COVID-19 Moratorium Ends

Cumberland Municipal Utility customers who fell behind on their utility bills will soon face late fees and the prospect of having their power shut off after three months of government protection during the coronavirus pandemic.

The Public Service Commission voted unanimously Thursday, June 11th to lift a moratorium on disconnections and other penalties that was put in place following executive orders issued by Gov. Tony Evers in March.

Utilities will be allowed to send disconnection notices starting July 15th to customers who are behind on their bills and have not worked out payment plans. Those customers could see power turned off as soon as July 27th.

What to do if you're behind:

The PSC encourages customers who have fallen behind on their bills to contact their utility to work out a payment plan. Those having trouble working out a payment plan can contact the PSC's Consumer Affairs division at 800-225-7729.

Customers can also apply for assistance through the Wisconsin Home Energy Assistance program by calling the Barron County Department of Health and Human Services at 715-537-6340.

The Salvation Army may also provide emergency assistance to those affected by COVID 19 and can be reached at 715-554-4928.

Northwoods Notebook: Summer music is back on Library Lake

By Larry Werner

It was looking like the pandemic had benched our local performers and silenced Island City Music, Cumberland's outdoor concerts on Tuesday evenings. But new Barron County guidelines allowing for gatherings of 100 and ETC's desire to provide weekly entertainment mean there'll be music downtown this summer.

The first one will be by the group called Bare Minimum, an easy-listening trio consisting of Dustin DeGoller, Raya Capuzzi and her husband, Phil. Sponsor of the performance at 6 p.m. on July 7 will be Cumberland Boat Storage Dock & Lift.

As in past years, you'll have to bring your own chairs, or a blanket you can throw down on the east shore of Library Lake. Unlike past years, we won't have a food wagon, and the groups will be on the large (south) stage that will allow spectators to spread out to the north on the downtown parking lot

While the county allows outdoor gatherings of up to 100, the social distance of six feet between folks and families is still strongly recommended. And if it rains, we won't move into the Isle Event Center, since the limit indoors is 50, with six feet of separation. Compliance with the guidelines would be difficult in the event center at the rear of Nezy's.

It wasn't an easy decision to resume the concerts, but following a long discussion on June 15, the ETC board voted to resume the concerts, after cancelling the events scheduled for June. The arts council board agreed to do the concerts with precautions — making sure audience members space out and hand sanitizer for all who come.

The county guidelines also recommend face masks.

It's a strange time, this year of the pandemic. So much has been cancelled as we avoid gatherings that could spread a virus that is likely to kill 200,000 Americans and many times that around the world. We stayed home, closed restaurants, bars and stores. Our hair grew long with barber-shops and salons shut down. And concerts were silenced because it was considered too dangerous for us to get together for the music that we've enjoyed downtown for the past three years.

Eating, drinking and hair-cutting places are open, and ETC board members voted to bring back the Tuesday concerts, starting July 7 with Bare Minimum. On July 14, The Stringsmiths will be on the big stage with bluegrass, followed by Cool To The Touch on July 21 and, on July 28, the Gospel/do wop sounds of Higher Vision.

I'm still working on lining up bands and sponsors for August.

I'm glad we were able to make Island City Music a reality for a fourth summer. Plan on coming downtown with your lawn chairs, place them six feet or more from others, and enjoy some of the local talent that makes Cumberland a special place for the arts.

Cumberland won't be the same without Cas

The Cumberland community suffered a big loss when the sad news came along that Casimir Miloszewicz had passed away this past Saturday, June 20th.

Cas' Mens Store has been a staple on Cumberland's Main Street since 1980. Cas has been there for so many through the years. Whether it was wedding tuxedos, prom tuxedos, fine clothing, or custom tailoring. People came from far and wide to visit Cas at Cas' Mens Wear. The service was second to none and the conversations were even better. I got my wedding tuxedo from Cas and my son Isaac got his Prom tuxedo there as well.

Cas was seen nearly every day walking up and down Cumberland's Main Street, poking his head in Main Street businesses to share a story or laugh. To say Cas was entertaining would be an understatement.

I ran into Kimm Laursen, and Barry and Kathryn Ault in front of the Barbershop Monday morning. The three were reminiscing about stories told by Cas over the years. Kimm stated, "I remember the first time I met Cas. I learned some new language that day." Barry and Kathryn both laughed and said we too had numerous funny encounters with Cas through the years.

Timm and Keri at Indianhead Sport Shop said whenever Cas was going on a fishing trip, he would stop in for supplies. He would get a small brown bag of goodies and state, "Well this should be plenty of stuff. Who needs a big fancy tackle box."

Cas will truly be missed by those who were fortunate enough to know him and listen to him tell a story. My thoughts and prayers go out to his wife Julie and the rest of his family and friends. I don't think I have ever met someone like Cas and I'm pretty sure I never will again. You will be truly missed by the entire Cumberland community. May you rest in peace Cas.

Click It or Ticket

To The Editor:

No matter where you travel there's a simple but very important step that all motorists can take to help prevent injuries, deaths and ease the burden on emergency responders: wear a seat belt. Every seat. Every trip.

