Early Morning Fire!

The Cumberland Fire Department was called to the Linda Severson home located just East of Cumberland on Hwy 48 at a little after 12 am Friday, June 10th. Upon arrival firefighters found the garage fully engulfed in flames. The garage was a complete loss. Firefighters cleared the scene at 3am. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

One of Cumberland's Earliest Settlers; J. F. Fuller

By Mark R Fuller

John Franklin Fuller was born in Appleton, Maine in 1833. A descendant of Mathew Fuller, one of the founders of the Plymouth Colony, he would leave Maine in 1857, arriving in Stillwater, Minnesota in 1859. He would soon locate in Star Prairie, where he engaged in the drug store business. He was also a fine carpenter.

Fuller would come to Cumberland with his family in 1882, where he first opened a general merchandise store, which he ran until 1896, when it was sold to F. A. Weiblin. Fuller was a man of much education and enjoyed reading. He would often loan books from his personal collection to other early settlers for their own enjoyment.

He also enjoyed all matters of civic and political matters. A Republican from its early beginnings, Fuller became the first president of the village of Cumberland, was twice elected as an alderman, and served as the postmaster from 1903 until 1907. He became involved in any matter that led to the advancement of the community and lent his voice for any cause he felt worthy.

Born as a strong Puritan, Fuller was a pronounced foe of liquor, making some enemies as a result as well as many warm friends. It was said that he, "Was content to follow the course which he deemed right, regardless of the consequences."

J.F. Fuller had one son, A. D. Fuller by his first wife and two with Lydia Michelson, his second wife whom he married in 1866. William and Elmer graduated from Cumberland and William went on to attend the law department of the University of Wisconsin in 1889 and 1890, and eventually returned to Cumberland to open a law practice.

His wife Lydia was a constant companion of his during a long illness that led to his death on December 7, 1915 at the age of 81. Another one of Cumberland's early pioneers was gone.

Endeavor Scholarships!

During an end of the year awards ceremony at Cumberland High School, eight junior students were each awarded an $8,000 Endeavor Foundation Scholarship. The Endeavor Scholars must maintain a B average during their senior year at CHS and are then required to remain full-time students in good standing at their college or university to remain eligible to receive $2,000 per semester for four semesters. This year's recipients are from left to right Zoe Stephanie, Madison Graf, Cody Hoff, Emma McNulty, Yadhira Noyola, Madeline Monchilovich, Ivy Sweeney, Siri Hyatt and Endeavor Foundation Scholarship founders Marj and Claire Johnson.

Northwoods Brewing; New City Shop/Utility Building Subjects at June City Council Meeting

By Mark R Fuller

Mayor Dan Shoemaker called the monthly City Council Meeting to order on Tuesday night, June 3, at 7:00 pm. Following the approval of May meeting notes and with no public comments from the floor, the mayor and council went through a limited agenda. Removed from the agenda prior to discussion were changes to the city Emergency Operations Plan, due to the need of further editing.

Among the agenda items approved were the authorization of payment for past improvements to the city's drinking water distribution system project and acceptance of the agreement between Northwoods Brewing LLC and the Cumberland Golf Club to provide food service for the course. Northwoods Brewing LLC is planning to continue operations throughout the winter, while providing minimal risk to the city and providing a $1,000 monthly rental to the golf club. The agreement began on June 1 and will be up for renewal annually.

The council then approved an agreement between the City and C&M Realty of Eau Claire, for development of the TID-9 (Tax Incremental District) subdivision with a residential combination of single-family homes and twin homes.

The City is the owner and C&M will serve as the manager and carry out those duties regarding the administration and management of designing, listing, and marketing the project. The council also approved the vacant lot listing contract, giving the city, as seller, the exclusive right to sell the property.

Eye Facts from Jacobson Advanced Eye Care

CARROTS, SARDINES, BROCCOLI? REALLY?

Everyone has heard, "Eat your carrots to have good eyesight!" Is there any truth to this statement or is it a bunch of baloney? Well, yes and no. Carrots won't improve your visual acuity if you have less than perfect vision. A diet of carrots won't give a blind person 20/20 vision. But, the vitamins found in the vegetable can help promote overall eye health. Carrots contain beta-carotene, a substance that the body converts to vitamin A, an important nutrient for eye health.

Antioxidants related to eye health are Lutein & Zeaxanthin, Vitamin C, Vitamin E, Vitamin A & Beta Carotene, Essential Fatty Acids and Zinc. Dr. Jennifer says, "Eating more fruits and vegetables can help protect against eye disease and help overall health." Foods rich in antioxidants help keep our cells and tissues healthy and may help stop or slow certain eye diseases.

Dr. Jennifer

Some people have health conditions or take medicines that could be affected by a change in diet or vitamin supplements so discuss this with Dr. Jennifer before you make any changes.

There are tastier items other than sardines such as eggs, corn, garden peas, lettuce, salmon, red meat, whole grains and seafood -- what is important is that you pay attention to your diet -- you and your eyesight will benefit from it.

Higher Vision at the lake on June 21

The ever-popular gospel and do-wop group, Higher Vision, has traditionally kicked off the Island City Music series on summer Tuesdays. But this year, John Westin was busy playing the skipper in Gilligan's Island City at the Cumberland Arts Center.

So the group will appear at 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 21, on the Library Lake stage. The concert is sponsored by Cumberland Federal Bank, and food will be served by the Barronett Civic Club.

These concerts, which are in their seventh year, are a production of Enrichment Through Culture (ETC), Cumberland's arts council. Local businesses and organizations pay a sponsorship fee to pay the performers. So there is no charge to attend. But you should bring your own lawn chair, and perhaps a pair of sunglasses.

