New Fire Chief Sworn in at the Cumberland Fire District Meeting

by Barry Kuenkel Chief Emeritus

After 20 years of serving as Cumberland's Fire Chief, it is time for a change. Assistant Chief Rick Sebens was sworn in as the new chief at the April 28th Cumberland Fire District board meeting. But, I am NOT retiring, as I am too young for that. I am simply stepping into a supportive role on the department.

Rick brings to the position 23 years of experience on the fire department. He has extensive knowledge of building construction, which is essential when fighting structure fires. Rick has been trained in many aspects of emergency services including; Fire Officer I, Incident Safety, Leadership, Risk Management, Fire Investigations, Confined Space Rescue Technician, Incident Command and much more.

Rick has been a part of the department's succession planning for several years, by taking on leadership roles in several working groups and being an able and supporting assistant to me. In recognition of his efforts, he was awarded Wisconsin State Firefighters Association's Firefighter of the Year in 2012.

Rick is an excellent incident commander who garners and deploys resources in an effective and efficient manner. He will be blessed with a leadership team that is also well versed in those skills.

Above all, Rick is absolutely proud of and devoted to, the success of this department and our community and I am confident the fire department will be in good hands.

New Fire Chief!

New Cumberland Fire Chief Rick Sebens (left) is congratulated by outgoing Cumberland Fire Chief Barry Kuenkel at the Fire District board meeting Thursday, April 28 at the fire hall. Congratulations Rick and a huge thank you to Barry for 20 years as Cumberland Fire Chief.

Fatal ATV Crash in Polk County

Updated Thursday, April 28th.On Thursday April 21, 2022 at around 8:00 p.m, the Polk County Sheriff's Office Dispatch Center was notified of an ATV Crash on 168th Ave, near 80th Street in the Town of Apple River.

Upon arrival of Sheriff's Deputies, they found a lone male, who was unresponsive near a rolled over ATV. It appeared the east bound ATV veered into the ditch and upon entering onto the soft shoulder, the ATV began to roll over. The victim appeared to have severe injuries to his head and was not wearing a helmet.

Fire and EMS personnel attended to the victim, and he was later flown to Regions Hospital.

The operator did not survive his injures and later died in the hospital. The operator was 67 year old Mark Rice from Isanti, Minnesota.

This incident is currently under investigation by the Wisconsin DNR and the Polk County Sheriff's Office.

Three Charged with Scamming Poker Machines at Taverns

Kyle E. Frase, 32, of Webster, has been charged with misdemeanor theft-party to a crime, Alisa E. Juza, 42, of Altoona, has been charged with misdemeanor theft-party to a crime, and Carl D. Juza, 37, of Altoona, has been charged with misdemeanor theft, and two counts of misdemeanor theft-party to a crime.

A Barron County Sheriff Deputy reports on September 20, 2021, at approximately 10:30 am, she was contacted by Alisa Juza, who stated on September 18, 2021, she was at a tavern, located in Stanley, and that her debit card had been used without her consent.

The deputy reports Alisa stated that she was at the bar with a friend, and that when they got there she went up to the bar and ordered herself a glass of water, as well as a beer for her friend. Alisa stated that the water was free and she only had to pay for the beer.

Alisa stated that she provided the bar with her debit card which was put into a machine to start a tab, and she did not make any other purchases that day. Alisa stated that when she checked her card online, she saw she had a bill for $325.23 from the tavern.

The deputy reports she asked Alisa who her friend was, and she advised that they were just a friend. Alisa stated that she had already been in contact with the owners, and they were very rude to her and claimed that she was with her husband, who is not supposed to be in bars. Alisa stated that she was not, and that she was with a friend.

The deputy reports Alisa stated that the owners were upset, and thought that she and her friend had ripped off their gambling machines.

The deputy reports that she later made contact with the owners of the tavern. The deputy reports the owners advised that Alisa and her husband Carl, were in the bar playing on the gambling machines. The owner stated that the next morning they discovered that the two had fraudulently played the machines and received money from the bar.

The owner also stated that two different times during the evening, Alisa had come up to the bar with receipts from the gambling machines and had been paid out from behind the bar for their winnings. The owner stated the next morning she was in the bar and went to check the

Northwoods Notebook: I got it and, fortunately, have a home in Cumberland By Larry Werner

Ann was telling a neighbor last week that her husband, more than two years into the pandemic, had tested positive for COVID-19.

"But Larry was so careful," he said.

Yes, I was. We avoided eating in restaurants, avoided gathering indoors with friends and even family, until we were fully vaccinated. And even after getting two vaccines and a booster shot, we wore our masks inside public places.

But after the second booster, with the virus presumably infecting fewer people, or at least sickening and killing fewer people, I began to go unmasked, and, when cold symptoms hit, I took one of those home tests and was shocked to see the little line that indicated I had this thing we had spent the past 24 months trying so hard to avoid.

Then, the guessing began: Was it the Easter brunch at my son's house with the kids and grandkids? Maybe it was the service at our church that had only recently lifted the mask requirement for those who had their shots? Was it one of those restaurant meals, or a shopping trip? I couldn't have contracted it during our time in Arizona, because we'd been back for almost a month.

It was doing no good to wonder where I got it. It was time to do something about it. Problem was we were at the apartment we keep in the Twin Cities.

I spent 20 minutes filling out a form on the website of the pharmacy where we do business there so I could confirm the diagnosis with a drive-through test. But when I showed up at the window, there was no record I had signed up for a test. I went home and called the pharmacy and, after 20 minutes on hold, I hung up.

I called my Twin Cities doctor, and while he didn't call back, another doctor did. He couldn't see me but said he'd put me into a "lottery" for the anti-viral medicine someone my age, with my conditions, should get. It was a Thursday, and he warned me I might not hear from anyone until Monday because, "They don't work on weekends."

At that point, I called The Apothecary in Cumberland and was told it had a good supply of Paxlovid. All I needed was a positive test in the little red shed in the parking lot of Cumberland Health Care, and then I'd be seen in the clinic. We decided to head for Cumberland, got a test that confirmed I was positive – and Ann negative – then was seen in the clinic the next day and was sent to The Apothecary, where the medicine was waiting for me.

When this pandemic began, we were in Florida. After watching the President's announcement that he was declaring a national emergency, we hit the road for home. My daughter suggested we should hunker down at our place in the Cities, close to world-class health-care institutions. We decided it would be safer in our little Wisconsin town.

Early on, friends and relatives in the Cities were standing in long lines for hours to get tested. We got appointments at the little red shed. Once vaccines became available, people in the Cities were spending hours on the internet trying to get a vaccination appointment, which was sometimes hours away. Meanwhile, we and our friends in Cumberland were getting emails and calls from the friendly folks on Seventh Avenue inviting us to come in for our shots.