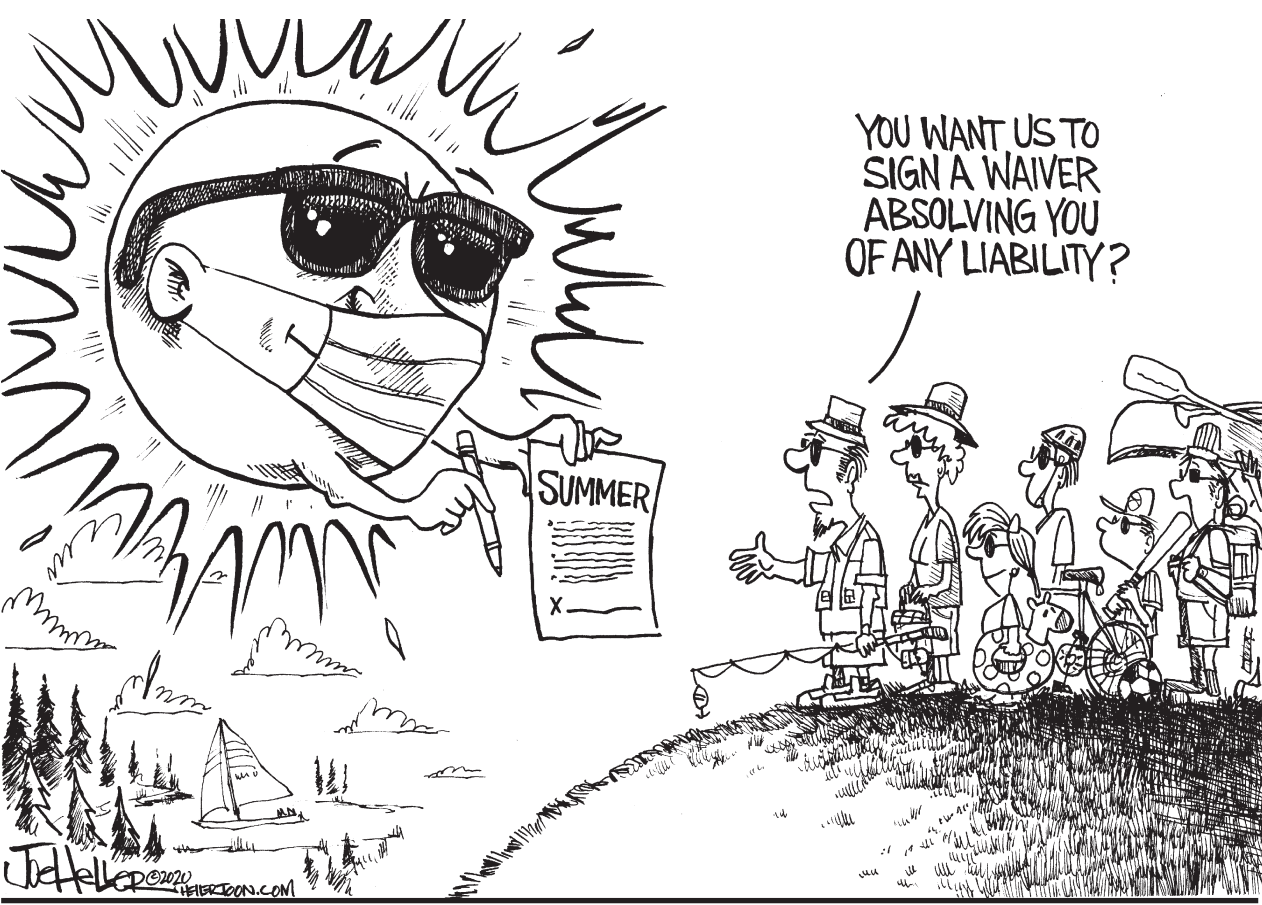

As part of our year-round public safety efforts, Cumberland Police Department will join other Wisconsin law enforcement agencies in the "Click It or Ticket" seat belt mobilization from June 22 to July 5.

As always, the goal is not to stop or cite motorists. Our emphasis is on public education and voluntary compliance with traffic laws designed to keep everyone safe. Currently in Wisconsin, more than 90 percent of motorists routinely buckle up. Still, about half the car and truck occupants killed in Wisconsin traffic crashes every year are not wearing a seat belt.

During Click It or Ticket and throughout the year, please travel safely and responsibly. That means wear your seat belt, watch your speed and drive alert. By preventing crashes and injuries, you can spare family and friends tremendous grief, while also supporting our valued health care professionals and emergency responders. Thanks for helping us move towards Zero Deaths on Wisconsin roads.

Old 'chickens' come home to roost in unequal Midwest economy

By Tom Still

MADISON, Wis. — The criminal charging of police officers in connection with the separate deaths of black men in Minneapolis and Atlanta continues to roil society and bring forth calls for reform, mainly aimed at policing and the justice system.

But what if the underlying issue isn't with cops and judges, the vast majority of whom aspire to fairness, civility and adherence to law, but with an economic reality that creates conditions which put law enforcement and the justice system in the front lines every day?

Two recent reports suggest the Midwest, more than other U.S. regions, is a place where racial inequalities are most evident in economic disparities — which can translate to frustration among people who want to rise above it but believe they cannot.

A report released Wednesday by WalletHub, which is a personal finance website that produces regular analysis of financial data, noted that Wisconsin is 50th among the states in terms of "racial equality" as measured by eight metrics. Only the District of Columbia ranked lower.

According to WalletHub, Wisconsin scored 50th in median annual income, 50th in labor force participation rate, 48th in unemployment rate, 45th in home ownership rate and 50th in poverty rate as measured by the gap between whites and other races.

Wisconsin had plenty of company in the neighborhood. Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois occupied the lowest rankings spots above Wisconsin, with Indiana (40th) not far behind.

"There were some common factors that contributed to Wisconsin and its neighbors ranking toward the bottom," said analyst Jill Gonzalez of WalletHub. "For example, the differences between the labor force participation rates of whites versus black populations in these states were some of the largest, up to as much as 15% in Wisconsin. Another common denominator in these states was the difference in the unemployment rate. Sadly, the (jobless) rate for black residents is a lot higher in this area than that of white residents."

The WalletHub rankings aren't necessarily news for people who feel the results of the economic divide every day — nor for academics who have studied and followed the trends for years.

John Austin, a University of Michigan scholar who works with both the Brookings Institution and the Chicago Council for Global Affairs, said the older industrial cities of the Midwest "are home to America's sharpest black-white divides. Of the nation's 25 most segregated metropolitan areas, 18 includes cities in the industrial Midwest."

Don't mistake Austin for a Rustbelt-basher. In fact, as the author of "A vital Midwest: The path to a new prosperity," he is a leading evangelist for the ability of the region to continue to transform its economy and quality of life for everyone. He does, however, believe some old and ugly chickens have come home to roost.

In a recent report for Brookings, Austin described how black migration to the North in the early 20th century quickly led to segregation, red-lining, deeded covenants and more as whites increasingly moved their homes, businesses and wealth to the suburbs. He also noted the disproportionate number of COVID-19 deaths among black residents in major Midwest cities, including Milwaukee, as a possible product of the enduring schism.

"What resulted are the nation's most racially and economically Balkanized metropolitan communities," Austin wrote, with lasting effects on everything from public health to transportation, and from local government and education to the economy itself.

