it is useless. We all know people who are indifferent to spiritual needs, who do not feel the weight of sin, are much like a dead horse. They are dead-spiritually and feel nothing when we speak the truth of scripture to them. They are bound in chains of their sin and do not even know it. The Bible calls them slaves to sin, no freedom or peace.

On the other hand, a Christian is usually more conscious of personal unworthiness-in the sight of God-than a careless unbeliever. King David admitted: “I know my transgressions, and my sin is always before me” (Psalm 51: 3 NIV) The apostle Paul, lamented: “I know that nothing good lives in me... What a wretched man I am!” (Romans 7: 18,24 NIV).

People who walk in darkness are unconscious of smudges on their bodies; but if they walk into the light, they immediately become conscious of how filthy they are.

Christians walk in light. Walking in the Light of Life, Jesus, the more conscious we become of our soiled garments. The law does its work on us, and “Shows Our Sin” (SOS). We need someone to save us, we need freedom.

The very fact that Christians are concerned with their sin is a good thing; it means we are alive in Christ and the Holy Spirit is doing His work on us to confess and repent. The Holy Spirit shows us Christ's merits delivers us forgiveness. He frees us. The Bible defines what sin is, not the culture and we find we are all sinners in God's sight. The Bible also tells us: “Whenever our hearts condemn us...God is greater than our hearts,” (1 John 3:20 NIV) God is greater than our hearts! He looks at us baptized into Christ's death and resurrection (Rom. 6:3-5, Gal. 3:27, 1 Cor 6:11) and sees Christ and not our sins. In Christ there is abundant pardon and mercy; won on the cross and given in His Word and Sacraments. As the apostle Paul assures us, “Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus” (Romans 8: 1 NIV).

Forgiven sinners have real and eternal freedom. Experience freedom, worship where Jesus meets sinners and gives them His abundance of mercy and grace.

- Goals for minority participation for each trade = 0.6% (Barron County)
- Goals for female participation in each trade = 6.9 %

Barron County HHS rolls out “Dial 2-1-1” for Covid-19 info

by Laura Sauve, Barron County Health Officer

The COVID-19 situation in the US and Wisconsin is changing quickly. We know this can be scary and overwhelming. The Governor recently declared a state of emergency. This will allow the State to access more resources to help contain the outbreak. Public Health is working with our partners and area medical providers to respond. Barron County currently has no cases of COVID-19.

Symptoms of COVID-19 are fever above 100.4, cough, and trouble breathing. These are close to the same symptoms you will have if you have influenza. Influenza is spreading in Wisconsin right now. We do not believe COVID-19 is spreading in our State. All cases in WI have had high-risk travel or have had contact with a person who had COVID-19. Public Health interviews people who have the disease and will contact people close to the sick person who may be at risk for COVID-19.

At this time, the only people who need to be tested for COVID-19 are those who have symptoms of the illness and in the last 14 days:

- have traveled from a high risk country (China, South Korea, Iran, Italy)
- have been on a cruise ship
- have had contact with someone who has COVID-19, or
- have traveled to a state where this disease is spreading in the community and public health cannot determine where they got sick (Washington State, California, New York).

Most people will have mild symptoms from this disease and will not need medical care. From what we know right now, about two of every 10 people with this disease may get very sick and need medical care. Elderly and those with other chronic illnesses such as diabetes or lung disease are most at risk for serious illness. We recommend these people avoid crowds and stay home as much as possible.

We need everyone’s help to slow down the spread of this disease. If COVID-19 spreads too quickly, there may not be enough health-care for those who need help. To slow down the spread, it is recommend that all non-essential gatherings of more than 250 people are cancelled and we ask that you do not travel if it is not necessary.

To help protect our community please:

- stay home when sick
- wash your hands a lot
- cover your coughs and sneezes
- try not to touch your face
- stay away from sick people.

Please call 211 with questions about COVID-19. The CDC and WI Department of Health Services are good sources of information. Follow Barron County Public Health on Facebook for regular updates.

Barron County receives MLS Projects

Governor Tony Evers announced that 152 Wisconsin communities will receive grant awards from the Multimodal Local Supplement (MLS), the one-time $75 million funding program for local transportation projects.