It's true that those who became seriously ill with the virus were sent to hospitals in Minneapolis and St. Paul, where they were treated in special COVID wards. But most who got it didn't get critically ill, and it was much easier to get tested, vaccinated and treated here than there.

Then I got the virus while there, where I wasn't able to get tested, or treated, quickly. So we came to The Island City, where when you call for an appointment, or a prescription, the phone is answered by a human being, not a computer. And, quickly, I was tested, visited with Nurse Practitioner Jennifer Murdza, and given a course of antivirals at our friendly little pharmacy.

Fortunately, my case is a mild one, probably because I am vaccinated, and because the current variant, while more contagious, isn't as deadly as the early variants. I'm sure my anti-vax friends will say they told me so – that the shots did no good: I got it even though I was vaccinated.

Tell that to my brother-in-law's best friend, a big strong heavy equipment operator who refused to get vaccinated. My brother-in-law attended the guy's funeral a couple week ago. He died of COVID.

I'm glad we're vaccinated and glad we're a five-minute drive from a medical center that might not be on a list of the country's top hospitals, but where you can get to see someone without waiting for a month or more.

Our friends Lori and Al Bock moved into town from the Timberland area a few years ago so they could be closer to Cumberland Healthcare as they get older. I told them about my experience trying to get a test and medicine in the Cities, and the prompt service we got in Cumberland.

Lori recalled the email she and Al received from Cumberland Healthcare when the vaccines arrived here.

"I still have the "call us for an appointment" email they sent out to everyone when they had vaccine available," Lori said the other day. "It's not very exciting reading, but I cried when I read it."

Opinion

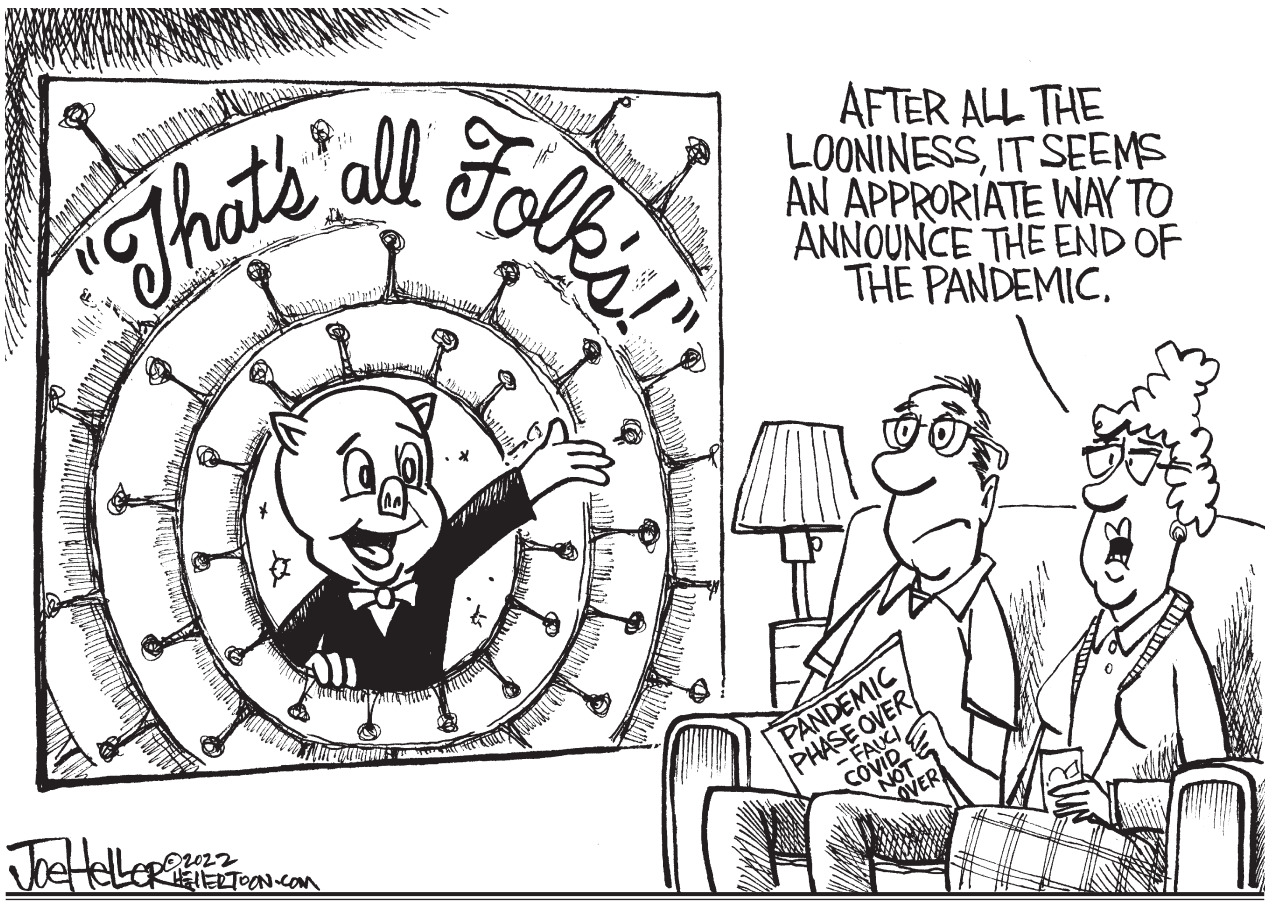

By Craig Bucher

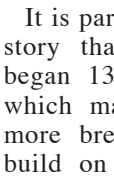

A month ago, Russian armed forces began an all-out attack on the sovereign country Ukraine and its capitol Kyiv. Despite diplomatic efforts by the United States and members of NATO to head off Putin, the invasion started, and so far, after two months, the attack has grown and there doesn't seem to be a cease-fire in the immediate future. So many of us know little about this eastern European country. What is it like? One only has to look at the map to see the reason for Russian interest. A Russian victory will cut off Ukraine from the Black Sea and will add to Russian land.

Ukraine is only a country with a 30 year history after breaking off from the Soviet Union. It is not a member of the European Union or of NATO. It has wavered between Moscow and the West for the 30 years of its independence.