Reasonable people will disagree over what solutions will work in time, but there is sufficient evidence the problems must be addressed to bring about improved economic opportunities for those who lack them now. That, in turn, will create a stronger economy and society for all.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He can be reached at tsill@wisconsin-technologycouncil.com.

Jesse L. Stelton, 27, of Rice Lake, has been charged with disorderly conduct, and domestic abuse. His hearing is scheduled for August 14, 2020.

Lamont C. Belisle-Douglas, 22, of Cumberland, has been charged with misdemeanor battery, disorderly conduct, and domestic abuse.

Officer Brunner, with the St. Croix Tribal Police Department, reports on June 15, at approximately 8:20 p.m., he received a call from Tribal Dispatch of a physical altercation that was ongoing between a female and Belisle-Douglas. Officer Brunner reports he requested mutual aid from the Cumberland Police Department. Officer Frey, with the Cumberland Police Department, responded to the residence.

Upon arrival, Officer Brunner reports he walked inside the house and observed a female sitting on the floor in the living room crying. The female stated her ankle hurt badly. Officer Brunner observed the female's ankle and it appeared to be quite swollen. The female also stated her left arm hurt and she had a bruise that was caused by Belisle-Douglas. Officer Brunner reports an ambulance was called. Officer Brunner grabbed an ice pack out of the freezer and placed it on the female's ankle until paramedics arrived.

Officer Brunner asked the female what happened before police arrived. The female stated Belisle-Douglas, and another female came over to the residence a little while before. She stated Belisle-Douglas was taking shots of spiced rum while there. Belisle-Douglas stated he and the female were going to go to the Casino.

The female stated she went to take a nap and a short time later, Belisle-Douglas and the other female returned to the residence. The female heard the other female crying in the bathroom. The female got up and went to check on her. The female observed blood all over the other female's face and arms. The female told the other female that she was going to call the cops.

The female stated Belisle-Douglas heard her say she was going to call the cops and barged into the bathroom. Belisle-Douglas shoved the female to the floor and began stomping on her ankle. The female stated she experienced pain when Belisle-Douglas stomped and kicked her. The female stated she did not consent to Belisle-Douglas shoving, stomping, or kicking her.

Officer Brunner reports he reviewed the victim notification with the female, and she elected to waive the 72 hour no contact prohibition.

If convicted for misdemeanor battery, Belisle-Douglas may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than nine months or both. For disorderly conduct and domestic abuse, he may be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than 90 days or both. His adjourned initial appearance is scheduled for June 24, 2020.

UW System announces students will return to campus in fall

The University of Wisconsin System will welcome students back to campus for the fall 2020 semester, UW System President Ray Cross and Regent President Andrew S. Petersen announced Monday, June 15th.

The announcement comes as universities continue planning for the 2020-21 academic year.

“We are preparing an environment that reduces risk so that students, faculty, and staff can return to campus in person this fall,” Cross said. “We know the on-campus experience is what our students want. At the same time, we must all recognize that our universities will be different this fall than what we’re used to and there will be campus-based decisions on how to best address particular issues. But students will be back on campus this fall.”

“Our UW System universities are vitally important to our students and our communities,” Petersen said. “The Board of Regents has engaged on this issue in our meetings, and I am confident in our prudent, thoughtful approach to providing educational services this fall.”

The UW System also unveiled a series of recommendations from its Plan Ahead Team and its subteams related to the 2020-21 academic year. The recommendations from the subteams focusing on Fall 2020, Public Health, Personal Protective Equipment, and Facilities Modifications were developed with input from employee experts from across the 13-institution System. The recommendations do not include testing and tracing, a subject still under study.

Institutions are using the recommendations as guidelines for developing their own plans for the 2020-21 academic year. The Plan Ahead Team will continue to develop guidance for campuses, and the recommendations released today may change as conditions change. The recommendations reflect a point in time.

“Preparing for an in-person return to campus this fall is a tremendous undertaking, and I thank my UW System and campus colleagues, our chancellors, and the Plan Ahead Team for all of their work,” Cross said. “I especially thank our faculty and students, who made the transition to alternative instruction so meaningful. We appreciate their flexibility and understanding as we approach the fall semester.”

The recommendations include:

- Maximize face-to-face instruction.
- Identify courses that can only be taught face-to-face (for example, some lab and clinical courses) for priority access to classroom space.
- Consider moving courses with an enrollment of approximately 50 or more fully online.
- Develop attendance policies that encourage sick students to stay home.
- Optimize classroom usage through evening and weekend classes.
- Continue at-home work opportunities and alternatives for at-risk populations.

- Identify dining and residence hall modifications.
- Determine isolation and quarantine capabilities.
- Create guidance on safe behavior in residence halls.

• Inventory technology needs with an emphasis on equity.

Develop a plan for phased return to research activity.

Inventory student services needs.

PUBLIC HEALTH

• Maintain social distancing.

• Emphasize staying home if sick, hand and respiratory hygiene, and wearing a mask, especially indoors.

• Consider ending in-person classes at Thanksgiving.

• Coordinate contact tracing with state and local health officials.

• Train faculty and staff on mental health issues related to the pandemic.

• Develop mental health programming.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT (PPE)

Recommend or require face coverings.

Provide education on the use and care of PPE.

FACILITIES MODIFICATIONS

• Create guidelines for classroom occupancy.

• Create guidelines for residence hall operations including cleaning, front desk operations, and common spaces.

• Create guidelines on workspaces, common spaces, ingress and egress.

Barronett News

By Judy Pieper

I hope you had a very happy Fathers’ Day and were able to spend time with family. The day was perfect for outdoor activities, like maybe a morning of fishing.

We had breakfast at the Red Brick with Miriah Lehmann and Jeremy Olson to start off Fathers’ Day. We hadn’t been able to visit with them for ages because of the quarantine thing so it was great visiting, relaxing, and enjoying Debbie’s food. After breakfast they stopped by Katie Wallace’s old house to see how much Duane has done to it. It seems like we will never get done with that place – every time he gets one thing finished he finds about three others he needs to do. But it is coming along.