In addition to Westin, the group consists of vocalists Dick Sampson, Mike Jenkinson and Albin Peterson, with Elaine Molls on piano. These five start out with a rousing rendition of the national anthem, then do a number of gospel numbers and finish up with some good old rock and roll.

The Tuesday concerts are from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the small Rutabaga Festival stage. If it rains, Higher Vision will perform at the arts center.

Northwoods Notebook: There's something personal about community theater

By Larry Werner

In the opening scene of “Gilligan’s Island City,” the play that ran last week at the arts center, John Westin, playing the role of the Skipper of a tour bus that broke down in Cumberland, swats his son, Jeremy, playing Gilligan, for the predicament in which the wacky bunch of characters find themselves.

Here they are, stranded in The Island City, with their bus on the fritz.

After hitting Gilligan with his hat a few times, the skipper (John Westin) turns to the audience and says, “This is the only reason I took this role.” It’s one of the best laugh lines in the play because nearly everyone in the theater knows John is smacking his son, Jeremy.

I love theater, whether it’s “Phantom of the Opera,” which I saw on Broadway, or “The Christmas Carol” at the Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis. And I love community theater at ETC’s playhouse because of the personal relationship the people of Cumberland have with the folks on stage at the former church on Second Avenue.

The personal relationship between actors and audience was never more evident than last weekend, when several hundred folks watched the play written by Dave Evenson, the retired DNR manager who has been active in Cumberland theater and music for 30 years. The first act was the musical about the adventures of the Gilligan crew visiting local businesses – Louie’s Finer Meats, Ficocello’s Salon and the Dancing Bird Art Studio.

Evenson shot video of the crew visiting those places, interspersing scenes on the screen with live singing and dancing on the stage. Locals know Louie’s, Ficocello’s and the Dancing Bird and enjoyed seeing the owners of those businesses interacting on the video with the Gilligan characters played by their neighbors.

In one scene, the men from the bus sing the song “Mary Ann,” descending into the audience, and, as they sing, “Won’t you marry me,” they kneel in front of women. Ann was marvelously embarrassed when Al Bock, playing Thurston Howell, knelt in front of her and sang to her. Ann understood, then, why, knowing the scene from having attended rehearsals, I insisted we sit in the front row.

John Westin, on the first night of the play, proposed to the wife of the former Augustana pastor who had suggested 15 years ago that Evenson write the play.

As I said, the people on the stage and those in the audience know each other, which isn’t the case in professional theater.

Shortly after I arrived in town, I was drafted into one play, then another, then another. I got to know others in the cast, and those who came to the play got to know the old guy who played a romantic Spaniard in “The Odd Couple (Female Version),” an escaped mental patient in “Death By Design” and, in a Christmas play called “The Gift,” I was a New York pawn shop owner named Chester.

Not too long after that play, Ann and I were at the movie theater in Rice Lake, and two women came in and sat next to us. I didn’t know them, even though the one who lives about a block from me said, “You’re Chester!”

She had seen me in the play, then bumped into me in a movie, and now knows me as a guy who negotiated the price of a jewelry box with a lady of the night played by Sharai Hefty, whom many of you know from the ETC stage, even if you’ve never met her.

The second act of last week’s performance was an even more vivid example of the connection between audience and actors in community theater. It was a series of songs from Evenson’s original musical, “Island City the Musical,” originally performed 26 years ago.

Many people in the theater last week were there 26 years ago. And most in the audience got the musical humor in songs about the four-way stop, deer hunting, homecoming and, of course, the hilarious ode to cavatils served at nearly every Cumberland graduation party.

“Island City, Island City,” the song that ended both acts, I’m sure, brought tears to a few eyes when it referred to this beautiful little town on Beaver Dam Lake where some have lived for generations and some, who came more recently, are welcome.

As one among the recently-arrived, I have felt for some time that I belong here. And whether I’m on the stage, taking tickets, or in the audience at the arts center, I appreciate that while this isn’t Broadway or even the Guthrie, it’s a theater experience that is powerfully personal.

And it costs 10 bucks.

Out My Window

by Paul Bucher, Editor

Well the Twins and Brewers are 1/3 of the way through the 182 game MLB season, and both teams are in good shape. The crew just broke an eight game skid, and looks to get back to their winning ways. With the pitching, the Brewers no doubt will be there when the playoffs come around. The Twins, meanwhile, sit atop of the AL Central with a good chunk of their pitching staff on the DL. The offense has really picked it up lately and if the Twinkies get decent starting pitching the rest of the way it could make for a fun run as well. I know it's a pipe dream, but just imagine a Brewers-Twins match-up in October. Stranger things have happened.

Congratulations to all the seniors who received scholarships and will use them pursuing a degree. To all the businesses and individuals who sponsor scholarships, a big thank you. My dad is in Cumberland at Cumberland Care and Rehab for a couple of weeks, looking to bounce back from a string of unfortunate health issues. I have to say a heart felt thank you to all the healthcare workers from Woodstone, to the hospital, and to Cumberland Care and Rehab. The work all of you do goes above and beyond! Some of the things I have seen in the last six months really shows the best in people. It's often not fun and very challenging caring for people who have a difficult time caring for themselves. I cannot say thank you enough to all the healthcare workers. You are the best!

Reflecting on our Flag

To the Editor:

Here in this time between Memorial Day, Flag Day and Independence Day, I find myself reflecting on our flag. As a Boy Scout I learned U.S. Flag decorum; I was the bugler at Camp Phillips and played "To The Colors" and "Retreat" at flag raising and lowering ceremonies each day throughout the summer. In the boonies in Viet Nam we didn't fly the flag, but even there, back on base the flag was raised and lowered daily, and not flown in inclement weather.

We had one U.S. flag. It was for all of us. We didn't have flags of many hues and stripes to represent our particular cause. Today I find myself resorting to the internet to even try to keep track of the flags.