In 2014, Russia annexed the Crimean portion of Ukraine. Since then over 14,000 people have lost their lives. The Blue and Yellow flag has been banned under Russian rule. With Ukrainian independence, the new country came into control of a large stockpile of nuclear weapons, which the new country agreed to give-up upon receiving guarantees of independence and existing borders. This memorandum was signed by the United States, Russia, and the United Kingdom. The country began to move from a Soviet state to a capitalist society. The movement continued until the government fell, after multiple charges of graft and corruption. A new government was installed in 2005 even though the winning challenger was poisoned. In 2009, the Russian company in charge of pumping oil and gas through Ukraine, stops pumping and a crisis begins as most of Europe uses Russian gas and oil. After a period of tough negotiations, the government agrees not to sign a free trade agreement with the European Union citing Russian pressure as the reason. Riots breakout all over Ukraine with threats to jail the President and to join the European Union. Russia declares the change in the Ukraine government an illegal coup justifying the armed annexation of portions of Crimea. The puppet Crimea parliament votes to succeed from Ukraine and is recognized by Russia. Fighting broke out and continues for eight years. In April a new president is elected. Velodymyr Zelensky vowed to solve the problem with Russia but is foiled by blockage of military aid from the United States. Russia began moving troops to the border until the total reached 100,000 men and equipment. In January, Putin formally recognized the independence of the two separatist areas of the Crimea. On February 24 the invasion began. Ukraine has a total land mass that equals about 7/8th the size of Texas with a population of 43.5 million people. There doesn't seem to be any movement toward stopping the fighting.

"Exact Sciences story grows globally while remaining intensely local"

MADISON, Wis. – For those people who live in the Madison area or often pass through, the evolution of Exact Sciences in a physical sense has been nothing short of dramatic.

From what was a small office in University Research Park in 2009, the cancer screening and diagnostic test company has grown to include gleaming buildings in that West Side business park as well as facilities facing the city's South Beltline highway in two locations.

Much less visible from a car window, but closely watched in the cancer detection world, Exact Sciences has grown beyond Madison to include research and development labs abroad and elsewhere in the United States – including central Wisconsin.

It is part of a Wisconsin story that almost never began 13 years ago but which may soon tell of more breakthroughs that build on the success of Exact Sciences' signature cancer detection test, Cologuard.

On the same day an Exact Sciences quarterly earnings call drew attention from market analysts, about 90 people gathered for an April 26 Tech Council Innovation Network luncheon in Madison to hear what's next for the company.

"We aim to eradicate cancer and the suffering it causes through tests that help prevent cancer, detect it earlier and guide treatment," said Scott Larrivee, the company's associate director of public affairs.

That may strike you as a bold goal until you think about the importance of early detection in fighting cancer. Larrivee described colorectal cancer as "the most preventable yet least prevented" form, which is why the non-invasive Cologuard test was developed and is widely used today.

Numbers back the claim: Nine out of 10 people with colorectal cancer diagnosed in stages one or two live five or more years. Conversely, only one in 10 people diagnosed in stage four can expect a similar life span.

In addition to Cologuard, Exact Sciences also competes in the precision oncology market with Oncotype DX, a genetic-based treatment selection test for breast, prostate, and colon cancers. With some of its acquisitions, the company is building a multi-cancer early screening test to detect over 14 cancers, a test that would be one of earliest entrants in multi-cancer liquid biopsy cancer screening.

Eight acquisitions have included companies such as Base Genomics, Thrive Earlier Detection, Biomatrica, Tardis and, earlier this year, Prevention Genetics in Marshfield. It is a genetics testing laboratory grew initially out of research from the Marshfield Clinic Health System.

Studies into the potential of the liquid biopsy (primarily, blood samples) detection involve John Hopkins University, Geisinger and Exact's Thrive acquisition. Scientists say virtually all cancer releases signatures of itself into the blood. These signatures include circulating tumor DNA and elevated protein markers associated with cancer.

Exact Sciences included a handful of employees when it moved from Boston to Madison, limping along the way from lack of funding. Today, Chief Executive Officer Kevin Conroy heads a publicly traded company with about 7,000 employees, half of whom are in Wisconsin. That number includes 1,000 engineers and 500 scientists. Growth is expected to continue, with $350 million in capital investments and 1,300 new jobs in Wisconsin by 2025.

As Larrivee told the Tech Council group, many of those new jobs will not require scientists or engineers, but people with other skill sets that are all part of keeping the larger operation humming. One aspect of Exact's training and recruitment pipeline involves working with the Urban League of Greater Madison.

A day after the company's latest earnings call, market news outlet Benzinga posted a revealing glance at a metric that should interest Exact Sciences' stockholders. Someone who invested $100 in the company 10 years owned stock worth $571.40 as of April 27. Markets climb and fall, of course, but that rise in value is another reason the view from the car window continues to improve for many.

machines and collect any money that was in them. The owner indicated that the receipt balances for the machine showed $280 was put into the machine, when she looked there was no money in it.

The owner advised she pulled up a surveillance camera that is in the game room of the bar, pointed straight down at that particular machine, and she observed Carl sitting at the game. The owner stated Carl had what looked like a shiny $20 bill, and she believed a second $20 bill, and thought she could see a string or something similar that was being used to put the money in and then pull it out. The owner stated she watched them do this on several occasions and that he would also randomly hit buttons on the machine. The owner advised they later cashed out for a grand total of $309.10.

The owner stated that after she saw this, she posted a picture of the two subjects up on her Facebook page, and also let others know that they were ripping off gambling machines. The owner stated that the bartender that night stated he had thought something was off so he had left the tab open, and the owner admitted that they added $310 to the bill.

The deputy reports she later received a phone call from two agents from the Alcohol and Tobacco Enforcement Unit of the Department of Revenue. The deputy reports they advised they had also received information about this incident, as well as previous incidents involving Carl Juza engaging in similar conduct.

The deputy reports on September 21, 2021, she met with the agents at the tavern. The deputy reports the owner provided a USB zip drive with the surveillance videos from the bars cameras, as well as a copy of the receipt for the purchase made on Alisa's debit card.

The deputy reports she later reviewed the video surveillance, and constructed a timeline. The deputy reports the owner advised that the cameras were 45 minutes slow to real time, and the time used in her timeline was on the video.

The deputy reports that on September 18, 2021, at approximately 7:49 pm, Alisa and Carl entered the bar, go up to the bar, and order a beer and a glass of water. Alisa hands the bartender a card which is entered into their credit machine and returned it to Alisa. At approximately 7:51 pm, they moved to the game room, and at 7:59 pm, Carl walks over to the furthest gambling machine from the entrance and turns a high back chair from the machine that is right next to it so it blocking the view of where he sits down to play the game. The deputy reports Carl presses some of the buttons on the machine, and at approximately 8:02 pm, sits down at the machine, pulls money from his sweatshirt, and starts to straighten it out. The deputy reports that at approximately 8:03 pm, she could see a bill that appeared to be shiny, and another one that was not. The deputy reports Carl put them into the machine and then wrapped some type of string or similar item around his finger and pulled the bills out. The deputy reports both bills came out. The deputy reports this continued several different times.

The deputy reports that at approximately 8:10 pm, Alisa sits down and started hitting the buttons on the machine. At approximately 8:11 pm, Carl feels along the back side on the top of the machine. At approximately 8:14 pm, Alisa prints the receipt and then proceeds to go up to the bar and comes back with cash in her hand.