After that we went to Sunday service at Barronett Lutheran. Yup, we were all able to gather at the church again for worship service. We didn’t go inside, but Pastor Todd had everything set up so that he could give the service at the top of the steps leading into the front door and we could either sit in lawn chairs or in our cars and hear him. Geri Pittman had the keyboard just inside the entrance way so that the wind didn’t blow her music away. It was so nice to be at the church and see everyone face to face again. It’s a start.

The Lehmann bunch couldn’t go to Canada this year for their annual fishing trip, so they went to Ely, Minnesota instead. There were a whole bunch of them – Suzy, Ryan and Tru Lehmann, Cheryl Lehmann and her family, Jim and Wrigley Marsh and Parker Lehman, Jerry Marsh, Jim Bayerle and his family, Angie Lehmann and her kids – and a bunch more. They had a great time playing cards and visiting with family, but the fishing was dismal. At least until the last two days. The wind was blowing so hard from Saturday until Wednesday that they could hardly go out in the boats, and when they did, the fish just were not biting. Ryan, Suzy and Tru decided to come home early because of the unfavorable conditions, and, naturally, the next day was when the rest of them started catching fish.

Suzy, Ryan, Tru, Jerry, Jim, Wrigley and Parker all stayed in one cabin in Ely, and they said that there were some very eerie things that went on at night – almost like the cabin was haunted. The lights would turn on and off for no apparent reason, and once the fireplace turned on without anyone starting it. They said that, even though there were outside lights that should have shown through the windows, when the lights went off it was so dark that they could see nothing. Very interesting. I’ve never been in a haunted place, and I’m not sure I would want to be. I’m just not that brave.

Geri Pittman’s niece, Lauri, has been visiting her for the past couple weeks, and they have been having a wonderful time together. Geri has also had a few unexpected guests to liven up their days. First of all, they saw a bear right in the yard at Geri’s home, and then, while Geri was driving into town, she saw a HUGE bear just about a quarter mile north of Lakeland Welding shop. He didn’t care at all that her car was coming down the road, and he just very slowly lumbered across the road right in front of her. He was taking his sweet time, looking at everything, and she finally beeped the horn several times to get him to hurry to the other side. That didn’t phase him much either, but he finally decided to go across so she could continue on her way.

Then, while she was out weeding her perennials, a huge garter snake crawled out of its hiding place and slithered away right in front of her. Well, Geri decided that was enough weeding for one day, and went back in the house for a while. Later, she and Lauri were sitting on the deck enjoying the sunshine, and the snake crawled up to visit with them. That startled Lauri, but Geri told her it was okay – it was just Isobel and she was harmless. It’s kind of fun, actually, to have a friendly snake visit who also takes care of the rodents around the garden.

Miriah Lehmann decided that she needed a vacation a week ago and so, after finding someone to do chores at the arena, went to southern Wisconsin to visit with Jeremy at his home down there. Oh, I almost forgot to tell you that Miriah and Jeremy have an adorable Australian Shepherd puppy that is about three months old – his name is GusGus. Anyway, she and GusGus were visiting and Jeremy and Miriah decided to go to Lake Mills and take a pontoon ride around Rock Lake. They had a life jacket for GusGus and he looked even cuter dressed in his boating gear. There is a nice sandy beach on Rock Lake where they could dock the pontoon when they needed a break. There was also a public bathroom at the beach which, we all know, comes in very handy at times. Anyway, after a few hours on the lake, Miriah asked Jeremy to go to the beach so she could use the facilities. Jeremy, being the great guy he is, offered to stay on the pontoon with little GusGus and keep him safe from all hazards. Okay, so as Miriah is walking up to the bathroom she noticed that all the women, no matter what size or age, were wearing very skimpy string bikinis. She said that she felt almost maternally in her swimsuit, if you can imagine Miriah looking maternally. As she was walking back to the pontoon, she noticed a group of young, very beautiful ladies and, as she was passing them, she heard one of them say, “wasn’t that puppy just the most adorable thing?” “Hmmm,” she thought, “What just happened here?” She got back to the pontoon and asked Jeremy about it and he said that the girls had wanted a photo with GusGus, and he was gentleman enough to grant their wish. Not only did he take a picture with their phone, he also got one for himself. And, he told her (but he was joking, we think) that when he saw her coming he told the girls that he had to get to the pontoon because his evil sister was on her way back. Funny man!

I guess that’s about all I know from Barronett this week. See you next time.

2002 Section I Champions!

Cumberland High School Golf...

State by shooting a 162, two strokes ahead of the equally impressive Kruegers 164.

The next three years were more of the same as each spring brought home another Conference Title and a trip to Madison, now the home of the State Tournament.

Coach Jim Chuchwar’s 2001 team saw Kevin Knutson join Krueger and Toftness on the All-Conference squad for the Conference Champions. Krueger then shot an excellent 72 as the Beavers won the Sectional Meet and headed to State, where they finished 7th to D2 Champion Madison Edgewood.

The 2002 team would battle Northwestern throughout the season, but would add a third straight Conference Title. Toftness would post an average nine-hole score of 38.4 for the season, while Co-Team MVP Kyle Krueger averaged 39.4 and Sophomore Zach Lindfors 40.7 per nine. All three golfers were named All-HON, while another Cumberland golfer, Kyle Miller, would record a hole-in-one in a match against Hayward. The team would go on to a 3rd place State finish as only Pewaukee and McFarland outdistanced the Beaver squad.

A 4th place State finish in 2003 concluded a tremendous Cumberland run. The seniors had finished as four-time Conference and Sectional Champions and State qualifiers. They would roll through the Conference Meet with Toftness shooting a 73 and Krueger and Lindfors 76 each. Then at State, Krueger led the team in scoring with a 157, while fellow Senior Josh Tempesta shot a 159 and Toftness a 164.

Zach Lindfors would finish his career in 2004 by becoming the HON Co-Golfer of the year and going to State as an individual, his fourth consecutive trip to Madison. He would also be named to the Academic All-State Team. The team, however, would only finish fifth in the Conference Tournament.

Since that time, Cumberland has only won one other Conference Championship and have not qualified for the State Tournament.

The Conference Title came in 2010 as Tim Scheff and Travis Lehmann became All-Conference performers in leading the Beavers to the top of the HON. Lehmann would go on to become a top-10 HON golfer for three straight seasons.