I like seeing the flag fly high, as it seems it almost always did in my youth. I haven't actually counted the days, but it sure seems to me the flag is at half mast more than at full staff, and that makes me sad.

Thoughts from an old man,

Dave Evenson

Inside Wisconsin

by Tom Stil

“On way to Northwestern, Blank urges more building project control”

MADISON, Wis. – There are many things Becky Blank will miss about her time as chancellor at UW-Madison, from game days to visiting Union Terrace to simply meeting with students and faculty.

She won't miss the red tape involved in repairing or constructing campus facilities.

In an interview before her departure to become president of Northwestern University this fall, Blank took aim at state regulations that prevent the UW System's flagship campus from issuing its own bonds for new buildings and which add time and expense to routine maintenance.

"It has been a constant headache that we have not solved because it involves so many actors in the state," Blank said.

For reasons that date to the late 1800s, the UW-Madison lacks the authority to issue bonds – essentially, borrowing money to pay for construction over time when there are long-term benefits. In fact, the UW-Madison is the only public flagship university in the United States that lacks such authority, leaving it largely at the mercy of state support.

State dollars are usually augmented by private donors, but even a minimal amount of state funding holds hostage those private dollars to design and review processes that add time and cost in inflationary times.

"I will not miss some of those constraints – the need to go through three sets of committees and five votes and the governor's office in order to get something done," Blank said. "We have to find some way to have more control over our projects."

Because UW-Madison added many buildings in the 1960s and '70s, Blank said, the lack of nimbleness with campus capital projects and repairs wasn't a dire problem until that generation of buildings aged.

"In the last 15 years, that has simply not been true," Blank said. "All buildings have a life span, so our deferred maintenance grows every year."

The start-to-finish time for new buildings is illustrated by projects such as the $47-million Babcock Hall Dairy Plant and Center of Dairy Research addition. It won state budget approval in the mid-2010s, work began in the fall of 2018 and still isn't complete. Projects such as the College of Engineering plan to replace a 1930s-vintage building have also been slowed, despite being a top campus priority and tied to a business sector need for engineering graduates.

Another campus project got around the state process by simply not seeking any state dollars. The $225-million building to house most of the School of Computer, Data and Information Sciences will be financed by private and foundation sources.

While there were other flagship schools that lacked their own ability to borrow decades ago, Blank said, that's no longer the case. The default record over time is strong and the bond market knows public research universities aren't going to fade away.

Within the Big Ten Conference, independent bonding is common. The University of Michigan issued a $2 billion "century bond" earlier this year. A century bond is debt that needs to be repaid in 100 years versus the more typical 30 years.

Minnesota, Ohio State, Michigan State and Rutgers are among other Big Ten schools that have issued century bonds or have the go-ahead to do so.

The competition among top research universities such as UW-Madison is intense. The UW-Madison attracted about $1.5 billion in research dollars in 2021, which kept it among the nation's leaders. Without more freedom to chart its own course with capital projects, however, that standing may be threatened.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He can be reached at tstill@wisconsintechcouncil.com. For more on the interview with Blank, visit www.wisconsintechcouncil.com

On May 24, 2022, Cumberland Police Chief, was on duty. The Police Chief has previously worked as an ICAC Investigator working in an undercover role online. One of the websites used to locate subjects who may be seeking a relationship with a juvenile is doublelist.com. The chief was looking through doublelist ads near Minneapolis and located an ad with the title, “Daddy for Little (Rochester).” Doublelist is a website similar to craigslist personal ads. On doublelist, people post ads looking for different types of companionship. Based on the title “Daddy for Little,” the chief knew that this meant an older male looking for a younger female. The narrative portion of the ad stated, “I’m a married professional looking to be discreet, daddy role for a little to take care of. I’m in Rochester. Let’s vibe soon.” The details of the ad stated the subject was a 43-year-old male in Rochester. The chief responded to the ad using her undercover email address. The chief stated, “Hi, I saw your ad, and I am interested. I’m kind of far, but down if you are. Young, 5 feet 2 inches, 115 pounds and have a picture if you want.” The chief sent the message on Tuesday, May 24 at 11:43 am. She then received a response from an email with the name “Eric Nelson” attached.

The email stated, “Where are you located? Send a pic. Let’s chat on Kik or Snap.” This message was sent on May 24, 2022 at 12:16 pm. The chief responded to the email stating, “Cumberland.” The chief also attached a photograph. This is an undercover photo she has used for several years which is of a Washburn County Sheriff’s Office Employee. The subject is over 18 and has signed a consent to use photograph form which is attached to the case file. The subject replied stating his Kik username.

The subject and the chief then began chatting on Kik, and the first message she received was on Tuesday, May 24 at 1:36 pm, from “Daddy Bull.”

On Wednesday, May 25 at 8:04 pm, the chief received a phone call from a number, which stated it was from Rochester, MN. She did not answer the phone call. She received an additional call at 8:11 pm from the same number. She did not answer either call, and no voicemail was left. The chief did look up the phone number which came back to a female who is employed by a Clinic in Rochester, MN. Also, when searching the phone number online, it came back to the clinic in Rochester MN., as a general phone number you can call to speak with someone at Mayo Clinic. The chief reports this led her to believe that the subject who called her from an office at the clinic in Rochester.