At approximately 8:20 pm, Carl begins playing again, and at approximately 8:21 pm, Alisa is standing at his side watching him put money in and pull it out. The deputy reports Alisa is often standing in a way that blocks the view from the bar.

The deputy reports at approximately 8:31 pm, Carl again feels behind the machine on the upper back part, a few minutes later prints a receipt, and Alisa again takes it to the bar, after which they leave.

The deputy reports she had further conversations with one of the agents, who has had several contacts with Carl, and was able to positively identify him.

The deputy reports the agent also advised that Carl had contacted his supervisor on September 20, 2021, and that the agent provided a recording of that conversation. The deputy reports she listened to the conversation, and Carl identifies himself as the caller, and the female voice in the background as his wife Alisa. Carl states that on Saturday, September 18, he and his wife were in a tavern, from approximately 10:00 pm to 12:00 am. Carl states that he is mad that the bars are taking every last paycheck from people with no chance to win, and Alisa stated she didn't do anything wrong, and was excited that she won.

An officer with the City of Chetek Police Department, reports that on September 10, 2021, at approximately 8:30 am, she received a call from the owner of a tavern in Chetek.

The officer reports she met with the owner a short time later, and she advised that on Wednesday, September 8, 2021, the bartender working notified her that machine number four was not accepting money. The owner advised that the machine owners were contacted. The owner further advised that the machine owners indicated that a $20 bill had been found inside with tape attached to it, and that two other bills with tape on them were found in machine number five.

The owner indicated that she reviewed video, and found two males were playing the machines. The owner provided still photographs of the money and face shots of the subjects. The owner advised that the subjects were using the machines on September 7, 2021, between 6:58 pm and 8:30 pm, based on her surveillance video.

The owner explained that the two subjects were overly friendly and talkative with the bartender, and while reviewing the video, she can see where the two subjects were sitting at the machine, very close to each other, touching their shoulders together as if blocking something from being seen.

The owner explained that she could see there was a balance on the machine, and one male would occasionally hit the play button and then make a motion of putting money into the machine and then a motion that appeared to be struggling to pull the money back out of the machine.

The owner advised that she showed the pictures of the suspects on Facebook, and that a representative from the machine owner advised that one of the subjects was Carl Juza, who they recognized from another fraud on machines in the Bloomer area.

The owner advised that both males were drinking while in the bar, and both were playing machines. The owner reported that she was short $240, and that the bar paid out winnings to the two subjects for $285, for a total loss of $525.

The officer reports addition informational was received and the second male may be Kyle Frase.

The officer reports that on October 5, 2021, she learned of the incident at the first tavern, involving Carl and Alisa, and reached out to the agents. The officer reports on October 6, 2021, she received email communications from one of the agents regarding pictures she had sent of Frase's Facebook, and the agent made a positive identification based on the Facebook photos and the surveillance video from the bar. The officer reports that on October 7, 2021, at approximately 2:45pm, she spoke with a deputy from Sawyer County Dispatch, who provided three photographs of Frase, and these photographs matched the suspect from the incident at the tavern as well as the Facebook photographs.

The deputy reports that on October 13, 2021, the agent advised that he was aware of another bar in Turtle Lake that also had been scammed. The agent advised that he already spoken with the owner and received a written statement from her about the theft, as well as a copy of the surveillance footage from the bar. The deputy reports the agent provided her with a copy of the typed statement, as well as surveillance camera footage, and a copy of the logs used for paying out the gambling machines.

The deputy reports the agent advised he reviewed the surveillance footage, and that he was able to identify the subject using the machines as Carl Juza, the same subject from the other two taverns.

If convicted for misdemeanor theft-party to a crime, Frase may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than nine months or both.

If convicted for misdemeanor theft-party to a crime, Alisa Juza may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than nine months or both.

If convicted for misdemeanor theft, Carl Juza may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than nine months or both. For two counts of misdemeanor theft-party to a crime, he may be fined not more than $10,000 for each count, or imprisoned not more than nine months or both for each count.

Their initial appearances are scheduled for June 1, 2022.

Cumberland Softball Team Has 2 and 1 Week

The Cumberland Softball Team went 2 and 1 last week, dropping a 14-4 decision to Northwestern on Thursday before taking a doubleheader sweep from Chetek-Weyerhaueser on Friday. The team was back in action on Monday and Tuesday and then conclude their busy week with a trip to Hayward this Thursday and a 4:00 home doubleheader against Ladysmith this Friday afternoon.

A strong Northwestern team defeated the Beavers by the ten-run rule last Thursday. Cumberland received a nice effort from Maddy Monchilovich, who was three for three at the plate in the contest, including a home run. Orion Thompson added a double to Coach Randy Bielmeier's offense. Northwestern, a perennial HON favorite, banged out 16 hits, putting the game away with a nine-run third inning.

The team rebounded in a big way the following night with a pair of victories over the Bulldogs. They won the opener 13 to 2 and the nightcap 7-6, in an exciting softball game.