Although the WIAA began its golf tournament program for girls in the fall of 1972, Cumberland would not add the sport to its offerings until 1990. Several young ladies, including Lindi Momchilovich, Terry Jordan and Molly Jacobson had chosen to participate on the boy’s team prior to that date.

Jacobson had earned a position as a top-five golfer on the boy’s spring team prior to 1990. A three-sport athlete, she had twice been a First Team All-Conference Volleyball player prior to the fall of 1990. Her senior year, however, she would leave volleyball to become a member of Cumberland’s first HON Girl’s Golf team.

Jacobson would start out the season quickly as she shot a 84 to become Medalist at Rice Lake in the teams first Tournament competition. In her second outing, she shot a 37 in a dual at Bloomer. She then was Medalist at the Conference Meet with an 84 and shot an 88 at Sectionals to qualify for the State Meet in Milwaukee. In her one opportunity there, she would shoot an 83 and a 91 to finish 7th overall.

Jacobson would go on to play four years at Division 1 New Mexico State, where she was twice named as a member of the Conference All-Scholar team and participated in the NCAA National finals. She had set the stage for the Cumberland girls golfers who would follow her lead.

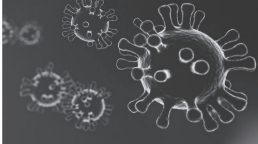

Since 1990, there have been several good women golfers. Kaitlyn Peichel, Emily Anderson, Faith Erickson and Emma Erickson are among those who have earned All-Conference status. The women are still looking, however, for their first HON Championship.

Today, at the Cumberland Golf Club, one can find a variety of ages and levels of skill out on the course each day. Somewhere lies the next HON Champion.

Casimir Miloszewicz

Casimir Miloszewicz (Rice Lake), known to all his family and friends as Cas, passed away unexpectedly on Saturday, June 20, 2020.

Cas was born on January 28, 1953 to Josef and Stella Miloszewicz in Malary, Poland. He immigrated to the United States with his family at the age of 10. He graduated from Rice Lake High School, attended UW-Barron County Campus and in 1974, he married his high school sweetheart, Julie (née Ritzinger). They raised two daughters, Angela (Dockendorf) and MaKayne (Amaya).

Cas began his long, successful, and creative career as a tailor and business owner in 1980, when he and Julie established Cas' Menswear in Cumberland, Wisconsin. Together they would build a one-of-a-kind, world renowned tailoring business and destination men's clothing store. He was a vibrant and active member of the business community in Cumberland; the storefront and 2nd street in Cumberland will never be the same.

Cas was a man of great generosity and he loved his family fiercely. He was kind and gracious. Cas was always hospitable and those who knew him knew they always had him in their corner, and his home was open to all. Cas was not shy; he spoke freely. His words and actions were bold, strong, and sometimes stern. But even while sharply dressed in his starched shirts, perfectly pressed pants and polished wingtips, his heart was big and soft and his intentions good.

Cas was also very proud and hardworking. He took pride in his work, his business, his family, and his home. He loved his yard, landscaping, gardens and his kitchen. He loved to entertain and was the center of gatherings with his family and friends. He enjoyed working in his yard, tending to his peacocks, swans and peace doves. Cas enjoyed working with his hands - from his intricate sewing to elaborate bird houses, decks, greenhouses and patios. He was a softy for any animal and had many dogs and other family pets in his lifetime. If you ever wondered who the man driving around town was with the giant Saint Bernard hanging out of the sunroof, it was Cas. He enjoyed fishing and hunting with his friends as well as picking blackberries, strawberries and mushroom hunting on his land with 'his girls', Julie, Angela and MaKayne.

Cas is survived by his wife, Julie, daughters and son-in-laws, Angela and Grant Dockendorf, and MaKayne and José Amaya, brother-in-law, Tom (Barb) Ritzinger and sister-in-law Marty (Peter) Gallagher, nephews Jason (Ann) Miloszewicz and Jeremy (Lili) Miloszewicz, Adam and Joel (Rachel) Gallagher, Ian and Aiden Ritzinger, great nephews Austin (Brittany), Anthony (Veronica), Ashton Miloszewicz, Alex and Liam Gallagher, Malcom Miloszewicz, great niece Ruby Miloszewicz, and great-great nephew, Nathan Miloszewicz, as well as endless extended family and friends. He is preceded in death by his parents, Josef and Stella, brothers Anthony and Joseph, and numerous dear friends, including his basement coffee clutch crew.

To say Cas and his larger than life persona will be missed is a grave understatement. From his boisterous laugh, to his favorite colorful catch phrases or his welcoming handshake or hug, Cas impacted the lives of many as a husband, father, friend, and businessman.

A gathering will take place at the home of Cas and Julie Miloszewicz on Saturday, July 18th, 2020 from noon to 5:00pm to honor Cas, his life and to share memories and stories about him. Appleyard's Home for Funerals in Rice Lake is in charge of the arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, please consider donating to a scholarship in honor of Cas to be directed to business focused students beginning their studies at UW-Barron County. Contributions can be made out to UWEC-Barron County Foundation with "Miloszewicz Memorial Scholarship" written in the memo and mailed directly to UW-Barron County, Attention: Barb Ritzinger, 1800 College Drive, Rice Lake, WI 54868.

Ellen A. White

Ellen A. White, 83, of Rice Lake, passed away Saturday, June 21, 2020, at Mayo Clinic Health System in Eau Claire with her family near her.

She was born May 19, 1937, in Elk River, MN, the daughter of Thane and Alma (Luedke) Hamlet. She graduated from Shell Lake High School in 1955. On October 24, 1959, Ellen married Vern L. White and had two children together. She worked for Marshfield Clinic in Marshfield, and retired from there in the mid 1990's.

Ellen liked to sew, crochet, and visit with family and friends. Her most favorite pastime was baking. Following their retirement, Vern and Ellen enjoyed traveling to Alaska to visit and care for their grandkids and socializing with everyone.

Survivors include her daughter, Renee Fischer; son, Jeffrey (Elizabeth) White, all of Juneau, AK; grandchildren, Jack and Quinn White; sisters, Janice Petz of Rice Lake, and Linda (Bruce) Gilbertson of Clayton; and a brother, Ed (Helen) Hamlet of Hayward; also by many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Ellen was preceded in death by parents; her husband, Vern in 2019; siblings, James Hamlet, Vicki Hanson, and Nancy Kellner.