At 10:10 am, the chief received a restricted phone call, which she answered. The chief reports “The male on the line asked if I was Jessi, and I stated, “Yes.” He stated it was “daddy.” He stated he had some questions for me and began asking me what high school I went to, what grocery store I worked at and my birthday. I answered his questions and told him my birthday was September 11, which we had already discussed in messaged. He asked me what year I was born. I pretended to lose cell phone service so that I could review our chats for additional questions he may ask me that I wanted to know the answer to. I sent him a message on Kik and told him I lost service but would try to go outside, and he could call back. At 10:26 am, I received another phone call from the same male, who again asked what year I was born. I told him 2007. He told me he was sorry and knew I was at school. He stated, “You know, I work in healthcare with vulnerable adults and patients, so it’s a little bit illegal for me to engage in those kinds of activities with you. Do you know what I’m saying?” I said, “Yeah, I get that.” He stated, “Yeah, there’s a lot of legalities and all that stuff. I’m interested in the situation, but you live kind of a long ways from me. I mean, it could happen like once here and there, but it’s going to be the right timing and everything. I mean, unless you think you can get a ride closer somehow, but I don’t know if that’s gonna work out.” I stated, “Yeah.”

The conversation continued for a while, asking questions back and forth.

At 7:14 am, the following morning, the chief sent him a message stating “good morning.” They then did not speak much over that weekend as she had other obligations. On Sunday, May 29, their conversation continued about wanting to video chat, and sending photographs.

At 4:20 pm, the chief received a photograph of him at a pool, and his feet were visible in the photograph. He also sent another photograph of his upper torso and head, wearing sunglasses.

The chief did not get a chance to respond to his messages, and he sent her additional messages that evening.

The following morning, the chief messaged him back stating, “Love it. Just getting ready for school. What are you up to?” Again, the conversation continued for quite a while.

The chief then received a phone call from a blocked number at 8:07 am on June 2, 2022. The phone call lasted nine minutes and 13 seconds. The conversation consisted of him making plans to come here and meeting her.

He asked the chief to send him the address, and she said 754 8th Avenue. This address is an apartment building near the park they were going to meet at. He asked if that was the address of her apartment or the park, and she said it was her apartment. The chief told him maybe they should meet at the park first and then they can walk to her apartment and he stated, “sure.” The chief said, “I don’t have any “protection” if you need it.”

At 11:09 am, on June 2, 2022, the chief said she was still at school but almost done. She asked how long until he’s there and he stated, “soon.”

The chief had previously made contact with a DCI Agent and requested his assistance. The agent, along with three other DCI agents, traveled to Cumberland to assist with the investigation. The agent was in the area of the park and apartment in an unmarked vehicle. She observed a gold-colored SUV parked on 8th Avenue in front of the apartment building. She relayed that the vehicle had Minnesota license plates on it. At the same time, the chief received a Kik message from the subject stating, “Come outside the apartment.” The plate on the vehicle registered to a Jessica and Jason Bowers.

The chief then began receiving phone calls from a blocked number. She then received messages from him stating, “Where are you?” The agent stated the lone occupant of the vehicle exited the vehicle and walked toward the front of the apartment and then back toward the vehicle. At the same time, the chief received a message from his stating, “Sorry, I have to pee. I’m on the street.” She then sent him a message stating, “Okay, are you going to the park.” He stated, “Open your garage” and “walk” out to the street. Come say hi.” The chief stated, “Okay, just finishing getting dressed.”

WisDOT calls for commitment to safe driving as deadly crashes rise in Wisconsin

Driver responsibility, awareness key to preventing tragedies

Wisconsin and states across the country are seeing a rise in deadly traffic crashes and risky driving behaviors. As the summer travel season begins, the state is bracing for one of the most dangerous times on our roads. The 100 deadliest days between Memorial Day and Labor Day typically result in more deaths and injuries.

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation urges everyone across the state to make a commitment to safe driving.

“Traffic safety is everyone’s responsibility. Sadly, many of the tragedies that result from dangerous driving are 100% preventable,” WisDOT Secretary Craig Thompson said. “We need everyone to do their part to keep our roads safe. Drive sober. Buckle up, phone down. Every trip, every time.”

This year in Wisconsin, 209 people have been killed in crashes. That’s 16 more deaths than at the same time in 2021. Most of those who died were the driver.

Failure to wear a seat belt also contributes to crash deaths and injuries. A 2021 survey found about 88% of Wisconsin drivers and passengers were buckled up. That number has dropped two percentage points since 2019.

The problem is not unique to Wisconsin. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reports crash deaths rose by 10.5% in 2021, which was the largest ever annual percentage increase in the nearly five decades the agency has collected fatal crash data.

States across the country have seen a rise in risky behaviors like speeding and impaired driving, which ultimately led to more crash injuries and fatalities.

Education and action

WisDOT is increasing public awareness messages to address these concerns.

Enforcement campaigns

It should be noted that it is typical for these subjects to change the meeting location at the last minute in attempt to have control of the situation and/or avoid arrest.

At that time, two other officers, with the Cumberland Police Department, the chief, and DCI Agents converged on the vehicle and conducted a high risk arrest on the occupant in the vehicle. We had the male subject exit the vehicle with his hands up and walk back toward our patrol vehicles. He was taken into custody without incident.

If convicted for use of a computer to facilitate a child sex crime, Bowers may be fined not more than $100,000 or imprisoned not more than 40 years or both. For attempt sexual assault of a child under 16 years of age, he may be fined not more than $50,000 or imprisoned not more than 20 years or both. His preliminary hearing was scheduled for June 13, 2022.

like Click It or Ticket and Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over remind drivers of the dangers and consequences of risky driving.

Wisconsin State Patrol’s aerial enforcement patrols are announced publicly, aiming to stop speeding and reckless drivers.

“The challenges of risky driving behavior cannot be solved by enforcement alone. We need a commitment from every driver, so we are working to raise awareness of the dangers and create a safer transportation system for all of us,” WisDOT Bureau of Transportation Safety Director David Pabst said.

Last year, WisDOT launched a new campaign to save lives on the road.