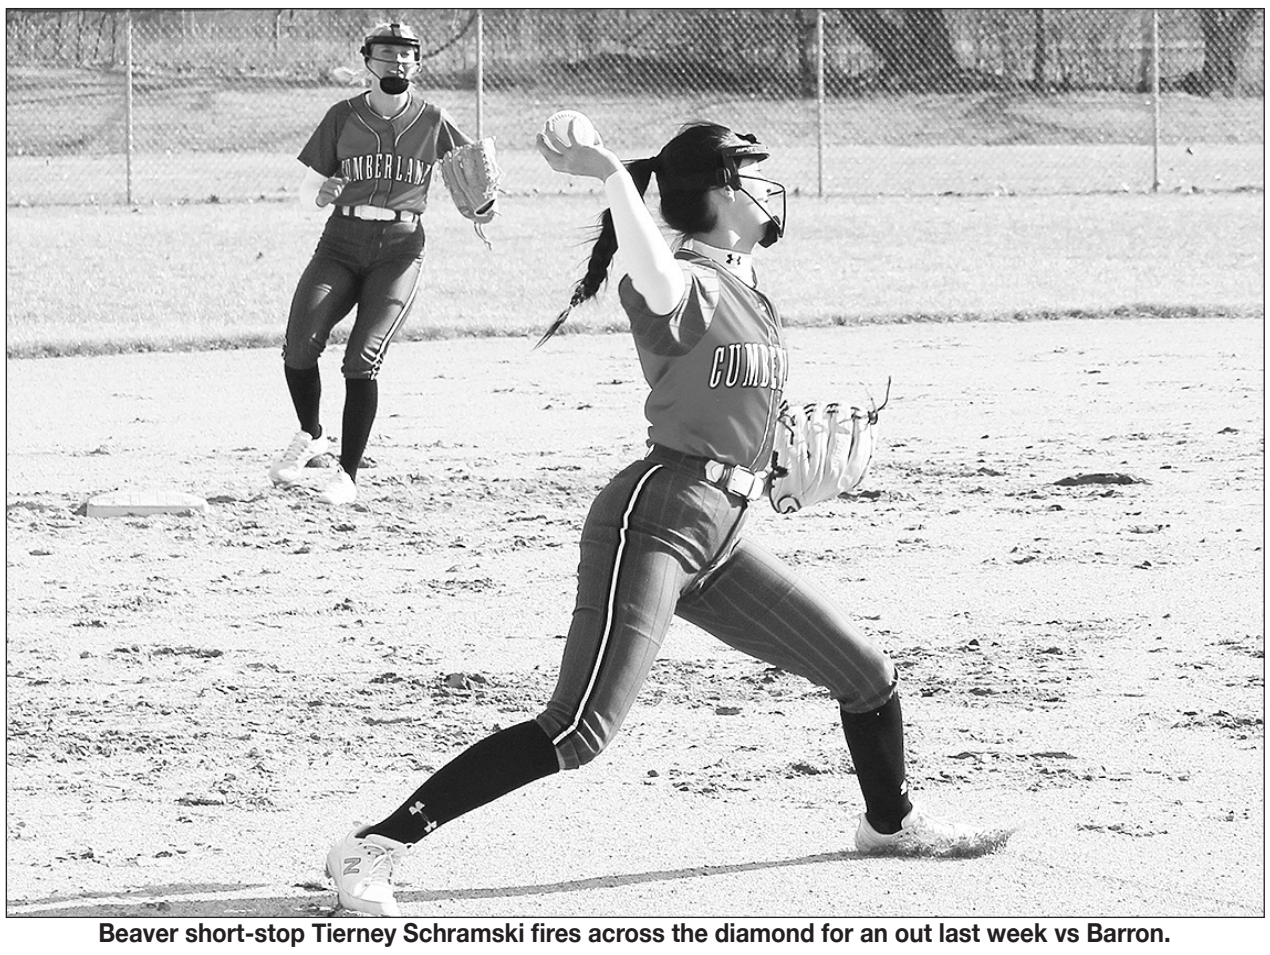

Orion Thompson pitched an excellent game in taking the pitching victory in game one, retiring the game's last 13 hitters in the contest. She struck out five hitters while only allowing two hits.

The Beavers had eight hits in the contest, two by Morgan Monchilovich. Cumberland broke things open in the fifth inning by scoring eight times, aided by two C/W errors and four walks by Bulldog pitchers.

The victory in the night cap provided an exciting finish, as Cumberland scored twice in the bottom of the seventh to erase a one-run deficit and grab the victory.

Trailing 6 to 5, Anna Ranallo and Maddy Monchilovich started things off with a pair of walks, advanced to second and third on a passed ball, and scored the tying and winning runs on a clutch single by Lexi Peterson for the win.

Peterson had two hits in the game as did Tierney Schramski. Orion Thompson took her second pitching victory of the day, striking out six Bulldog hitters. "The girls really battled and picked up a pair of nice Conference victories," concluded Coach Bielmeier.

Beaver short-stop Tierney Schramski fires across the diamond for an out last week vs Barron.

#8 Camille Bohn high fives Orion Thompson after scoring a run in the girls win over Barron.

Baseball has busy week; Overall Record is 5 and 6

The Cumberland Baseball Team had a busy schedule last week as they tried to catch up to Mother Nature's endless winter. The end result was a 2 and 3 record pushing their overall mark to 5 and 6 on the year.

Things got started with a 13-12 loss to Hayward on a rainy cold afternoon in Hayward last Monday. The Beavers rallied from a five-run deficit, but saw the Hurricanes tally the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

The Beaver pitchers walked 17 batters in the contest, which hindered their opportunity for victory. The Hurricanes only mustered seven hits in scoring their 13 runs.

David Olson, Monty Peterson, Bryce Colburn, and Ryan Lundmark each had two hits for the Beavers. One of Colburn's hits was a double, while Olson stole three bases in the contest.

Tuesday, Cumberland dropped a 10-2 decision to Barron. The Beavers managed only three hits in the contest, but continued their aggressive base running with six stolen bases, with Olson adding three more to his yearly totals in drawing three base-on-balls. Bryce Colburn had a double for the Beavers. Barron knocked out 12 hits, with Mason Ecklor going four for four.

Thursday, a solid Northwestern Team came to the "Island City," where they scored a ten-run victory over the Beavers, 13-2.