"Good News, Indeed!"

by Pastor Diane House,
Trinity Lutheran Church

A woman named Janet Lewis posted this on June 13th on facebook: "Sometimes I just want it to stop. Talk of Covid, protests, looting, brutality. I lose my way. Become convinced that this "new normal" is real life. But, then I meet an 87 year old who talks of living through Polio, diphtheria, Vietnam protests and yet is still enchanted with life. He seemed surprised when I said that 2020 must be especially challenging for him. "No," he said slowly looking me straight in the eyes," I learned a long time ago to not see the world through the printed headlines, I see the world through the people that surround me. I see the world with the realization that we love big. Therefore, I just choose to write my own headlines. "Husband loves wife today." "Family drops everything to come to Grandma's bedside" He patted my hand. "Old man, makes new friend." His words collide with my worries, freeing them from the tether I had been holding tight. They float away. I am left with a renewed spirit. My headline now reads "Woman overwhelmed by the spirit of kindness and the reminder that our capacity to love is never ending."

Singer-songwriter Anne Murray once wrote a song called "A little Good News" that wondered what the world would be like if good news made the headlines. The chorus was this: "Nobody robbed a liquor store on the loser part of town. Nobody OD'ed , nobody burned a single buldin' down. Nobody fired a shot in anger, nobody had to die in vain. We sure could use a little good news today."

How about you? Do you need some good news today? Because of the love God shows us in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus the Christ, we can concentrate on the beauty and love in the world that is ours to share. We can share this good news with weary neighbors from 1 John 4: 7-9: Beloved, let us love one another, because love is from God; everyone who loves is born of God and knows God. Whoever does not love does not know God, for God is love. God's love was revealed among us in this way: God sent his only Son into the world so that we might live through him. This is good news, indeed!

COVID-19 Nearly Absent at Wisconsin Veterans Homes

All three of the Wisconsin Veterans Homes recently completed a first round of member and staff COVID-19 testing as part of a statewide precautionary measure. While some results are still pending, we happily share that COVID-19 remains nearly absent on our campuses. Only one asymptomatic member (who later tested negative multiple times) and three staff total across all three campuses (who have quarantined at home) tested positive. We credit our dedicated team, who diligently followed health and safety protocols, for preventing spread of the virus. Regular updates can be found on our Veterans Home at King, Veterans

Home at Union Grove, and Veterans Home at Chippewa Falls pages on the WDVA website. While our visitor restrictions remain in place, we have started developing plans to safely loosen our visitor policy when the appropriate time comes. Thank you for your patience

DHS unveils COVID-19 Activity Level Data Dashboard

DHS launches new data dashboard to help make data-informed local decisions
The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) launched a new data dashboard today designed to give Wisconsinites the tools they need to most effectively respond to COVID-19. “Our fight against COVID-19 isn’t over. Folks need to remember that this virus continues to spread in our state,” said Governor Tony Evers. “We want to make sure Wisconsinites have accurate information about the status of COVID-19 in their communities. That’s why the next generation of Badger Bounce Back, a new data dashboard assessing COVID-19 activity level, is so critically important.” The data dashboard consists of maps and tables that toggle between counties and Healthcare Emergency Readiness Coalition

(HERC) regions. The counties and regions are color-coded to indicate overall COVID-19 activity status: low, medium, or high. Overall activity status is a summary indicator based on two data points: the burden of cases and the trajectory of cases. Burden, also defined as case rate, is the total number of cases a county or region has per 100,000 Wisconsin residents in the past two weeks, and is described as low, moderate, moderately high, or high. Trajectory, also defined as case change, refers to the percent change of cases in the past two weeks, and is described as shrinking, growing, or having no significant change. “The unprecedented nature of the COVID-19 pandemic requires a nimble response,” said DHS Secretary-designee Andrea Palm. “This data dashboard makes it possible for local leaders, businesses, and individual Wisconsinites to better understand the level of COVID-19 activity they face in their communities and to take precautions accordingly.” County and regional data should be used to inform decisions within each community. DHS continues to advise against travel between different areas of the state. DHS plans to expand the dashboard in upcoming weeks to include data on additional indicators related to disease surveillance, health care capacity, and public health response. The dashboard will be updated by 2 p.m. every Wednesday. Please monitor the DHS website for updates, and follow @DHSWI on Facebook(link is external) and Twitter(link is external), or dhs.wi on Instagram(link is external).

This week: The Business of Lovers

by Eric Jerome Dickey c. 2020, Dutton • $27 • 387 pages

How is it that there’s never enough money? No matter how much comes in, more goes out, even when you work hard, scrimp, and save. You can’t keep doing this, don’t know how long you can keep your nose above water, and in the new book “The Business of Lovers” by Eric Jerome Dickey, you’ll do just about anything to make more money.

Brick never did mind being Penny’s driver. He wasn’t working anyhow so when she asked for a ride to meet a “client,” he said he’d wait to be sure she was okay. She threw a few bucks at him, he made sure she was safe, and it was all good. So when Penny brought two other women back to Brick’s car after one night at a high-end hotel, he suddenly had himself a “pace” of women, a full-time bodyguard job, and three part-time lovers-sometime-roommates.

He hadn’t meant to sleep with Penny in the beginning; she was in love with a cheater, though, and she needed comfort. Brick was captivated by Mocha Latte, who’d grown up on a Texas farm and wanted that life again, plus husband and kids. He was attracted to Christiana, the Cuban, who was so bruised by the past that she could only look into the future. It was Christiana who told Brick about the business; it was she who offered to set him up with rich women who wanted love on a single-night basis. It was Mocha Latte who actually pulled him in.

Not that he couldn’t use the money. Some months before, Brick had fought cancer alone. He didn’t want his younger brother, André, to know about his problems; André had a career to manage. He didn’t want to tell his big brother, Dwayne, about his illness; Dwayne lost his job, had a teenage son and a baby-mama who demanded more child support.