Buckle Up Phone Down campaign

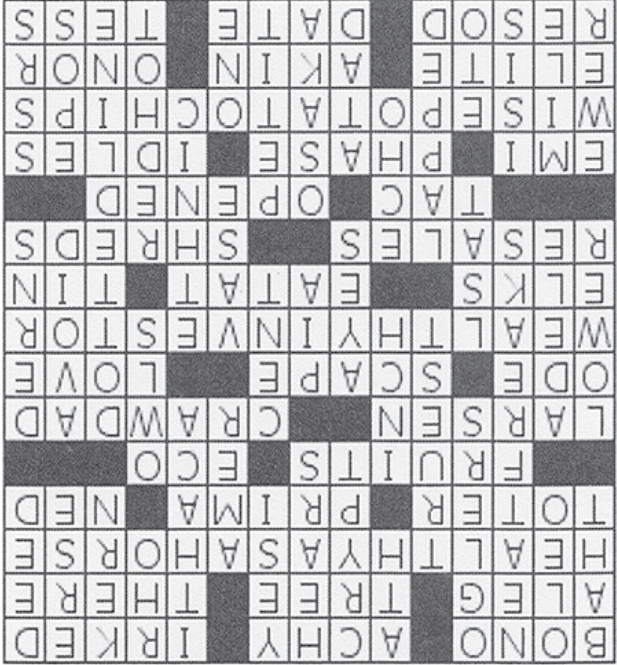

Buckle Up Phone Down aims to raise awareness of the importance of those two simple safety steps.

An unbelted driver or passenger is eight times more likely to die in a crash than if a seat belt is used. Half of those killed in crashes in Wisconsin in 2021 were not wearing seat belts.

Deaths from distracted driving crashes are climbing in recent years; 40 people were killed in 2021, up from 31 in 2020 and 26 in 2019.

With some simple changes in behavior, Wisconsin drivers can stop these unacceptable trends.

- Always buckle up. No matter how short the trip.
 - Pull over to send a text. Remember: texting while driving is illegal in Wisconsin.
 - Handheld cell phone use is banned in work zones and emergency response areas.
 - Remind friends and family to eliminate distractions and always wear a seat belt.
- WisDOT is renewing the call for businesses, organizations, and individuals to make a commitment to safe driving by taking the Buckle Up Phone Down pledge.

MADISON, Wis. – The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) today announced that preliminary totals show Wisconsin turkey hunters registered 39,007 birds during the 2022 spring turkey hunting season, a 5% increase from the 37,266 birds registered in the spring 2021 season.

The 2022 spring season started on April 16 with the two-day youth hunt. The regular season was divided into six separate one-week periods from April 20 to May 31. Different periods maximize hunter opportunities while minimizing interference for a more sustainable harvest.

For the 2022 youth season, there were 2,482 birds registered, down nearly 25% from 3,308 in 2021. This is likely due to the late onset of spring across much of the state, resulting in poorer hunting conditions during the youth hunt.

The DNR closely monitors harvest, hunter interference rates and satisfaction, and other information to track turkey abundance and maintain a successful, enjoyable, sustainable spring turkey hunt. Spring turkey participation spiked in 2020 when many people nal goal with 13 seconds left in the contest. "By then we had a very tired defense," added Coach Stauner.

"The coaches are extremely proud of the players' hard work, growth and all they accomplished this season. It was truly an honor to coach this talented, determined group of young ladies. We wish our seniors the best of luck in their future endeavors and thank them for all their leadership throughout their time in the program. We also appreciate and thank their families and the fans who supported the team along the way," concluded Stauner.

had time to pursue turkey while other events were canceled.

"Preliminary data suggest the number of people who purchased a harvest authorization after winning in the drawing is similar to last year," said Taylor Finger, DNR Game Bird Ecologist.

A total of 220,026 harvest authorizations were issued for the 2022 spring turkey season, similar to 2021. In 2022, 142,091 harvest authorizations were awarded through the drawing process, and 77,935 were sold over the counter.

Though Wisconsin saw a mild 2021-22 winter, warmer spring temperatures and green-up came late statewide. Weather conditions were less than optimal for the 2022 season's earlier periods but improved as the season progressed.

Zone 1 produced the highest overall harvest at 10,504 birds, followed by Zone 3 (9,918 birds) and Zone 2 (9,186 birds). Without correction for non-participation by hunters who bought a license but did not pursue birds this spring, the 2022 statewide success rate was 17.7%, compared to 16.9% in 2021.

The Only True Wealth is Good Health

Hello friends,
This week's column is a wild ride in what is a never-ending world of crazy times, I hope you enjoy!
Sunday, June 5th
High 73, low 46
I am driving on interstate 39 near Stevens Point and pulling my 18.6 War Eagle. My plan is to camp on a lake in Oneida County near Three Lakes and fish sumo bluegill on the spawning beds. I am sick as HE double toothpicks and have been for 8-days. I had a Covid test and that was negative, major headaches, lung, and throat issues, I am going to turn around and go home but I stick with the plan, I should not be driving.

In the back seat is Ruby and her 8-week-old pup Red who actually should be called Rebel as she is crazy as my buddy Marty Haney was back in high school, Marty died young! Two days ago, Red was chewing on something, it was a very old chunk of mouse poison. I made a call, was told to get two tablespoons of hydrogen peroxide down her throat, five minutes later Rebel barfed up the poison, two minutes later she was in her nonstop world of attacking her mother.

I am at a remote landing on a beautiful lake, all I want to do is sleep. I launch my boat which is loaded with camping gear. I tell Ruby and Rebel to stay, as I am slowly pulling my empty trailer out of the water Rebel decides to disobey orders and is completely run over by the trailer.