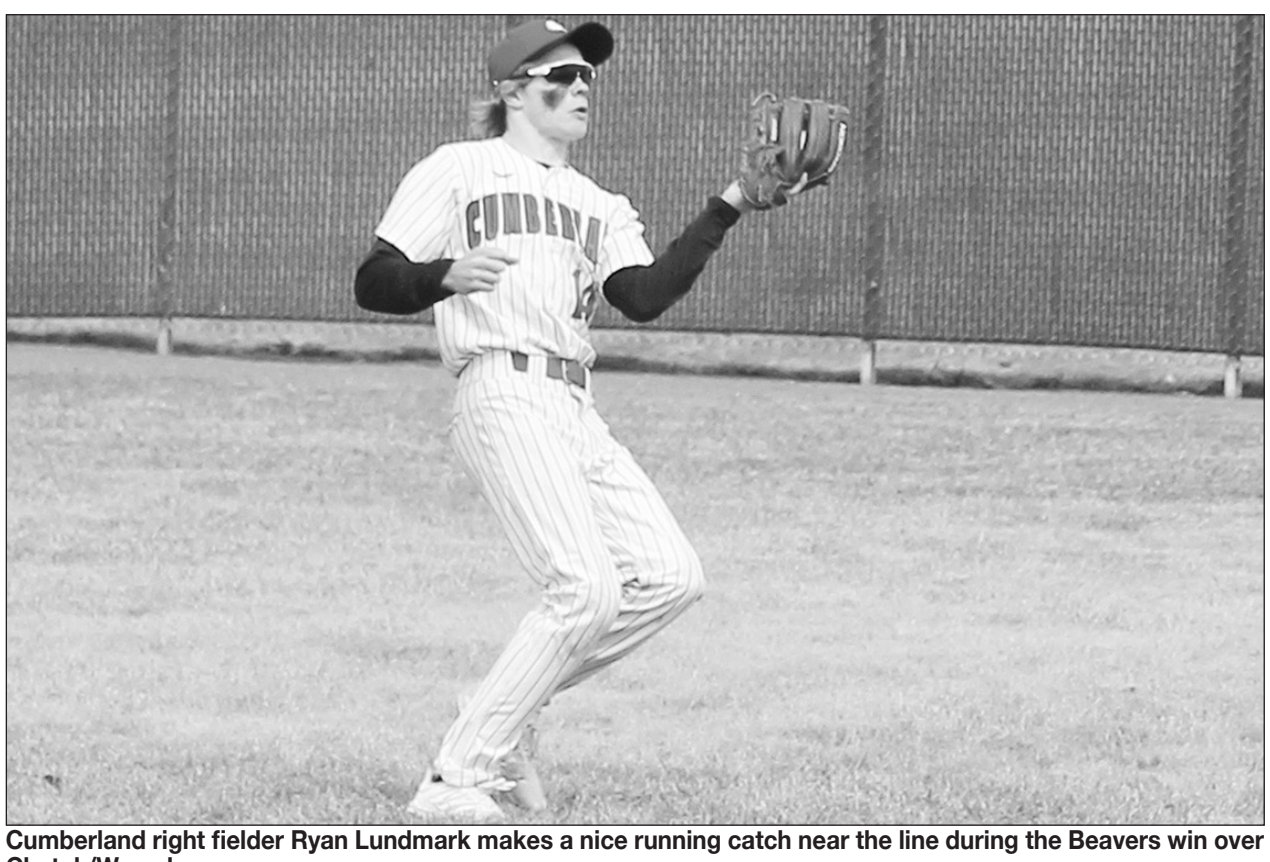

The Tigers had 11 hits and racked up eight stolen bases in the game, while David Olson, Gavin Prinsen, and Nathan Schmidt managed Cumberland's three safeties. Prinsen and Schmidt added the two Beaver runs-batted-in.

Cumberland concluded their week with a doubleheader sweep over a young Chetek-Weyerhaueser team by 7-2 and 14 to 1 scores.

Vaughn Johnson took the mound victory in the 7-2 victory, going six shutout innings, striking out seven. Bryce Colburn led Cumberland with two hits and a pair of RBI's, while Cumberland used the stolen base as a major weapon once again, pilfering five in the contest.

The nightcap was all Cumberland in a five-inning 14-1 rout. David Olson went three hitless innings on the mound to take the pitching victory, while Ryan Lundmark, Gavin Prinsen, and Schmidt each managed two hits for the Beavers with Lundmark driving in four Cumberland teammates. "It was a great way to finish a busy week," said the Beaver's Head Coach Joe Waite.

This week, the Beavers played a very good St. Croix Fall's Team on Monday and Tuesday are scheduled to host the Hurricanes in a 5:00 game. They will then stay at home to play the winless Ladysmith Lumberjacks in a 11:00 am doubleheader this Saturday.

Cumberland right fielder Ryan Lundmark makes a nice running catch near the line during the Beavers win over Chetek/Weyerhaeuser.

Baseball Team Falls to Strong St. Croix Falls Nine

The St. Croix Falls Saints showed why they are the team to beat in the HON again this spring, as they rolled to a 21-3 victory over the Beavers on Monday night. The number five ranked Saints scored 16 runs in the first inning and coasted to the win.

Ryan Lundmark, Monty Peterson, and Noah Sellent recorded the Beavers three hits in the contest as Walker Wissbroecker took the pitching loss. St. Croix Falls banged out 18 hits and drew 11 walks off Beaver pitching, as they moved to 8 and 0 on the season.

Cold Spring on the Mississippi!

Hello friends,

If you are a farmer, work outside construction, or an outdoor writer, this spring has been a tough one to get the job done. Rain, snow, always a solid wind and an air temp consistently 10-25 degrees below normal has been making it very difficult if not impossible to get the job done.

This week my plan was to paddle troll with my canoe on Lake Michigan near Milwaukee for salmon and brown trout. A never-ending wind killed that plan three times. With three days left before my deadline I had a brainstorm. How about I explore the backwaters of the Mississippi River near Trempealeau. I have duck hunted and winter camped this area but have not open water fished it, that is until this week.

Tuesday, April 26th

High 36, low 25

As I drove into Trempealeau today it was snowing. I launched my canoe and began paddling downstream in a 100% uninhabited area, at least as far as humans are concerned, then a northwest wind and current pushed my 17-foot canoe so that all I had to do was control it.

My plan was to put out a left and a right fishing pole with a planer board on each and a crankbait 5-20 feet behind each one. Due to the winter type conditions I figured the fish bite would not exist.

I had traveled maybe a mile when the board with a blaze orange/yellow husky jerk behind it vanished and my pole started bending. Fish number one was never seen but fought well and got away. Fish number two came soon after and hit the same rig. Shortly into the fight I was flying from a hard current and tail wind and I did a soft crash in a bed of last year's wild rice, I then hand landed a 27-inch northern pike. Nothing mattered anymore, I had caught a fish!

For the next three hours I explored in an area where I have spent at least 60-nights of my life winter camping and had a nonstop show of water fowl, hard wind, and raw natural beauty. My second and last fish of the day hit the always reliable blue/chrome HJ12 and it was a 19-inch smallmouth bass.

I built camp on a narrow island with the main channel ten feet from my bedroll and a waterfowl loaded backwaters 15-feet on the other side. I put out two poles with minnows on each and both tonight and the following morning neither was hit by a fish.

I had caught a chill so naturally I opened a can of Pabst Blue Ribbon, lit a fire, and watched the world around me. Towards dark I decided I needed to man up so I skipped the tent and slept in the open on the ground, that was a wise decision.

Wednesday, April 27th

High 44, low 24

Here is a reality check as to how much worse things could be. The island I slept on was eroding; ever since beaver trapping as a sport has become less popular, the beaver populations have exploded, and in this example the beavers were eating at every tree that holds this island together. Now in part because of the loss of root base, this island is eroding away.

Another example, I am a swallow that flew up from Texas to live here for the summer, raise a family and then head back to Texas. I eat flying insects and the only thing flying in the air is snow, I am extremely hungry, it is the only time of the year I get any action from Mrs. Swallow, and I have zero energy!

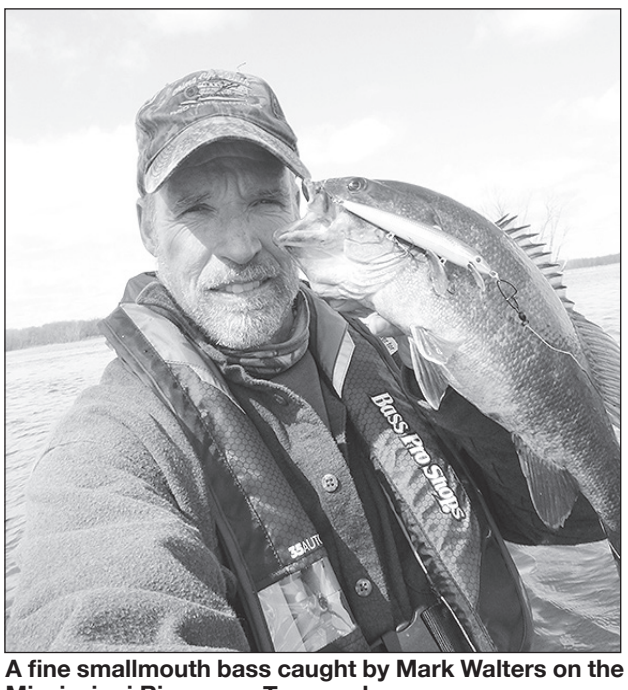

Today I watched a muskrat hanging out in this patch of rotting wild rice stalks, he was above water. About 5-feet above the water was a bald eagle and it was using a solid east wind to perfectly hover above Mr. Muskrat. I am totally amazed at how long the eagle could stay in one place.