Statewide, 84 towns, 34 cities and villages, and 34 counties will receive funding from the program. The projects funded will improve the safety, connectivity and economic growth in each community. The MLS Program received $1.47 Billion in project requests for over 1,500 projects statewide.

“This program is going to have an immediate impact on the lives of a lot of folks,” Governor Evers said. “Communities from as far north as the town of Port Wing, and as far south as the village of Cassville and the county of Kenosha will be receiving funding for transportation projects that local community leaders prioritized.”

The Barron County Highway Department was awarded $350,353.50 for the improvement of CTH U in the Village of Dallas. This section of road is among the lowest rated pavements in Barron County, and the project will include removal of the existing pavement structure and installation of new gravel and pavement. Barron County and the Village of Dallas are providing the matching funding. It is anticipated that the project will be completed in 2020.

In addition, two Barron County Towns were awarded projects. The Town of Rice Lake will receive $331,728.60 for work on 23rd Street, and the Town of Turtle Lake will receive $224,140.94 for work on 10 ½ Avenue. Both Towns will be providing matching funding.

Recommendations from the ADRC regarding COVID-19

Aging & Disability Resource Center of Barron, Rusk and Washburn Counties
Modifies Services for COVID-19 Pandemic

March 16th, 2020— The Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) of Barron, Rusk and Washburn Counties is committed to ensuring the safety of our customers, volunteers and staff. The coronavirus (COVID-19) situation is changing rapidly and the ADRC is following current recommendations from Barron County Public Health. As a proactive step in slowing down the spread of this illness and helping our local health systems manage care, we will adjust our service provisions to meet only critical needs until further notice. The ADRC will continue to assess what level of services we provide. Each of our program areas will be impacted as follows:

Senior Nutrition Program:

- Effective Thursday March 19th, dine-in meals at Barron County congregate locations, including Dining at 5, will be modified to a “Grab & Go” service until further notice. Diners will need to call the day ahead, reserve a meal for pick up at the dining site, and then take their meal with them.

- No breakfast will be served at the Rice Lake Senior Center, and there is no “Grab & Go” option.

- Soup & Salad Bar events at Barron, Cumberland, Rice Lake and Chetek will be suspended.

- AddLIFE Transportation: Specialized transportation services will continue at this time. We will be reaching out to those scheduled for non-essential trips to determine the necessity of these trips and act accordingly.

- Alzheimer’s/Dementia

Info Support Group

- Early Stage Memory Loss Support Group

- Low Vision Support Group

- Professional contacts for Information, Assistance and Benefits: We are committed to continue providing quality information and services without disruption. Face-to-face appointments (including walk-ins) will be suspended at this time. Assistance will be given over the telephone and email.

The ADRC encourages everyone to follow the Center for Disease Control (CDC) safety recommendations as they evolve. You can find information at <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/index.html>. The 211 response line is also prepared to field general questions about the COVID-19 situation. They are up to date on all statewide information.

The CDC has identified those over age 60 and people with serious chronic medical conditions like diabetes, heart, lung, or kidney disease are at higher risk for a more serious COVID-19 illness. The CDC recommends that if you are at higher risk of more serious illness from COVID-19 because of any of these factors, it is especially important for you to take actions to reduce your risk of getting sick with the disease. They recommend you:

- stock up on supplies

- take everyday precautions to keep space between yourself and others

- keep away from others who are sick when you go out in public, limit close contact, and wash your hands often

- avoid crowds as much as possible

- stay home as much as possible to reduce your risk of being exposed during a COVID-19 outbreak in your community

Barron County Public Health is providing ongoing guidance and communication and we will continue to follow their recommendations to create procedures to be able to continue as much of our current programming as possible. We realize this may cause inconvenience in the short-term.

If you are experiencing symptoms, please contact your health provider. This is an ever-changing situation and we will continue to monitor and evaluate the best ways to meet the community needs while addressing all safety concerns. For general agency questions, please contact Jennifer Jako at 715-537-6225 or <mailto:jennifer.jako@co.barron.wi.us>. Thank you for your understanding.