I figure Rebel is going to die on the same day as her master at a remote launch on a beautiful lake. Rebel squirms into some weeds and does not die, Rebel crawls over to me and does not die, Rebel sees Ruby, her biggest adversary, attacks her and now five days later is still alive.

I start fishing/hunting for big gills, all I catch is very small gills and perch. I move a lot, I'm running out of daylight and have no idea where I will camp.

On my fifth move I catch what I believe was a ten-inch sumo, pigasauras gill, I no longer care if Rebel or I die as I am in heaven. I catch two more and must find a place to camp. I accomplish that goal and of course throw out lines while unloading and building camp. I catch 7 of the fattest most beautiful, hogasauras, piglets (bluegill/sunfish in the world). At dark I retreat to my tent with Rebel and her mother, I honestly felt that I may expire in my sleeping bag.

Monday, June 6th
High 71 low 48
Today the weather was picture perfect, and I did not lose my health until midday. I had the pleasure of fishing with my friend Ed Smith who was the long-time owner and operator of Northwoods Insurance in nearby Crandon. Ed sponsored my column for many years and that is how we met.

Ed is a golden retriever fan and interacted perfectly with the pups as we spent a day in the boat and caught some beautiful gills and sunfish. I think it is very cool to see a person in my age bracket that has stayed an outdoors person and now gets to enjoy a healthy retirement.

Naturally after Ed left, I became very sick and the bluegill spawn literally ended. Between the rest of the afternoon and the next morning I only caught four keepers and I could tell the spawn, at least for this lake was over for 2022.

So I get sick again about the time I get to where Rebel about met her Waterloo earlier, trailer the boat, drive to Abbotsford to BBD Sporting Goods, get me a barrel of bait, some peanut butter and scent (the peanut butter spilled in the back of my truck and it's ugly).

I drive to bear central which in some cases, like on this day is not where you should be pulling an 18.6 boat with a 90 Etec on the back and I honestly felt like I could fall over dead and become bear food!

After all the trials and trivialization of the last ten days, one of my baits has bears hitting it like crazy. Obviously, some of these bruins, according to the pictures are well aware that it is the breeding season.

The pups on the boat ride back to the landing after an interesting trip.

Ed Smith of Crandon with a beautiful red eared sunfish!

In short, I had some world class photos. The next morning, I was back to the doctor and found out I have an upper respiratory infection, and today I feel like the undertaker may have to wait a while before burning me up!

2022 Denny Friedrich Memorial Bass Tournament

The 2022 Denny Friedrich Memorial Tournament and American Cancer Society Fundraiser was held on Saturday June 4th on Big Chetac and Birch Lakes out of Doolittle Park in Birchwood.

Fourty four anglers hit the water on a cool Saturday morning that turned into a really nice day with no rain. It was a tough tournament to figure out, but as is always the case...someone cracks the code. When everything was finished Mike Luhman squeezed out the heaviest 5 fish limit at 12.98 pounds to win the tournament. 133 fish were brought to the scales for 295.26 pounds at an average of 2.22 per fish. In all, we were able to pay 14 places for the 44 anglers.

Here are the results:

1. Mike Luhman 12.98
2. Dan Allen 12.90
3. Wade Rickey 12.29
4. Steve Mense 12.26

Thrivent Action Teams sponsored a pizza feed connected to the tournament through Thrivent's "Live Generously" program. The prize drawing and silent auction were also a huge success. Almost $3,500 was raised for the American Cancer Society in Diane Friedrich's name. It was a great day! We are already looking forward to next year! THANK YOU TO EVERYONE THAT SPONSORED, CONTRIBUTED, OR ATTENDED!!!

From left Jason Miloszewicz, Diane Friedrich and Preston Johnson with the check for nearly $3,500 that was raised at the 2022 Denny Friedrich Memorial Bass Tournament. The check will go to The American Cancer Society. Thanks to all who helped in any way.

BARRONETT NEWS

By Judy Pieper

Jean Behne and Scott Tiffany were on the go this past weekend. On Saturday they were among the throng at Washburn County Fairgrounds enjoying the Tri-County Dairy Breakfast which was, of course, delicious. The volunteers who cook and serve the food made everyone feel at home and made sure that no one left hungry. I was very happy to hear that the children were still able to enjoy getting rides in the little train that Harry Dahlstrom made. There is a sign on the first car of the train in memory of Harry.

After they left the breakfast Scott and Jean drove up to Hayward to tour the Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame, which they thoroughly enjoyed. They were going to go to Wilderness Walk too, but it started raining and they decided to go home and enjoy the storm from the comfort of their sofa.

On Sunday Scott and Jean were among the many attendees at Section Ten Lutheran Church's semi-annual worship service and dinner. The Behne family attended Section Ten Lutheran until it discontinued regular Sunday services quite a few years ago and were so happy to see so many old friends gathered at the church once again. Scott said that there were former parishioners who traveled many miles to attend the service. And, after the service, everyone enjoyed catching up on all the family news while having a delicious dinner.

Terry Goodrich and Maria Morrison had a harrowing experience while walking the dogs a few days ago. First, I guess I should tell you that there has been a doe hanging around Terry's house lately, and she didn't seem to be afraid of Terry or the dogs. One of Terry's dogs, Jenna, is very protective of him and if the doe got too close to Terry, she would try to chase her away. This had been going on for a few days before the dog-walking incident. Okay – so Terry and Maria are in Terry's very long driveway with the dogs and the doe decided to block their way. Of course, Terry and Maria thought she would run away if they kept walking toward her, but that was not the case. Even when Jenna tried to chase her away, she kept running around them in circles in a very threatening manner. This was not just for a few seconds, she terrorized them for about fifteen minutes before they could get away from her and back to the house. It was scary! Anyway, later when Terry was driving to town, he saw the doe again and she had a fawn by her side. She was protecting her baby. Terry just wanted to let everyone know that if they are in a situation where a doe seems to be attacking, she is probably protecting a baby, so remember, it's not just the bears to be cautious of – deer are also wild animals who will do just about anything to protect their young.