It was money that ended Brick’s last relationship. Money that put him in strange women’s beds. What else would being broke cost him? These days, there are three things you can count on for sure: The sun will rise tomorrow. It’ll rain somewhere in the world. And author Eric Jerome Dickey will tell a good story. This one is a little bit different, though. You shouldn’t be surprised that there’s plenty of sleeping around in “The Business of Lovers” or that it’s graphic, so be warned. It’s filled with grown-up drama but at the risk of spoiling, you can expect a happy ending that you won’t expect. It’s got a touch of humor, the sly kind. This book’s profane, even nasty but none of it gets out of hand, that’s the most enjoyable part of it. You’re leisurely taken through a surprisingly small community of characters on a tight number of mattresses with a mini-arsenal of plot moves, a lack of too much that’s absolutely refreshing, like a cool drink beneath hot sheets. That’s what you want this summer, right? So whether you’re stuck inside or turnt out, “The Business of Lovers” is on the money. If you’re in search of something great to take in the car, on vacation, on the tractor, or to the lunchroom, Terri can be reached at bookwormsez@yahoo.com. Happy Reading!

MASKS: Do This, Not That

Help slow the spread and wear a mask – the right way.

DO	DON'T
cover your mouth and nose with the mask	pull it down until you're away from others
make sure the mask fits snugly against the sides of your face	wear it so loose it falls, or so tight it's uncomfortable
tie or hook the mask to your ears	hold it to your face with your hands include more than one layer of fabric	make the mask so thick it's hard to breathe
use a fabric that can be easily washed and dried	use masks healthcare providers need (like surgical masks)

As you adapt to this new normal, you're not alone. We're here for you, no matter what time it is. Keep up with the latest care advice at AtriumHealth.org/Coronavirus.

TOWN OF MCKINLEY • POLK COUNTY
NOTICE OF OPEN BOOK

Pursuant to s.70.45, Wis. Stats., the assessment roll for the 2020 assessment year will be open for examination at the following time: Tuesday, July 7, 2020, from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the McKinley Town Hall.

TOWN OF MCKINLEY
NOTICE OF BOARD OF REVIEW

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Review for the Town of McKinley, Polk County, Wisconsin, shall hold its first meeting on Tuesday, July 14, 2020, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the McKinley Town Hall, 2527 15th Street, Cumberland, Wisconsin.

Please be advised of the following requirements to appear before the board of review and procedural requirements if appearing before the board:

1. No person will be allowed to appear before the board of review, to testify to the board by telephone, or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the assessor to enter onto property to conduct an exterior view of such property being assessed.
2. After the first meeting of the board of review and before the board's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the board of review may contact or provide information to a member of the board about the person's objection, except at a session of the board. Open book shall occur no less than 7 days prior to the board of review.
3. The board of review may not hear an objection to the amount or valuation of property unless, at least 48 hours before the board's first scheduled meeting, the objector provides to the board's clerk written or oral notice of an intent to file an objection, except that upon a showing of good cause and the submission of a written objection, the board shall waive that requirement during the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, and the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days with proof of extraordinary circumstances for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and failure to appear before the board of review during the first 2 hours of the first scheduled meeting.
4. Objections to the amount or valuation of property shall first be made in writing and filed with the clerk of the board of review within the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, except that, upon evidence of extraordinary circumstances, the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days. The board may require objections to the amount or valuation of property to be submitted on forms approved by the Department of Revenue, and the board shall require that any forms include stated valuations of the property in question. Persons who own land and improvements to that land may object to the aggregate valuation of that land and improvements to that land, but no person who owns land and improvements to that land may object only to the valuation of that land or only to the valuation of improvements to that land. No person may be allowed in any action or proceedings to question the amount or valuation of property unless the written objection has been filed and that person in good faith presented evidence to the board in support of the objections and made full disclosure before the board, under oath, of all of that person's property liable to assessment in the district and the value of that property. The requirement that objections be in writing may be waived by express action of the board.

5. When appearing before the board of review, the objecting person shall specify in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information that the person used to arrive at that estimate.

6. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or object to a valuation if that valuation was made by the assessor or the objector using the income method of valuation, unless no later than 7 days before the first meeting of the board of review the person supplies the assessor with all the information about income and expenses, as specified in the assessor's manual under s. 73.03 (2a), Wis. stats., that the assessor requests. The Town of McKinley has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the assessor under this paragraph that provides exceptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or the duties of their officer or by order of a court. The information that is provided under this paragraph, unless a court determines before the first meeting of the board of review that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under s. 19.35 (1), Wis. Stats.

7. The board shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the board a letter from a physician, surgeon, or osteopath that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone unless the Board, in its discretion, has determined to grant a property owner's or their representative's request to testify under oath by telephone or written statement.

8. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or contest the amount of any assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the board, or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed under s.70.47 (3) (a), Wis. stats., that person provides to the clerk of the board of review notice as to whether the person will ask for the removal of a member of the board of review and, if so, which member, and provides a reasonable estimate of the length of time the hearing will take.

Notice is hereby given this 24th day of June 2020.

1917: A World War and the Lead-up to a Pandemic

By Mark R. Fuller

As Cumberland residents received their first Advocate on January 4 of 1917, the great war in Europe had been going on for well over two years. After the sinking of the passenger ship, Lusitania in 1915, Germany had promised not to target any more passenger liners. With merchant ships now traveling in convoys, the U boat threat had lessened for at least a while. This had once again increased the United States hopes of non-intervention in the conflict.

Little did we expect in this paper, that later in the month, Germany would decide to resume unrestricted submarine warfare, in the hopes of starving Britain into surrender. They did this knowing that US participation in WWI was now inevitable.

The Methodist Church would hold an informational meeting on January 18 to keep local residents informed. Called “The War in Europe,” the article described the purpose of the night as, “To know more about the lives and customs from those that have been among them.”

January Advocates were filled with post-Christmas advertisements. Hines Mercantile ran a full-page ad in the January 11 paper offering Men’s Horse-Hide Fur Coats for $26.85 and Calf-Skin Coats for $28.85. Women, meanwhile, could get a “Fancy Corduroy Coat” for only $11.33.

That same paper offered upcoming sources of entertainment for the residents of the now 40-year old city. At the high school, a film called, “The Power of the Penny,” would be playing Thursday night, while the Opera House announced they would be hosting the “Coulter Sisters” on Friday and Saturday for two hours each. The paper said they would “Sing, dance, and perform comedy” with tickets costing 15, 25, and 35 cents.