With perfect precision the bird of prey flawlessly dropped onto its prey, was up in the air and flew to its nest without missing a beat.

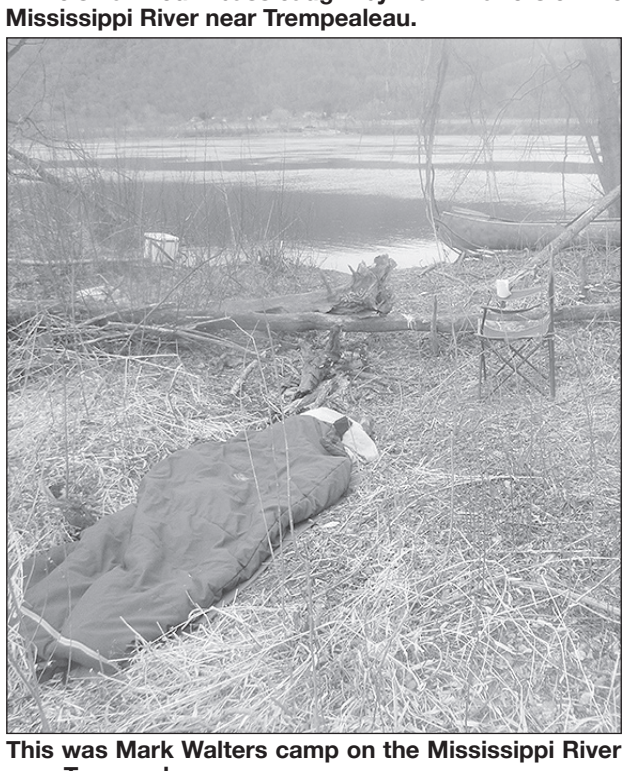

This adventure was inexpensive, and I honestly think it was meant to be.

If you can't make up your mind if your best friend is the fridge, your recliner or a screen, throw them all away and you will be better off than the island, the swallow or the muskrat! Sunset

PS. A friend that was going to get one of Ruby's pups that is now 5 weeks old had to back out. This male is a dandy, get a hold of me if you are interested!

Cumberland Hosts Home Track Meet

The Cumberland Track Team hosted a six-team meet last Thursday, with numerous strong performances in both the boys and girls portion of the competition.

For the girls, Amie West took first place in the discus with a throw of 80-8, while Teagan Monson took first place in the high jump by reaching the five-foot mark.

West would later add a second in the shot with a heave of 33-2, while Monson added a fifth in the discus and a fourth in the shot as both athletes enjoyed strong afternoons. "It is always enjoyable to watch these two girls compete," said Head Coach Ryan O'Connell.

Other strong showings included seconds from Carly McCreary in both the 1600-meter run (6:00) and 3200- meter run (14:16) and Andie Otto in the long jump (15-4). Both girls also added thirds to their day, Otto in the 100-meter hurdles (18.16) and McCreary in the 800 (2:38). "They are both versatile athletes, who have worked very hard at their events," added Coach O'Connell.

Taking a first for the Cumberland boys was the 4x200-meter relay team. Seconds came from Edward Chafer in the 100-meter dash (11.54) and high jump (6-0), Nick Kasper in the high jump (6-0) and triple jump (38-3), and Ryker Allen in the shot put with a throw of 38-10.

"Our relay teams are one of our strengths, while Edward continues to improve and has become a strong force in the sprints. Ryker and Nick, meanwhile, did well against strong competition," concluded O'Connell.

Thirds from the Cumberland boys came from 4x100-meter relay team (46.2), the 4x400-meter relay team (3:45), Ben Kasper in the triple jump (36-6), and Elijah Tetner in the shot put with a throw of 37-6.

This Thursday, Cumberland joins Ashland, Hayward, Spooner, and host Northwestern for another strong day of HON competition in Maple.

1st Place Jump!

Teagan Monson clears the bar in the high jump at 5 feet taking first place honors at last Thursday's home track meet.

Soccer Team Loses to Ashland; Bounces back vs Spooner

Thanks to cold and rain, the Barron-Cumberland Soccer Team only played once last week, dropping a 2-0 decision to state-ranked Ashland. After playing Spooner and St. Croix Central on Monday and Tuesday, the team returns to action this Thursday, when they travel to Washburn to take on the Castle Guards in a 5:00 pm contest.

A strong Oredocker team, ranked seventh in D3, controlled last week's game throughout the afternoon. "The girls played well against a very good team but came up short," said Assistant Coach Brent Sellent.

The Barron-Cumberland Soccer Team opened up this week with a dominating 10-0 shutout over the Spooner Rails on Monday afternoon. The team grabbed a 6-0 lead by intermission and coasted to the victory.

Kasey Stauner led the team in scoring with three goals. "We moved the ball the best they have this season. We made some adjustments to the line-up for this game trying to build some more offensive attack and we saw success. The entire team connected and was a part of our strong offensive attack," said Head Coach Sarah Stauner.

Edward Chafer checks his time as he crosses the finish line in the 100 meter dash last Thursday in Cumberland. Chafer took second place with a time of 11:54.

Happy Mothers' Day!!!

And, as you are aware, along with Mothers' Day comes opening fishing season. That means, of course, that the Rod and Reel Give-Away Man, also known as Ted Schoenhals, will soon be at the Cumberland Food Pantry handing out rods and reels to young people who want to go fishing. Ted will be at the Food Pantry on June 3rd, 10th, 17th, and 24th starting at 1:00 p.m. each day. He will give out eight to ten rod and reels each time until they are gone. He said that he will continue past those dates if he can get more great deals at garage sales or any donations.

Ted said that he would like to thank Jerry and Glenda Severson for their third donation of money in the past two years and Bruce Carlson for his donation of 21 rods, 6 reels and 10,344 yards of line. People like Bruce and the Severson's are the reason that Ted can keep his Give-Away going.