Jim and Summer Marsh have also had that same problem at their home in Rice Lake. They have an aggressive doe that will chase their dogs if they are outside. They did call the DNR to see if anything could be done about it, but it seems that they just have to wait it out and she will move on in a week or so. In the meantime, they are being very careful when they let the dogs outside.

Pat Olson and I traveled to Baraboo on Friday to attend the wedding of our great-nephew and his new bride, Taylor and Morgan Behnke.

Taylor's uncle, Scott Copus, officiated. The wedding was held at an old farm that has been converted into a venue for large gatherings – an absolutely beautiful place. The bride was lovely and the groom was nervous, in other words, everything was just as it should be. It was so nice to see all the friends and relatives at such a happy event.

Duane traveled down to Florida on Wednesday to visit with his son, Mike (Chumley) Schmitt. Mike has been battling cancer for a quite a while now and was looking forward to a visit from Duane. They have been sitting in the warm sunshine a lot and doing a lot of talking. Mike said that if anyone asks I should let them know that he is still living up to his reputation of being a "schmuk." If you were a friend of Mike's from school and would like to give him a call, please call me and I will give you his phone number.

Our sympathy goes out to the family of Leila Lehmann, who passed away Sunday morning. Please keep the family in your prayers while they go through this time of sorrow.

I guess that's about all I know from Barronett this week. Enjoy the summer weather. See you next time.

Roger L. Erickson

On June 12, 2022, heaven gained another special angel. Roger Lee Erickson passed away surrounded by his family as he lost his life from his battle with cancer.

Roger was born September 29, 1954 to Albert and Ardith (Wuorenma) Erickson in Rice Lake. He grew up in a loving family and lived in South Carolina, Minnesota and Wisconsin. He graduated from Cameron High School in 1972. After graduation, Roger enlisted in the United States Army where he served 4 years and was stationed in Germany and Hawaii.

After serving his country, Roger's work career consisted of FG Products, various local contractors doing construction work and Northern Xposure where he was able to travel the United States installing racquet ball courts until his health declined and he could no longer travel. Even through his health issues, Roger continued working for Service Master and most recently, as a janitor at the Cumberland High School. Roger was not a person who could sit idle and do nothing, he had to always be busy.

Roger married the love of his life, Mary Gronski on November 10, 1979. They were blessed with 2 children, whom were his pride and joy. They later divorced but continued to be lifelong friends in raising their children.

Anyone that knew Roger knew he was quite the jokester. He loved telling jokes and stories to make everyone laugh. He also cared deeply about all of his family and friends, of which he had many. Oh, and let us not forget his wonderful "dance" moves when at weddings and other events.

Roger is survived by his two children, Janelle (Gene) Larson and Brian (Cindy) Erickson; four grandsons with whom he was proud of and enjoyed spoiling, Drew Rihn (Alexis VanErp), Nicholas Larson, Tyler Larson and Easton Erickson; step-mother Janice Tahtinen of Almena; siblings, Roxanne Brickhouse of Pelion, SC, Albert Erickson of Cadott, Lori (Steve) Slayton of Rice Lake, Patty (Dan) Krug of Cameron, John Brown of South Carolina and Cherri Brown of South Carolina. He is also survived by nieces and nephews, along with many, many family and friends.

Roger was preceded in death by his parents; a sister, Cindy Brown; paternal grandparents, William and Elizabeth Erickson and maternal grandparents, Andrew and Gena Wuorenma.

Per his request, there will be no formal funeral service, but a gathering of family and friends will be at 5th Street Saloon in Barron on July 23, 2022 starting at 1:00 p.m.

Roger's final requests are entrusted to Rausch and Steel Funeral Home in Barron. Online condolences can be made to www.rauschandsteelfuneralhome.com.

Church Directory

"That They May All Be One"

by Pastor Mike Brubaker

First United Methodist Church, Cumberland
"... that they may all be one." (Jn. 17:20)

Jesus' prayer in John 17 is the end of a long dialog that begins in chapter thirteen on his last night with his disciples. He has already taken off his cloak of superiority as their teacher and washed their feet, giving them an example they are to follow. Their leader, humbling himself and becoming like a servant, telling them they are to do likewise. At the beginning of his prayer he acknowledges that His Heavenly Father has already, "... granted him eternal life to all those you have given him. Now this is eternal life: that they know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent." (John 17: 2-3) Eternal life is a state of knowing in our hearts the reality of who Jesus was and where he came from. Does knowing that change us and let us live in the world differently? Does that reality fill us with a hope that cannot be shaken, and allow us to live with peace even in the uncertainty of what is happening in our own personal lives and in the world?

In the last part of this prayer Jesus prays for the rest of us, "... those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me." (John 17: 20-21) Unity with God the Father and with Christ, the risen Savior must become visible in who we are so that the world may believe the truth of who Jesus is. Others will see Christ in us when we do the works that Christ was doing. Others will know we belong to Christ when we love them as we are loved. Jesus prays that we may be one with God and with Jesus, and in that way, we are brought into 'complete unity'. Unity with one another, is that what we see in our churches, in our community and in our world? God revealed to Paul this 'mystery' of salvation. The mystery, the reason for this gift of grace was, "... to bring unity to all things in heaven and on earth under Christ." (Eph. 1: 10) Let us pray that it may be so. Let us 'love' that it may be so!