In February, the Advocate announced the formation of the “Let’er Go Club.” It was an outdoor sporting club whose purpose was to “Advance the social and healthful interests of the young people of Cumberland and vicinity.”

They would be setting up a toboggan run from Douglas Hill to the lake and a skating rink for skating and hockey behind the W.G. Miller house. A bonfire with a band was scheduled as a grand opening.

By March, the high school basketball season was coming to an end with a tournament in Superior, which would decide the entrant into the State High School Tournament.

The High School Athletic Association had purchased “new suits” for the team but was short money to finish payment on them and to pay for the teams travel to Superior. They used the Advocate as a means to appeal to the townspeople. An article told the residents, “It is anticipated that every loyal citizen will smile pleasantly when some charming high school girl asks him to pay fifty cents for a years subscription to the “To Day’s Magazine,” for 40 cents of this goes to the athletic treasury.”

Spring was also a time for the school play, as “Ben Hur” was that year’s choice. With George St. Angelo in the lead, the Advocate said of the event, “The pupils of the high school again demonstrated their ability as actors of no common calibre by producing this great historical pageant drama.” They also described a rendition of “The Chariot Race” by Clyde Lighter, as “One of the evenings hi-lights.”

Then on April 2, President Wilson could wait no longer and finally called for war on Germany. The US Congress would make it official four days later. The United States was in WWI.

Two weeks later, the Advocate carried a front page article that included a proclamation by Governor Emanuel Phillipp. In it he would tell the States residents that, “A soldier alone cannot carry on the war successfully. With food essential for the effort, the man who works with a hoe will be a patriot in the service of his country. I urge all who are able to work to do their part in the production of food.”

The war effort also needed Red Cross members and the library held a sign-up meeting on May 3 with the Advocate saying, “Let every loyal woman attend.” The city responded in big numbers.

As spring progressed into summer, plans for the 1917, 4th of July celebration began. Eagle Point was secured as the location of the city picnic, while the Advocate announced that “Latina’s Three Ring Wild West Show and Circus” would also be in town that day.

The paper called the celebration a big success complete with a “Stirring patriotic address from Reverend Harold Gee at noon at the Library,” that was followed by the parade of the circus troops on main street. The parade was followed by a “Rush to the Circus grounds,” as tickets would be eventually sold out. A splendid day was completed with a dance at the Opera House, sponsored by the “Let’er Go Club.”

The paper in the fall of 1917 was filled with the enlistment of soldiers that came, in part, from the first peacetime draft in the history of the United States. Called the Burke-Wadsworth Act, it included the registration of men between 21 and 36.

As the Advocate covered the many names of those who enlisted without the draft, an August 9 paper included an article on those who hoped to escape enlistment through exemptions.

Saying “Flagrant cases of this kind will be investigated and criminal proceedings will be started if facts warrant it,” the paper urged city residents to “Look over carefully the published list of those seeking exemptions and if any of these applicants are not entitled to escape service, do your Patriotic duty by reporting the facts to the County Clerk.”

On September 20, a large crowd gathered in Barron to “Participate in Patriotic exercises as 72 County boys head to war.” Thirty-six more would leave in October. Cumberland and all of Barron County was heavily involved in the war effort.

That Christmas, the school kids were involved in gathering donations for the soldiers. Each class participated with the 8th grade collecting $10.76. Unfortunately, the high school would only give 78 cents to the effort as a jar of money had been stolen a few days earlier. The Red Cross, meanwhile, used this period to donate $850.00 to the war campaign, thanking the Boy Scouts for aiding their effort.

As January 1918 began, the Advocate routinely carried continual WWI news and when possible stories from the city’s servicemen. One such story came from John Corcoran of the 341st Infantry who talked about his experiences in basic training.

“Been getting the paper and thanks for it. It sure seems good to get news from home. All the Barron County boys are feeling fine with plenty to eat and lots of drilling.”

Yesterday we were out on the target range and the Captain had Wisconsin men shoot and then Illinois. We shot and the Badgers did the best. Most of the Illinois

WestCAP helps low-income households affected by COVID-19 Pandemic

Many households in western Wisconsin have been struggling with the negative impacts the COVID-19 pandemic is having on their lives. The loss of income, lack of childcare, closing of schools, and mental and physical health issues are a few of the problems people are facing.

“West CAP has been helping our low-income neighbors for over 50 years and we are here to help folks through the current crisis” says Peter H. Kilde, West CAP executive director.

To financially assist households affected by the pandemic, West CAP has received funding from a variety of sources including the State of Wisconsin, St. Croix Valley Community Foundation, and the United Way of Rice Lake to assist low-income residents of Barron, Chippewa, Dunn, Pepin, Pierce, Polk, and St. Croix who have been negatively impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Areas of assistance include: Rent/Mortgage, Utilities, Phone/Internet, Food, and Transportation. WIS 48 traffic changes in Rice Lake coming now and in July

WIS 48/US 53 interchange Stage 2a construction nearing completion

Construction around the US 53/WIS 48 interchange in Rice Lake continues as scheduled, and motorists should expect to see traffic changes coming soon.

Drivers exiting from northbound US 53 to WIS 48 have already begun using the temporary connection at Stout Street. Motorists are reminded to obey the traffic signs and slow down next to the hospital. The use of Stout Street with the off-ramp is expected to be in place until early September.

The intersection of West Avenue to the south of WIS 48 is anticipated to open sometime during the week of June 22.

Weather pending, the contractor will complete the necessary partial construction of the West Avenue roundabout and begin construction of the ramp terminal roundabouts. As early as July 6, drivers can expect the:

- Closing of the US 53 southbound on-ramp from WIS 48.
- The detour for access to US 53 will utilize WIS 25 and US 8 through Barron.
- The detour/closure will be in place for four weeks.

In addition, the West Avenue/19th Street intersection to the north will remain open as will WIS 48; however, motorists might encounter delays. All temporary traffic signals also will remain in place through the next stage of construction.

The $5 million project includes completely reconstructing WIS 48 from West Avenue to Bear Paw Avenue, the WIS 48-West Avenue intersection with a roundabout and the north- and southbound US 53 ramp terminals at WIS 48 as roundabouts. Pavement marking and traffic signal installation also are planned to improve the Bear Paw Avenue intersection. Construction began April 20 and is scheduled to be completed in mid-November.