Sharai Hefty and I needed to take a business trip to Madison last Wednesday. We had hoped to have lunch with Sue Meier, but she had deserted us for a trip to the sunny south, so we had some extra time on our hands. I decided to give Sharai a tour of the Capitol. I'll tell you what, our State Capitol is probably more beautiful than any of the 49 others. Even if a person stays on just one floor the view is spectacular – marble floors and walls, giant columns, beautiful stairways and unbelievably beautiful art on the ceilings. We didn't stay on one floor, however. We climbed up five flights of stairs so that we could go outside on the observation deck just below the dome. From there we could see all across downtown with Lake Monona on one side of the capitol and Lake Mendota on the other. It was a wonderful trip – especially because Sharai hadn't been to downtown Madison before and was truly thrilled with her tour of the capitol.

I think this next paragraph comes under the "some people never learn" category. Hippy stopped by Suzy and Ryan Lehmann's house one day this past week and let Suzy talk him into playing cribbage again. Well, Suzy very sneakily salted his cribs and played her worst the first game just to rope him into playing a couple more. Then, when his confidence was at its peak and he was feeling sure of himself, she started playing with her usual skill and beat him the next two. Poor guy – he never knew what hit him. Wonder if he'll remember this lesson the next time he stops by for a friendly visit.

Geri Pittman has been rearranging her front room and decided that one of the chairs just didn't fit so she decided to donate it to Hope Gospel Mission in Eau Claire. She asked me if I would like to ride down with her and, of course, I jumped at the chance. (That's our favorite thrift store.) We found a couple treasures there, and then went to a greenhouse that Lynn Thon told us about. I was so glad we took the time to go to the greenhouse because I found a houseplant that I had been wanting – and found out that, in order to be politically correct, I now have to call it a Wandering Dude. It's a good thing I have young people around to keep me on my toes or I'd probably be in the doghouse most of the time.

Lynn Thon celebrated her birthday on Saturday, April 30th, with a "waffles and ice cream" breakfast at our house. Almost the entire family (Duane counted 23) were here to help her celebrate. Jeremy Olson's birthday is on Tuesday, May 3rd, and he had to leave for Madison on Monday, so Lynn very graciously agreed to share her special day with him. We had to sing "happy birthday" twice, and, if you know our family, once is enough. We all had a lot of fun and were so happy to get together to celebrate with Lynn and Jeremy.

Remember, if you would like to join us for a meet and greet and dinner with Romaine Quinn on Sunday, May 15th, please give me a call at 715 939-0647 or 715 822-8385 to make reservations. Romaine is running for the 25th district senate seat. I hope you will join us and ask Romaine about his views on issues important to you. The meet and greet, starting at 4:30, and buffet dinner, at 5:00, will be held at Hilltop Retreat. I will have to have the reservations to Justin by this weekend.

I guess that's about all I know from Barronett this week. I hope you have a wonderful Mothers' Day. See you next time.

Frederic Soo Line Depot/Museum Opens May 28

The Frederic Area Historical Society starts its 32nd year of bringing the history of Frederic to life at the Soo Line Depot/Museum Saturday, May 28.

The 1901 Frederic Soo Line Depot is the last of its kind on what was once the major pipeline of commerce in this area through more than half of the last century--the railroad. The Soo Line railroad and logging started Frederic.

When the Soo Line abandoned rail service through Frederic in 1989, the Village acquired the depot and restored it with transportation enhancement grants from the Department of Transportation, as a rest stop on the Gandy Dancer State Trail and a museum of local history. The Frederic Area Historical Society is in charge of running the museum.

In addition to the local history items archived in the depot, the original Frederic Library building, an immigrant's log cabin from the late 1800's, and Soo Line wide-vision caboose #137 are on display.

The depot/museum is open to the public from Memorial Day weekend through leaf season in the fall. Hours are 11 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., weekends, and holidays. There is no admission charged, but donations are welcome and help to fund the operation of the museum.

Frederic Area Historical Society members will be on hand to share the history of Frederic, and the coffee will be on during the opening weekend.

The Historical Society is always looking for new members to help share the past through volunteering at the museum. This is an excellent opportunity to give back to your community and keep Frederic's history alive. Frederic's history belongs to you! If you have any interesting memorabilia for display, from the Frederic area or the Soo Line railroad, please stop in or call 715-327-4158. New members are encouraged to attend and see what is new for 2022.

Check out museum pictures at www.fredericwi.com click on Depot.

2022 Wisconsin State Trail Passes, required for bicycle riders 16 years of age and older on Polk County's State Bike Trails, the Gandy Dancer and the Stower 7 Lakes, are available at the Depot. There is a self registration box located on the museum sign, so passes are available 24/7.

Church Directory

"People Need God"

by Pastor Tim Carlson

Timberland Ringebu Free Lutheran Church

The news today is full of war, shootings, cruelty, and political strife. When events like these seem so dark, we all can see the need for light. With so much evil in the world I am reminded of why we need God. In the apostle Paul's letter to the Galatians in the fifth chapter we are reminded of some spiritual truths that can help us.

First, we need Jesus in our lives, not only to save us from our own personal sin, but also to help us live godly lives. Sinful actions create such heartache and put us in bondage to the evil behavior. "For freedom Christ has set us free; stand firm therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery." (Gal.5:1 ESV)

Sinful behavior is destructive and brings so much pain and sorrow. Paul gives a short list of examples: "Now the works of the flesh are evident: sexual immorality, impurity, sensuality, idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, fits of anger, rivalries, dissentions, divisions, envy, drunkenness, orgies, and things like these." (Gal. 5:19,20 and 21a. ESV)

Secondly, we are not able to produce goodness by ourselves. Through our faith in Christ the Holy Spirit enters our lives and empowers us to do good. "But I say, walk by the Spirit, and you will not gratify the desires of the flesh." (Gal. 5:16)

Finally, in contrast to the deeds of the flesh are the fruit of the Holy Spirit. Paul points out that there are no laws forbidding the attributes of the fruit of the Holy Spirit. "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control…" (Gal. 5:22 and 23a.)

We all could help make this world a better place by recognizing we need God. Come to Jesus. Come to church to hear the word of God proclaimed in Scripture. Come to God each morning with devotions and prayer.

Cumberland High School Trap Team 2022

by Mary Patrin

The Cumberland High School Trap program has five teams shooting this year. Anyone in grade 6 through grade 12 is eligible to be on the trap team as long as you have a hunter safety certificate. The season runs from the end of March to the end of May.

Chuck Patrin and Brent Knutson are the coaches and are very appreciative for the generous donations we receive from Dusty Anderson and Hammond Lion's Club that make this opportunity possible for our participants. The Team shoots at the Almena Sportsmen's Club in Almena every Sunday from 12:00 to 2:00 and visitors are always welcome.

The kids are learning to enjoy a lifelong sport and it's been a lot of fun watching them improve their skills over the years. We have the best parents that are always willing to help out wherever needed.

Safety is always our number one concern.