God's Peace,
Pastor Mike

Northwood Tech has updated its required course hours for incoming students to the Nursing Assistant Program

The Nursing Assistant Technical Diploma at Northwood Technical College is changing to a 90-hour program, which will be effective as of June 1, 2022, for incoming students. Prior to Covid, Northwood Tech had run a 120-hour course per regulations mandated by the State of Wisconsin. During Covid, the program at Northwood Tech had been changed to a 75-hour Emergency Training in accordance with the options granted by the State of Wisconsin regarding program regulations.

After input from instructors and the advisory committee at Northwood Tech, it was decided that the Nursing Assistant Program would move back to the permanent program with a 90-hour training course rather than the state mandated 75-hour course. With the program being moved back to its permanent status, students will also be back out in the field to complete hands-on experience in the long-term care facilities for clinicals. Due to Covid restrictions, Northwood Tech Nursing Assistant students had not been out in the field for clinicals since March 2020.

In response to the news of the program changes and move back to working in care facilities, Northwood Tech Nursing Assistant Program Director Stephanie Johnson stated, “Our instructors are excited to move to the 90-hour program and to be back in the long-term care facilities.”

For anyone interested in the Nursing Assistant Program at Northwood Tech, the program has classes beginning July 5 at the Ashland, New Richmond, Rice Lake, and Superior campus locations, as well as the Hayward Outreach Center. There will also be a class beginning on August 1 at all four campus locations. Campus-based classes have a hybrid option for students to attend the lecture remotely, but they are still required to be in-person for lab and clinical work.

Further information for the Nursing Assistant Technical Diploma and career path can be found on the college’s website www.Northwood-Tech.edu.

June City Council Meeting...

meeting included approving a $287,316.39 payment to the DeSantis Excavating and Underground Construction Company for their initial work on water and sanitary sewer Hospital project as requested by Project Engineer, Jeff Wolford, a discussion and approval of a $9500.01 payment to the Barron County Highway Department for shaping and paving a 350 foot section on 22nd avenue in conjunction with a Cumberland Township paving project, and an initial discussion of the need for a new City Shop and Utility Building.

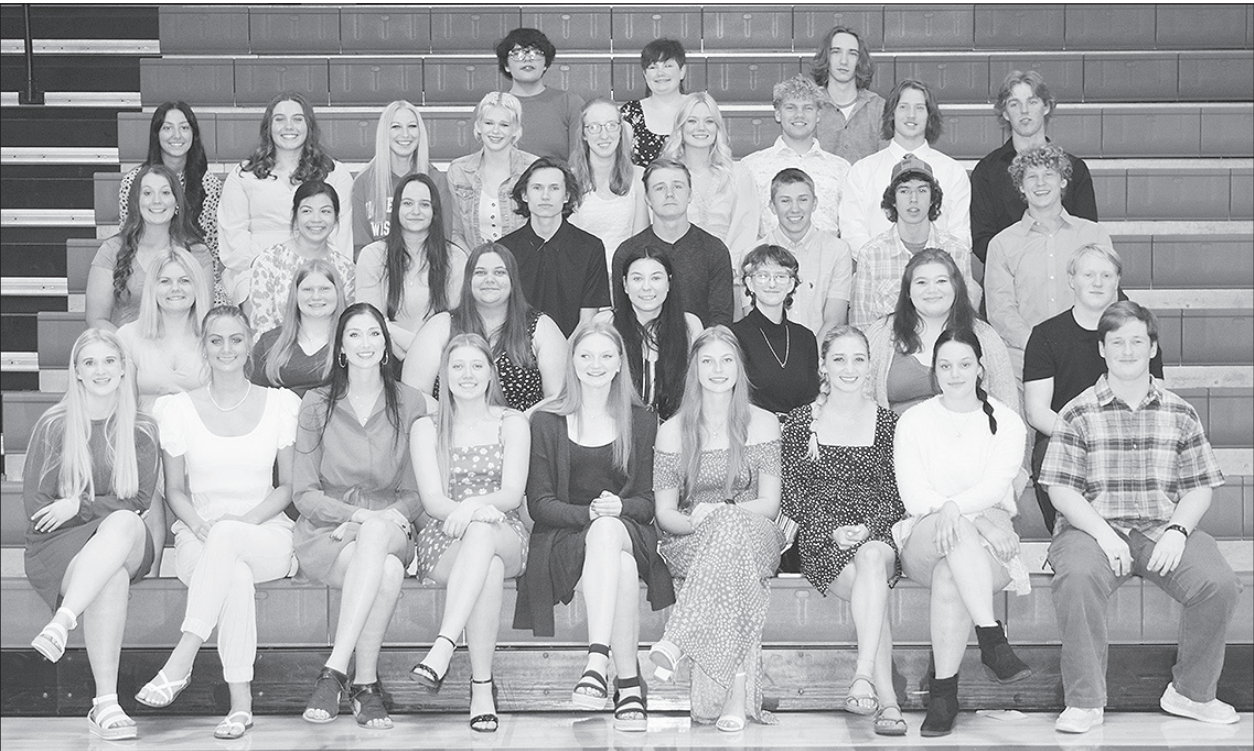

After decades of a band-aid approach towards the two buildings, the ensuing discussion centered around the potential waste of fixing buildings well past their life span. Councilman Steve Anderson added in his opinion, “Some of the attempted band-aid improvements of the past have been a waste of money.”

Instead, conversation concluded that a better use of funds would come from constructing two new buildings in close proximity with each other. After discussing the affordability of such a project, potential tax impact, and the potential for such two buildings being built on the corner of St. Anthony Street and 8th avenue, Mayor Shoemaker said, “I feel comfortable in continuing to move forward with more discussion and education about the project as we continue to find answers to our questions.”

The meeting concluded with Committee Reports. Among information presented was an announcement that September would signify 125 years of the Utility representing the city. After passing license applications and closing remarks from Mayor Shoemaker, the meeting was adjourned.
